A unique system of promoting retail merchandising in the city and one that will work toward the advantage of the consumer as well as the merchant will be discussed at a meeting of the Merchants association called for next Wednesday night. While detailed plans have not as yet been announced, Secretary G. Howard Smith states that the proposal calls for a monthly or other periodic market day, each merchant to offer special bargains of a feature nature at that time. At least 12 retailers of the city have already agreed to a plan whereby some one of them would offer on the designated date a special article for sale at cost or below cost as a special inducement to the buyer to do his or her shopping in the city. The plan is strictly one of co-operation. Should it meet with the favor of the association, a certain day of each month will be set aside as "market" day and every effort made to advertise and establish the fact that at that time bargains will be found on sale at every retail house in the city.

The meeting will be held in the Commercial club rooms April 20, at 8 p. m. A light lunch will be served during the course of the evening by Mrs. Alma Strupp. A cordial invitation to attend is being extended to all merchants of the city whether or not members of the association.

Winner of Middleweight Championship in the City

Ralph Parcaut of Rolay, Iowa, claimant of the world's middle-weight wrestling championship, who defeated L. C. Curtis of Bemidji at that place Friday night, spent the week-end here in company with his manager, H. E. Goss. Parcaut, who was enroute for Minneapolis and his home in Iowa, appeared little the worse for wear. He took the first fall from Curtis in 1 hour, 23 minutes, 43 seconds, with a toe-hold. At the end of the first fall it was found that Curtis' knee had been dislocated and he conceded the second fall to Parcaut after a hpysician had advised against further mat work. The title-holder on Sunday stated that Curtis during the first hour and a quarter of the tussle twice eluded his, Parcaut's, toe hold and undoubtedly at that time wrenched the knee which was later dislocated. The Iowa man spoke highly of Curtis' ability.

LINE ELEVATORS DISPOSED OF BY LOCAL CONCERN

Montana and Dakota Company Properties Pass Under Control of Russell-Miller Co.

Transaction One of Most Important of Its Kind Made in the Northwest Recently.

Math Barzen of This City Continues Connection With Treas. State Grain Co.

The Montana and Dakota company's chain of elevators on the Soo and Great Northern lines in northeastern Montana have been sold to the Russell-Miller Milling company of Minneapolis, Math Barzen, president of the first named company, announced here Wednesday. Twenty-two elevators and warehouses change hands in the transaction, which involved a turnover of more than a quarter of a million dollars. The sale was practically effected in January, though the new owners do not take possession of the houses and grains included in the deal until on or after May 1.

The Montana and Dakota company, an offshoot of the Hanson-Barzen Milling company of this city, at the time of its incorporation in 1906 took over five elevators in northeastern Montana and North Dakota, which were then the property of the last named corporation. From that number the holdings rapidly increased until at the time of the sale 30 houses comprised the chain. Seven of these, all in Montana, are being retained under the name of the Treasure State Grain company, with the prospect of that organization continuing as before.

Originally a Thief River Falls owned corporation, no change was made in the ownership at the time of the removal of the main offices from this place to Minneapolis in 1915. The incorporators were: Math Barzen, president; D. N. Winton, vice president; Louis Hanson, secretary; M. J. Dunn, treasurer, and C. J. Winton. After the resignation of Mr. Hanson as secretary and manager, J. B. Myrland became secretary and M. J. Dunn manager as well as treasurer. Mr. Barzen continues to take up his residence here, where he has large milling, agricultural and other interests.

W.C.T.U. President Here; Enrolls Ten New Members

Miss Rosetta Hendrix, state president of the W. C. T. U. addressed an enthusiastic group of women last evening at the Presbyterian church on "Law Enforcement." The evening's program included a piano solo by Miss Ruth Mathews and a vocal duet by E. Saltau and C. Orm. Miss Hendrix is touring the state on a membership drive and while here added ten new members to the local union.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be entertained by Mrs. M. V. Evenson, assisted by Mrs. C. M. Evenson, on Tuesday afternoon, April 19, at the home of the former on LaBree avenue north.

B. P. O. E. PRODUCTION TO BE PRESENTED HERE BY ALL-STAR PLAYERS

The cast of characters for "Nothing But the Truth," the comedy-drama being produced by the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks, having been definitely decided upon, rehearsals will proceed apace to permit the presentation of the play on May 5. The cast is of ten characters made up by local talent seen on the stage here in other productions. Advertising will be carried on throughout the northwestern part of the state to make his mirth-provoking work one of the biggest attractions of the past several seasons. A special children's matinee will be given on the afternoon of the fifth. Popular prices will prevail at both matinee and evening performance.

An additional feature of the May 5 presentation of the comedy will be the new concert orchestra of over 15 pieces which is proving to be one of the most talented musical organizations heard here. Committees have been appointed to handle house, stage, properties, ticket sales and advertising in an efficient manner. Inovations will be introduced as to uniformed ushers and seating arrangements. Seat reservations will be on sale at Lambert's drug store at an early date.

CONCERT ORCHESTRA, BRAGE MALE CHORUS TO APPEAR JOINTLY

Former Was Great Favorite Before War Interrupted Work; Orchestra Promises One of Finest Organizations in This Section.

The newly organized concert orchestra and the Brage Male chorus, both of this city, will present a joint concert at the city auditorium during the first week in May, according to a statement made on Tuesday by Roy Halseth, business manager of the first-named organization. The exact date for the concert has not been set.

Both musical organizations are under the direction of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet. The Brage chorus of sixteen male voices was often heard here in "sagerfests" previous to the period of the war and its re-organization will be hailed with delight by all who heard them. Chorus numbers in both the English and Scandinavian languages will be features of the opening concert. The orchestra, which is made up of about 15 pieces, made its first public appearance here on the night of April 6 with the presentation of the comedy, "Charley's Aunt," by the school faculty. The overture and numbers rendered between acts proved a delightful surprise to the large audience present and were enthusiastically received.

Manager Halseth also stated that if the joint concert is popularly received such entertainments will become periodical events in Thief River Falls.

NEIGHBOR FINDS AGED WOMAN IN DYING CONDITION

Pioneer Resident of Thief River Falls Passes Away Before Physician Arrives.

Mrs. Malena Ostby, for many years a resident of northwestern Minnesota and a resident of Thief River Falls for the past 16 years, died suddenly at her home, 514 Kinney avenue north, on Monday morning. Heart failure is given as the cause of death. During the week previous Mrs. Ostby, who lived alone, had been unwell but was not confined to her bed. Mrs. Halvor Tveten, a neighbor, called at the old lady's home Monday afternoon and while there Mrs. Ostby's condition became suddenly worse, whereupon the neighbor hastened to call a doctor. When she returned to the house she found Mrs. Ostby in an unconscious condition. Death came just as the physician arrived 20 minutes later.

Malena Johnson was born at Transtand, Sweden, in the year 1849, coming to America and Minnesota at the age of 26 years. With her parents she made her home at Northfield, where she was later married to Engebrit M. Ostby. With her husband and family she lived in Marshall county until 1905, when upon her husband's death she moved to Thief River Falls. This city has since been her home.

Deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. L. Clark of Garnd Forks; three sons, John of Fargo, Joseph of Maddock, N. D., and Emil, whose home is in California; and two brothers, Louis Johnson of Hendrum, this state, and Martin Johnson, who lives in Canada. All are present for the funeral with the exception of the son, Emil, and the brother, Martin. Other relatives present are a grand-daughter, Mrs. Andrew Fry and husband, Mrs. S. J. Minor, and a great grand-daughter, Lorraine Minor, all residents of Grand Forks. Funeral services for the deceased were to be held this afternoon from the Zion Lutheran church with Rev. George Larson officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

CUT IN RAIL RATES LOWERS COAL COST

Will Mean Considerable Reduction to Consumers in This City After July 9.

Prices on hard and soft coal in Thief River Falls may take a tumble of from one dollar to a dollar and a half during the summer as a result of a straight distance tariff on coal moving from the head of the lakes to points in Minnesota and the Dakotas having been ordered into affect July 9 by the Interstate Commerce commission. Coal freight rates under this new order range from 80 cents a ton on bituminous, when trasported 30 miles or under, to $3.85 a ton for carrying coal between 625 and 650 miles. The rates on anthractic coal are the same as on bituminous for distances up to 40 miles. Thereafter they are 15 cents higher than on bituminous.

Under the new table of rates ordered into effect by the commission the charge from Duluth to Thief River Falls, a distance of 259 miles, will be $2.15 per ton on bituminous and $2.30 per ton on anthracite. These are the basic rates with an increase of 33 1-3 per cent to comply with the decision of the commission in the increased rate cases promulgated last fall. The tariff on coal moved from Duluth to this city at present is $3.10½ on bituminous and $3.64½ on Anthracite.

Park Board Elects.

At a meeting of the city park board held on Tuesday, Dr. C. R. Crandall was elected president, Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, vice president, Mrs. A. W. Swedenburg secretary and N. J. Silk treasurer. Emil Zeh is the fifth member of the board.

Girls Community Club.

The Girls' Community club held their regular meeting at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening. After a brief program and an important business session refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. A feature of the evening was a community sing led by Miss Maude Johnson.

FARMERS BUSY SEEDING GRAIN; GET FINE START

Soil and Weather Conditions Ideal and Season Starts Out Most Favorably.

Polk Center Township First in County to Report General Sowing of Wheat.

Winter Rye Fields Everywhere Showing Up Better Than For Many Years Past.

Wheat seeding in Pennington county started in earnest this week and by Saturday night the expected acreage of this grain will be pretty well all covered if weather conditions continue favorable as at present. There will in all probability be less land devoted to the raising of wheat than in former years, but the early season and unusually promising outlook may have the effect of making the amount sown larger than was at first thought probable.

Every county in the Red River valley reports operations well under way and with conditions much the same as in Pennington. In the southern counties of the Ninth district the wheat is practically all in the ground and oats well taken care of.

First to Report.

The first reports of seeding in Pennington county came from the Selmer Johnson farm in Polk Center township where wheat was sown on April 6. In the eastern section the honor of being first undoubtedly goes to F. B. Robinson of Kratka township. He finished seeding 15 acres to wheat on Tuesday and will have his oats in by Friday night. Gordon Olson and John Severson of Sanders are the early birds in their section, having finished wheat seeding during the week. On the Barzen farm at the south edge of town seeding began on Wednesday. It is probable that farmers in many sections of the county began at the same time, the conditions being particularly favorable.

Rye Comes Through Fine.

County Agent J. J. McCann states that he has reports from every section of the county stating that not in years has the winter rye come thru in such excellent shape. He personally inspected 26 fields and in not a single instance did he discover bare spots. The ground everywhere this grain was sown is evenly covered with a thick carpet of the green sprouts, the winter seemingly having failed to cause any damage whatever.

MONEY FOR SCHOOL BONDS AVAILABLE

Is Being Used to Take Up Outstanding Indebtedness of District Number 18.

Lars Backe, treasurer of school district No. 18, on Tuesday received a check drawn on the First National bank of Minneapolis for the sum of $67,093.33 which with warrants totalling $1,700 taken up by the Minneapolis Trust company, constitute the proceeds of a bond issue floated by the district early in February. The total issue, authorized by the voters of the city at a special election on January 25 and sold through the agency of the Minneapolis Trust company on February 11, was $68,000. The certificates of indebtedness were dated February 1 and the proceeds delivered on Tuesday included accrued interest to the amount of $793.33, hence the total $68,793.33. The bonds were sold at par and bear an interest rate of six per cent.

The proceeds of the funding bond issue have been turned over to city banks to cancel the outstanding indebtedness of the school district. All warrants have been taken up, leaving the district with a clean slate upon which to begin operations anew. Mr. Backe states that during the past ten days he has paid out of the treasury over $80,000, the first school tax apportionment for 1921 amouting to $22,041.87 having been received from the county recently.

Crookston Debating Team Is Awarded Championship

Crookston high school debating team won the Minnesota high school championship Thursday night from Austin by a unanimous decision and for the second time won the silver trophy cup that goes with the state title. Another win will give the high school permanent possession of the cup. The winning debaters were George Hagen, Kieth Sanberg and James Montague, all seniors.

Standard Has New Manager.

Chas. A. Munn of Crookston on Friday assumed the management of the Standard Oil company interests of this city, relieving A. V. Smith, who has resigned from the executive department. Mr. Smith will remain with the company but will take up work in another department, presumably that of construction.

Only 14 Days Left.

Property owners must have all garbage, etc., removed from yards and alleys before May 1, says ordinance.

Foreign Advertising Representative
THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

HARDING'S FIRST MESSAGE.

While it is probable that strictly national questions will prove of greater importance to our people than the League of Nations, at least for some time to come, it is likely that the paragraph dealing with our foreign affairs in general and the League of Nations in particular received more attention from the American people than any other part of President Harding's first message to congress. His attitude is exactly what was expected, being in line with the majority opinion of the members of his party and in accordance with the preferences of the people indicated by their votes last November.

President Harding does not close the door upon some sort of international agreement working to prevent war, but lets it be known that he will under no circumstances have a hand in committing the country to the League of Versailles. He would most heartily join hands with other nations in an effort to promote peace but does not propose to surrender any part of our national sovereignity in order to do so. Nor would he ask any other nation to make such surrender. An association for peace, he says, "must be conceived in peace and dedicated in peace," operating to bring the nations of the world together in fellowship.

Turning to matters of purely national concern the message holds forth hope of relief from many of the vexations and burdensome afflictions the people are now enduring. Tax reform is one of these and an effort in this direction is early promised. President Harding says that anything now done with the tariff must be regarded as an emergency measure and nothing else. He advocates increased national aid for the building of roads and the maintenance of our merchant marine.

While the message is not calculated to startle anyone, it is a safe and sane document and one that will help restore confidence. This perhaps is the most valuable function it could in any event perform at the present time.

GETTING GOOD START.

When weather and soil conditions permit the farmers of Northwestern Minnesota to get onto their fields by the middle of April they figure that a long start has been made oward a successful season. This year the first reported seeding was done on April 6, and while not many districts in the county can boast such early start, practically every seeder will be in operation before the end of the present week. The wheat will all be in the ground in a few days and the oats will follow quickly.

While it is true that an early and favorable spring may not insure a crop, it is certain that a late beginning makes the outcome more problematical. It sometimes happens that there is a good crop following a poor start, but this does not happen often enough to make it anything but an unsafe gamble.

Soil conditions in the county were never better, according to reports reaching the Farm Bureau office from all sections. More plowing was done last fall than at any corresponding season in the farming history of the valley and there will consequently be no delay in getting the seed into the ground. More winter grain was sown last fall than ever before and it has come through in fine shape. Less acreage will be devoted to wheat and more to clover, potatoes and sugar beets. This indicates a more progressive system of farming.

Everything considered, the farmers of Pennington county are reasonably safe in looking forward to a good harvest. There are those who delight in pointing to the many things that can happen between now and harvest time to set the farmer's efforts at naught, but their croakings should be disregarded. One thing is certain: A good windup is more likely to follow a good start, and this year our farmers have the start.

Is Advertising a Debit?

(Northfield News.)

In the ordinary business enterprise when cataloging the various items of expense—salaries, rent, heat, light, over head, etc., a column is usually taken up by an item of expense called advertising. Along with other "debits," advertising is often considered a necessary evil contingent upon operating the business.

That this classification is unjust is clear to everyone who is familiar with the general trend and scope of advertising the country over. The biggest and most successful concerns do not consider advertising a debit, but they do realize that it is an asset, an investment, and a decidedly profitable one at that.

Fred P. Mann, a prominent general merchant of Devils Lake, N. D., in 1919 did business in excess of half a million dollars in a small town department store. During this time he spent between $10,000 and $13,000 for advertising alone. Yet he said quite truthfully that it did not cost him a cent. He refused to consider this expenditure of over $10,000 a debit at all, because he realized that without the advertising his volume of business would have been perhaps only half as large and his profits, therefore, proportionally smaller. At the same time he would have had the same constant expense for rent, heat, light, etc. By advertising he made his standard expense do duty for double business, the profit from which more than cared for the advertising, leaving a net profit or asset to be charged to advertising itself.

Is advertising a debit? If an employer pays $50.00 a week to get an efficient, first class employee who does double the work of a $35.00 a week man, the extra $15.00 a week is clearly not a loss—but a gain. If by advertising the merchant does a larger volume of business it is equally clear that advertising itself should not be carged as an expense. Nothing is a debit which in the long run results in profit. Nothing is a debit which increases the volume of business while the overhead expense is constant. Advertising should, therefore, be given its rightful place on the credit side of the ledger. The really progressive merchants keep it there.

EFFERVESCENCE

A man's idea of being of great assistance with the spring house-cleaning is to hold the step ladder while his wife washes the windows.

The presidency of the United States is not without its rewards. President Harding has just received a permanent pass to a chain of motion picture houses.

At least one man that we know of isn't worrying about the price of a set of tires this spring. He drives a sky buggy.

Major General Dawes has been placed on a committee for the Irish relief. From all accounts the general would be right at home with a brickbat in his mitt.

The Inland Printer goes into a delightful figure of speech defining the process of printing as a kiss between type and paper which leaves its imprint. The rouged kiss, as it were.

Some people's idea of cutting down overhead expense is to give up having an application of hair tonic at 35 cents a shot.

"Since taking your wonderful preparation, I have picked up all the way round." Beer was never like that.

Selenium oxychlorid, the powerful new solvent, it is claimed, will dissolve most anything. Its only rival is some of the stuff that now sells for six dollars a pint.

Hi-o, hum—fifty years is a long time to wait.

TRAFFIC OVER "LOOP" WOULD NOT WARRANT ROAD'S CONSTRUCTION

Farmers of Opinion That Enterprise Would Prove Paying Venture, But Road Official Explains Difficulties.

That residents of eastern Pennington county will make every effort to secure an extension of the Northwestern electric railway to form what is being designated as a loop line, was the statement made by W. A. Swanson of Rhoda, who acted as spokesman for a committee which appeared before the Commercial club at the weekly luncheon last Thursday. The extension which the farmers are advocating would carry the electric line south out of Goodridge, to which point it has been in operation since 1914, thru Highlanding and Rhoda, thence west to make connection with the Soo line at a point just south of Hazel. The route would be approximately 50 miles in length.

Mr. Swanson spoke of the great benefits to be derived from such an extension by the farmers of the district and Thief River Falls as a business center. He styles the electric line with the suggested additions or extensions as a veritable "gold mine" for this city. He also exhibited a document in the form of a petition in which farmers living and owning land along the route agreed to grant a free right of way to the railway company, if necessary, in addition to liberally supporting the plan.

H. W. Protzeller, manager of the short line, when called upon by A. S. Sapero, committee chairman of the day, stated that at the present time the construction of the proposed extension would entail an expenditure of approximately half a million dollars, in comparison with which the increased volume of traffic would be small. He pointed out that "dead mileage" would have to be covered at the three points at which the line would then be obliged to make right-angled turns and that tonnage over the line as already constructed had shown a decrease since the first year of operation rather than an increase.

Following some favorable comment by members present, C. L. Hansen moved that the club go on record as favoring the enterprise and that the matter be placed in the hands of a committee. The motion passed unanimously.

BUSINESSMEN'S CLASS IN PUBLIC SPEAKING READY TO GRADUATE

Students to Give Demonstration of Their Oratorical Capabilities For First Time—General Invitation Extended.

The business and professional men's class in public speaking which has been conducted during the past months by L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the Lincoln high school, will come to a close with the "graduation exercises" to be held tonight and next Thursday night. Classes have been conducted on each Thursday of the past 12 weeks with many of the prominent business and professional men of the city enrolled. Many topics of interest have been discussed in five, ten and fifteen minute talks prepared under the direction of Mr. Pierce. On his statement and those of members of the class the plan has proven highly successful. The general public is cordially invited to judge for itself on the nights above mentioned when students will deliver addresses on subjects of general interest. Each speaker will be limited to a talk of 20 minutes duration.

READY TO COMPLETE TESTS FOR PLACE AS SECOND LINE SCOUTS

Boy Scouts Anxious to Begin Outdoor Work—Hikes, Drills and Camping Trips on Program For Near Future—Boys Enthusiastic.

The First Troop, Boy Scouts of this city is making fine progress and has been anxiously looking forward to the advent of fine weather in order that second class tests as scouts may be completed. The written work is practically out of the way but the out-of-door parts of the test remain to be taken. The organization committee is insisting on thorough work and the boys are expected to develop a high degree of efficiency.

Meetings have been held on each Tuesday evening during the winter in the Methodist church basement. From now on the play and work will take place out of doors. Hikes, drills, running contests and practical outdoor demonstrations in building fires, cooking light meals, etc., will be features of the spring months. Among other things each scout is required to be able to give a full history of the American flag and the proper way of saluting the same.

Dr. A. W. Swedenburg recently gave the boys a lesson in first aid, the meeting being held in the Methodist church. Other addresses on citizenship and kindred topics are planned, and the professional men of the city stand ready to co-operate with the scout committee of ten members in making it worth while to be a boy scout in Thief River Falls. Applications for membership in the troop should be made to Scout Master Elmer A. Soltau or B. W. Briggs, scout commissioner for this district.

Northern Tubers Compete With Product From South

Although stocks of potatoes in Michigan and other northern states were reported by the federal bureau of market recently to be considerably larger than usual it was predicted that to offset this condition the spring season in competition with the new southern crop probably will be extended from four to six weeks longer than usual. Reduced shipments in the new crop from Florida and the southern producing sections generally were declared by the bureau as certain, resulting in increased freight rates and other costs and should enable the northern stocks to compete successfully with the new crop for a longer time this spring than for several years.

LEVI SUFFERED TEN LONG YEARS

Minnesota Man Says Tanlac Overcame His Troubles and He Has gained 26 Lbs.

"Tanlac has actually built me up from one hundred and forty-five to one hundred and seventy-one pounds in weight and I now feel just as good as I did when I was twenty years old," said J. S. Levi, of 160 W. Third St., St. Paul, Minn., well-known machinist for Armour and Co.

"However, before I got Tanlac I suffered for ten long years all the misery that goes with a bad case of stomach trouble and disordered kidneys and was in a terribly run-down condition. Everything I ate caused indigestion and I bloated up until I wasn't able to get a good long breath. My back pained me nearly every minute of the day and hurt so bad it was just agony for me to attempt to bend over. At mornings I was so stiff and sore I could hardly get out of bed, and it looked as if I could find nothing that would help me.

"Well, sir, I finally ran across Tanlac and that proved to be the turning point in my suffering, for it has simply made a new man of me. That awful stomach trouble has entirely disappeared, my kidneys no longer bother me and I never have an ache or a pain. I have picked up twenty-six pounds in weight, feel fine all the time and can truthfully say Tanlac has done me more good than everything else I've ever taken put together."

VALUE OF VOCATIONAL TRAINING IN HIGH SCHOOLS OF THE STATE

By W. A. ZIEGLER,
Superintendent Thief River Falls Schools.

The history of the American high school is a very interesting one. High schools as such are not much over 50 years old. They were established in the beginning for the sole purpose of preparing students to enter the university. It has been discovered that only about 5 per cent of the high school graduates attend the university and the remaining 95 per cent do not. Only recently agitation was begun to do something for this 95 per cent. To that end special departments of agriculture, manual training, cooking and sewing, commercial departments, normal training departments, etc., were established. It was the intention that students might pursue some of these courses while in high school so that high school work would be of some benefit to the 95 per cent of students that did not expect to attend college.

In the beginning these courses were not of the best. Because they were new, students flocked to them in the hope that they might earn some easy high school credits but within the last few years there has been a distinct tendency to make the subject matter of these courses of a practical nature. Congress passed what is known as the Smith-Hughes Law, the sole purpose of which was to establish government aid for schools with the view of helping students learn something while in school that would help them to earn a living. That is, "earn a living," is the central idea of the Smith-Hughes federal law.

These departments have been introduced into our own high school, there being a Smith-Hughes agricultural department, Smith-Hughes shop department, and Smith-Hughes commercial department. Boys taking agriculture today are of a different type than the people that took agriculture several years ago. This is true in the schools in the country everywhere. The boys taking agriculture today are doing it with the idea of making it earn a living, so that the agriculture taught is of an intensely practical nature. The boys are farm boys who have put into effect and who are required to put into effect the things they learn while in school. Nobody is permitted to take this course unless he promises or agrees to put his ideas of education into effect during the summer time.

It is the purpose of the Smith-Hughes shop to teach boys a trade by which they may earn their living when they leave school. During the present time the trade taught in our shop is the automobile trade. There are about 20 boys enrolled in this department who expect to make practical use of the knowledge obtained. They are so equipped that it will be possible for them to earn a living at this automobile trade which they are learning in this school. It is planned to put into this shop other trades from time to time as occasion would suggest, alternating during different years, but the central idea of the whole shop work is to teach something by which the boys may earn a living.

The commercial department has also been made a Smith-Hughes division. It is no longer possible for students to rush into this department and earn easy high school credits in typewriting or shorthand. Students are not permitted to elect this course unless they express a desire to use the things which they learn in the commercial department for the purpose of making a living afterwards. That is, the commercial department now is designed to teach boys and girls a profession by which they can make their living when they leave high school. There are about 50 enrolled at the present time in the commercial department. Some of these are taking stenography and office work; others are taking retail selling. These two courses are of a practical nature and the students are put into places of business in town where the owners and managers are co-operating, so that the whole education shall be of such a practical nature that business men will be glad to take the graduates from the commercial department because they will realize that the training they receive there is of a practical "earn-a-living" type. Up to the present time several merchants have co-operated very heartily in the type of education which is being given in our commercial department.

The courses in the cooking and sewing department are also changed so that they too are of a practical nature. There are things in this work that every boy and girl should know in order that they might live their lives more efficiently and happily. It is a mistake to cut the department down from two teachers to a one teacher department. The state board of education specifically requires that cooking and sewing be taught in the seventh and eighth grades in order to draw state aid. If this grade work is discontinued altogether, no state aid will be granted and it is impossible for a system the size of Thief River Falls to do all of this with a single teacher.

It can be readily understood that since the high schools of the United States are barely 50 years old, a great deal of changing must have occurred during that time and a change is occurring at the present, said change being a recognition of the fact that about 95 per cent of the high school graduates never attend a university and this 95 per cent is entitled to such training as shall enable them to better earn their living when they leave high school. This was the purpose of the Smith-Hughes bill in permitting the government aid in order to encourage the establishment of these departments for the 95 per cent. It would be a serious mistake to cripple these special departments because they are designed for the 95 per cent. If it is desired to cut down expenses, it would be better to cut down some of the work which is designed for only the 5 per cent. Neither one need necessarily be done. The whole thing could be harmoniously adjusted in such a way that the whole system would be practical all around.

Glenn Martz Remains as Engineer at Litchfield

Evidently another Pennington county man is making good away from home. Glen H. Martz, whose folks still reside at St. Hilaire, has been state highway engineer for Meeker county during the past two years, leaving a similar post in this county to take the position. It has been understood here that another and more important post was open o him but that he has been prevailed upon to remain where he is.

That Mr. Martz has not lost interest in his old friends is evidenced by the close watch he has kept of the proposition to pave Thief River Falls. In a recent letter he says: "This little town (Litchfield) of hardly 3,000 people paved over two miles of streets last season. The bonds were contested but rather than have the work delayed the business men of the town financed the whole job and carried the warrants until about a month ago, when the money was received for bonds. They are going to build a $250,000 school house this year."

Eighty-One From Thief River Falls Get Medals

A letter received on Tuesday from Lieut. R. E. Frith of the Minneapolis recruiting station reads as follows:

"As a matter of local interest to the readers of The Times, I find in checking up the records of this office at the close of business on March 31 that only 81 ex-service men of your city have applied for their Victory medal.

"Every man who served during the world war and was honorably discharged is entitled to a Victory meadl. I feel confident that all the men who enlisted from your city and vicinity have not applied for their medal. All that is necessary is to forward his discharge certificate to the Victory Medal Department, U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Federal Building, Minneapolis, and the application blank will be filled out at this office and returned to the applicant for his signature."

Seeding Time

THIS is the season for sowing Nature's seeds. It is likewise an appropriate time for planting the seeds of thrift.

In order to make certain of a bountiful crop the farmer sorts out the foul seed—if you would reap a financial harvest take care that the seeds of extravagance are not planted.

An early planting will produce an early harvest. Make a small deposit now, rather than wait to make a larger one later on. As Nature's seeds thrive with the proper attention, so will a Savings Account grow if small monthly deposits are made and the interest permitted to accumulate.

What Makes a Man.

Do you posses the qualities of a real man? Have you conviction, courage, tolerance, mastery of your destiny, unselfishness and true sportsmanship, the fundamentals of everlasting success and happiness? Read this editorial. Sit down and figure yourself out, analyze your possibilities, and do it now.

"According to Prof. W. G. Reed of the U. of M., who spoke to the members of the Hi-Y clubs of the city, there are six qualities which are characteristic of an 'ideal Minnesota man.' They are: First, conviction; second, courage; third, tolerance; fourth, master of his own destiny; fifth, unselfishness, and sixth, true sportsmanship.

"Six more sterling qualities could not be suggested. The ones mentioned by Prof. Reed are within the power of every high school boy as well as every college man to attain. They are all vitally necessary to the young man who means business, who is not attending school for fun, and who intends to be somebody and to accomplish something in his later life.

"A successful young man must surely have his convictions as to what things will benefit him in his student life and as to those which will hinder him. The youth must be set in his convictions concerning the right and the wrong. It must be either yes or no, no half way business will get him anywhere; and then comes the second quality, the courage to carry out these convictions against all odds. To stand alone if necessary—anything but follow the crowd.

"He must also be tolerant of his fellow men and not acquire that common disease known as the 'big head,' or become bigoted in his views and refuse to see the other person's side of the question. Then, the 'ideal Minnesota man' will be master of his own destiny, and this pertains especially to time and associates. The successful fellow will not be influenced by anyone to do something if he knows that his place is somewhere else. And right here a word might be said about will power, that thing a man must have in order to give a decisive no when temptation taunts him. He must be master of his own destiny not only in regard to time but also in regard to his associates and friends. That 'a man is judged by the company he keeps' is very true and is proof of the importance of this quality of the ideal university man.

"Next comes unselfishness. How much more the unselfish man, in both spirit and action, amounts to, than the one who is selfish in every sense of the word.

"Concerning the last attribute, true sportsmanship, much can be said, but among other qualities, a true sport must be a good loser, a hard loser, and an honest, true-blue fighter.

"If these six qualities are characteristic of the 'ideal University of Minnesota man,' is not that sufficient reason why every high school lad should adopt them and come up out of the rank and file, striving to be as near like the 'ideal man' as it is possible to be?—West High Weekly.

Discipline.

In every educational system there must be discipline. How rigid this discipline must be depends entirely upon the pupils. If they know how to appreciate liberties and privileges and do not abuse them, there is no need of strict rules and regulations. If however, they do not make the proper use of these privileges they must be watched and made to toe the mark.

This is well enough among grade children but as high school students, ought we not to be responsible enough to be placed on our honor? Or should we have the teachers act in the capacity of policemen to watch us and see that the rules are enforced?

The duty of a teacher is to instruct and to advise and that of a student to receive instructions and to obey such rules as are necessary to maintain order. Why, then can't we keep within the bounds and make the relationship between student and teacher a pleasant one, instead of that of guard and prisoner? I am sure that we would all find it far better and easier to obey rules of our own accord than to be compelled to do so.

Let's try then to do away with the policemen in school and run our school on the honor system basis.

The following is an extract taken from the Mankato school paper, an exchange received by the Progress. It is an article that may be of interest to many readers:

"Are we careless or just thoughtless? Why, it must be just thoughtlessness on our part, still a large number of persons do not care to improve their manners. Perhaps five out of six boys go home, throw their cap in a corner and their coat over a chair, sit down and read a newspaper with their feet on another chair. Of course, girls are careless too. It is so easy to become careless in manner and appearance but really very difficult to be neat and courteous. When you are through school and ready for a position, one of the first things the employer will notice is your appearance. If you are not neatly and sensibly dressed, he will at once decide that you are not qualified for the position. You must also be courteous. If you do not realize this fact now you will in later years. No business man can be successful without this quality. If we are inclined to be careless and thoughtless, let us remedy this serious deficiency at once. If once you get the habit you will never lose it.

A Puzzle.

It has one wheel that's in the air,
And four that's on the ground,
And when it moves around a bit,
It makes an awful "sound."

In color it's a brownish red,
The wheels are wire and white,
The rest of it is trimmed in gilt,
It's really quite a "sight."

This thing was made to carry two,
Most times it carries more,
But then they crowd upon the back
And pile upon the "floor".

A part of "it" is made of tin,
The rest is made of board,
But when it stops a little bit
You see it's "Barzen's Ford."

Physical Exam. Results.

The students of Lincoln high school were examined physically the past week and comparatively few were found to be defective. The examination was conducted by Dr. Froehlich and the school nurse, Miss Johnson. The eyes, ears, throat, nose and skin were examined and the largest number were found to be suffering from defective eyes.

As a result of the examination it was found that out of 270 pupils there were the following defects:

Ear, 2; skin, 2; nose, 46; throat, 46; neck glands, 27; orthopedic, 6; teeth, 46; vision, 47. Total number of defects, 222.

The parents of the defective students will be notified and advised as to what treatment should be given.

A Journalistic Plea.

When news is scarce and jokes are few
It takes a head that's made for two,
Cause news must be on time you see,
It makes you buzz just like a bee.

If you won't help us get it here
The news you'll read is punk I fear,
A hand in time will help us fine,
And everyone can write a line.

So please we ask, a hand in time,
To make this paper long in line,
Then bring your news and funny jokes
To drive away the old dry cokes.

"Charley's Aunt" Scores.

"Charley's Aunt," the farcical comedy which was staged by the high school faculty at the city auditorium on April 6, proved to be a complete success, and exceeded even our highest expectations. It was enthusiastically received by a large audience, and the receipts fully justified the original purpose for which the play was produced—to help clear the athletic association's deficit. The evening performance had an audience of over 700 people, while the afternoon matinee was attended by practically all the grade school children of the city.

The center of attraction was unquestionably Mr. Gordon Melby, as Lord Vancourt Babberly, who acted for a time as a substitute for Charley's aunt. His extremely comical expression when, dressed as a middle aged lady, he was confused by his assumed identity and when he enjoyed the close confidence of the young women to the great discomfiture of his fellow-conspirators, brought forth frequent bursts of laughter from the audience. The other characters, C. W. Pope as Stephen Spettigue, a solicitor at Oxford; Albert Tommerasen as Col. Sir Francis Chesney, late Indian service; F. A. Tripp as Jack Chesney, and J. J. McCann as Charley Wykehan, both undergraduates at St. Olde college, Oxford; S. Carl Sundahl as Brassett, a college scout; Edna Ryff as Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez, from Brazil; Margaret Mealey as Kitty Verdun, Spettigue's ward; Irene Patrick as Amy Spettigue, Spettigue's niece, and Olga Lofgren as Ella Delaney, an orphan, all fitted their parts admirably and showed some real theatrical talent.

The opening scene of the play is in Jack Chesney's rooms in college. Jack Chesney and his college chum, Charley Wykehan, are very busy trying to write letters to their respective lady friends, with whom they are very much in love. Charley expects his aunt, Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez, to arrive from Brazil that afternoon. They invite the girls to a luncheon party at Jack's rooms, in honor of the aunt. Lord Babberly is invited to entertain the highly respected Donna Lucia. At one o'clock the ladies, Kitty Verdun and Amy Spettigue, arrive, but as the aunt has not yet appeared, they go out into the garden. Sir Francis, Jack's father, enters with Jack's monthly check, and is invited to meet Donna Lucia. The colonel also goes out into the garden to await time for luncheon. Charley gets news that his aunt can't arrive until late. In desperation, the boys dress Lord Babberly to masquerade as Aunt Lucia at the party. The girls are rather suspicious when introduced to the pseudo aunt, but nevertheless take "him" into close confidence and protest their sincere love for "Charley's aunt." During the luncheon Mr. Spettigue arrives to protect against the girls taking luncheon at the boys' rooms, but, upon being introduced to "Aunt Lucia," he immediately becomes her ardent admirer.

Act II opens with a garden scene outside of Jack's rooms. Jack orders Brassett to have tea ready at five o'clock. Sir Francis proposes to Babberly, alias Aunt Lucy, during the party. Jack and Charley propose to their lady loves and are accepted. The third act takes place in the drawing room at Spettigue's house. The women have a coffee party, and "Bab" has to sit with the women. All the gentlemen enter. Spettigue makes love to Lord Babberly. The real Aunt Lucia enters, with her traveling companion, Ella Delaney. Lucia proves to be a woman with whom Sir Francis was in love 20 years ago, and they now agree to marry, after Lord Babberly's true identity has been revealed. Spettigue agrees to the marriage of Kitty and Amy. Babberly proposes to and is accepted by Ella Delaney.

Music was furnished by a 13-piece orchestra, directed by Dr. Vistaunet.

High School Baseball.

Our Lincoln high school has always lacked enthusiasm along baseball lines. Just the reason we do not know. It is hoped that it will be possible to organize a high school team.

It is expected, if this plan does not materialize, that individual teams among the four classes will be organized, and in due time play off class games. Our prevailing trouble lies in the fact that our school closes in the midst of the season.

It is expected that each class will turn out a team to compete in the final games.

Senior Octette Picked.

The Senior octette for the graduating class of 1921 has been picked. The octette will sing at the commencement exercises. It is composed of eight people, there being two sopranos, altos, basses and tenors.

A try-out for any person wishing to participate was given last week. Miss Johnson will be their instructor. The octette is composed of the following: Eileen Herron and Doris Richter, sopranos; Anna Heneik and Mildred Hauglid, altos; Harold Smithers and Elmer Larson, tenors; Allen Fossum and Lynn Halverson, basses.

Northrup News.

Pupils of the Northrup school will give a candy sale to raise enough money with which to buy a baseball and bat.

The total amount of tickets for the Faculty play, sold by Northrup pupils, was fifty-three dollars and thirty cents.

Normal Department.

After teaching a few minutes my opinions of a country school changed. What nice pupils they were. They swallowed every bit of information given to them.

An interesting incident to note while eating lunch was this: When the pupils were thru they said, "Excuse me." This seemed very polite of them.

The day came to an end too soon; so did the following days. The two weeks were up before I realized and what I at first dreaded became an enjoyable two weeks of my life.

Knox School Notes.

Melvin Johnson, one of the kindergarten pupils, was the victim of a serious accident last week, when he was run over by a wagon on which he had been riding.

The spring weather has increased rather than decreased the attendance during this last week of school.

Spring is very evident in the kindergarten and lower grades, as is shown by the work the pupils are doing. The boys are making bird houses and the girls and the girls are giving their doll houses a spring "house-cleaning."

The boys in the 6th grade of the Washington have challenged the 6th grade boys of the Knox to a ball game to be played some time next week. The 4th grades of the two schools have already played, the Knox team defeating the Washington team.

Miss Fjeldstad's 4th grade room has the marching pennant for the last week.

A baseball team is being organized among the girls of the Knox school. As yet no definite team has been picked.

Select Senior Play Cast.

The Senior try-out for the class play resulted in a final selection of the cast on Monday.

The cast was picked from a large number of aspirants by Misses Patrick and Dix and Mr. Pierce, the director of the play.

"All-of-a-Sudden Peggy," by Ernest Denny, is the play to be put on by the class. This popular play has been shown both on the stage and in moving pictures throughout the country. It was first played in this country in 1909 in the Bijou theatre in New York and was a great success. The play is a comedy in three acts and will no doubt be a creditable success to the Seniors of the high school.

The following is the cast of characters:

Antohny, Lord Crackenthorpe (Fellow of the Entomological Society) ---------- Allen Fossum
The Hon. Jimmy Keppel (his brother) ---------- Hugh McDaniel
Major Archie Phipps (retired, Lady Crackenthorpe's brother) ---------- Harald Smithers
Jack Menzies ---------- Chester Dol
Parker (footman at Hawkhurst) ---------- Ernest Zeh
Lucas (man servant at Jimmy's flat) ---------- Dreng Bjornaraa
Lady Crackenthorpe (Lord Crackenthorpe's mother) Vallerie Parenteau
The Hon. Millicent Keppel ---------- Dotty Krafthefer
The Hon. Mrs. Colquhoun ---------- Mildred Bottelson
Mrs. O'Mara (widow of Professor O'Mara, F. R. S.) and Peggy (her daughter) ---------- Mary Vance

It will be presented some time next month. The cast is already at work and has had two rehearsals.

Oiling the Wheels of the World

GASOLINE is the major product made by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and in the manufacture of this most essential product of petroleum, this Company stands in the lead.

But gasoline is only one of the many products sent to the world with the unqualified guarantee of this organization; for as a manufacturer of lubricants it stands among the leaders.

No service performed by this Company is more important, more essential or more far-reaching than the work it is doing to keep the machinery of the world running smoothly and efficiently.

Of the many lubricating oils and greases sent out under its name, none is more widely known or more universally accepted than those bearing the Polarine brand.

Polarine is a perfect motor oil. It was first introduced to the motoring world in 1908 when 1100 gallons were sold. Year by year the demand has increased until in 1920, 23,979,050 gallons were manufactured and sold to the car owners in the Middle West.

When first introduced there was but one grade of Polarine oil. Now there are four, each designed to meet the need of certain types of engines.

The development of four grades of oil, one of which will correctly lubricate any type or make of internal combustion engine, is but one of the essential services performed by the research department of this Company.

But lubricating motor vehicles is but a small item when the lubricating service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is considered. Every type of machinery has been studied and an oil or grease perfectly adapted to keep the bearings running smooth and cool has been produced.

From the flying spindles of the loom to the ponderous bearings of the steel roller, each problem presented has been met squarely, fairly and with a deep understanding that to meet its needs was not only good business, but was essential if the Company was to live up to the ideals of service to which it is committed.

While lubricating the wheels of the world is highly essential, it is but one of the many branches of service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is organized to perform.

In every department of its complex and highly specialized business, the same ideals of thoroughness, integrity and efficiency are insisted upon. The underlying principle in all is to give a maximum of service at a minimum of expense.

Whooping Cough
"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."
Yours for Health — Granny Chamberlain

The Public Pays the Telephone Expenses

The people who buy our telephone service are interested in our expenses, because they pay them.

Our expenses include wages, taxes, repairs and replacement of equipment, and a reasonable return on the money invested in the property.

If telephone rates were not high enough to produce a revenue sufficient to pay our expenses, we would be unable to operate our property or keep the equipment in repair.

When the wages paid our employees, or our taxes, equipment prices or other costs are increased, it means of course that we must have more money to meet the greater expense.

GREATER CREDITS ASKED BY FARMERS

Urge Economic Policy That Will Insure Upbuilding of Entire Country.

The status of the farmers' co-operative marketing associations under the Sherman anti-trust act, was discussed on Tuesday at the American Farm Bureau Federation conference in Washington, called to frame a farmers' executive program. Financial requirements of such an organization, it was asserted, might necessitate tariff legislation.

The legislative committee was urged by speakers to work for an extension of the time of rediscounting agricultural notes to the federal reserve system. The conference named a committee to confer with the federal reserve board, particularly as to the suggested developments of the farm loan bank idea. It was decided also to ask President Harding to name a farmer on the Interstate Commerce commission.

A resolution was adopted declaring it imperative "that we clearly and distinctly explain and assert an economic policy not merely designed for the sole benefit of the farmers, but for the strengthening and upbuilding of our national civilization."

PRES. HARDING'S FIRST MESSAGE GIVEN COUNTRY

Favors Knox Resolution But Opposed to Separate Peace With Central Powers.

Revision of Tax Laws Recommended and Reduction in Living Cost is Urged.

Tariff Law Enacted at This Time Must Necessarily Be For Emergencies Only.

President Harding in his first address to congress today announced that he would approve a "declaratory resolution" by congress "with qualifications essential to protect all our rights," which would end the "technical state of war against the Central powers of Europe."

The president added, however, that "it would be idle to declare for separate treaties of peace with the Central powers on the assumption alone that these would be adequate because the situation is so involved that our peace engagements cannot ignore the old world relationships and the settlements already effected, nor is it desirable to do so in preserving our own rights and contracting our future relationships."

Declares Against League.

Although unreservedly against "the existing League of Nations," the president said;

"The wiser course would seem to be the acceptance of the confirmation of our rights and interests as already provided and to engage under the existing treaty, assuming of course, that this can be satisfactorily achieved by such explicit reservations and modifications as will secure our absolute freedom from inadvisable commitments and safeguard all our essential interests."

Read Own Address.

Following the plan adopted by President Wilson all through the period of the war, President Harding read his address to the house of congress. The principal recommendations of the message are as follows:

Foreign Relations.

No separate peace treaties with the Central Powers "on the assumption alone that this would be adequate." "The wiser course would seem to be * * * to engage under the existing treaty assuming, of course, that this can be satisfactorily accomplished by such explicit reservations and modifications as will secure our absolute freedom of inadvisable commitments and safeguard all our essential interests. * * * No helpful society of nations can be founded on justice and committed to peace until the covenants re-establishing peace are sealed by the nation which were at war."

Taxes and Tariff.

Readjustment of internal taxes and revision or repeal "of those taxes which have become unproductive and are so artificial and burdensome as to defeat their own purpose."

Instant tariff enactment "emergency in character and understood by our people that it is for the emergency only."

Railroad Operation.

"Efficient operation" at a cost within that which the traffic can bear. * * * Railway rates and costs of operation must be reduced. * * * The remaining obstacles which are the heritance of capitalistic exploitation must be removed and labor must join management in understanding that the public which pays is the public to be served and simple justice is the right which will continue to be the right of all the people."

Relief for Service Men.

The strengthening of laws governing federal aid for good roads.

"Private monopolies tending to prevent the development of needed facilities of communication should be prohibited. Government owned facilities wherever possible without unduly interfering with private enterprise or government needs, should be made available for general usages."

Regulation by the federal government and encouragement of aviation for development for military and civil purposes.

"The American people expect congress unfailingly to voice the gratitude of the republic in a generous and practical way to its defenders in the World war." The immediate extension and utilization of government hospital facilities to "bring relief to the acute conditions most complained of."

Can't Discard Armaments.

Co-ordination of various government agencies now working on the subject and indorsement of the pending maternity bill.

Congress ought to wipe the stain of barbaric lynching from the banners of a free and orderly representative democracy. "A proposal for a commission with representatives of white and black races to study and report on the subject," the president said, "has real merit."

Early consideration of pending appropriation bills was urged. "The government is in accord with the wish to eliminate the burdens of heavy armament," said the president. "The United States will ever be in harmony with such a movement toward the higher attainments of peace. But we shall not entirely discard our agencies for defense until there is removed the need to defend. We are ready to co-operate with other nations to approximate disarmament, but merest prudence forbids that we disarm alone."

Assure and Warn at Once.

"The staggering load of war debt must be cared for in orderly funding and gradual liquidation. We shall hasten the solution and aid effectively in lifting the tax burdens if we strike resolutely at expenditure."

Enactment of a national budget system and general reductions by efficient management of the cost of government.

"Less of government in business as well as more business in government. * * * There is no challenge to honest and lawful business success. But government approval of fortunate, untrammeled business does not mean toleration of restraint of trade or of maintained prices by unnatural methods. * * * Anxious as we are to restore the onward flow of business, it is fair to combine assurance and warning in one utterance."

To End Depression.

"The maintained retail costs in perishable foods cannot be justified * * * Reduced costs of basic production have been recorded, but high cost of living has not yielded in like proportion. * * * Without the spirit of hostility or haste in accusation of profiteering, some suitable inquiry by congress might speed the price readjustment to normal relationship, with helpfulness to both producer and consumer. A measuring rod of fair prices will satisfy the country and give us a business revival to end all depression and unemployment."

TAKING GOOD CARE OF SICK VETERANS

Ashbury Hospital Management Highly Praised by Visitor From Thief River Falls.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson returned from Minneapolis Monday morning after having spent several days with his son, Glenn, who is a patient at Asbury hospital. Mr. Anderson reports that the young man is rallying rapidly after a major operation performed by government surgeons on Thursday morning. Glenn Anderson, formerly a member of the 10th Division, entered the government hospital for observation early in March and since that time and until his operation was considered in a serious condition.

The county official spent much of his time while in Minneapolis, at the Asbury hospital. He speaks with pride and in great favor of the treatment being accorded the five hundred or more ex-service men who are patients there at the expense of the federal government. Nurses, he said, are very attentive to the wants and good spirits of the men, many of whom are in a critical condition and undergoing constructive surgical operations. Cases are being treated with the greatest of dispatch and the social welfare of convalescent patients is given due consideration.

Mr. Anderson also expressed great admiration for the thorough manner in which members of the Women's Auxiliary to the American Legion are administering to the wants of the former soldiers. A recreation room for convalescents is maintained at the hospital and a visiting committee of the Auxiliary present each day.

WILL INVESTIGATE PLAN SUGGESTING REROUTING OF J-H

Commercial Club Also Urges That Clearwater County Stretch be Fixed First.

C. L. Hanson, O. Ramstad, Daniel Shaw, T. A. Way and George C. Streeter were appointed as a good roads committee of the Commercial club by President W. A. Hall, Jr., following the weekly club luncheon of last Thursday. The committee met on Saturday afternoon when a resolution was drawn up and forwarded to the state Highway commission recommending that an exceedingly poor stretch of the Jefferson highway between Bagley and Gonvick be put in shape this season. The drawing up of the resolution was proposed at the Commercial club luncheon by C. L. Hanson, who, having been the principal speaker at a meeting of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club on Wednesday evening, spoke of similar action taken by that organization and other civic bodies in communities thru which the Jefferson highway passes. The sentiment of the club was in favor of early construction work on the highway in question and the matter placed in the hands of the good roads committee. The resolution as drawn up recommended that the almost impassable piece of road above mentioned be one of the first to be made suitable for heavy traffic thru the operation of the Babcock road law.

On the suggestion of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club, the re-routing of the Jefferson highway north of Thief River Falls by way of Holt, Middle River, Strathcona and Karlstad instead of over the old Pembina trail, was discussed at both Commercial club and good roads committee meetings. The Red Lake Falls club contends that owing to the fact that the present route passes over the trail where settlement is sparse instead of thru the above mentioned towns, a great deal of traffic is lost to Thief River Falls and points south of here.

Actuated by the spirit of co-operation the good roads committee of the neighboring city advanced the plan that its members in company with the members of the Thief River Falls committee tour both routes as soon as road conditions permit. At the meeting of Saturday the local committee fell in with this suggestion and the trip will be made within the month. In case the routing by way of Holt, Middle River and Strathcona to Karlstad is found feasible or advantageous, the change will be recommended to the directors of the highway association.

DUMPY TRADE IN CATTLE AND HOGS

Some Kinds of Cattle at Year's Low Point—Hogs Average $8.50. Fair Sheep Market.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minnesota Dept. of Agriculture.)

Monday's Opening.

Cattle 1,700, market slow, steady to 25 cents lower, top steers $8.00. Calves 200, market steady, packer top $6.50. Hogs 5,300, market 25 to 35c lower, range $7.00 to $9.10, bulk $8 to $8.75. Sheep 400, market fully Shorn ewes $5.50.

Livestock trade is dumpish. Although there is a fair undertone in the sheep market, trade in both cattle and hogs is dull with price tendency downward, hogs and some classes of cattle at present selling at the lowest levels for the year to date.

Cattle are coming to leading markets in fairly liberal numbers for this season of the year, and with continued light demand from the country for stockers and feeders, and consumption of dressed beef low on account of the greatest amount of unemployment at any time during the present industrial depression, the market is on the down grade, opening the week at steady to 25c lower prices, after a break of 50 to 75c last week. A few good to choice fed steers brot $8.00 Monday, with load lots of medium to good steers at $7.65 and $7.75, and bulk of common and medium grades from $6.50 to $7.50. Choice heifers are quotable up to $7.50 and $7.75, with bulk of the butcher cows and heifers selling from $4.50 to $6.25. Canners, cutters, bologna bulls and veals are moving at the year's lowest levels, canners and cutters selling from $1.50 to $3.50, bulk of bologna bulls $3.50 to $3.75, and top veals $6.50. Stocker and feeder trade is slow and draggy, with prices working lower.

Packers' droves of hogs were put up Monday at a cost of slightly under $8.50, bulk selling from $8.00 to $8.75, or 25 to 75c lower than a week ago. Coarse heavy packers landed at $7.00 and choice pigs $11.00 and $11.25, showing the market extremes at the present time. Sheep sold fully steady, choice 75 pound clipped lambs bringing $8.35, choice light clipped yearling wethers $8.00, a deck of choice shorn wethers averaging 113 pounds $6.00, with a few clipped ewes at $5.50.

MAN WASN'T A THIEF; GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL AND NATURALLY SLOW

Judge Tarrant is Still Willing to Oblige But Considers Two Years a Long Time For Keeping Borrowed Map.

On the wall of the municipal court room, this city, hung a fine map. It tickled the fancy of a stranger who happened to see it one day and Judge N. W. Tarrant later reluctantly parted with his pet, because as he said, "the cuss looked honest enough." The map was not returned at the end of a month's time as promised and, in fact, not for many months after that. Then one day a letter from Washington—but this is the way of the story:

The map was one copyrighted by Lester Gesell, Thief River Falls real estate dealer, and incorporated among other features an extensive survey of drainage projects as completed in northwestern Minnesota. Judge Tarrant was one day approached for the loan of the map by one who posed as a "land man" who could save himself a lot of time by consulting the map for about a month. Similar charts had become unpurchaseable and he who entered the plea was granted his request. The month passed, as did five or six more. The Judge becoming anxious then wrote to the Moorhead address furnished by the stranger only to have his letter returned bearing the said legend, "Unclaimed. Return to Writer." Two years passed.

Last Friday Judge Tarrant received a letter from the Bureau of Roads, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., stating:

"Under separate cover we are returning a valuable map which an engineer from our bureau borrowed from you in 1919. Trusting that it will reach you safely and thanking you very kindly for the loan of it, as we have found it of great assistance, we remain—" In the same mail was a well-wrapped and much-registered parcel which looked as if it might contain a life-sized bowling alley, but when opened revealed the Judge's precious map, pretty well covered with penciled hieroglyphics but practically as good as new.

Accomplished Musician to Furnish Music at Lyceum

W. A. Stanchfield arrived here on Wednesday morning from Minneapolis and with the Lyceum matinee assumed the duties of his new position as pianist for that theatre. He will play at all performances.

Mr. Stanchfield comes here under the finest of recommendations. He recently finished the arranging of a musical prologue for the twin city showing of the film version of the "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," a feature picture which is taking the country by storm. Though having made a specialty of prologue work, the pianist has played in many of the larger picture houses of the twin cities and Dayton, Ohio. He was also in charge of the music at Forest Park, a Minneapolis suburban summer resort, during the past season.

Alleged Forger Taken.

W. J. LaBree, Pennington county sheriff, on Sunday apprehended H. J. Johnson in the eastern part of the county. Johnson, formerly of Pelican Rapids, was wanted at Fergus Falls on a note forgery charge.

Library Gets Railroad Volumes.

Chas. E. Hellquist, Soo line engineer who lives at 811 Duluth avenue north, has presented the Carnegie public library with a series of finely bound books on the science of the railroad. The volumes contain much information and are a valuable addition to the library. They are: "Engineers' and Firemen's Hand Book," "Locomotive Motion and Power," "Department Construction," "Handling and Supervision of Cars," "Operation of Trains," "Locomotive Appliances," "Electricity as Applied to Trains," "The Modern Airbrake and Its Uses."

BURIAL OF UNKNOWN WAR HERO WILL TAKE PLACE ARMISTICE DAY

President Harding Notifies Secretary of War That This Date is Preferred to Memorial Day—To Rest in Arlington.

President Harding has informed Secretary of War J. W. Weeks, that he prefers to have the ceremonies for the unknown American dead of the World war conducted at Arlington National cemetery on Armistice day, Nov. 11, instead of Memorial Day. Congress in the last session provided for the return from France of the body of one unknown American soldier to be buried with national honors here. It was the last bill signed by President Wilson on March 4. Since then war department officials have been planning for the ceremonies which will be most extensive and in which the president of the United States will have the leading part. They suggested that the ceremony could be conducted on Memorial day, May 30, or on Armistice day. Secretary Weeks asked the president to decide and Mr. Harding promptly chose Armistice day.

The war department announced that work has just begun on the removal of the soldier dead from the great American cemetery at Romagne, France, where lie more than 22,000 bodies of those who gave their lives in the Argonne. The shipment of the bodies will be expedited as far as is humanly possible and will be delayed only by adverse weather conditions.

Latest figures show that in all there were 75,882 American dead overseas, of whom, 13,616 have been returned. Requests have been received to allow 19,861 bodies to rest permanently overseas, but this number is changing all the time.

Auxiliary Will Entertain Legionaires Tuesday Night

The Auxiliary to the Elmer Eklund post of the American Legion will entertain for the Legionaires and ex-service men at the Masonic hall on Tuesday evening. This will be the "big night" in the history of the two organizations, judging from plans being carried out by the special committee of the Auxiliary.

An elaborate program of entertainment of musical numbers and contests is being planned. Following the serving of a lunch, dancing will be featured. Although card announcements are being sent out, Legionaires and ex-service men not reached in this manner are not to consider themselves slighted as all are invited to attend and share in the good time. Out-of-town members of the Legion are given a special invitation to be present.

Will Open Rooming House.

Minneapolis Legion Auxiliary members are to open a rooming house to care for disabled ex-service men coming to Minneapolis to receive medical treatment or vocational training. The high prices which disabled veterans have to pay for hotel accommodation brought about this decision.

Examinations at Sub-Centers.

Very soon, local medical examiners will cease to do the work of the U. S. Public Health Service. Disabled ex-service men will be examined at "sub-centers," located at Minneapolis, Duluth, Brainerd, Sioux Falls, Fargo and Grand Forks, where special doctors and office force will be maintained.

Urge Registering of Discharge Papers

The American Legion urges every buddy to have his discharge papers registered, so that, if lost, true copy may be secured. Victory medals and discharge papers are family heirlooms and should be carefully preserved.

Positions Paying $1500 Open.

About twenty positions paying not less than $1500 per year are open to ex-service men with The Federal Board for Vocational Training, Kieth Plaza Building, Minneapolis. Applicants should have a high school education.

Establish Junior League.

Minnesota Legion posts are establishing units of the Junior American League, the objects of which are to instill into the minds of boys and girls reverence for the flag, love of home, a sincere appreciation of the school, and a desire to be a credit to themselves, the community, state and nation.

The Tread is composed of "KK" Trade Marks placed closely together, top to top. Will grip any surface, such as WET, GREASY ASPHALT PAVEMENT, and prevent skidding or side-slipping.
Added service is given this tire through the extra bulk of rubber on the tread. This extra amount of rubber affords an effective non-skid.
In addition to its being a non-skid tire it will wear much longer than the plain tread, giving you more service and satisfaction.
When purchasing, consider the extra thickness or amount of rubber contained in the non-skid feature and you will realize that when this has been worn off, you have left practically the life of a plain tread tire.

CITY MERCHANTS ADOPT FEATURE SALES DAY IDEA

Opening Gun Will Be Mailing of Thief River Falls Trade Journal.

Monthly Event to Be Made of Great Importance to Retailer and Buyer.

One Merchant Will Sell at a Loss in Offering Feature Bargains.

At a meeting of the Merchants association held at the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday night it was voted to adopt a proposed market day or feature sale plan for the purpose of promoting retail merchandising in the city. A committee will be appointed to get out a Thief River Falls trade magazine or folder each month for the purpose of bringing in business from distant points in northwestern Minnesota. The proposed pamphlet for the first issue will be mailed to over 10,000 homes in the territory adjacent and tributary to the city. Its purpose will be to advertise the advantages of Thief River Falls as a retail trading center

Public Auction and Amusements.

The trade magazine will be but the opening gun in a concerted campaign to increase the volume of retail sales. It is proposed to inaugurate within two or three months time a monthly market day on which the offering of special bargains will be made by merchants of the city. A general invitation will be extended to farmers and residents of the surrounding territory to bring in on that day any saleable articles for disposal by public auction. A licensed auctioneer will be furnished by the Merchants association. Every effort will be made to make the designated day an attractive one for out-of-town buyers. Moving picture houses will be induced to offer special and attractive films; special amusement features may be staged on that day. Every business house or institution in the city is to co-operate in making the monthly event one of great importance to both business house and buyer.

Merchant to Stand Loss.

Many merchants have agreed to take hold of the feature sale plan. This will operate in a circle, one merchant to offer for sale on the market day at least one bargain of great attraction which must be sold by him at a decided loss. In order to secure this bargain the purchaser will be required to visit other retail establishments for the purpose of receiving a ticket to present at the store staging the feature sale. Each merchant will stand his own loss in offering the article below cost.

The pamphlet to be sent out will be but the means of getting acquainted. Straightfordness between advertising merchants and the retail trade will be encouraged from the outset of the sales campaign.

Educational Campaign to Demonstrate Milk Value

The directors of the Thief River Co-operative creamery association at a meeting held here on Monday voted to join with the Minnesota Dairy council in advertising the food value of dairy products of the state. The Dairy council has already laid elaborate plans for a state-wide advertising campaign patterned somewhat after those conducted by fruit growers of the western states. The object of the campaign is clearly outlined in an educational moving picture film which is being taken for the council. This film will show the value of milk, butter and other dairy products by the direct method of comparison.

Andrew French, former dairy and food commissioner for Minnesota and at present organizer for the dairy council, was present at the meeting for the purpose of outlining for the directors the extensive results of the advertising campaign as affecting the producer, the creameries, the consumer and Minnesota as a dairy state. He will speak on the same subject before the directors of the St. Hilaire Co-operative creamery tonight.

SECOND SECTION OF SPEAKING CLASS TO MAKE BOW TO PUBLIC

Will Deliver Short Addresses on Different Topics at Lincoln Auditorium This Evening—Outsiders are Invited.

To the general public is extended the invitation to be present at a series of twenty minute talks to be delivered at the Lincoln high school auditorium tonight by F. F. Haynes, George L. Sterns, Robert McGinn, C. L. Hansen and H. W. Protzeller. The speakers have taken subjects of national interest for discussion. No admission fee will be charged. This second series of orations marks the graduation of members of the business and professional men's class in public speaking which has been conducted during the past 13 weeks by L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the high school.

Those who failed to hear members of Mr. Pierce's class speak at the auditorium on last Thursday night, exercises were held, missed many exercises were held, missed many keen and well delivered discussions of topics of the day. Each speaker was allotted but 20 minutes time. Into this brief period each had crowded statements most pertinent to he subjects in hand, displaying thorough preparation and familiarity with the theme. Edward Brevig told many peculiar and interesting facts regarding the life of "The Honey Bee." He possesses a great fund of knowledge on this subject through having made a life-long study of the busy little insects. L. A. Lampert as secretary-treasurer of the Valhall branch of the Federal Land bank, proved well qualified to speak on the subject, "Causes For the Present Financial Depression." E. O. Mogensen, a prominent worker toward bettering the welfare of "The Community," took that for his theme. "The Future Outlook For the Business Man" was ably discussed by George C. Loken. L. H. Lawrence devoted his allotted time to "The Immigration Problem," as having both local and national application.

JOINT CONCERT OF BRAGE CHORUS AND LOCAL ORCHESTRA

Interesting and Varied Program Will be Presented at Auditorium Next Thursday.

The joint appearance in concert Thursday evening, April 28 of the Brage Male chorus and the Concert orchestra is expected to prove the musical event of the spring season for Thief River Falls. Both these organizations have been heard separately and their work has created a highly favorable impression. The orchestra consists of 16 pieces while more than 20 voices will make up the chorus. Besides these features there will be solos by some of the best-known singers in the city. The program will run largely to works by Scandinavian composers and there will be selections from some of the most famous musicians of these northern lands. The concert will be given under the direction of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet. J. T. Neseth will assume baritone solo parts where these are called for in the choral presentations, while the tenor obbligato parts will be taken by Carl Sundahl. H. O. Chommie will be piano accompanist. Mrs. Gay Halvorson will sing "Dost Thou Know That Sweet Land?" from the opera of Mignon and "Homing" by Theresa Del Riego. Among the well known vocal selections to be given by Brage Chorus is Ole Bull's Saterjentens Sondag" (The Chalet Girl's Sunday) and "Autumn Worship," by F. A. Reissiger. The program of thirteen numbers will close with the rendition of "Greetings to Spring," a vocal arrangement of the "Blue Danube" waltz by Brage Chorus, and "The Calif of Bagdad" overture by the orchestra.

Roy Halseth has been made business manager of the enterprise and says that the interest thus far shown in the forthcoming concert indicates a crowded house. The general admission has been placed at 50 cents with no seats reserved. The program in detail will be found in another part of The Times today.

BAND CONCERTS TO BEGIN BEFORE LONG

Newly Formed Organization Will Begin Rehearsals Under Direction of Snyder.

Former members of the Thief River Falls City band met at the Commercial club rooms on Friday night, at which time a new organization was formed with George C. Loken as president, L. A. Hermanson, vice president, and H. S. Snyder, director. Credit for the reorganization of the band is to be given to the above named officers, P. G. Peterson and Perry Froseth.

At the meeting plans were formulated which will result in a series of public band concerts for the coming season. Rehearsals are to be held once a week, starting immediately. The first open-air concert will be given within three weeks, following which these concerts will become a weekly event. Many of the band men saw service with the military bands during the late war. All are accomplished musicians who have done much public concert work. While the opening concert will be staged with fully 15 members present, it is hoped that a total of 20 pieces can be recruited by Decoration Day. The newly elected officers are at the present time making an effort to secure uniforms in order that the organization may make the best possible showing for the opening date.

Parents'-Teachers' Meetings This Week in Rural Schools

A parent-teachers meeting will be held at the O. J. Peterson school, district No. 15, on Friday night. County Attorney Theo. Quale will deliver the address of the evening, taking for his subject "Child Welfare." Miss Marie Knudsen, county nurse, will speak on "The General Health of the School Child," and C. W. Pope, manual training instructor in the Thief River Falls schools, on "The Smith-Hughes Plan For Industrial Education."

A similar meeting will be held at the Hazel school, district No. 11, on Saturday night, when County Agent J. J. McCann will discuss "Boys' and Girls' Club Work," and a Thief River Falls dentist, "The Care of the Teeth."

AMPLE SUPPORT FOR BALL TEAM QUICKLY FOUND

Business Men Pledge Themselves to Pay $500 Per Month Towards Expenses.

Competent Man Will be Put in Charge of Selection and Management of Players.

New Uniforms Will be Provided and Grounds at Once Put in Best Shape Possible.

Thief River Falls will "play ball" this year to judge by the success with which plans promoulgated by fans of the city are meeting. A session of the enthusiastic few was called last Saturday night for the purpose of discussing the base ball future of the community and the upshot of the matter was that committees were appointed to solicit the business men and fans of the city for a monthly cash guarantee to back a strong organization. The committeemen got right on the job Monday morning with formidable looking documents and a dotted line on which to sign, with the result that up to last night over $500 per month had been pledged for the support of a team. The aggregate pledge will exceed this amount as many of the boosters of the city had not been called upon.

Another meeting, of those who guaranteed their financial support at this time, has been called for Friday evening for the purpose of electing directors and bringing about a permanent base ball organization. Tentative plans call for the placing of the selection and management of a team in the hands of a player-manager and the hiring of at least two players. The method of business management will be determined at the coming meeting.

The pledged amounts or a portion of the same will be collected as required to finance operations. The purchase of 12 new uniforms will be one of the first acts of the management. All men who have played base ball, who think they can play, or who really do play will be urged to turn out for the try-outs which will be staged at an early date, as no selection of players has been made and no promising material is to be overlooked.

The business men who are directly responsible for the excellent start made toward securing the base ball organization and who obtained the cash pledges are E. O. Mogensen, A. Langseth, C. S. Simonson, F. H. Herrick, Roy Lambert, Albert Lieberman, A. S. Sapero, Edw. Brevig, F. J. Stebbins, L. H. Lawrence and Walter Jonas.

Guernsey Breeders' Annual Picnic-Sale Here June 7

The Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders association will hold their annual sale and picnic at the Burr Oak farm of Albert Johnson, two miles south of Thief River Falls on June 7, members of the sale committee announced on Tuesday. An inspection of valley herds was conducted during the past week with the result that 15 head of pure-bred and grade Guernseys have already been booked for sale on the above mentioned date.

Both sale and picnic are held as an annual event and have heretofore proven a great attraction to farmers and breeders from all sections of the Red River Valley. Present plans indicate that the coming sale will be no exception to the established precedent. Speakers of note will be secured as a special feature for the picnic.

Was Husband of Woman Involved in Mail Robbery

Ray McDonald, who has since the latter part of February been acting as night clerk at the Hotel Evelyn, left here on Friday night for the twin cities. He is the husband of the notorious Mrs. McDonald who figured in the Delbert Smith mailcar robbery and murder which took place several months ago on the Northern Pacific line between Minneapolis and St. Cloud. Husband and wife have not been living together during the last two years. Twin city papers have stated that Mrs. McDonald was a divorcee. The former hotel clerk, whose identity was known to but few in the city, while here informed Sheriff W. J. LaBree that such was not the case as no divorce decree had ever been granted.

Being afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis, McDonald left here with the determination of engaging in out-of-door work.

Would Make Thief River Public Health Sub-Center

Several important matters will be brought before the Elmer Eklund post of the American Legion at the regular meeting to be held at the Commercial club rooms on the night of Tuesday, April 26. An effort will be made to have Thief River Falls designated as a "sub center" of the U. S. Public Health service. Local medical examiners will cease to do the work of that service, according to a bulletin recently issued by the state department of the Legion. Disabled service men will be examined at "sub centers" located at Minneapolis, Duluth, Brainerd, Sioux Falls, Fargo and Grand Forks. Inasmuch as Brainerd is designated as the center for northern Minnesota, the Legion will request that Thief River Falls be added to the list. Special doctors and office force will be maintained at all centers.

Plans for the observance of Decoration day in the city will also be discussed at the meeting on Tuesday. The hospital visiting committees are particularly requested to be present for the purpose of making reports. A luncheon will be served by Mrs. Alma Strupp. The meeting will be called at 8:15.

OSTBY JOINS FIRST NATIONAL DIRECTORS; SUCCEEDS PATTERSON

O. D. Ostby, for many years prominent in the business life of Thief River Falls and vicinity, was last week elected to the board of directors of the First National bank, succeeding the late Daniel Patterson of St. Hilaire. Mr. Ostby, besides his banking and business connections, owns and operates a farm of 400 acres a short distance north of the city and has made a study of farming conditions and requirements in the neighborhood. He can therefore be depended on to give a sympathetic ear to the needs of this important section of our citizenry in matters that may come before he board for decision. Mr. Ostby is by everyone considered as a substantial and partucularly level-headed citizen whose judgment and advice in many matters will be both sought and heeded. He is a stockholder in the Thief River Grocery company and has other interests of importance.

SOCIABILITY TOUR OF VALLEY CITIES

Development Association Officials Believe Trip Would Prove Good Investment.

Secretary Scott Laird of the Commercial club is in receipt of a communication from C. H. Zealand, secretary of the Red River Valley Development association, setting forth the benefits to be derived from a premeditated tour of the entire Red River valley by members of the valley organization. Mr. Zealand's letter suggests that as the "get-acquainted" tour would be too lengthy to stage at one time, the northern half be covered during this season and the southern half during the coming year. The route over this section as layed out is via Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls, Holt, Brohson, Middle River, Roseau, Hallock, Warren and back to Crookston. With many intermediate stops, it is estimated that he circle could be covered in no less than three days.

The matter has been referred to the Commercial club committee on tours, which is made up of E. O. Mogensen, H. W. Protzeller, L. H. Lawrence, Roy Lambert, G. C. Loken, R. H. Ross and G. W. Booren, and was scheduled to come before the club luncheon this noon.

Noted Baritone Soloist Appears Here in Oratorio

The Thief River Falls Choral society will present Gaul's oratorio, "Holy City," at the auditorium here on the night of May 10, according to a statement issued on Tuesday by Miss Maude Johnson, musical director of the organization. Harry M. Phillips of Minneapolis, will appear with the chorus as baritone soloist. Recognized as one of the leading baritones of the northwest, Mr. Phillips has appeared in concert in many of the larger cities of the continent. Those who have heard him sing state that the city may be considered fortunate in securing his appearance here.

United States savings securities issued for the first time on January 1, of this year were the $1 Savings stamp and the $25 Treasury Savings certificate. Both may be obtained at any postoffice.

DOUBLE SIZE OF HOSPITAL HERE PRESENT PLAN

Physicians Hospital Association Assured of Money Needed to Make Improvement.

Would Construct "L" Same Size as Older Building at Cost Approximating $20,000.

Institution's Growth Indicates Its Importance to City and Surrounding Section.

The erection during the summer of an addition to the Physicians hospital which will double the present capacity is assured, officers of the hospital association announced on Wednesday. Preliminary plans call for the construction of a wing along the east side of the present building.

The question of financing building operations was brought before members of the Commercial club at the noonday meeting of last Thursday by city physicians and surgeons who are financially interested in the institution. After a lengthy discussion the industrial committee of the club, which is made up of H. C. Johnson, Math Barzen, Isaac Helseth, G. L. Biddick and Dr. O. F. Mellby, was directed to confer with the officers of the hospital association as to the most feasible means of raising the approximate sum of $20,000 necessary in erecting and equipping the much-needed addition. Since that time offers to finance the construction work have been made by city banks and private parties, but none of these have as yet been accepted.

Officers of the hospital corporation, all of whom spoke at the Commercial club luncheon of the remarkable growth of the institution since the erection of the present building in 1915, and the need of additional facilities to care for the ever-increasing clientile, are: Dr. O. F. Mellby, president; Dr. J. Biedermann, vice president; Dr. A. J. Paulson, treasurer, and Dr. H. W. Froehlich, secretary. Other city physicians also spoke of their interest in the hospital and its benefit to the entire northwestern section of the state. Business men expressed pride in the institution as a city asset. Offers to make small loans toward raising the required funds, should that plan be found necessary, were also made.

ADVOCATE REROUTING JEFFERSON HIGHWAY, ABANDONING PEMBINA

Fifteen members of the good roads and Jefferson Highway committee of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club were the guests of the Commercial club of this city at the weekly club luncheon held this noon. The committee was invited here following a discussion of last Thursday as to the advisibility of re-routing the Jefferson highway by way of Holt, Middle River and Strathcona to Karlstad. The highway since its establishment has been routed over the Pembina trail from which a detour over a treacherous piece of road is made necessary by the absence of two small bridges, one over which the north branch of the Snake river and one over the Middle river.

The visiting committee first suggested the changing of the present highway route, advancing the statement that traffic is being lost to Thief River Falls and cities south of here because of the fact that for a distance of over 50 miles between here and Karlstad no towns are encountered and the district sparsely settled. The good roads committees of the two organizations will tour both routes this afternoon in order to determine whether or not the proposed change will be recommended to the directors of the Jefferson Highway association.

Wins Flag for School House By Essay on Wheat Growing

The Spring Wheat Crop Improvement association recently offered a number of prizes to the boy or girl attending a school in all counties of Minnesota and North Dakota who wrote the best essay on "How to Grow Spring Wheat." The winner for Pennington county is Laurence Letnes, a pupil in the Elwell school, district No. 28.

The first prize for the Northwest was won by Lillian Peterson, Benton county; second, Olaf Olson, McGregor, N. D.; third, Alice Langlie, New Richmond, Minn.; fourth, Kathleen Leslie, Antler, N. D.

BONNETS, SINGING AND DANCING FEATURES OF AUXILIARY OPEN HOUSE

The Auxiliary to the Elmer Eklund post very successfully put across on Tuesday night another one of the monthly open-house meetings for Legionaires and ex-service men. Similar meetings have been held on the average of once each month since the formation of the Auxiliary and have proven so successful as to be looked forward to as the most pleasurable events of the city's social life.

Tuesday night's social time was held at the Masonic hall, the use of which for that purpose is donated by the Masonic order, and attracted an unusually large attendance. A hat trimming contest for members of the male sex present was the feature of the early evening entertainment, and many creations worthy of the better modistes were evolved. The ladies meanwhile made paper caps, which were later exchanged for the hats trimmed by the men. A grand march was then staged, following which prizes were awared for the best-looking headgear seen on the floor. Following a community sing led by Miss Maud Johnson, director of music in the city schools, and the serving of a lunch prepared by the Auxiliary, dancing became the diversion of the remainder of the evening. Credit for the great success of the open house is due Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. L. H. Lawrence, Miss Meta Kiland, Miss Belle Hermanson, Miss Laura Stopple and Miss Gladys Anderson, members of the Auxiliary entertainment committee and the volunteer musicians who furnished the dance music.

READY FOR FIRST MOTOR TRUCK TRIP; IN DAILY SERVICE

Two Trucks Will be Placed on Run Between Grand Forks and This City.

Manager K. P. Cadwell and C. O. Haugen of he Grand Forks Motor Truck Transportation company, were in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, while covering in one of the company's trucks the route of the freight and express line between this city and Grand Forks. The initial hauling trip will be made on Tuesday of next week, Mr. Cadwell told a representative of The Times. This week's trip is being made for the purpose of laying out a definite route and establishing stations in each city and community thru which it passes. The roads are reported as being already in good condition.

The route to be traversed by the truck line is by way of Fisher, Crookston, Gentily, Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls, Rosewood, Viking, Radium, Warren, Alvarado, Oslo, Manvil, N. D., into Grand Forks. Stops will be made at farms along the route for the purpose of picking up or delivering cream, cream cans, merchandise or farm produce. All shipments will be delivered at the door of the consignee. The Thief River Falls station will be located at the Peoples Auto company garage, where consignors will deliver all express or freight shipments to be made over the truck line. Shipments will be delivered throughout the city but not picked up.

The service of the new common-carrier will be daily. Two 2-ton trucks will be placed in operation on Tuesday, one leaving Grand Forks by way of Fisher and Crookston and the other by way of Manvel and Oslo. The trucks will meet and spend the noon hour here. Both will be kept on the route if business warrants. Mr. Cadwell stated, after calling on many of theh larger shippers of the city on Wednesday, that their support was guaranteed.

SOCIAL SESSION TO FOLLOW ELKS PLAY

Specially Arranged For Benefit of Out-of-Town Members of Local Lodge.

The entertainment committee of the Elks lodge will supplement the efforts of the show committee and have a little special entertainment of their own devising on the evening of Thursday, May 5, the date on which "Nothing But the Truth" will be presented under Elk auspices. It is expected that a large number of out-of-town members, with their wives or best girls, will be in attendance and this will prove an excellent opportunity to welcome them to the new quarters. It has therefore been decided to have a party especially for their benefit after the show.

Rehearsals for "Nothing But the Truth" are going forward in a highly satisfactory manner. Directed by H. Nathan Pierce, the cast is rapidly acquiring perfection in all points of the presentation and long before the evening set for the performance will have thoroughly mastered every detail. The play itself is without question the best ever attempted here by local players and interest in the forthcoming event is keen.

The ticket sale is progressing well and it is now certain that record audience will be on hand when the curtain goes up.

Sons of Norway Quickly Raise Cash to Buy Lots

After deciding to purcase the lots at the corner of Third street and Davis avenue for the purpose of erecting thereon a regular lodge home, the Sons of Norway found little trouble in raising the money to pay cash for the property. At a recent meeting more than enough was subscribed and the lodge now owns what is one of the best sites for its purpose in the entire city.

The next move will be the selling of the two buildings on the recently acquired tract. One of these is 20x40 feet and the other 20x20. Both are in good condition and can be made into fine residences at very slight expense. These buildings will be sold to the highest bidder at an auction to be held on April 26, notice of which will be found in another column of The Times today.

ODD FELLOWS TO BURN MORTGAGE AT BIG JUBILEE

Three-Link Lodge Will Fittingly Celebrate Final Cancelling of Building Debt.

Program of Addresses Followed by Dance at Auditorium For Members Tuesday.

History and Struggles of Early Years Will be Recounted by Old Time Members.

The oldest fraternal organization in the city, Lone Pine Lodge No. 221, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will celebrate an important event in its highly creditable but somewhat varied history on Tuesday evening. Together with the members of Lion Rebekah lodge the Odd Fellows will proceed to burn the mortgage on their building, located at the corner of LaBree avenue and Second street, and will thus crown efforts to get out of debt extending over a period of nearly 21 years.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will meet at 8:15 o'clock in the lodge room where a program appropriate to the occasion will be presented. W. B. Fuller, secretary for the term beginning on Jan. 28, 1896, will give a history of the important events in the history of the lodge from the date of its institution to the present time. E. M. Stanton will give a history of Odd Fellowship generally, particularly in the United States, and there will be other numbers of an entertaining and instructive nature. After the adjournment of the meeting the members of the two lodges will repair to the auditorium where there will be dancing and other diversions. All Odd Fellows, whether members of Lone Pine lodge or not, are invited to be present and help celebrate the event. The committee in charge has been notified that 25 are coming from Warren and 60 from St. Hilaire. Argyle and Red Lake Falls lodges have also been invited but have not had time to indicate their intention.

Lone Pine lodge was instituted on Oct. 19, 1894, with Crookston Odd Fellows acting as deputy grand lodge officers. The charter members numbered 19, as follows: T. H. Young, Thomas Burns, W. T. Mullarky, S. Kenneson, Daniel Patterson, C. A. Robbecke, F. J. Stebbins, H. A. Hanson, P. O. Bergh, S. M. Dainerd, W. W. Gibb, H. Williams, W. A. Sorselel, D. S. Stevens, H. W. Parker, H. Bye, Louis Hanson, C. C. Jackson and A. E. White.

The meetings for a while were held in the fire hall but regular lodge quarters were afterward secured in what was known as the Hotel Northern Annex. This building burned down on the night of Dec. 22, 1898, destroying all the peraphernalia of the lodge. Temporary quarters were secured until the new building was completed in the fall of 1899.

The lodge has had its ups and downs, there being times when it seemed as if it would be necessary to give up the charter because of lack of interest. Growth has been steady, however, and in later years very rapid until now Lone Pine has a membership of 150.

Sewers and Water Mains Ordered Laid by Council

The city council at an adjourned session held on Friday night passed resolutions authorizing the construction of seven blocks additional sewer service as follows: Extension on State avenue from Fourth street to Sixth street; district sewer on Sixth street between Arnold and State avenues; lateral sewer on Knight avenue between Zeh and Backe streets; lateral between James and Nora streets on Kendall avenue south, and two blocks along Red Lake boulevard east of the Soo tracks. Water mains will be laid in the same districts. Engineer Irving Quist has been directed to prepare plans and secure an estimate of cost, following which the city will advertise for bids on the construction work.

Dan Bjorkman called upon many members of the lodge for short talks in which the services rendered the city by the honored guest and his devotion to the Masonic cause were lauded. Mr. Ihle responded to these toasts of his many friends with a few well chosen words of appreciation. Over 50 members of the Masonic brotherhood were present.

Dollars

Such is the theory of Saving. It is not the small amount of money, which starts your Savings Account to-day that counts, but what that amount will grow to in time to come. A dollar put away to-day will be worth considerably more in a year from now because of the interest it has earned for you.

Hence, there is a hint for everyone who has not acquired the Saving habit. Take what few dollars you can spare to-day, bring them to us and watch how they grow while in a Savings Account here. Whenever you need them, you can get them with the interest they have earned while in our hands. Think it over, and act.

GETTING GOOD START.

When weather and soil conditions permit the farmers of Northwestern Minnesota to get onto their fields by the middle of April they figure that a long start has been made toward a successful season. This year the first reported seeding was done on April 6, and while not many districts in the county can boast such early start, practically every seeder was in operation by the end of last week. The wheat is practically in the ground now and the oats will follow quickly.

While it is true that an early and favorable spring may not insure a crop, it is certain that a late beginning makes the outcome more problematical. It sometimes happens that there is a good crop following a poor start, but this does not occur often enough to make it anything but an unsafe gamble.

Soil conditions in the county were never better, according to reports reaching the Farm Bureau office from all sections. More plowing was done last fall than at any corresponding season in the farming history of the Valley and there has consequently been no delay in getting the seed into the ground. More winter grain was sown last fall than ever before and it has come through in fine shape. Less acreage will be devoted to wheat and more to clover, potatoes and sugar beets. This indicates a more progressive system of farming.

Everything considered, the farmers of Pennington county are reasonably safe in looking forward to a good harvest. There are those who delight in pointing to the many things that can happen between now and harvest time to set the farmer's efforts at naught, but their croakings should be disregarded. One thing is certain: A good windup is more likely to follow a good start, and our farmers have the start.

THE CRACK OF THE BAT

The baseball season is open and indications are that the game will regain its old popularity. Wars and other exciting incidents have had the effect of lessening interest in the national game during the past few years and disclosures proving crookedness on the part of several big league players have not helped the sport in popular estimation. It seems to be coming back, nevertheless and thereat all good Americans will rejoice.

There was a time in this country when every hamlet of a dozen families had a ball team of one kind or another. Every sand lot and cow pasture in the land was a training ground for future big leaguers. No citizen so dead to civic pride as not to get excited over the performance of the "home team" could be found anywhere. It provided good, healthful recreation for players and spectators alike. Now things are different. A baseball game between kid teams is as rare as a kite-flying contest- and the passing is to be regretted.

Thief River Falls is going to have a real baseball team this year, however. A number of enterprising citizens started out to get pledges of support—the kind that represent real money—and were so successful that there will be no trouble experienced on this score. That is, the money necessary to get the team going in good shape will be forthcoming. What happens afterwards depends to a large extent upon the performance of the team.

Our citizens' attitude toward a winning aggregation was demonstrated during the early spring in the case of the American Legion basketball team. If we can manage to get the same kind of enthusism behind our baseball players as was shown toward the basket shooters there will be no trouble in maintaining interest all through the season. If the boys will start out with the intention of making good and show that they have the ability to do so, there will be no kick coming on the quality of their support. If, on the other hand, the games prove uninteresting and tame, an early disbanding can be looked for.

It seems kind of un-American for a city the size of Thief River Falls not to have a baseball team. Other communities in this section have them and manage to get a lot of fun and excitement out of their performances. Somehow our people have lately failed to get properly "het up" over the game, and this lethargy is not good for them. Now that we have promised to put up the money, let's see if we cannot put a little jazz into our attitude.

HERE LIES GEORGE

(Community Service Bulletin)

At the annual meeting of the St. Paul Association the burial of George was one of the most spectacular features of an excellent program. A hearse, followed by a band of mourners shrouded in gloom, passed across the stage. Each mourner fairly exuded sorrow. The procession passed out of sight at the right of the stage. A curtain rose and in the background was a grave with an impressive tombstone, on which was inscribed, "Here Lies George." The band of mourners, which had followed the hearse across the stage, was gathered around the grave. One of the number advanced to the front of the stage and delivered a very appropriate address. The message was to the effect that now George was gone it was up to each individual member of the association to become a worker and do his share of the work that used to be left to George to do.

It would be to the great advantage of many communities and their organizations if similar funerals were held.

Minnesota in Congress.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

The states that return their representatives term after term are the ones that have the greatest influence in congress. This is not only because of the seniority rule that gives the chairmanships and higher committee assignments to those who have served longest, but because experience develops a congressman and makes him more valuable to his constituents and to the country.

The present Minnesota delegation is an example. Six of the ten representatives are veterans, three of them dating back to the Fifty-Eighth congress, with services in the Sixty-Seventh about to begin.

Thus we find Mr. Volstead at the head of the important judiciary committee, with his name attached to the law enforcing the Eighteenth amendment and with vital legislation to be shaped by his committee in the coming session.

We find Mr. Steenerson serving as chairman of the postoffice and post roads committee, one of the big committees of the house.

And we find Mr. Davis in line for the second biggest chairmanship in the list—appropriations. There is objection to him, it is true, as not large enough for the place, and it remains to be seen whether the seniority rule will be broken in his case, when Chairman Good steps out. If so, it will be a break almost without precedent.

The other members of the delegation, though of shorter service, are better placed than the average. Mr. Anderson, now entering his sixth term, has just been signally honored by appointment to the republican steering committee as representative of the agricultural interests. Mr. Schall, now entering his fourth term, is a member of the all-powerful rules committee. Mr. Knutson, who has served two terms and now begins his third, is the Republican whip—a responsible position in the dominant organization.

And now our own Mr. Newton, beginning his second term, is recognized as a member of industry and great promise by appointment to the commerce committee, that will shape railroad and other highly important legislation. On this committee Mr. Newton can serve Minneapolis as well as the commercial interests of the country to the best advantage. Beyond doubt he will make good there.

Minnesota is thus reaping the results of her policy of not changing her representatives too easily, but rather of sending back a good man as long as he will go. With the veteran Senator Nelson at the had of the senate judiciary committee, and his colleague, Senator Kellogg, advanced to a place on the foreign relations committee, Minnesota has a position of great influence in congress.

Loop the Loop, 'Nit.

(Grygla Eagle)

Considerable stir is going on in the east end of Pennington county in regard to a loop line railroad extension of the electric line south from Goodridge, taking in a territory of fifteen miles, most of which is now supplied by a nearby railroad. A committee met with the Thief River Falls Commercial club recently and presented the case to them in as strong a manner as possible, stating that a right-of-way would be donated, a substantial cash donation would be given and other matters of advertising to the present time.

H. W. Protzeller, president of the electric line, then explained to them that it would be unprofitable for the company to contemplate such an action at this time as it would be an increased dead mileage and that it would cost around a half million dollars without any increased business, which is easy to be seen.

There is probably no section that needs a railroad worse than the Grygla country. It is known far and wide as the garden spot of the North. It is developing wonderfully under the most adverse conditions, no railroad. The greater bulk of the business of the Electric line comes from the Grygla country. The extension of the line here would be a wonderful feeder *for Thief River Falls. The settle*ment and increased production in this part of the state would be almost phenominal. If Thief River Falls would but examine the situation and do their utmost to secure this extension they would find it would be the most beneficial enterprise ever started in that city. We have been expecting for some time that Thief River Falls would see the benefits and wake up to it but they seem to be dormant. Wake up, Thief River Falls, wake up. Look outside of your own town and boost the country with us.

ARM DISABLED BY BAYONET THRUST, ENTERS TRAINING

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vettleson of Hickory township, left here on Tuesday for Fargo where the former service man will enter a course in vocational training with the Federal Board. Formerly a member of Company "A," 320th Infantry, Mr. Vettleson took an active part in the Meuse Argonne offensive. In a hand to hand encounter with the enemy he received a bayonet wound in the left wrist and has since been greatly handicapped in the use of that member.

ORY BACKED BY PRACTICAL PPLICATION BRINGS RESULTS TO STUDENTS OF AGRICULTURE

By F. A. Tripp.
ctor in Agriculture, Thief River Falls Schools.

t effort has been made during t two years to make the course iculture at the Thief River igh school as practical as pos- Formerly agricultural instruc- sisted of text-book work su- ked with a small amount of ory and field work. It is be- hat such instruction has been t value to the student, but it s criticised at times because of practicability. In order to make rk more practicable and to give ing basis for instruction, each who now pursues the course carry out some agricultural pro-boys who took agriculture dur- e school year of 1919-20 took husbandry projects. Several ised calves, others hogs, and hers raised poultry. Those who dairy or beef calves made out tions which they were going to made a study of the problem class room and then took care young calves and feed them ding to the methods they had ed. Each was required to keep temized account of all expenses. hog and poultry projects were rried out in a similar manner. One the students exhibited his calves the Pennington county fair and on $10 in prizes. A poultry student xhibited his birds at the Pennington County Poultry show and won $15 in rize money.

Poultry Project Remarkable.

The poultry projects were perhaps the most successful. One of the boys raised successfully 80 chickens out of hatched. The four that died were rowned in a rain storm. Not a sin- le one died from disease. This is xceptional in view of the fact that is not at all uncommon in farm ocks for half of those hatched to die f disease before they are mature or eady for market.

The cash book kept by this young nan shows a neat credit balance. His locks were fed $18.60 worth of feed; e estimated his labor cost at $12.90 hich included remuneration for his wn services. His total expenses in- luding feed, labor, eggs and use of quipment, totaled $57.21. At the ose of his project he had on hand d had sold $142.80 worth of poultry, ving him a net profit of $85.59.

This student had the opportunity tudying and realizing the real lems in poultry raising. He not acquired new ideas in the raising birds but he actually put these into practice, so that later in when he again takes up the work will be using the better methods a matter of course. This project t only offered the boy some good perience but put more productive rebred stock on a farm where be- e had been only scrub stock, for family eventually kept only the 's poultry on the farm.

Now Studying Field Crops.

Classes are studying field crops this r. Members will raise some one p on their parents' farms or on rented plots of ground. The most popular project this year is a potato plot one acre in size. Practically all of the boys already have their land fertilized and plowed. Some are buying certified, disease-free seed, while others will select disease-free tubers of a good type from their home bins. One of the requirements is that each student treat his seed and plant where potatoes have not been raised for a period of at least five years. During the summer they will cultivate the piece of ground, spray for bugs and treat for disease. The instructor of the class will visit each plot once a week to assist in the work, point out the diseased plants that should be pulled out, assist in mixing spray material, etc.

To Cut Down Huge Loss.

In 1918 there was a loss of over six million bushels of potatoes in Minnesota, or 17 per cent of the entire crop, because of disease. The agricultural students throughout the state are trying to cut down this high percentage of disease in their fields by proper seed selection, treatment and proper care. When parents see the results of the boys' work, they too will select seed more carefully and treat for disease. Neighbors in turn will follow their example, as has been demonstrated in the past, and these practices will become common.

In addition to the potato projects scheduled for this year, two boys will raise corn and and one wheat. The boy working on the wheat project will put in 10 acres on ground prepared by himself and of which he will have special charge. To one acre of the plot he will apply 125 pounds of superphosphate in order to find out whether or not such fertilizing pays on his home farm. Here again the boys are not only studying but they are working out some of the problems which come before them in a practical manner and putting into actual practice things which they have learned.

Learning by Doing.

The big idea which it is aimed to bring out in the agricultural course of the Thief River Falls schools is "learning by doing." Much that is merely studied is not carried out in practice. It is often not understood or else forgotten and hense is of no value. The project method requires study; gives the student an opportunity to connect his text-book work with the practical work of the farm, and causes him to form habits of industry which will become of value to him later in life. The course in the public schools was formerly termed "agricultural education." It is now being termed "educational agriculture."

FURLONG CONCERT TROUPE SATURDAY

Girls' Community Club Sponsors Appearance Here of Well-Known Troupe.

The Furlong Concert company of Minneapolis, will appear at the city auditorium here on Saturday night under the auspices of the Girls' Community club. The booking was made at a late hour, yet the success with which the advance sale of tickets conducted by members of the young ladies' organization is meeting, indicates that the Saturday night house will be a large one.

Individual members of the concert company come here with the highest recommendations as to musical and dramatic ability. Miss Edna Furlong, pianist, and director of the company, is a recognized musician of great ability. She has appeared on the Chautauqua circuits of the Northwest for the past several years and has everywhere been received with the greatest of approval. She formerly was an instructor in the MacPhail School of Music at Minneapolis. Her success has been so pronounced that she has organized a concert company of her own for a prolonged tour of the northwestern states.

Elizabeth Lloyd Jones, reader, is a graduate of one of the leading dramatic schools of the country and a former instructor in the Dramatic Art school of the Minnesota university. Her readings for Saturday night have been chosen with a view to entertaining to an unusual degree the most cosmopolitan of audiences. Miss Ann O'Malley, contralto, is said to possess one of the finest and richest voices west of Chicago, and those who have heard her in concert work predict a triumphant appearance here. All three young ladies are gifted with the most pleasing of personalities and are true artists of the dramatic or concert stage.

Members of the Furlong company were heard at Lancaster on the night of March 21 at the big "saltlick" given by the Lancaster Elks, when they scored a triumph of the highest degree. Elmer E. Smith of Lancaster, a former student at Thief River Falls high school, is acting as booking agent for the company in the present tour. A concert was given at Pembina on Wednesday night, one will be given at Humbolt tonight and one at Orleans on Friday night. The present tour embraces bookings at Grand Forks, Fargo, Crookston, Minot, Warren and many other cities of the Northwest.

In New Quarters.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS ARBOR AND BIRD DAY

Friday, April 29, has been designated and set aside as Arbor and Bird day in a proclamation issued on Tuesday by Governor J. A. O. Preus, who urges that on that day there should not be only the actual planting of trees around school houses and homes, but that, what is more important, instruction should be given to the public in the preservation and propagation of trees and forests and wild birds.

"Trees are a most important factor in human life," Governor Preus said in his proclamation. "They furnish shade from the summer sun and shelter from the wintry winds. They furnish lumber with which to build our homes, fuel for our hearth, pulp from which we make our books and paper and innumerable other things. The trees in our state and nation are being used much more rapidly than they are being replaced. It is necessary that we learn to use them without waste, but more important that we take energetic steps to replace those that are used each year.

"The lives of our trees and birds are intimately associated. Trees furnish homes and food for our birds, and the birds, by destroying insect life and by acting as carriers of tree seed, help to preserve and propagate our timber."

Will Build New School.

A special meeting was held at the Aubol school house, district No. 54, on Saturday night when it was voted to erect a new one-room school building and to bond the district for the necessary funds. A proposal to join the St. Hilaire district was voted down.

GETTING GOOD START.

When weather and soil conditions permit the farmers of Northwestern Minnesota to get onto their fields by the middle of April they figure that a long start has been made toward a successful season. This year the first reported seeding was done on April 6, and while not many districts in the county can boast such early start, practically every seeder was in operation by the end of last week. The wheat is practically in the ground now and the oats will follow quickly.

While it is true that an early and favorable spring may not insure a crop, it is certain that a late beginning makes the outcome more problematical. It sometimes happens that there is a good crop following a poor start, but this does not occur often enough to make it anything but an unsafe gamble.

Soil conditions in the county were never better, according to reports reaching the Farm Bureau office from all sections. More plowing was done last fall than at any corresponding season in the farming history of the Valley and there has consequently been no delay in getting the seed into the ground. More winter grain was sown last fall than ever before and it has come through in fine shape. Less acreage will be devoted to wheat and more to clover, potatoes and sugar beets. This indicates a more progressive system of farming.

Everything considered, the farmers of Pennington county are reasonably safe in looking forward to a good harvest. There are those who delight in pointing to the many things that can happen between now and harvest time to set the farmer's efforts at naught, but their croakings should be disregarded. One thing is certain: A good windup is more likely to follow a good start, and our farmers have the start.

THE CRACK OF THE BAT

The baseball season is open and indications are that the game will regain its old popularity. Wars and other exciting incidents have had the effect of lessening interest in the national game during the past few years and disclosures proving crookedness on the part of several big league players have not helped the sport in popular estimation. It seems to be coming back, nevertheless and thereat all good Americans will rejoice.

There was a time in this country when every hamlet of a dozen families had a ball team of one kind or another. Every sand lot and cow pasture in the land was a training ground for future big leaguers. No citizen so dead to civic pride as not to get excited over the performance of the "home team" could be found anywhere. It provided good, healthful recreation for players and spectators alike. Now things are different. A baseball game between kid teams is as rare as a kite-flying contest—and the passing is to be regretted.

Thief River Falls is going to have a real baseball team this year, however. A number of enterprising citizens started out to get pledges of support—the kind that represent real money—and were so successful that there will be no trouble experienced on this score. That is, the money necessary to get the team going in good shape will be forthcoming. What happens afterwards depends to a large extent upon the performance of the team.

Our citizens' attitude toward a winning aggregation was demonstrated during the early spring in the case of the American Legion basketball team. If we can manage to get the same kind of enthusiasm behind our baseball players as was shown toward the basket shooters there will be no trouble in maintaining interest all through the season. If the boys will start out with the intention of making good and show that they have the ability to do so, there will be no kick coming on the quality of their support. If, on the other hand, the games prove uninteresting and tame, an early disbanding can be looked for.

It seems kind of un-American for a city the size of Thief River Falls not to have a baseball team. Other communities in this section have them and manage to get a lot of fun and excitement out of their performances. Somehow our people have lately failed to get properly "het up" over the game, and this lethargy is not good for them. Now that we have promised to put up the money, let's see if we cannot put a little jazz into our attitude.

HERE LIES GEORGE

(Community Service Bulletin)

At the annual meeting of the St. Paul Association the burial of George was one of the most spectacular features of an excellent program. A hearse, followed by a band of mourners shrouded in gloom, passed across the stage. Each mourner fairly exuded sorrow. The procession passed out of sight at the right of the stage. A curtain rose and in the background was a grave with an impressive tombstone, on which was inscribed, "Here Lies George." The band of mourners, which had followed the hearse across the stage, was gathered around the grave. One of the number advanced to the front of the stage and delivered a very appropriate address. The message was to the effect that now George was gone it was up to each individual member of the association to become a worker and do his share of the work that used to be left to George to do.

It would be to the great advantage of many communities and their organizations if similar funerals were held.

Minnesota in Congress.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

The states that return their representatives term after term are the ones that have the greatest influence in congress. This is not only because of the seniority rule that gives the chairmanships and higher committee assignments to those who have served longest, but because experience develops a congressman and makes him more valuable to his constituents and to the country.

The present Minnesota delegation is an example. Six of the ten representatives are veterans, three of them dating back to the Fifty-Eighth congress, with services in the Sixty-Seventh about to begin.

Thus we find Mr. Volstead at the head of the important judiciary committee, with his name attached to the law enforcing the Eighteenth amendment and with vital legislation to be shaped by his committee in the coming session.

We find Mr. Steenerson serving as chairman of the postoffice and post roads committee, one of the big committees of the house.

And we find Mr. Davis in line for the second biggest chairmanship in the list—appropriations. There is objection to him, it is true, as not large enough for the place, and it remains to be seen whether the seniority rule will be broken in his case, when Chairman Good steps out. If so, it will be a break almost without precedent.

The other members of the delegation, though of shorter service, are better placed than the average. Mr. Anderson, now entering his sixth term, has just been signally honored by appointment to the republican steering committee as representative of the agricultural interests. Mr. Schall, now entering his fourth term, is a member of the all-powerful rules committee. Mr. Knutson, who has served two terms and now begins his third, is the Republican whip—a responsible position in the dominant organization.

And now our own Mr. Newton, beginning his second term, is recognized as a member of industry and great promise by appointment to the commerce committee, that will shape railroad and other highly important legislation. On this committee Mr. Newton can serve Minneapolis as well as the commercial interests of the country to the best advantage. Beyond doubt he will make good there.

Minnesota is thus reaping the results of her policy of not changing her representatives too easily, but rather of sending back a good man as long as he will go. With the veteran Senator Nelson at the had of the senate judiciary committee, and his colleague, Senator Kellogg, advanced to a place on the foreign relations committee, Minnesota has a position of great influence in congress.

Loop the Loop, Nit.

(Grygla Eagle)

Considerable stir is going on in the east end of Pennington county in regard to a loop line railroad extension of the electric line south from Goodridge, taking in a territory of fifteen miles, most of which is now supplied by a nearby railroad. A committee met with the Thief River Falls Commercial club recently and presented the case to them in as strong a manner as possible, stating that a right-of-way would be donated, a substantial cash donation would be given and other matters of advertising to the present time.

H. W. Protzeller, president of the electric line, then explained to them that it would be unprofitable for the company to contemplate such an action at this time as it would be an increased dead mileage and that it would cost around a half million dollars without any increased business, which is easy to be seen.

There is probably no section that needs a railroad worse than the Grygla country. It is known far and wide as the garden spot of the North. It is developing wonderfully under the most adverse conditions, no railroad. The greater bulk of the business of the Electric line comes from the Grygla country. The extension of the line here would be a wonderful feeder for Thief River Falls. The settlement and increased production in this part of the state would be almost phenominal. If Thief River Falls would but examine the situation and do their utmost to secure this extension they would find it would be the most beneficial enterprise ever started in that city. We have been expecting for some time that Thief River Falls would see the benefits and wake up to it but they seem to be dormant. Wake up, Thief River Falls, wake up. Look outside of your own town and boost the country with us.

ORY BACKED BY PRACTICAL PPLICATION BRINGS RESULTS TO STUDENTS OF AGRICULTURE

By F. A. Tripp.
ctor in Agriculture, Thief River Falls Schools.

t effort has been made during t two years to make the course iculture at the Thief River igh school as practical as pos- Formerly agricultural instruc- sisted of text-book work sup- ed with a small amount of ory and field work. It is be- hat such instruction has been t value to the student, but it s criticised at times because of racticability. In order to make k more practicable and to give ing basis for instruction, each who now pursues the course arry out some agricultural pro-boys who took agriculture dur- e school year of 1919-20 took husbandry projects. Several aised calves, others hogs, and hers raised poultry. Those who dairy or beef calves made out tions which they were going to made a study of the problem class room and then took care young calves and feed them ding to the methods they had ed. Each was required to keep temized account of all expenses. hog and poultry projects were rried out in a similar manner. One the students exhibited his calves the Pennington county fair and on $10 in prizes. A poultry student xhibited his birds at the Pennington County Poultry show and won $15 in rize money.

Poultry Project Remarkable.

The poultry projects were perhaps the most successful. One of the boys raised successfully 80 chickens out of 1 hatched. The four that died were rowned in a rain storm. Not a sin- le one died from disease. This is xceptional in view of the fact that is not at all uncommon in farm ocks for half of those hatched to die f disease before they are mature or eady for market.

The cash book kept by this young man shows a neat credit balance. His locks were fed $18.60 worth of feed; e estimated his labor cost at $12.90 hich included remuneration for his wn services. His total expenses in- luding feed, labor, eggs and use of quipment, totaled $57.21. At the ose of his project he had on hand d had sold $142.80 worth of poultry, ing him a net profit of $85.59.

This student had the opportunity udying and realizing the real ems in poultry raising. He not acquired new ideas in the raising birds but he actually put these s into practice, so that later in when he again takes up the work will be using the better methods a matter of course. This project t only offered the boy some good perience but put more productive rebred stock on a farm where be- e had been only scrub stock, for family eventually kept only the 's poultry on the farm.

Now Studying Field Crops.

Classes are studying field crops this r. Members will raise some one p on their parents' farms or on rented plots of ground. The most popular project this year is a potato plot one acre in size. Practically all of the boys already have their land fertilized and plowed. Some are buying certified, disease-free seed while others will select disease-free tubers of a good type from their home bins. One of the requirements is that each student treat his seed and plant where potatoes have not been raised for a period of at least five years. During the summer they will cultivate the piece of ground, spray for bugs and treat for disease. The instructor of the class will visit each plot once a week to assist in the work, point out the diseased plants that should be pulled out, assist in mixing spray material, etc.

To Cut Down Huge Loss.

In 1918 there was a loss of over six million bushels of potatoes in Minnesota, or 17 per cent of the entire crop, because of disease. The agricultural students throughout the state are trying to cut down this high percentage of disease in their fields by proper seed selection, treatment and proper care. When parents see the results of the boys' work, they too will select seed more carefully and treat for disease. Neighbors in turn will follow their example, as has been demonstrated in the past, and these practices will become common.

In addition to the potato projects scheduled for this year, two boys will raise corn and and one wheat. The boy working on the wheat project will put in 10 acres on ground prepared by himself and of which he will have special charge. To one acre of the plot, he will apply 125 pounds of superphosphate in order to find out whether or not such fertilizing pays on his home farm. Here again the boys are not only studying but they are working out some of the problems which come before them in a practical manner and putting into actual practice things which they have learned.

Learning by Doing.

The big idea which it is aimed to bring out in the agricultural course of the Thief River Falls schools is "learning by doing." Much that is merely studied is not carried out in practice. It is often not understood or else forgotten and hence is of no value. The project method requires study; gives the student an opportunity to connect his text-book work with the practical work of the farm, and causes him to form habits of industry which will become of value to him later in life. The course in the public schools was formerly termed "agricultural education." It is now being termed "educational agriculture."

FURLONG CONCERT TROUPE SATURDAY

Girls' Community Club. Sponsors Appearance Here of Well-Known Troupe.

The Furlong Concert company of Minneapolis, will appear at the city auditorium here on Saturday night under the auspices of the Girls' Community club. The booking was made at a late hour, yet the success with which the advance sale of tickets conducted by members of the young ladies' organization is meeting, indicates that the Saturday night house will be a large one.

Individual members of the concert company come here with the highest recommendations as to musical and dramatic ability. Miss Edna Furlong, pianist, and director of the company, is a recognized musician of great ability. She has appeared on the Chautauqua circuits of the Northwest for the past several years and has everywhere been received with the greatest of approval. She formerly was an instructor in the MacPhail School of Music at Minneapolis. Her success has been so pronounced that she has organized a concert company of her own for a prolonged tour of the northwestern states.

Elizabeth Lloyd Jones, reader, is a graduate of one of the leading dramatic schools of the country and a former instructor in the Dramatic Art school of the Minnesota university. Her readings for Saturday night have been chosen with a view to entertaining to an unusual degree the most cosmopolitan of audiences. Miss Ann O'Malley, contralto, is said to possess one of the finest and richest voices west of Chicago, and those who have heard her in concert work predict a triumphant appearance here. All three young ladies are gifted with the most pleasing of personalities and are true artists of the dramatic or concert stage.

Members of the Furlong company were heard at Lancaster on the night of March 21 at the big "saltlick" given by the Lancaster Elks, when they scored a triumph of the highest degree. Elmer E. Smith of Lancaster, a former student at Thief River Falls high school, is acting as booking agent for the company in the present tour. A concert was given at Pembina on Wednesday night, one will be given at Humbolt tonight and one at Orleans on Friday night. The present tour embraces bookings at Grand Forks, Fargo, Crookston, Minot, Warren and many other cities of the Northwest.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS ARBOR AND BIRD DAY

Friday, April 29, has been designated and set aside as Arbor and Bird day in a proclamation issued on Tuesday by Governor J. A. O. Preus, who urges that on that day there should not be only the actual planting of trees around school houses and homes, but that, what is more important, instruction should be given to the public in the preservation and propagation of trees and forests and wild birds.

"Trees are a most important factor in human life," Governor Preus said in his proclamation. "They furnish shade from the summer sun and shelter from the wintry winds. They furnish lumber with which to build our homes, fuel for our hearth, pulp from which we make our books and paper and innumerable other things. The trees in our state and nation are being used much more rapidly than they are being replaced. It is necessary that we learn to use them without waste, but more important that we take energetic steps to replace those that are used each year.

"The lives of our trees and birds are intimately associated. Trees furnish homes and food for our birds, and the birds, by destroying insect life and by acting as carriers of tree seed, help to preserve and propagate our timber."

A special meeting was held at the Aubol school house, district No. 54, on Saturday night when it was voted to erect a new one-room school building and to bond the district for the necessary funds. A proposal to join the St. Hilaire district was voted down.

GETTING GOOD START.

When weather and soil conditions permit the farmers of Northwestern Minnesota to get onto their fields by the middle of April they figure that a long start has been made toward a successful season. This year the first reported seeding was done on April 6, and while not many districts in the county can boast such early start, practically every seeder was in operation by the end of last week. The wheat is practically in the ground now and the oats will follow quickly.

While it is true that an early and favorable spring may not insure a crop, it is certain that a late beginning makes the outcome more problematical. It sometimes happens that there is a good crop following a poor start, but this does not occur often enough to make it anything but an unsafe gamble.

Soil conditions in the county were never better, according to reports reaching the Farm Bureau office from all sections. More plowing was done last fall than at any corresponding season in the farming history of the Valley and there has consequently been no delay in getting the seed into the ground. More winter grain was sown last fall than ever before and it has come through in fine shape. Less acreage will be devoted to wheat and more to clover, potatoes and sugar beets. This indicates a more progressive system of farming.

Everything considered, the farmers of Pennington county are reasonably safe in looking forward to a good harvest. There are those who delight in pointing to the many things that can happen between now and harvest time to set the farmer's efforts at naught, but their croakings should be disregarded. One thing is certain: A good windup is more likely to follow a good start, and our farmers have the start.

THE CRACK OF THE BAT

The baseball season is open and indications are that the game will regain its old popularity. Wars and other exciting incidents have had the effect of lessening interest in the national game during the past few years and disclosures proving crookedness on the part of several big league players have not helped the sport in popular estimation. It seems to be coming back, nevertheless and thereat all good Americans will rejoice.

There was a time in this country when every hamlet of a dozen families had a ball team of one kind or another. Every sand lot and cow pasture in the land was a training ground for future big leaguers. No citizen so dead to civic pride as not to get excited over the performance of the "home team" could be found anywhere. It provided good, healthful recreation for players and spectators alike. Now things are different. A baseball game between kid teams is as rare as a kite-flying contest—and the passing is to be regretted.

Thief River Falls is going to have a real baseball team this year, however. A number of enterprising citizens started out to get pledges of support—the kind that represent real money—and were so successful that there will be no trouble experienced on this score. That is, the money necessary to get the team going in good shape will be forthcoming. What happens afterwards depends to a large extent upon the performance of the team.

Our citizens' attitude toward a winning aggregation was demonstrated during the early spring in the case of the American Legion basketball team. If we can manage to get the same kind of enthusiasm behind our baseball players as was shown toward the basket shooters there will be no trouble in maintaining interest all through the season. If the boys will start out with the intention of making good and show that they have the ability to do so, there will be no kick coming on the quality of their support. If, on the other hand, the games prove uninteresting and tame, an early disbanding can be looked for.

It seems kind of un-American for a city the size of Thief River Falls not to have a baseball team. Other communities in this section have them and manage to get a lot of fun and excitement out of their performances. Somehow our people have lately failed to get properly "het up" over the game, and this lethargy is not good for them. Now that we have promised to put up the money, let's see if we cannot put a little jazz into our attitude.

HERE LIES GEORGE

(Community Service Bulletin)

At the annual meeting of the St. Paul Association the burial of George was one of the most spectacular features of an excellent program. A hearse, followed by a band of mourners shrouded in gloom, passed across the stage. Each mourner fairly exuded sorrow. The procession passed out of sight at the right of the stage. A curtain rose and in the background was a grave with an impressive tombstone, on which was inscribed, "Here Lies George." The band of mourners, which had followed the hearse across the stage, was gathered around the grave. One of the number advanced to the front of the stage and delivered a very appropriate address. The message was to the effect that now George was gone it was up to each individual member of the association to become a worker and do his share of the work that used to be left to George to do.

It would be to the great advantage of many communities and their organizations if similar funerals were held.

Minnesota in Congress.
(Minneapolis Journal.)

The states that return their representatives term after term are the ones that have the greatest influence in congress. This is not only because of the seniority rule that gives the chairmanships and higher committee assignments to those who have served longest, but because experience develops a congressman and makes him more valuable to his constituents and to the country.

The present Minnesota delegation is an example. Six of the ten representatives are veterans, three of them dating back to the Fifty-Eighth congress, with services in the Sixty-Seventh about to begin.

Thus we find Mr. Volstead at the head of the important judiciary committee, with his name attached to the law enforcing the Eighteenth amendment and with vital legislation to be shaped by his committee in the coming session.

We find Mr. Steenerson serving as chairman of the postoffice and post roads committee, one of the big committees of the house.

And we find Mr. Davis in line for the second biggest chairmanship in the list—appropriations. There is objection to him, it is true, as not large enough for the place, and it remains to be seen whether the seniority rule will be broken in his case, when Chairman Good steps out. If so, it will be a break almost without precedent.

The other members of the delegation, though of shorter service, are better placed than the average. Mr. Anderson, now entering his sixth term, has just been signally honored by appointment to the republican steering committee as representative of the agricultural interests. Mr. Schall, now entering his fourth term, is a member of the all-powerful rules committee. Mr. Knutson, who has served two terms and now begins his third, is the Republican whip—a responsible position in the dominant organization.

And now our own Mr. Newton, beginning his second term, is recognized as a member of industry and great promise by appointment to the commerce committee; that will shape railroad and other highly important legislation. On this committee Mr. Newton can serve Minneapolis as well as the commercial interests of the country to the best advantage. Beyond doubt he will make good there.

Minnesota is thus reaping the results of her policy of not changing her representatives too easily, but rather of sending back a good man as long as he will go. With the veteran Senator Nelson at the had of the senate judiciary committee, and his colleague, Senator Kellogg, advanced to a place on the foreign relations committee, Minnesota has a position of great influence in congress.

Loop the Loop, Nit.
(Grygla Eagle)

Considerable stir is going on in the east end of Pennington county in regard to a loop line railroad extension of the electric line south from Goodridge, taking in a territory of fifteen miles, most of which is now supplied by a nearby railroad. A committee met with the Thief River Falls Commercial club recently and presented the case to them in as strong a manner as possible, stating that a right-of-way would be donated, a substantial cash donation would be given and other matters of advertising to the present time.

H. W. Protzeller, president of the electric line, then explained to them that it would be unprofitable for the company to contemplate such an action at this time as it would be an increased dead mileage and that it would cost around a half million dollars without any increased business, which is easy to be seen.

There is probably no section that needs a railroad worse than the Grygla country. It is known far and wide as the garden spot of the North. It is developing wonderfully under the most adverse conditions, no railroad. The greater bulk of the business of the Electric line comes from the Grygla country. The extension of the line here would be a wonderful feeder for Thief River Falls. The settlement and increased production in this part of the state would be almost phenominal. If Thief River Falls would but examine the situation and do their utmost to secure this extension they would find it would be the most beneficial enterprise ever started in that city. We have been expecting for some time that Thief River Falls would see the benefits and wake up to it but they seem to be dormant. Wake up, Thief River Falls, wake up. Look outside of your own town and boost the country with us.

ARM DISABLED BY BAYONET THRUST, ENTERS TRAINING

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vettleson of Hickory township, left here on Tuesday for Fargo where the former service man will enter a course in vocational training with the Federal Board. Formerly a member of Company "A," 320th Infantry, Mr. Vettleson took an active part in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. In a hand to hand encounter with the enemy he received a bayonet wound in the left wrist and has since been greatly handicapped in the use of that member.

ORY BACKED BY PRACTICAL PPLICATION BRINGS RESULTS TO STUDENTS OF AGRICULTURE

By F. A. Tripp.
ctor in Agriculture, Thief River Falls Schools.

t effort has been made during t two years to make the course iculture at the Thief River igh school as practical as pos- Formerly agricultural instruc- nsisted of text-book work su- ed with a small amount of ory and field work. It is be- hat such instruction has been t value to the student, but it criticised at times because of practicability. In order to make rk more practicable and to give ing basis for instruction, each who now pursues the course arry out some agricultural pro-boys who took agriculture dur- school year of 1919-20 took husbandry projects. Several aised calves, others hogs, and hers raised poultry. Those who dairy or beef calves made out ions which they were going to made a study of the problem class room and then took care young calves and feed them ing to the methods they had ed. Each was required to keep temized account of all expenses. hog and poultry projects were ried out in a similar manner. One the students exhibited his calves the Pennington county fair and n $10 in prizes. A poultry student exhibited his birds at the Pennington County Poultry show and won $15 in prize money.

Poultry Project Remarkable.

The poultry projects were perhaps the most successful. One of the boys raised successfully 80 chickens out of 4 hatched. The four that died were rowned in a rain storm. Not a sin- le one died from disease. This is xceptional in view of the fact that is not at all uncommon in farm ocks for half of those hatched to die f disease before they are mature or eady for market.

The cash book kept by this young man shows a neat credit balance. His locks were fed $18.60 worth of feed; e estimated his labor cost at $12.50 hich included remuneration for his wn services. His total expenses in- luding feed, labor, eggs and use of quipment, totaled $57.21. At the ose of his project he had on hand d had sold $142.80 worth of poultry, ving him a net profit of $85.59.

This student had the opportunity tudying and realizing the real lems in poultry raising. He not acquired new ideas in the raising birds but he actually put these into practice, so that later in when he again takes up the work will be using the better methods a matter of course. This project only offered the boy some good perience but put more productive rebred stock on a farm where be- o had been only scrub stock, for family eventually kept only the 's poultry on the farm.

Now Studying Field Crops.

Classes are studying field crops this r. Members will raise some one p on their parents' farms or on rented plots of ground. The most popular project this year is a potato plot one acre in size. Practically all of the boys already have their land fertilized and plowed. Some are buying certified, disease-free seed while others will select disease-free tubers of a good type from their home bins. One of the requirements is that each student treat his seed and plant where potatoes have not been raised for a period of at least five years. During the summer they will cultivate the piece of ground, spray for bugs and treat for disease. The instructor of the class will visit each plot once a week to assist in the work, point out the diseased plants that should be pulled out, assist in mixing spray material, etc.

To Cut Down Huge Loss.

In 1918 there was a loss of over six million bushels of potatoes in Minnesota, or 17 per cent of the entire crop, because of disease. The agricultural students throughout the state are trying to cut down this high percentage of disease in their fields by proper seed selection, treatment and proper care. When parents see the results of the boys' work, they too will select seed more carefully and treat for disease. Neighbors in turn will follow their example, as has been demonstrated in the past, and these practices will become common.

In addition to the potato projects scheduled for this year, two boys will raise corn and and one wheat. The boy working on the wheat project will put in 10 acres on ground prepared by himself and of which he will have special charge. To one acre of the plot he will apply 125 pounds of superphosphate in order to find out whether or not such fertilizing pays on his home farm. Here again the boys are not only studying but they are working out some of the problems which come before them in a practical manner and putting into actual practice things which they have learned.

Learning by Doing.

The big idea which it is aimed to bring out in the agricultural course of the Thief River Falls schools is "learning by doing." Much that is merely studied is not carried out in practice. It is often not understood or else forgotten and hense is of no value. The project method requires study; gives the student an opportunity to connect his text-book work with the practical work of the farm, and causes him to form habits of industry which will become of value to him later in life. The course in the public schools was formerly termed "agricultural education." It is now being termed "educational agriculture."

FURLONG CONCERT TROUPE SATURDAY

Girls' Community Club Sponsors Appearance Here of Well-Known Troupe.

The Furlong Concert company of Minneapolis, will appear at the city auditorium here on Saturday night under the auspices of the Girls' Community club. The booking was made at a late hour, yet the success with which the advance sale of tickets conducted by members of the young ladies' organization is meeting, indicates that the Saturday night house will be a large one.

Individual members of the concert company come here with the highest recommendations as to musical and dramatic ability. Miss Edna Furlong, pianist, and director of the company, is a recognized musician of great ability. She has appeared on the Chautauqua circuits of the Northwest for the past several years and has everywhere been received with the greatest of approval. She formerly was an instructor in the MacPhail School of Music at Minneapolis. Her success has been so pronounced that she has organized a concert company of her own for a prolonged tour of the northwestern states.

Elizabeth Lloyd Jones, reader, is a graduate of one of the leading dramatic schools of the country and a former instructor in the Dramatic Art school of the Minnesota university. Her readings for Saturday night have been chosen with a view to entertaining to an unusual degree the most cosmopolitan of audiences. Miss Ann O'Malley, contralto, is said to possess one of the finest and richest voices west of Chicago, and those who have heard her in concert work predict a triumphant appearance here. All three young ladies are gifted with the most pleasing of personalities and are true artists of the dramatic or concert stage.

Members of the Furlong company were heard at Lancaster on the night of March 21 at the big "saltlick" given by the Lancaster Elks, when they scored a triumph of the highest degree. Elmer E. Smith of Lancaster, a former student at Thief River Falls high school, is acting as booking agent for the company in the present tour. A concert was given at Pembina on Wednesday night, one will be given at Humbolt tonight and one at Orleans on Friday night. The present tour embraces bookings at Grand Forks, Fargo, Crookston, Minot, Warren and many other cities of the Northwest.

In New Quarters.

Carl Christofferson & Co., grocers, have this week been busy getting things straightened around in their new store on Third street opposite the Evelyn hotel. The room has been fixed up in nice shape and makes a good impression on visitors.

On Saturday afternoon there will be a formal opening of the new quarters to which the public is invited. Coffee and lunch will be served free all day to those who pay the place a visit.

Work on the premises vacated by the Christofferson company is progressing rapidly and L. L. Cohn of the Palace Clothing house, expects to move his store there within the next two weeks.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS ARBOR AND BIRD DAY

Friday, April 29, has been designated and set aside as Arbor and Bird day in a proclamation issued on Tuesday by Governor J. A. O. Preus, who urges that on that day there should not be only the actual planting of trees around school houses and homes, but that, what is more important, instruction should be given to the public in the preservation and propagation of trees and forests and wild birds.

"Trees are a most important factor in human life," Governor Preus said in his proclamation. "They furnish shade from the summer sun and shelter from the wintry winds. They furnish lumber with which to build our homes, fuel for our hearth, pulp paper and innumerable other things. The trees in our state and nation are being used much more rapidly than they are being replaced. It is necessary that we learn to use them without waste, but more important that we take energetic steps to replace those that are used each year.

"The lives of our trees and birds are intimately associated. Trees furnish homes and food for our birds, and the birds, by destroying insect life and by acting as carriers of tree seed, help to preserve and propagate our timber."

Will Build New School.

A special meeting was held at the Aubol school house, district No. 54, on Saturday night when it was voted to erect a new one-room school building and to bond the district for the necessary funds. A proposal to join the St. Hilaire district was voted down.

Free Lecture.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Carlberg of Chicago, will deliver lectures at Odd Fellows' hall on Sunday evening next to which all Scandinavian speaking people are invited. Subject: "Why Do We Not Get Peace on Earth?" Admission is free.

Ole Ostensen, a pioneer of Norman county died at his home in Marsh River on April 14. He was born in Stavanger, Norway, in 1842 and was a resident of Norman county since 1876.

hat About Senior Spirit?

e school year is quickly drawing close and we are taking on the lap of the regular term. For seniors it means not only the end he term but it also means that high school course is about to be leted, and they will soon be al of Lincoln High. These last s should be used to the best ad ge by everyone, especially might apply to the senior, who is about aduate. Not only should a stu be conscientious and apply him to his studies, but also at the e time he should feel the class or ol spirit and be willing to pro e and add whatever possible ich would further the objective of class and school. The senior ss may have seemed to have been ther inactive and unspirited but me real spirit and action is looked rward to during the last few weeks the year. The senior class this year is one of the largest to be graduted from this high school and its members can without a doubt accomplish and "put over" anything which s done with the right motive and in the proper spirit. Within a short time senior class day will be celebrated, which is one of the greatest events of our high school career. The Senior-Junior reception, an annual ent, given to the Juniors in appre ation of the banquet, will also oc r soon. These two events alone ught to and should bring forth sufficient incentive to every senior to become a real live wire in the class. Regardless of whether you are a member of the committees or not, you can do your honest bit by supporting and cooperating in every move of the class. Any class whether large or small, Freshmen or Senior, can not succeed in its undertakings and consequently does not leave a worthy impression, unless there exists within class the true class spirit of co ration, "pulling-together." Much been said in regard to this dur the past year, but especially at s time it needs to be emphasized e strongly than ever. —Seniors, ake up, and realize and feel that you e a necessary part of the Senior ass of 1921 and "it must follow as a might the day, thou canst not be ything but loyal to your class."

Sophs Entertain on Friday

An event which will long remain the memories of the members of e class of 1923 as one of the high ots in their high school career is e Sophomore class party, which as held at the high school gymnasi m on the evening of Friday, April th.

The success of a party of this kind pends entirely upon the manner in hich the participants enter into the irit of the occasion. In order to ake each one realize that it was his rty, or her party, a very entertaining program was arranged, which everyone could take part in and enjoy. is program was carried out in a ghly creditable manner and it was ot long before every Sophomore and he honor guests, the members of the faculty, felt perfectly at home. The welcome address was given by the ass president, Olive Lonson. The ass of '23 is proud to count among its ranks several promising musicians and consequently music was an important part of the entertainment. A piano duet was played by Olive Lonson and Pearl Weeks and violin solos by Lorraine Will and Allison Stitt. Theatrical talent have we also in bundance. Ruth Knutson, in a monologue, cleverly portrayed the ervous anxiety of a mother visiting the seashore with her little son. A play, "Box and Cox," was successully staged by James Votava, Herbert Johnson and Myrtle Helgeland, in spite of an interruption when some boys, evidently incapable of distinguishing between the proper and improper time for a childish prank, pulled out a fuse in the distributer and put the whole building in darkness. The play was continued by candle-light until the fuse was replaced and the lights again switched on. A "Grief" dance was artistically performed by eight Sophomore girls.

After these various platform entertainments, an indoor track meet was held, which provided a great deal of amusement for everyone. The crowd was divided into four groups, each representing one of the big universities. A small paper pennant of the college colors, was given to each one when the tickets were presented at the door, and a suspense of curiosity kept up until contestants had been selected for each of the various contests. There were high-jumps, jumping for doughnuts strung just a little above convenient reach; a tack-driving contest; a foot race, measuring the length of the contestants' feet, and several other contests which instigated keen rivalry among the four "colleges."

At 10:30 a delicious lunch, prepared by Sophomore girls, was served. Toasts were given by Miss Dix, class advisor and Mr. Pierce, both of whom emphasized the true significance of a Sophomore class party and complimented the class on its splendid manifestation of class spirit. A grand march, led by Miss Johnson, music instructor, concluded the program and at 12 o'clock the party broke up.

entertaining in character, it had a deeper and more important purpose—to develop a stronger and more unified class spirit. We hear a great deal about school spirit and class spirit among college students; but high school students, especially Sophomores, can feel just as emotional a class interest and loyalty. An informal get-to-gether such as this, when class-mates and teachers can discard their dignity, conceit and self-consciousness and intermingle for a few hours in common enjoyment and entertainment; where each one feels a direct interest in the other fellow's happiness, will help greatly to make every Sophomore realize what class spirit really is. Few will fully realize during our carefree high school days, what effect an acquaintance with the sentimental side will have on the ultimate value of our high school course. Our Sophomore year is soon over; in two short years the class of 1923 will graduate and be broken up. It will be when we are out in the world, separated from those whose friendship we prized so highly while we were students together at the Lincoln High, that we will fondly look back to the happy days of our youth, and the class party during our Sophomore year of high school will be one of the outstanding events that we will often recall. We will again see our insignia "23" done in white on a blue background, forming our class colors; we will always carry with us, in some secret recess in our brains, a mental picture of our class president as she talked to us from the prettily decorated stage, a little nervous perhaps, but so thoroughly sincere in her earnest desire to do justice to the occasion; we can never forget the invaluable service of our class advisor, Miss Dix, whose interest and willingness to help made possible the success of all our class activities. If we really "get into" the spirit of the class of '23 now, we may in the future look back with satisfaction to our high school days, and feel that our time at the Lincoln High was well spent.

Senior Girls' Class Meeting.

A meeting of the girls of the Senior class was called at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday for the purpose of deciding whether the middy uniform or white organdie dresses should be worn at commencement time. An open forum was held, members discussing the question both "pro and con." At the conclusion of the discussion a ballot vote was taken and the wearing of white dresses was adopted.

In preceding years, it has been the custom of the girls of the graduation class to wear the middy uniform; but class sentiment was decidedly against it this year.

Chapel Wednesday

At chapel period last Wednesday a very interesting program was rendered, under the supervision of Miss Leavitt. The program was composed of two parts. The first part consisted of songs by the Freshmen girls. The second part was a Kipling program. We were first given a summary of Kipling's life and then we listened to several of his works. One of his works "Wee Willie Winkie" was given in the form of a dialogue. Following is the program rendered:

Fairy Waltz.
Slumber Boat—Jessie Gaynor.
Lincoln High—Freshmen girls.

Kipling Program

Talk on the life of Kipling—Agnes Johnson.
The ballad of the "East and West"—Ella Johnson.
"If"—Hazel Krause.
"The Recessional"—Alice Gobler.

"Wee Willie Winkie."

First part—Orrin Storholm.
Dialogue—Halbert Evenstad and Robert McGinn.
Middle part—Esther Lunsetter.
Dialogue—Tillie Stenseth, Robert McGinn and some natives.
Last part—Margaret Melgaard.

Weather Brings on Baseball.

As the weather continues to become warmer, athletics again shows itself supreme in the minds of the boys of the high school.

Baseball is now taking the place of basket ball and as there will be no track work this spring, as was announced by Coach Tommeraasen, it is fast becoming the main form of sport among the students.

Beginning on Tuesday of last week the boys have turned out in fine shape and are working hard to make the team. Mr. Mellby, who is acting as coach with Tommeraasen, is satisfied with the bunch of aspirants out in the field and intends to have a ripping team. Some of the aspirants likely to be working hard are: Parenteau, Anderson, Olson, McDaniel, Lane, Rice and a few others that are capable baseballers. They are all goers and have expressed their desire to meet some of the teams about the town in the near future.

Watch for Freshman Issue.

In the publication of the Progress during the past year almost of the material has been produced by the class in journalism. Very few contributions have been received from the other students, although it is a student's publication. It appears to be extremely difficult to obtain articles, poems, and other material from those who are not directly connected with the issuing of this paper. Few have the necessary initiative to write something unless it has been directly assigned to them. It is often an involved task to get even the regular assignments, not to speak of individual contributions.

It is to arouse greater interest that the Progress, beginning with the issue two weeks from now, will be edited by the Freshmen and so on through all the other classes. It will also show what they really can produce and in a large degree tend to stimu- [illegible] spirit. There will undoubtedly be considerable rivalry and competition between them as to which class is able to produce the best issue and consequently the readers may look forward to the best, because the class will want to produce only the best.

This idea has been carried through in various other high schools with the best results, and there is no reason under the sun why the Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior and finally the Senior classes can't publish some of the best and most highly commendable articles of any high school paper.

Watch for the Freshmen number! It is rumored that it will even be highly colored in appropriate shades.

"KEYWEST"

Indoor Baseball.

The physical training classes besides doing exercises to build up the body, are playing indoor baseball.

Indoor baseball is played in the high school gymnasium. This game is played practically the same as out-door-baseball. The only difference in the two games is that in indoor baseball the pitcher throws the ball under-handed and the batter can only use one hand to bat with. A soft ball about twice the size of an ordinary baseball is used. No pads or gloves are used.

Coach Tommeraasen states that some real teams are being produced by each of the physical training classes. It is probable that the best teams from each class will play together to decide which has the best team. A hot contest is looked forward to.

Senior Class Meets.

A Senior class meeting was held last Monday after school at which matters of importance were discussed and decided upon.

Various samples of invitations were shown to the class and one was selected. It will have a brownish color cover, and will contain the class roll, honor roll, commencement exercises, class officers, and other things pertaining to the class. Esther Soards, Clarence Knudsen and Vernon Copp were chosen to arrange for and procure the invitations, which will be ordered in the near future.

The class flower, formerly the moccasin, was changed to the deep pink rose, that being much more convenient to obtain for graduation day.

A committee comprised of Beatrice Sandum, Doris Richter and Harold Smithers was selected to arrange the necessary details of the Baccalaureate services. The class evidently believes in arranging matters at the earliest date possible so as to prevent any unnecessary inconveniences.

Matters concerning the annual class day or Senior day will, however, be determined at a later date.

Northrup News.

Last Thursday afternoon the 5th and 6th grade girls of the Northrop school gave a candy sale. Money raised, amounting to $8, will be used to buy baseball outfits.

A demonstration of the regular music work done by the 1st thru 6th grades was given last Wednesday, under the direction of Miss Maude Johnson. The members of the school board and the music section of the Mama's club were present, and are very enthusiastic over the work done by the pupils.

Fourth and fifth grades of the Northrop school were victorious over the fourth and fifth graders of the Washington, in a baseball game played last week. The score was five to one.

Mr. Tommeraasen is organizing baseball work among the girls of the Northrop school.

Dorothy Gesell entertained ten of her little friends at a birthday party last week.

Miss Adams celebrated her birthday by entertaining the teachers at the Northrop.

Watch for the big entertainment which will be put on by the Northrop school in the very near future. According to reports this will be an unusually good number.

Normal Department.

The girls are putting to practice some of their ethical training, as they have again sent flowers to Ellen Nelson, who is at the hospital, convalescing from an operation.

Elsie Cousin was absent on Mon- [illegible] home to prepare her lessons or to make up for lost sleep.

Ruth Satre and Esther Loff walked out to the former's home on Tuesday evening to be present at a birthday party given in honor of Ruth by her parents.

We were favored by a visit from Miss Poliet and Mr. Gunrerson, superintendents of Red Lake and Pennington counties respectively.

Girl Scouts.

Motto—"Be Prepared."

Slogan—"Do a Good Turn Daily."

Although the organization of the Girl Scouts in Thief River Falls, is still in its infancy, its future is promising. Many girls have not only caught the spirit and are actually living the promise and the laws, but also realize that to be a first-class scout the real aim involves definite knowledge and experience, practical efficiency, reliability and demonstrated usefulness to the troop and community.

The work of the girl scouts has attracted the attention of a Council, a group of public-spirited women interested in watching and aiding the growing girl. The duty of the Council is to offer advice and sound judgment; to form the necessary link for effective service between the scouts and the community and is composed of the following: Mesdames T. L. Melgaard, Robert Vance, C. R. Crandall, Geo. Biddick, John Bratrud, G. W. Connell, H. S. Dahlen, H. W. Froehlich, Robertson, E. Zeh, L. G. Larson and Miss H. Gustafson.

The girl scouts are indeed proud of their chosen Captain of Scouts Mother, Mrs. Zeh. Her friendly spirit of comradely leadership has won the heart of every scout. For some time Mrs. Zeh's home has been open on Saturday nights to the girl scouts. Through the entertainment at that home he eyes of the girls have been opened to some of the beauties and wonders of nature love.

Explosion in Laboratory.

A terrible explosion occurred last week in the laboratory; not terrible because of the results, but on account of the disturbance caused by the violent concussion of the atmosphere and its saturation with various ill-scenting fumes. Some of the students are still supposed to be under its influence, at least their drowsy appearance intimates some kind of an affliction.

The story of the incident was told by a physics student who was in the "lab" at the time that it happened. When the smoke had cleared away more authentic particulars were also obtained from the science instructor, G. Melby, who incidentally happened to be the victim of the explosion. Prof. Melby was making a very scientific experiment, attempting to explain an unusual phenomena, in other words he ignited a supposedly plaster of paris container, with a hot platinum wire. This was done in preparation for a spectroscopal examination of hydrated calcium sulphate. The ignition resulted in the combustion and decomposition of the ingredients. The probable constitutions of the ignited container are given out by "Doc" as K Cl 0 z x 2 S x C, 21 x 22 O. Immediately after the explosion the room was filled with smoke and everyone rushed to the door and it was later rumored some even made attempts to jump through the window. (They probably thought it would be an easy way to get out of class for the time being at least.) The windows and doors being opened the smoke spread all over the building, causing a general unrest. "The smoke is just suffocating," said one fellow. "Oh, well," retorted the wise Prof, "I saw more smoke coming out from you last night than is coming in now." Evidently that was under different conditions and circumstances.

The only injury reported as yet is the fact that the tip of Prof. Melby's right point finger was severely burned and resulted in the severing of a number of nerves. However it has made rapid progress in the healing process so that amputation of the above mentioned limb is not feared at present. Prof. Melby requests that when students are attempting secret preparations of cellulose or trinite that they henceforth do not deposit same in plaster paris containers.

Knox School Notes.

The kindergartens are very busily employed painting their doll houses and refurnishing them. They are also making playground toys in miniature for the inhabitants of their doll houses.

The pupils of Miss Fjeldstad's room have planted nasturtium seeds in their window boxes; each pupil having a small section to take care of daily.

The third grade of the Washington school played the third grade of the Knox school last week, the Knox school defeating the Washington to the tune of 39 to 13.

The pupils of Miss Nylander's room have made several health posters for Miss Johnson, the school nurse. The purpose of these posters is to interest the children in the proper kinds of food for school children.

The pupils of Miss Nylander's room held a spelling match on Friday afternoon. The girls beating the boys twice in succession.

Gopher Patrol Candy Sale.

Friday afternoon, at 3:30 the girls of the Gopher Patrol held a candy sale for the purpose of obtaining a sufficient sum to enable them to purchase suits for the members of their patrol. The total amount cleared from the sale of home-made candy was $14.20. The members of this patrol are Mytle Helgeland, Ruth Hoppe, Esther Larson, Martha Fallness, Helen Skramstad, Edna Alexander and Marie Lamae.

Washington News.

Monday afternoon the children of Miss Benson's room surprised her by bringing fruit, candy, peanuts and cookies for a little party.

The marching pennant was won this week by Miss Larson's pupils on the second floor and by Miss Schmidt's on the first floor.

Miss Schmidt is teaching drawing to the pupils of Miss Ryff's and Miss Smith's rooms.

Ten of the sixth grade girls have organized an indoor baseball team. They are practicing every day with the hopes of soon being able to challenge some other team.

Jokes.

To have or not to have, that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The pains and agony of muddy streets
Or take up arms against such a puddle of muddle
And, by so doing, pave them.

Miss Patrick in English IV class: "Adolph, who was Captain Miles Standish and what did he preach to the people?"

Adolph: "Oh, Standish was a preacher."

What do you think of a Journalism student who sits in the front row and gets an "E" on his report card? Something wrong!

Miss Elliot in Civics: "John Adams not John Quincy Adams."

Lillian K.: "What's the difference?"

Miss E.: "Oh, about fifty years, or as much difference as there is between you and me."

Miss Patrick in Eng. IV: "Who can quote that line from "Annie Laurie," "Her eyes are like——"

Mary V.: "Her eyes are like the snowdrift."

Found on Eng. examination papers: "John Alden wrote during the Colonial Period."

"Coolidge was an author of the Romantic movement. (Undoubtedly he must be of age by this time.)

"Coolidge wrote "The Ancient Marine."

Wanted—More recruits for the baseball team.

"Resolved, that Socialism is harmful to Americanism" was debated by a few members of the Social Science class last week. The negative debaters put up a strong argument for Socialism, but it was a trifle weaker than the affirmative debaters so the decision was carried in favor of the affirmative.

The Social Science class will, in the near future, make an investigation of the whole city, picking out all defects and reporting them to the court to be formed by the class. There will be investigators of all different branches of reforms that the city is in need of.

Students carrying Commercial Law discovered the fact that a woman's will (Will) holds even after her death.

Miss Hoorn: "What is the altitude of a cone?"

Francis H.: "It's a perpendicular from the center of the point to the base."

Fooling your teachers and the Statue of Liberty are alike very profitable.

No, Fernando Fossum is not related to Ponce de Leon.

Atmospheric conditions have not resulted in any new "cases" as yet.

Personals.

A large delegation of baseball fans were present at the first practice on Wednesday evening.

Curly says he made a home run off the doctor.

Miss Swedahl entertained the English IV class Thursday morning with dialect readings of James Russell Lowell.

Do not laugh at our Progress, for you may be weak and old some day yourself.

It's funny how the spring weather affects the minds of scholars and turns their thoughts to baseball. Even in school.

It has been said, "What is so rare as a day in June?"

Undoubtedly the author didn't live in a country that had prohibition or he would have said, "What is so rare as a drink of moon-shine?"

To shave or not to shave seems to be the grave question confronting Freshmen boys now-a-days.

As is natural, our dramatists after playing here will be in great demand by movie producers.

Last Monday morning shortly after school had been called, there was an explosion in the laboratory which caused some excitement throughout the building. No damage was done, although it caused a great deal of sneezing and coughing.

The girls gymnasium classes have been playing baseball out-of-doors the past week.

John Hendry left Friday evening for Minneapolis where he will take lessons on the saxaphone and visit friends. He returned Monday morning.

Nothing can daunt the spirit of the invincible Sophomores. When a big sheet of plaster fell down from the gymnasium ceiling and smashed the results of several hours of clever decorating, why they just went right to work and did it all over again.

What effect does falling in love have on a student's efficiency? This is a question now being seriously considered by a number of Lincolnites when the nights begin to get warmer, smooth roads beckon the motor enthusiast, and silent waters of the river speak of drifting down the stream with your best girl by your side.

Miss Mildred Haugild, a student of the Lincoln high school spent the week-end visiting with her parents at Angus.

Miss Julia Brudvick, a normal student, visited over the week-end at Rosewood with Miss Hilda Hammarsten, an alumni of the Lincoln high school.

Mary Vance quoting "Annie Laurie" in English IV: "Her eyes are like the snowdrift."

We are looking forward to chapel on next Friday, because we have been promised something special in the line of music.

The special feature of last Friday's chapel program was a saxaphone duet by Kermit Anderson and John Hendry.

It is rumored that a runaway team was stopped in the street by Mr. Ziegler last week. This event may be worthy of consideration by those who contemplate "skippiing school."

Esther Soards motored to Red Lake Falls Sunday afternoon where she visited friends.

David Evenson spent the week-end with Clarence Rice at Plummer.

Nora Lindquist left Friday to spend the week-end at her home near Wylie, returning Sunday evening.

John Hendry has got the idea that anything that won't kill his dog won't kill him.

Mr. Pope, instructor in the Smith-Hughes course, has been confined to his home with the "mumps" for the past few days.

Ernest Zeh and Hugh McDaniels motored to Crookston Sunday afternoon.

The cast for the senior play, "All-of-a-Sudden-Peggy," had their fourth rehearsal at the high school auditorium. Coach L. N. Pierce states that indications are very favorable for a most successful play, as all the characters are well selected and are taking their parts in an unusually satisfactory manner.

Melby, in Social Science class (addressing Kermit Anderson and John Hendry): "Saxaphone section please keep still."

A short meeting was held in Mr. Tommeraasen's rooms last Friday at which he advised the different classes to have indoor baseball teams. Nothing has been decided as yet.

And you still see them write, "We arrived safely on the train." One may be led to believe that it is very usual to get killed in transit.

If it were only as easy to go to school as it is to stay out, school would be a popular place at this time of the year.

The old saying, "In spring when young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," may also be applied to the Lincoln high school girls.

Indoor baseball is becoming a popular sport in our high school and as with everything else, it's alright in its place, but its place is not in the assembly.

Readings in Norse dialect from "Norsk Nightingales" were given in English IV classes by Miss Swedal last Thursday. The parodies on "The Courtship of Miles Standish," "Horatius at the Bridge" and others seem even more popular and are more favorably received than the original masterpieces.

Fat Evenson and Clarence Rice motored to Red Lake Falls last Wednesday evening.

The Agricultural II class and their instructor, Mr. Tripp, were outside this morning taking a lesson in "Pruning trees." This was their opportunity to do such work and they all appreciated the outing very much. They may go out again tomorrow.

Miss Eileen Herron left Saturday morning for Viking where she spent the day with friends and returned the same evening.

"Here's Real Tobacco"
says the Good Judge

That gives a man more genuine chewing satisfaction than he ever got out of the ordinary kind.

Smaller chew, lasts longer—so it costs less to chew this class of tobacco.

And the good, rich tobacco taste gives a world of satisfaction.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

THE CUDDINGTON POTATO LOADER

Six to ten men are required to pick up after a digger. And at harvest time is far from an easy trick to find six to ten men. And when you have found them, paid them and boarded them, your picking has cost you a lot of money. Only two men are needed under normal conditions to pick up with a Cuddigan Potato Loader—one to drive the digger and loader and one to drive the wagon beside the loader. Many users find that the Cuddigan pays for itself in the picking of five acres.

Saves Time

With a Cuddigan under normal conditions you can load fifty bushels in thirty minutes. To pick up fifty bushels by hand in half an hour takes eight men. These figures speak for themselves.

Use With Any Standard Digger

The Cuddigan Potato Loader has a universal hitch and can be attached to any standard potato digger. You can use it with the equipment that you have now.

Some FACTS about Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Here are authentic figures from the Ford factory at Detroit. They show you just how many Ford cars and trucks have been built each month since January 1, 1921 and how many have been sold to retail customers, in the United States.

	Produced	Delivered to Retail Customers
JANUARY	29,883	57,208
FEBRUARY	35,305	63,603
MARCH	61,886	87,221
Total Production	127,074	Total Retail Sales 208,032

showing that actual sales for the first three months of 1921 exceeded production by 80,958 Ford cars and trucks!

April requisitions already specify 107,719 additional cars and trucks and the estimated April output of the factory and assembly plants combined calls for only 90,000!

These facts clearly show that the demand for Ford products is growing much faster than manufacturing facilities to produce and were it not for the dealers' limited stocks, which are now being rapidly depleted, many more customers would have been compelled to wait for their cars. It will be only a matter of weeks, therefore, until a big surplus of orders will prevent anything like prompt deliveries.

If you would be sure of having your Ford car or truck when you want it, you should place your order now. Don't delay. Phone us or drop us a card.

I Am "Granny" Chamberlain

"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with that is all the more reason why you should be satisfied with nothing but the best.

We have never skimped on quality. While building materials were at their highest point we preferred to maintain quality rather than aim at supplying something to meet a figure. Often the price asked did not leave anything in a way of profit, but our reputation for handling the best at all times was not injured. We told the truth concerning conditions at that time and will continue that policy.

We Urge You to Build Now— and for the Best of Reasons

Building materials of all kinds can be bought cheaper today than will be possible a month from now, according to all indications. Producers cannot forever keep on turning out their product at less than cost. That is just what they are doing at this time and the man who builds under present conditions will save money.

If you want the best in the market, buy from us. But no matter who you buy from—buy now.

ST. HILAIRE FARMERS GET BEHIND MOVE TO BUILD NEW CREAMERY

Enterprising Business Men of Village Also Subscribe For Block of Stock to Help Get this Most Important Work Under Way.

The St. Hilaire Co-operative Creamery will be housed in its own modern plant before summer is over, according to present plans, says the Spectator of that village. Realizing the need for more room and better equipment, the board has accepted plans for a new building which will be located on the company's downtown location, the lots formerly used by the Hotel Markham. Plans call for a building size 44x66, all brick and concrete construction. A full basement will be built, which will house the boiler, and balance will be used for storage. The ground floor plan calls for office and rest room in front, large work room in the center, warehouse and refrigerator plant in the rear. All machinery will be electrically operated thereby doing away with all dirt and smoke incident to a steam plant. The whole plan is extremely well made, and the building will be one of the best and most conveniently arranged in this part of the state.

Solicitors are at work in tributary territory this week selling stock which is the method adopted for raising the necessary money to build with. Thirty minutes work in the village last Friday resulted in over $3,000.00 worth of stock being taken by citizens.

Goldsmith-Kollen Mat Event Set For Friday

Indications are that the wrestling match to be staged at the Lyceum theaer here on Friday nigh by Charlie Goldsmith of Crystal, N. D., and Henry Kooln of Greenbush, will be the big event of the sport season. Goldsmith has picked up a great reputation in his home state for muscle power and knowledge of the art of wrestling. Koon, who has frequently been seen in action here, has a good many backers in northwestern Minnesota. During the past month he successfully downed E. B. Johnson of Staples in a match staged at that place, Johnson has to his credit the throwing of Jack Milo, well known Greek middle-weight. Goldsmith and Kooln will wrestle here at catch weights.

293 BABIES BORN IN PENNINGTON COUNTY IN 1920; 155 DEATHS

Eastern Townships Doing Particularly Well In Keeping Up Population. Arrivals Lead by Good Margin in City.

Two hundred and ninety-three births were recorded in Pennington county during the year 1920 as against a total of 155 deaths, according to a statement returned to Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund on Monday by he Minnesota State Board of Health and Vital Statistics. This is the annual statement compiled from returns forwarded to the state board by town clerks and health officers.

Thief River Falls stands forth in the list with 135 births recorded as against 83 deaths. In Rocksbury township the death rate was highest, the cause being attributed to he location there of the Oakland Park Sanitorium to which many tubercular patients are sent when in a very critical condition. Twenty-three deaths and eight births were recorded in the township. In no other district in the county did the number of deaths exceed the number of births, with the exception of Black River and Goodridge townships where bnut one death and no births were recorded.

Hickory township proved the most prolific for the year, registering 16 births and but two deaths. Deer Park ran a close second in this respect with seven births and one death. In the village of Goodridge occurred five deaths during the year, five births evening the toll.

The remarkable fact concerning the birth and death rate for the county as shown by statisics on file in the clerk of court's office is that the death rate has been steadily increasing during the past five years, while the birth rate has been steadily decreasing. The death total for the past year was exceptionally high oying to the toll taken by the epidemic of influenza which reached its height during January and February. Statistics compiled for the state show that the death rate for January, February and March of the present year is smaller than ever before in its history for any season of the year. The following tabulation shows the trend of the birth and death rate in Pennington county during the past five years:

Year	Births	Deaths
1916	282	108
1917	327	122
1918	323	142

Dr. J. Biedermann, city health officer, states that the situation is righting itself during the present year. Forty-five births have already been recorded for January, February and March. Sixteen deaths have occurred in the city since January 1 as compared with 32 during the same period of last year. Nature is asserting herself by bringing forth twins in astonishing numbers.

The births and deaths in Pennington county during 1920 as shown by districts were as follows:

OPENING WEEK OF MAY CLEANUP TIME

Mayor Issues Proclamation Calling on Citizens to Beautify Their Premises.

Whereas, It is in the interest of safeguarding the good health of our citizens, in promoting their thrift, in furthering fire protection, in stimulating civic pride and in making the individual home and in general Thief River Falls beautiful, and

Whereas, Every individual and resident of Thief River Falls has those interests at heart,

Now, Therefore, As Mayor of the city of Thief River Falls, I do hereby set aside and proclaim the week of May 2 to 7 to be observed as Thief River Falls Beautiful Week.

And request that each and every resident of the city take it upon himself or herself during this week to do their part toward beautifying the city.

Such is the text of a proclamation issued on Friday by Mayor John Bratrud. Its purpose is clearly outlined. Many ways in which the city can be beautified have been suggested: the raking and cleaning up of vacant lots, the planting of trees along drive-ways and on residence property, whether or not at present occupied by dwelling houses or other buildings; the planting of flowers or ornamental shrubs. In the beautifying process may be included the painting of frame buildings and the making of other minor repairs. The city starts the good work off well with the entering into of a contract to have the wagon bridge across the Red Lake river on Bridge street given two coats of paint. Work will begin on the contract at once.

Mayor Bratrud regards the chief item in the "City Beautiful" as cleanliness but urges property owners not to stop there. Dr. J. Biedermann, city health officer, states that in his tours of inspection he has found that as a rule premises are being given a thorough cleaning, lawns are being raked, rubbish is being burned, vacant lots are being dressed up, garbage is being hauled to the public dumping grounds, and the city fast becoming wholesome looking and sanitary. He states that in only four or five cases have complaints of insanitation been filed and that in these instances property owners have readily complied with his suggestions. He has advertised that on Many 1 a city ordinance will be enforced where steps have not been taken to alleviate unsanitary conditions. This ordinance provides that the work in question be done by the city and charged against the property for collection with other taxes.

BREEN SAYS HE NOW FEELS FINE

Minneapolis Man Hasn't a Sign of Indigestion or Rheumatism Since Taking Tanlac.

"All my troubles are a thing of the past and I never felt better in my life, since taking Tanlac," said J. W. Breen, 9 Wishington Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

"I began suffering from rheumatism and indigestion about three years ago, and although I tried nearly everything I just kept getting worse. My arms ached so much I could hardly stand it. Many nights I had such fearful headaches I could not sleep a wink and the following day I would be awfully dizzy.

"My appetite was so poor that when I ventured to eat a square meal gas would form in my stomach and I would be in misery for hours afterwards. I was badly constipated and always had to be taking something for that as well as my other troubles, but nothing helped me in the least.

"Finally Tanlac was recommended to me so highly I bought a bottle. I soon noticed a wonderful improvement. I am now on my sixth bottle and haven't an ache nor a pain of any kind."

May Secure German Cannon, All We Need Now is Park

Thief River Falls may come into possession of a German cannon or field piece captured by the American army during the late war as a result of bills introduced in the house on Friday by Congressman Halvor Steenerson. Other cities and villages included in the bills authorizing the secretary of war to donate relics from the stupenduous store held by the war department are: Barnesville, Bagley, Mahnomen, Fergus Falls, Ada, Moorhead, Hallock, Warren, Detroit, Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Roseau, Donaldson, Breckenridge and Winger.

Until congress agrees upon the method of distributing captured German paraphernalia, such can only be secured by communities through bills introduced by congressmen. What type of war trophy is wanted and the city or town for which it is requested must be stated.

Proceeds From Carload of Hay May Pay Cost of Wire

Tom Lewis, a pioneer settler of Esplee, on August 23, 1920, shipped a carload of hay from Goodridge to the White Grain company, commission men of Duluth. G. Howard Smith, Thief River Falls attorney, on April 18, 1921, succeeded in collecting the proceeds of $9.41 on the entire car of hay. With the firm's check for that amount was an itemized statement for the cost of effecting the sale. The statement included:

12,680 lbs. hay		$87.96
Freight	$47.35
Switch charge	5.15
Commission	10.00
Storage, 3 months	16.05
		$78.55
Net proceeds		$ 9.41

Accompanying the check and statement was a letter which contained the following paragraph:

"You will note that we have only charged for three months' storage. If we had charged in full for storage, you would be owing us money." The commission firm alleges that the hay was of poor quality and should never have been shipped to market but kept for use on the farm. Attorney Smith states that he didn't have the heart to keep the check as his commission for collecting on the account, as in that case he would have had to bill the Esplee farmer for an additional 59 cents.

Boy Scouts Have Wireless Stations in Their Homes

The First Troop of Boy Scouts took their initial hike on Tuesday evening with Rev. J. B. Smith, scout committeeman, acting as leader. Scout activities for the spring season are already well under way. A troop ball team has been organized, hike programs have been arranged and courses in out-of-doors instruction mapped out. Preparations are also being made to assist in Decoration Day ceremonies to be conducted here.

Scouts Willis Nason and Cleon Bottelson, who are specializing in wireless telegraphy, have installed complete wireless transmitting and receiving apparatus in their homes at 210 St. Paul avenue south and 307 Bridge street, respectively. Antenna have been rigged to housetops in accordance with the latest developments in the science and messages are being transmitted and received daily. The boys are rapidly becoming proficient in handling the Morse code and will later install more powerful equipment in order to be able to receive news flashings from the central stations of Minnesota.

CLUB DELEGATES MAKE TRIP OVER HISTORIC TRAIL

Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls Business Men Inspect "J-H" Routes.

Make Journey to Karlstad by Way of Holt, Middle River and Strathcona.

Opinion Prevails That Old Plan of Travel is Best at the Present Time.

As a result of a tour conducted from here to Karlstad and return by members of the good roads committees of the Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls Commercial clubs on Thursday afternoon, tourists over the Jefferson highway this season, and possibly for many seasons to come, will continue to travel north and south over the historic old Pembina trail—a trail that was once used by the Indian tribes of the Great Northwest in passing to and from the cities of the upper Mississippi valley. A route later taken by ox carts plying back and forth between points in northwestern Minnesota, Northern North Dakota, the Canadian provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan and Minneapolis, then the village of St. Anthony and the terminus of railroads and river-boat lines. In the days of old the trip would have taken many days' time; the tour of Thursday was accomplished in exactly four hours. It was brought about by a proposal to change the present routing of the Jefferson Highway north of here from the Pembina trail to the comparatively modern highway through Holt, Middle River, Strathcona and from there to Karlstad.

Decide on Inspection Trip.

The good roads committee of the Red Lake Falls club first suggested the changing of the present route in view of the fact that Thief River Falls and cities south of here are not getting the traffic which the Jefferson Highway as a Gulf-to-Winnipeg road should carry. As a result of the proposal, members of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club, and particularly the members of the good roads committee, were extended an invitation to confer with the Commercial club of this city on the subject at the weekly club luncheon last Thursday noon. Representative citizens from Holt and Middle River were also invited to be present for the discussion. The attendance at the noonday event was unusually large. Following an hour's discussion in which visiting speakers voiced a friendly co-operative spirit, the decision to make a rapid and preliminary tour of both that section of the Jefferson in question and the proposed route was reached.

Six cars carrying about 25 persons made the trip in a running time of exactly four hours, leaving here at a few minutes before 2 o'clock and returning at 6:30. Karlstad was the objective, the proposed route being traveled first. Roads between Thief River Falls and Strathcona as a whole were found to be in good condition, with maintenance work being done. The 16-mile stretch between Strathcona and Karlstad, as one member of the party remarked, "took the joy out of life," because of its poor condition. The highway is made up by stretches of black-dirt and clay road that with a slight rainfall would become practically impassable for motor driven vehicles. Over four miles of high-thrown drainage ditch grade was encountered just before reaching Karlstad, where the inspecting party stopped for a light lunch. The running time to Karlstad was two hours. Speedometers gave the mileage as 51.4 miles.

Prominent citizens of the last named village stated that the "east" road is being used by south-bound travelers during the dry seasons of the year. Garage men when questioned advised the use of the Pembina trail as a somewhat shorter route. The distance to Thief River Falls was given in a varying number of miles.

Pembina Route Shortest.

The return trip over the Jefferson Highway, which as at present marked follows the Pembina trail much of the way, was accomplished in the same time as the up-trip. Speedometers gave the distance to the starting point at Thief River Falls as 49.5 miles, or an advantage over the proposed route of slightly less than 2 miles. The trail itself proved a delightful experience and something novel in the way of roads. Fully four miles of rough going was encountered in making the detour which is necessitated by the absence of small bridges over the Snake and Middle rivers.

Upon reaching Thief River Falls the entire party was entertained at an Evelyn Hotel beefsteak dinner by C. L. Hansen, chairman of the good roads committee of the local Commercial club. Club President W. A. Hall, Jr., acted as toastmaster for the congenial discussion of the trip which followed the dinner. Many speakers voiced the sentiments of the assemblage when the importance of a good all-weather highway north and south out of Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls and the advantages of securing the tourist traffic, were commented upon as being the issue in question. Grave danger was expressed in that with the construction work to be done on the Babcock system of roads, of which the east route as far as Strathcona is a part, the Jefferson Highway must be lost to this section of the state. The advantages and disadvantages of both routes were thoroughly considered and commented upon. Almost without exception members of the party spoke of the "lure of the trail" and the regrets that must accompany its abandonment. It was the last which, coupled with the improbability of the north end of the east route shortly being made suitable for automobile traffic during wet weather, brought the members of the gathering to a point approaching a decision.

Will Make Another Trip.

The two good roads committees will further consider the matter, yet it was agreed to make another trip over that part of the Pembina from which the detour is necessary because of the absence of small bridges. County and other highway engineers, officials of the townships in which the bridges would be located and construction authorities will be asked to join the party which will make an all-day stop for the purpose of estimating the amount of work to be done and the approximate cost of the same. With the construction of the three bridges, the Jefferson Highway would be laid out over the true Pembina trail for a distance of about 35 miles, and the distance from Thief River Falls to Karlstad be shortened somewhat. Members of both committees expressed a strong belief that sufficient funds to accomplish the necessary construction work could be raised by popular subscription. Upon the east route being made suitable for traffic in all weather, the proposal for re-routing the highway would be again considered.

TO BEGIN WORK ON GOLF COURSE SOON

Five Acres on East Side of River to be Prepared For Practice Ground as Starter.

A three-hole golf course for practice purposes is being layed out on the southwest corner of the former sawmill site which lies south of Bridge street between the Soo line right-of-way and the Red Lake river. The contract for the plowing, dragging, planking and seeding of the five acre tract of ground has already been let and operations will begin at once. The site is pleasantly located along the river and for a practise course is considered ideal. It offers opportunity for a drive to the first green of fully 300 yards, with little danger of slicing into the stream.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, W. A. Barnard and R. W. Sheldon, enthusiastic followers of the sport, who are behind the construction of the course, feel confident that this will lead to the ultimate establishment here of a nine or even 18-hole course, once the residents of the city fully understand and appreciate the value of the game. Fully 50 business men of the city have expressed a willingness to lend their aid in the upkeep of a course and to take up the sport as soon as the opportunity is offered. It is at present necessary for Thief River Falls golfers to travel to Grand Forks, Detroit or Bemidji to work out on the links. The game is rapidly gaining in favor in the above named cities where the courses are considered great assets to the community. Crookston recently constructed a small links suitable for practise work.

STRIKE HEAVY GOING ON INITIAL TRIP OF TRANSPORT SERVICE

Fair Amount of Freight Handled and Officials Feel Confident That Venture Will Prove Both Popular and Successful.

The first hauling trip of the Grand Forks Motor Truck Transportation company which will operate between Grand Forks and Thief River Falls, was made by two company trucks on Tuesday. Due to the rains of Saturday, Sunday and Monday roads were in heavy shape and the trucks did not arrive promptly on schedule time either day. Both handled freight and express along the route, arriving here lightly loaded but departing with consignments for many points between here and Grand Forks. Officials of the transportation company announced that they were well pleased with consignments for the initial trips.

The truck service is daily. One carrier leaves Grand Forks by way of Fisher, Crookston, Gently, Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls; the other by way of Manvil, N. D., Olso, Alvarado, Warren, Radium, Viking, Rosewood and Thief River Falls. The trucks are scheduled to arrive here at or near the noon hour. The Peoples Auto company garage has been designated as the station for this city, where patrons of the line will deliver all out-going shipments. In-coming shipments will be delivered at the door of the consignee.

Building Permit Granted.

The city council on Tuesday night granted a building permit to M. V. Evenson for the construction of a frame dwelling house to be erected at Sixth street and LaBree avenue north. The estimated cost of the building is $2,500.

$10,000 WON BY LOCAL MAN IN UNUSUAL WAGER

Families Broken Up and Friends Estranged Through Freakish Action of Broker.

Bob Bennett, Well Known and Highly Respected, Nearly Succumbs Under Strain.

Told Nothing But the Truth For 24 Hours and Was Otherwise Most Disagreeable.

Can you tell the truth, the absolute truth to everyone no matter what they ask you, for twenty-four hours? We have a great deal of respect for the veracity of the people of Thief River Falls, in general but we doubt if there is more than one individual in the whole city who can tell the absolute truth for one day. Bob Bennett, a prominent young business man of Thief River Falls, is the one absolutely truthful man in our midst, but after telling the whole truth for the short period of twenty-four hours in his own words Bob says: "I'll never tell the truth again as long as I live."

It Looker So Easy.

Bob made the snug fortune of $10,000.00 in twenty-four hours by the seemingly simple method of telling everyone the truth. But he made lifelong enemies, wrecked a home, almost lost his sweetheart, insulted his best friends, cost his business partner his hard-earned fortune and at the end of the twenty-four hours he was practically a physical wreck himself. If you even think that you could do it, come to the Auditorium on Thursday night, May 5, and it is certain that you will go home a happier and wiser man or woman.

At this time the Elks put on their annual home talent show. This is the third annual event of its kind and needless to say it will be very, very good and will more than please all who attend. Everyone who attended the last Elk's show, "A Pair of Sixes," says that it was one of the best performances they ever witnessed. From an entertainment and artistic standpoint "Nothing But the Truth" will far surpass it. It is the aim of the elks to present to the people of this community the very best form of entertainment possible to secure. Some of the very best critics in the country were asked to recommend a play for this event and they unanimously selected "Nothing But the Truth" as being the best comedy ever written and absolutely certain to please any audience. "Nothing But the Truth" has been presented in 22 countries and languages. It has been presented in the United States at 589 places and more than 13,000 times, all in the short period of four years from the time of its initial performance in New York. This is a world's record for any show and proves conclusively the merit of the performance.

Favorites are in Cast.

While a very studious and careful investigation was made in picking the play to be presented, it did not compare with the critical selection of the cast. L. Nathan Pierce, director in charge, is a hard man to please, his aim being to have each and every character as near perfect as possible and then work the whole cast into a team that will present a play in a manner that will compare favorably with the best Broadway casts.

The cast of characters are: Bog Bennett, the truthful member of a brokerage firm, L.H. Lawrence; E. M. Ralston, senior member of the same firm, H. W. Protzeller; Bishop Doran, founder of the Seaside Home for Children, Ed. Brevig; Clarence VanDusen, the firm's best customer, L. A. Lampert; Dick Donnelly, member of the firm, G. W. Connell; Gwen, Ralston's daughter and Bob's sweetheart, Miss Grace Iverson; Mrs. Ralston, a very charming social-leader, Miss Una Nelson; Ethel, an accomplished daughter of the leader of the summer colony, Miss Irene Patrick; Mabel, a much sought after chorus lady, Miss Laura Stopple; Sable, another queen of the stage, Miss Inez Howe; the maid, Miss Meta Kiland.

The play is in three side-splitting acts and covers almost three hours of the very best fun imaginable. Immediately after the performance a reception and dance will be staged at the new Elk's quarters for all members of the lodge and their friends.

Don't let any of your friends tell you about the wonderful show you missed. Be there with them. The price is within reach of all.

THEY WILL COMPETE WITH OTHER "GRADS" SOON TO MAKE DEBUT

Members of Public Speaking Class Finish Course, Make Speeches and Wind Up with Banquet at Brumund.

The second series of 20-minute orations marking the graduation of members of a public speaking class conducted at the Lincoln high school during the past months were given before an interested audience on last Thursday night. The class under the tutelage of L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the high school assembly, to whom much credit for the success of the undertaking is due, has been a Thursday night feature for over 15 business and professional men of the city who have gone thru a boiled-down course in oratory embodying all the rudiments given in an entire year's work at a state university. The results have been very gratifying to Mr. Pierce and his apt pupils.

F. F. Haynes on Thursday night took for his subject the old saw, "A Stitch in Time Saves Nine," which he gave a general application. F. E. McGinn spoke on "The Value of a Sales Tax." While no perfect tax has ever been evolved, he said, the sales tax is considered as reducing to a minimum the injustice of taxation and permitting no chance for successful evasion by the misrepresentation of values. H. W. Protzeller held his audience tensely interested during his alloted 20 minutes with his discussion of "Peat," a subject upon which he is exceptionally well versed thru successful experiments in converting the same into fuel. He speaks of peat as the solution of the fuel problem of the nation. C. L. Hansen, the last speaker on the program, spoke with much force and effect upon the value of "Community Spirit." G. L. Sterns was also scheduled to speak but was prevented by illness.

Following the close of the speaking, members of the class adjourned to the Brumund hotel where a banquet supper was given in honor of Instructor Pierce and as the conclusion of the "graduating exercises."

SAYS TONNAGE TAX WAS LEGISLATURE'S BEST ACHIEVEMENT

Senator Naplin Admits, However, That Session Was Productive of Other Things.

Senator O. A. Naplin returned to this city last week and has again taken up his law practice after having put in three months as a member of the upper house of the legislature. The senator says that it was a hard-working session and while he maintains that everything went through according to the administration program, he feels that considerable legislation of a constructive character was enacted.

The tonnage tax law is regarded by Senator Naplin as by far the most important piece of work turned out at the session. While he admits that there will undoubtedly be a long drawn-out court fight before the statute is finally applied, yet he figures that this would have to be gone through some time in any event and that the sooner a start is made the better it will be for everybody.

Among the measures of strictly local application which Senator Naplin assisted in putting through was the law which will enable school districts to charge a tuition fee of $7 instead of $3 as has been the case during the past two years. This means that such schools will receive $63 per year for each outside pupil instead of the $27 now paid. While this sum comes far from meeting the actual cost of such tuition, it will prove a considerable help.

Securing an appropriation of $25,000 for a survey of the Red Lake drainage district is another item of much importance and one to which Senator Naplin gave unqualified support. This appropriation will make it possible to get a start on this important work practically at once.

The law requiring buyers of grain to re-emburse the producer for the dockage contained in a shipment is another of Senator Naplin's measures. He admits that this provision in the law is not so important at the present time because of the low price of grain, but would have made a decided difference to the farmer a few years ago and may do so again.

MAY HAVE FORTUNE IN NEW STYLE PEN

The manufacture of pens, or at least all known methods of keeping these necessary business and office adjuncts full of ink almost indefinitely without constant dipping into an ink well, may be revolutionized by a Thief River Falls young man, according to reports received here. Hardy Bothun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bothun, who has been at Berkeley, Cal., serving as paymaster in the government shipyards and attending night classes at the University of California since a short time after his return from France, is the inventor and if the idea proves as good as it looks young Bothun and his buddy, Martin Langseth, also a student at the University, have hit upon something that will make them independent for life.

According to Hardy's father, the boy has been working on this idea for some time, assisted and encouraged by Langseth. When finally their labors were rewarded by the discovery of just what had been the difficulty all along, Langseth wired home to his mother, Mrs. Anna Langseth, 613 LaBree avenue north, requesting that $200 be sent him at once, but vouchsafing no other information. This naturally caused both worry and excitement in the family and the money was sent forwith. It now develops that the boys were short of funds with which to go to San Francisco and place their case in the hands of a patent attorney. This matter attended to, Bohun collapsed as a result of the excitement he had been laboring under. When it is recalled that this same young man was given his initiatory degree on a defensive sector in Lorraine and faced the German guns at Chatteau Thiery, St. Mihiel and during the Muese-Argonne unpleasantness, it will be realized that he must have been considerably worked up.

RECORDS PROVE COUNTY FAIR IS AMONG LEADERS

In Point of Attendance the Show Far Outdistanced All Neighborhood Events.

Last Year's Total Receipts Over $9,000 and Society Now in Good Condition.

State Agricultural Association Report Contains Much Interesting Information.

Included in the 1919 report of the Minnesota State Agricultural society for 1920, which has just been issued, is a supplement showing the annual statements of county and district agricultural societies for the entire state. Delving into the very heart of the elaborate tabulations it is found that the Pennington County Agricultural society ranks well to the fore in every respect in comparison with the other county or district organizations. Of the fairs held in Northwestern Minnesota, the Pennington county annual exhibition held at Thief River Falls on August 4, 5 and 6 of last year stands clearly at the head.

Of the 97 societies which held fairs in Minnesota during 1920, 43 were able to show larger gross receipts than the Pennington county society. In most cases the association showing larger receipts received more county aid, while many of them showed larger funds arising from membership dues and donations. Twenty-five fairs reported larger gate receipts; 14 reported a larger number of entries, while but ten fairs held in the state drew a larger attendance.

Attendance Establishes Record.

The fair held here last year attracted 15,000 people, according to the annual report. This was an attendance 50 per cent greater than that of any of the fairs held in Beltrami, Clearwater, Marshall, Red Lake and Roseau counties or the joint attendance at the two fairs held in Kittson county. The Pennington county fair reports entries numbering 2,800 which is greatly in excess of the number for the above named fairs and the combined number of entries for the two fairs held at Fertile and Crookston in Polk county. The attendance at the Fertile fair was 7,480, no statistics being given in this respect for the Crookston event. The attendance and number of entries for the above named county fairs in tabulated form was as follows:

	Attendance.	Entries.
Beltrami county	2,613	1,912
Clearwater county	1,584	734
Kittson county	9,600	535
Marshall county	9,000	1,150
Pennington county	15,000	2,800
Polk county	7,480	1,150
Red Lake county	2,000	1,735
Roseau county	4,050	1,047

Receipts Over $9,000.

The gate receipts for the three days of last year's fair here totalled $5,271.95. Concessions to the amount of $1,555.65 were sold. The total receipts of the organization for 1920, including state aid of $1,302.75, a county aid of $400, dues and donations aggregating $485 and miscellaneous items, were $9,492.31. The association paid out $1,406.50 in premium mone, $2,832.50 for entertainment purposes, $1,537.73 for labor during the year and for miscellaneous items, $2,819.53. Total disbursements for the year amounted to $8,626.06.

Including land valued at $8,500 and buildings valued at $9,500, the Pennington County Fair association has assets listed at $21,472.75 and, with a surplus of $10,447.75, is in good financial condition. The fair year ended with a balance on hand of $866.06, which in view of the fact that out of the 97 fair associations holding fairs during 1920, 37 ended the year with an overdraft, is a very good showing.

Bigger and Better This Year.

The favorable comparison being drawn with the fairs held throughout Minnesota during 1920, it would be difficult to estimate the standing of the fair association at the end of the present year. The finest feature attractions of the land have already been booked, attractions that have never before been seen at a northwestern fair. "The Siege of the Dardanelles" and "Pioneer Days" will be seen here in pyrotechnical displays such as are shown at the Minnesota State fair. Some of the foremost speed demons of the country will be seen on the track during the last day of the fair. The livestock, farm, dairy, home and school exhibits will be greater in number and more varied in character than ever before. Every department has been placed in the hands of competent committees and there will be no delay or confusion in the placing of exhibits. The prizes in many instances have been increased and provision made for the entering of more diversified products.

Masons See Large Class Initiated at Crookston

H. C. Johnson, Ray Johnson, R. B. McWilliams, Oscar Paulson, Ray Spencer, Andrew Bottleson, G. Howard Smith, L. M. Rayson, Nels Christianson, Hakon Olson and H. A. Pratt represented Northern Lodge No. 236, A. F. and A. M., at a special meeting of the Crookston lodge on Thursday night, when a large class was initiated into the mysteries of Blue lodge Masonry. The work of the degree was done by past masters of Crookston lodge No. 141.

An invitation having been extended to all lodges of the order in northwestern Minnesota, the attendance at a banquet tendered to visiting members and the meeting proper passed the 300 mark. F. E. Jenkins of Faribault, grand master of the Minnesota Masons, and W. R. Smith of Benson, custodian, were among the out-of-town guests who addressed the assemblage at the banquet. Worshipful Master Tom Morris presided at the initiatory work.

The Thief River Falls party motored to Crookston during the afternoon, returning late the same evening.

Conversed With Surgeons During Amputation of Leg

Matt Urchetz, a farmer living 14 miles east of the city, suffered the amputation of the left leg just below the knee on Tuesday morning after having suffered for many weeks with gangrene of the toes. The operation was performed at the Physicians hospital here by surgeons of the city. What is commonly known as the "twilight sleep" method of anaesthesia was employed, the patient remaining conscious and able to talk with the surgeons throughout the operation.

EKLUND POST GETS INTO ACTION RIGHT ON WEDNESDAY EVE

Plan Memorial Program and First July 4th Celebration in Six Years.

At a meeting of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion at the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday night not only was a decision to take an active part in the Memorial day ceremonies reached but plans laid for a mammoth celebration to be staged on the Fourth of July. The Independance day carnival of noise, entertainment, speaking and music will be jointly fostered by the Legion and the City band. W. C. Peterson, Henry Froseth, Ray Johnson, L. H. Lawrence and Dan R. Maue were appointed as a temporary committee to meet with a committee from the band organization for the drawing up of plans for the celebration, the first that this city has had in several years George Loken, Perry Johnson, H. O Chommie, Carl Gulrud and Dan R. Maue were appointed to a committee to meet with committees from other civic organizations of the city for the purpose of arranging a Memorial day program. The last named committee was appointed following a discussion in which the post decided to co-operate with the other bodies in suitable commemorating the death of war veterans, rather than to take entire charge of arrangements for the day.

A resolution was passed in which it is recommended that Thief River Falls be designated as one of the subcenters of the U. S. Public Health service, inasmuch as Duluth and Brainerd are the only points so far designated as the centers for northern Minnesota under the new ruling whereby local medical examiners will cease to do the work of the service. The location here of a general hospital, a sanitorium and other natural advantages of the city which would adapt it to the needs of the health service are pointed out in the resolution, a copy of which will be sent to the Bureau of War Rick Insurance, the Public Health department and the service division of the Minnesota Legion department.

Hospital committees were appointed to visit ex-service men at present confined to the Oakland Park sanatorium; a cash contribution to swell the state and national fund to be used for the decoration of graves of American soldiers on foreign soil was voted and many other business matters taken care of. The live business session was preceded by the serving of what was termed "a whopper of a feed."

AMERICAN LEGION TO SPONSOR CONCERT BY BOHEMIAN VIOLINIST

Josef Koneeny, Acclaimed One of the Greatest Artists Now in This Country, to Be Heard in This City May 17.

Arrangements have been made for a concert in this city at the auditorium on May 17 by Josef Koneeny, the famous Bohemian violinist, under the auspices of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion.

Koneeny has played in the big music centers of this country, and in practically every state of the Union, as well as in other parts of the world, and is considered by his critics to rank among the foremost violinists of the present day. The son of a Bohemian blacksmith, he studied with Sevick, teacher of Jan Kubelik, and is considered a shining example of what can be accomplished by indefatigable industry, energy and perseverance.

The violinist will be assisted in the recital by Lola Murel Alley, American soprano, and Mary Tris, the brilliant American pianiste, both artists of national reputation.

Flowers For Every Casket.

"Never again will the body of a returned comrade pass through the Gateway to the Great Northwest without receiving the honor due it," said A. S. Pearson, chairman of the Ramsey County Central committee of the American Legion. "Flowers will be placed on every casket."

Where School Levy Exceeds 20 Mills, State Will Pay One-Third of Excess.

W. A. Ziegler, superintendent of the city schools, is in receipt of a special bulletin from the State Department of Education sent out to the schools of the state in an effort to furnish prompt information regarding the new state aid law passed by the legislature on April 19. According to this bulletin taxpayers in district No. 18 will be saved several thousands of dollars each school year. Applying the new law to the school year of 1920-21 the increase in state aid would have been $7,355.32. The features effecting this district are outlined briefly as follows:

High schools offering four years' training beyond the eight elementary grades will receive a flat aid of $1,000. Under the law formerly in existence this aid totaled $1,800.

Tuition Raised to $7.00.

High school tuition for pupils residing outside of the district has been raised from $3 per pupil to $7. Had this been in effect during the present school year, district No. 18 would have received $6,706 instead of $2,874 as was the case.

Special consolidated school aid having been discontinued, the $300 paid under existing regulations would have been lost.

To assist school districts with high tax levy, the following clause was inserted in the bill: To any school district whose tax levy for maintenance lies between 20 and 32 mills, the state shall pay as supplemental aid one-third of the excess above 20 mills. If the tax levy for maintenance exceeds 32 mills, then in addition to the above amount, the state shall pay as supplemental aid one-half of such excess above 32 mills, provided that no school district shall receive supplemental aid if a tax levy of 20 mills in such district will yield the equivalent of $100 for each pupil enrolled in the public schools of such district; and provided also that no school district shall receive supplemental aid equivalent to more than $200 for each elementary teacher employed, and $250 for each high school or special teacher employed.

Takes Part of Burden.

The tax levy for maintenance in district 18 for 1920-21 was 28.3 mills, hence the state would have paid one-third of an 8.3 mill levy on approximately $1,500,000 assessed valuation, or a sum of $5,323.32. It is this feature of the bill which results most favorably for Thief River Falls, for under the present method of lending aid the district received but $300.

Library aid for purchase of books has been raised from $10 to $20 per teacher, not to exceed $40 per building. The limit formerly was $25 per building. Hence with five school buildings, instead of $125 per year for library purposes, $200 will be secured. The increase in aid under the new bill is more clearly shown by the following tabulation. The first and second columns of figures indicate the amount of state aid now received and for what purpose. The last column indicates the amount that would have been received under the same circumstances had the new law been in effect during th past year:

$1,800	Flat Aid	$ 1,000.00
700	Excess	5,323.32
2,874	Tuition	6,706.00
300	Consolidated aid	------
125	Library	200.00
$5,699		$13,229

The state aid for industrial departments remains the same, the clause in the bill cutting out this item having been withdrawn.

Ask For Bids on Repair Of Long Bridge in North

Bids for the reconstruction of the Long bridge in the town of North across Thief river will be received by the town board of the above named township until June 1. The issue of putting the bridge in suitable shape to accommodate vehicles with safety has been holding public attention for over a year or since the voters of the township in 1920 first authorized the needed repairs to the extent of $4,000. The town board not having carried out the instructions of the voters, the question again came up in the March 8 election of the present year when the repairs were authorized for the second time. Construction work will proceed this season should the bids be found satisfactory. Notice of the hearing of bids will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Times.

BIGGEST EVENT IN HISTORY OF I. O. O. F. LODGE

Mortgage on Lodge Property Wiped Out and Document Burned with Rites.

E. M. Stanton Delivers Stirring Address in Recounting Past History of Order.

Backward Glance at Local Lodge Furnished by W. B. Fuller and Other Speakers.

With the burning on Tuesday evening of the mortgage which has hung over the head of Young Pine lodge No. 221, I. O. O. F., for over twenty years, Noble Grand Carl Angell performed the closing act in a ceremony that will long be remembered by every person in the large crowd assembled. It was the culminating incident of an evening full of interesting reminiscence and eloquent tribute.

Emil E. Zeh, past noble grand and a charter member of the lodge, acted as chairman and performed the office admirably. He introduced Mayor John Bratrud as the first speaker, who on behalf of the lodge and citizens generally bid all visitors welcome in a short address full of expressions of good fellowship. He was followed by E. M. Stanton, who delivered an eloquent address on the history of fraternal organizations generally and of Odd Fellowship in particular. He told of the origin and purpose of the organization and how it has in times past been under the ban of crowned heads who could not understand its mission, particularly in England, the land of its inception. Being, however, founded on the loftiest aspirations of mankind, nothing was able to long retard its progress, which has continued until at the present time there are lodges in every civilized country on earth and the teachings of the order are imparted in a score of different tongues. Mr. Stanton told of the establishment of the order in the United States in 1819 and how it has grown into the largest fraternal organization in the country. The motto, "Friendship, Love and Truth," is today being exemplified in a thousand different ways by nearly a million and a half members, not counting those of the affiliated Rebecca lodges. The speaker gave an interesting review of the manner in which the last-named organization had come into being, referring to it as an integral part of Odd Fellowship and not merely an auxiliary as is the case in so many other organizations. Mr. Stanton was listened to with the most rapt attention and given a tremendous round of applause when he closed.

W. B. Fuller was called upon for a history of Young Pine lodge. He was one of the early members and as he has at one time or other held nearly all offices in the lodge, elective and appointive, the work could not have fallen into better hands. He told of the first meetings and of the fire which destroyed the lodge property in the early winter of 1898. Mr. Fuller in a most interesting manner recounted how the money was raised which enabled the struggling young lodge to get a start toward erecting the building which has since been its home and of the many handicaps encountered before the job was finished. His address dwelt at many points with little incidents which, while perhaps unimportant to the younger set, brought back to the old timers memories of the days when it was an uphill fight to maintain sufficient interest in the work to keep things going.

Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls, was the next speaker. He told also of early day Odd Fellowship and made a particularly pleasing impression on the large audience. Mr. Johnson, a member of Warren lodge, on behalf of his brother members, congratulated Young Pine upon its achievements and thanked the members for the privilege of being present at such an inspiring gathering. He was followed by John Stensrud of Kennedy, whose remarks were along the same lines. Mike Fricker of St. Hilaire, was one of a delegation of 25 present from that village. He is well acquainted with the history of the local lodge and told of many things that had happened in the past, some of which were pathetic and others amusing.

The last speaker was Daniel Robertson of Argyle, recognized as the dean of Odd Fellowship in this section. He did not particularly dwell upon the past achievements of the order, confining himself to the great work that is now being accomplished. He spoke at some length on the necessity for continued support of the different homes for the aged and the orphan, one of which is being maintained in practically every state by the Odd Fellows. Personal observation on his part makes him an authority on this subject and he stated that any person who has had an opportunity of observing the wonderful results obtained would become just as enthusiastic as he over the matter.

At the close of the ceremonies at the hall the crowd repaired to the auditorium where the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. It was the largest private or semi-private party ever given in the city and all enjoyed themselves to the utmost. It was a great occasion and will long be remembered with pleasure by all present. The excellent lunch provided by the Rebekahs was a pleasing feature.

Coumbe to Leave City.

S. C. Coumbe, formerly assistant cashier of the First National bank here and later secretary of the Tesum Seed, Grain and Supply company, has been placed in charge of the Haverson Brokerage company Minneapolis office and will move with his family to that city as soon as suitable quarters can be secured. Mr. Coumbe has acquired a large interest in the firm by which he is employed.

Leaves on Buying Trip.

Albert Lieberman of Liberman Brothers leaves Sunday evening for Chicago, where he will purchase a large bill of goods after making personal inspection of the offerings. The low prices quoted by Mr. Lieberman at the anniversary sale cleaned out the stock in a highly satisfactory manner and it is necessary to replenish at once. This also provides the opportunity for stocking up with the latest and most seasonable goods. Mr. Lieberman believes that he can always do better by going direct to market with the ready cash, as by following this plan he is assured of the best merchandise as well as the lowest prices. He will have something of special interest to announce upon his return.

FOX CHOSEN TO HEAD BALL ORGANIZATION; TRYOUT NEXT SUNDAY

Season Starts Out With $550 Monthly Cash Pledge and Every Promise of Success—First Game Memorial Day.

At a meeting of fans and financial backers of the Thief River Falls baseball organization held at the Commercial club rooms on Friday night, five directors were elected to serve during the 1921 season. The directors held a meeting on Sunday afternoon when A. P. Fox was elected president, Louis DeCremer, vice president, Roy Lambert treasurer, L. H. Lawrence secretary and G. W. Connell assistant secretary. The organization will be known as the Thief River Falls Baseball associatiion.

Volunteer committees last week solicited business men and baseball fans of the city with great success, over $550 per month having been pledged to support a first-class city team. Complete uniforms have already been ordered. A general call for all players in the community to turn out next Sunday, when the directors will size up the available material, has been issued. The press having announced that at least two players would be hired, Secretary Lawrence is receiving applications for positions daily. Negotiations are being opened with prospective player-managers and steps being taken to acquire a strong battery. All indications are that the baseball organization is to be a live one. The directors have announced that the first game of the season will undoubtedly be played here on Decoration day.

Free Lectures.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Carlberg will speak on religous topics in the Swedish language at the Odd Fellows hall, Sunday afternoon at three o'clock and Monday evening at eight o'clock. Admission free to the public.

REPAIR DEPARTMENT OF SOO ROAD RUSHED; FULL CREWS AT WORK

Company Now Paying Out Over $1,000 Per Day to the 280 Employes Making This City Their Home.

Long strings of freight cars in need of repair have been arriving periodically at the Soo line "rip track" here during the past two months and similar strings are being hauled away at like intervals of time after having been put in shape for heavy duty. Over 250 cars have been thus repaired by the local car department since the first of the year. It is stated on good authority that the Soo railway company is the only one in the Northwest making extensive repairs on rolling stock at this time, and the demand for the work of the car department at this point has been so heavy as to require the "parking" of damaged cars on the side-tracks of nearby towns until the tracks here could accommodate them.

The working force of the car department is now at its maximum, 82 persons being employed on the tracks and in the offices. The department during the first three month of the year was operating on the five-day week plan in an endeavor to keep all hands employed for at least part time. The six-day week is again in effect and the force of carmen and apprentices being increased from day to day. Forces have been greatly reduced at other points over the Soo system where limited equipment does not permit of extensive repair work.

Though in other departments of this division point forces are still in some cases 50 per cent lower than the maximum, over 280 persons who make Thief River Falls their residence are employed by the railway company. The mechanical department employes 95 persons. A staff of 19 is at present required in the general offices located in the passenger station. In the train department a total of 50 freight and passenger conductors and brakemen, call boys and other persons find employment. Eleven laborers and two foremen are required to care for the 11 miles of track which constitutes the terminal. The force now on duty at the freight and passenger stations numbers 20 persons. The 280 residents of the city who are on the company's payroll for April will receive more than $30,000 for services rendered during the month.

Gas Drops 3 Cents.

Gasoline is now selling here at 25.5 cents per gallon. Chas. A. Mumm, local manager for the Standard Oil company, announced a drop in price of three cents per gallon on Tuesday.

Preus Names Review Board.

Governor J. A. O. Preus on Friday appointed Major Ellard A. Walsh, of Minneapolis; Colonel W. T. Mollison of Faribault, and A. H. Vernon of Little Falls, as members of the state board of review, which was recently authorized by the legislature. The board will work with the state bonus board in checking up disputed bonus claims. It will assume its duties July 1, and terminate March 1, 1922.

HE HAD TO FIGHT FOR HIS BREATH

St. Paul Man's Troubles End After Taking Tanlac—Feels Fine All the Time.

"Tanlac has simply made a new man of me and I now feel as strong and can do my work with as much vim as I could ten years ago," said Albert Schmidt, employe of the St. Paul Athletic Club, who lives at 225 West Seventh Street, St. Paul, Minn.

"I had been suffering from a stomach trouble for two years or more and Tanlac was the only thing I ever got hold of to give me relief. I was told I was suffering from an acid stomach. My digestion was poor, my food would lie in my stomach like lead and I would have such a full, bloated feeling that often I would have to fight for my breath. At other times I would have pains in my back over my kidneys that would almost bend me double. I was tired and worn-out all the time and I would almost be driven wild by nervousness, especially at night.

"I know now, why so many people allow their names to be published recommending Tanlac. The medicine certainly deserves it and I am ready to tell everybody it did me more good than all the other medicines I have taken put together. My appetite is good now and everything I eat agrees with me. I am not nervous any more, can sleep eight hours without ever turning over once and feel fine every minute in the day."

ONE THING NECESSARY.

We are told that all that is now required in order to bring back a very large share of the prosperity which was enjoyed before war interfered to upset all our plans, is that there shall be more noise made by the hammer and saw. In other words, more building.

Particularly is this true of residence buildings. While in cities such as Thief River Falls the shortage may not be felt so acutely as in larger centers, yet it is nevertheless a fact that the one thing needed is more houses and better houses. The American eats the best there is—or he at least eats more of the best—oftener than any other man on earth. He rides the fastest and farthest, spends his money the freest and most foolishly. Yet as a nation we are far behind many others as home owners. It is time our energies were directed toward remedying this defect.

Experience with rented premises during the past few years have been such as to bring many to a determination to own the home that shelters their families. Thousands are holding off in the hope that the cost will be reduced, but this delay seems of doubtful wisdom. Unless all signs are at fault, this is a good time to make a start. Building material is down anywhere from 20 to 25 per cent from the peak figure reached at the close of the war, and it must be remembered that at no time was the advance as great proportionately as in other lines. Lumber particularly is at a low price at present, due to a desire to clean up stocks, and it is certain that an advance must come before long. Unless there is a lowering of freight rates on commodities of this kind, there will have to be an advance within a very short time.

There is but one conclusion to be reached through a study of present conditions. It is to build what is necessary without delay. There is no danger of building too much. The country is short of structures of every descripion and no matter how rapidly the work is carried on, it will be years before we can catch up.

Birthday Party.

Among the many delightful birthday affairs this spring, was the party given by Mrs. L. M. Rayson at her home on Tuesday afternoon in compliment to her daughter Lorraine's seventh birthday anniversary. Twenty-eight guests were invited to share in the afternoon's pleasures which included out-of-door games followed by a delicious lunch at 5:30. A spring-like atmosphere was accentuated by the use of pink and white decorations thruout the rooms. The same color note prevailed in the table decorations.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. H. F. Booren was hostess at children's party at her apartments in the First National bank building yesterday afternoon, in honor of the birthday anniversary of her son, Harry, Jr. Various games made the afternoon a pleasant one for the little folks. The table appointments were in blue and white, while the favors were gaily colored toy balloons. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Scott Laird. Those present were Marjorie and Richard Thronson, James Bottem, Betty Cohn, Helen McWilliams, Tom Rowan, Jack Booren, Dorothy and Donald Anderson.

Startling Disclosures Expected.

The "Four Hundred" of Thief River Falls are very much excited about the application for a decree of divorce by one of the social leaders of this city. The knowledge that there is dissension in the domestic affairs of this very prominent family comes to everyone like a thunderbolt from the heavens. A tinge of high-life is promised in this action. It is claimed that the wife will name as co-respondent one of the most charming young ladies of this city. Owing to the prominence of this family we refrain from the use of their names at this time, but we feel certain that all of our readers will know considerable about the whole affair very shortly. It is expected that the matter will be settled out of court so that anyone who wishes to learn all about this particularly choice bit of scandal will have to be at the auditorium next Thursday night when the Thief River Falls Elks present "Nothing But the Truth."

Woman's Club Program.

One of the most interesting and instructive programs which has been given by the Woman's club was held on Monday afternoon at the Commercial club rooms. The subject of child welfare work was thoroughly and ably discussed by Mrs. L. G. Larsen, who is a member of the child welfare board. The lesson on Americanization was in charge of Mrs. J. H. Hardisty assisted by Mrs. H. C. Durrin, Mrs. A. Bottelson, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. R. W. Briggs. Delegates chosen to attend the district meeting of Women's federated clubs to be held some time in May were Robert Vance, Mrs. E. J. Richards and Mrs. J. M. Bishop. The subject of the care of the garden plot south of the auditorium was also taken up. Mrs. E. E. Zeh and Mrs. L. G. Larsen were appointed to take charge of it. A feature of the program was the piano solo, "Wedding Day at Troldhaugen," (Greig), by Miss Palma Langseth.

Girls' Community Club.

The regular meeting of the Girls' Community club was held on Monday evening at the Commercial club rooms. In addition to the many features of entertainment was a piano duet played by Misses Ruby Bennes and Palma Langseth which was greatly appreciated by the club. The secretary's report was read by Miss Effie Hamry which included the financial report of the entertainment given by the Furlong Concert company, on Saturday evening. The club realized the neat sum of $63.40. A letter from the local organization of Elks, asking for ushers for the play to be given on Thursday evening, May 5, was also read. Following an informal hour of games and visiting lunch was served by Misses Ida Tandberg and Effie Hamry. Miss Marie Nelson, president, who has been absent for a period of two months, and whose place has been filled by Miss Ida Tandberg, is expected to return to this city from Wisconsin the latter part of this week.

Plan, Then Push.

Seniors, are you planning for what you are going to do next year? Do you intend to continue the pursuit of knowledge and further development? Are you going to seek employment or have you only a faint idea yet as to how you will be occupied after your high school course is completed?

As has been said again and again and stated in these columns before, a person must always have a plan to follow in order to be successful. There are of course exceptions to this rule, but they are few and little to take note of. This idea applies especially to those who are about to be graduated this year, in fact it applies to everyone.

The Senior should have somewhat of a plan by which he can direct his course as he goes into life. Undoubtedly it may often be changed to some extent, but the main outlines will still remain distinct and in view. The youth usually is filled and overflowing with spirit and enthusiasm, but as Dr. Krebs said, "Push without plan results in fussing." The spirit of youth may carry a person a considerable distance, nevertheless without some outline to go by, much energy will obviously be wasted on things which add nothing to success.

The student who intends to continue his study at some higher institution, college or university, should analyse himself, discover what he would be best fitted for and could best adapt himself to, and in what field his greatest interest lies. Oftentimes this may seem exceedingly difficult, but the efforts spent in laying out ones course are well rewarded. "Well begun is half done." A good plan may, however, be substituted for beginning, for they are practically identical. Many have followed the "hit or miss" plan and have become discouraged, much of their efforts having been futile. However we can profit by their mistakes, in fact the largest failures can teach us the biggest lessons. We can learn how to avoid the pitfalls and this aids in taking our course.

If you are going to another school next year, arrange as much as possible; know the requirements and provide for them. If you go into work of some kind, probably as an employe, you should have your future in view in taking up that work. Do not go into it blindfolded. There are many who have found, often too late, that they were on the wrong shelf. Why not try to place yourself rightly as early as possible?

To you who have no objective or plans, as to your immediate future at least, it may only be added that the sooner you make them, the more secure your position later on in life will prove to be.

Beginning with next issue, the "Progress" will be edited by the Freshmen, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes respectively for the coming four weeks. The Senior issue will conclude the publication of our high school paper for the '20 and '21 season.

This plan of putting the editing of the school paper in the hands of the various classes, has been followed by several high schools throughout the state and has proved highly successful. It has been found to be a wonderful incentive to class spirit and enthusiasm. It gives every class ample opportunity to show its true interests, not in "hot air," but in black type. It affords them a chance to display their sincere efforts and originality in putting their ideas, news and witticisms in print. Without a doubt there will be much keen competition, and especially do we expect some real clever "stuff" when the Freshmen are given the editorship.

The fate of the next four issues lies in the—ink. Let us see you fling it! What about it Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors, is your issue going to be the best?

Senior play coming. Watch for date.

A Worthy Object.

Are you going to help make your high school of Thief River Falls be one of the very best, or are you going to make it be or keep it at a second rate school? All rests on your shoulders and all of the power is in your hands. Everything can be accomplished and everything lost by your efforts and your aid in making the "Better Lincoln High" movement a success.

The "Better Lincoln High" movement is not one that tends to dictate or preach to you, but one that tends to make you think and get into action by doing the things that you think and know are right and by doing the things that will make your school days stand out as a time when your life was at its best and a time when you were shaped for bigger and better things.

Take for instance the old proverb, "Mighty Oaks From Little Acorns Grow." This proverb can be turned around and applied to our everyday habits. These habits as they are today may be small and insignificant but after continual practice, day in and day out, they will gradually become larger and be a menace and hinderance to a success, providing they are bad. On the other hand if they be good habits they will undoubtedly tend to promote and further our success.

That in reality is what the "Better Lincoln High" movement is trying to do. To change our small bad habits into good habits, thus making better men and women for the coming governing generation, for the community, for the state and for the nation. So let us all get behind this movement and see if we can't better ourselves, our school, our community and our nation.

FACULTY MEMBERS EXPLAIN BETTER SCHOOL MOVEMENT

A special chapel was called last Tuesday at which a series of talks by members of the faculty were delivered all bearing on the idea of the already launched "Better Lincoln High School Movement."

The first speaker on the program was Supt. Ziegelr, who developed the idea that students should do everything which might promote their development and try to avert things which might be harmful. A student should not be like a sparrow who has got into a house and in trying to get out again exhausts itself by futile efforts in flying against the window pane. He explained that the main purpose of the movement is to help the students to grasp the spirit and idea of education, namely to develop the individual to make the best use of himself. He also stated that a moderation and among the boys alleged to the habit of smoking, and more discretion among the girls in the use of cosmetics. It may be of interest in connection with this to observe that the girls of West High, Minneapolis have cooperated in the abandonment of cosmetics as have not been used properly.

An inspiring address was delivered by Mr. Tripp, the central theme of which was the planning and building up of an individual's life. There was various conception in regard to life. Some have the happy-go-attitude and think its only something we must necessarily go through. To others it appears like a bubble, at least many are very proficient at blowing them. He said that he preferred to look upon life as a building. In order that a structure may be well built up it must be carefully planned, the foundation must be made firm, and the rest of the building accordingly. This illustration can be directly applied to high school students. We should analyze and form our plans, and lay a firm foundation during our youth because the rest of our life depends to a very large degree upon it. Education should enable a person to make wiser plans and consequently construct that on which his future depends in such a way that it will stand, not wabbling from side to side but stand firmly. It must be realized that this work can be accomplished most successfully by a united student body. Individual action will by no means bring the results which naturally follow the influence of the proper school spirit. The attitude taken by the group or body towards anything practically determines its existence. If the proper attitude and spirit exists few or none of the undesirable things would continue. He concluded by saying "Plan and lay the foundation for a Skyscrapper."

Another phase of the movement was discussed by Miss Dix, namely the use of slang. There are two types of slang; that which has become proper through proper usage, and the vulgar and offensive slang which may be compared to popular music of a day that has no lasting value. Slang phrases have no fixed meaning, and cheapens the user because it proves to be uncultural.

We are in school to learn to express ourselves, then why not use expressions that will promote our development. "Guard your tongue and make this a better Lincoln High School."

Mr. Tommeraasen made a thorough explanation of what this new idea really is. It isn't an increase in enrollment or a larger school building but better individuals. In nearly every field of life here is a co-operative spirit which brings about greater efficiency and success. This can be applied to the greatest advantage in promoting ideals. Are the students of our school supporting and co-operating in carrying through school enterprises and activities?

This talk was followed by Miss Elliot who brought out the thought of efficiency in relation to school work. It is absolutely essential for real success. Everything that is worth while is obtained only through exertion of one's efforts. Some students appear to be in a class merely because they have to; they do not realize that they are only fooling themselves. It is important that we acquire efficiency while we are here in school.

Miss Iverson impressed very strongly upon us the charms of womanhood and manhood. Of womanhood they are sweetness and simplicity. A girl who dresses her hair in the simplest way, considers herself above artificiality, shuns gossip or cheating and always has a fixed and high ideal toward which she is constantly striving, and is not afraid to let her friends know of that aim. The young man should have the charm of straightforwardness and gentlemanliness; should not consider himself low enough to stoop to anything unclean in words or action and be able to say no to any temptation. He must have high principles and be willing to stand up for them regardless of opposition. This type of boys and girls in our high school is the most highly desirable and warrant the success of the movement.

Mr. Melby showed how true school spirit is a training for later life because your school ultimately becomes your notion and your notion your surrounding life. Your school spirit becomes your patriotism. A person who is efficient and backs up things in school, will most naturally take with him those principles and apply them through life. We have the capacity of doing things if we only act together.

The program was concluded with a speech by Mr. Pierce. He said that these ideals are not forced upon the students. "We want you students to see and understand and finally do the right thing. He believes that most human individuals are willing to do right if they see it. The proper school spirit may not have prevailed during the past, but nevertheless, the results have been satisfactory to a large degree.

The prospects for next year's classes are very favorable, as they have much excellent material, if they only get behind and push together. He also suggested that about three plays be staged during the year; one by the Seniors, another by the Juniors, and a third possibly by all the classes combined.

The speeches met with the hearty approval of the student body, and marked steps forward will eventually be seen within its ranks.

Juniors Sell Popcorn.

Two hundred-ninety loyal students of Lincoln high school made a rush for the main hall last Friday when two bells dismissed classes for the day and a dozen Junior girls were kept busy for half an hour handing out home-made popcorn balls.

This is the second of these sales which have been conducted by the Juniors both of which were decidedly successful. The net proceeds of the sale were about fifteen dollars, which will be added to the class treasury.

There was a general rush to the main hall Tuesday after school, when the Freshmen held a candy sale. In about fifteen minutes everything was sold and the Freshmen cleared $6.25 which will be added to their treasury for a party which they will have in the near future.

Honor Roll.

The following are the honor roll students for the month of March:

Seniors—Dreng Bjornaraa, Amy Sorlom, Chester Dols, Olga Svensgaard, Anna Hencik, Doris Richter, Adolph Sundrud.

Juniors—Boletta Sanden, Gladys Maland, Grace Craik, Ingaborg Barstad, Thora Moe, Johanna Wedal, Mildred Peterson.

Sophomores — Lorrayne Crandall, Borghild Wallen, Lucille Curtis, Lydia Dahlen, Ole Helle.

Freshmen—Marie Paulson, Alice Gobler, Ruby Conklin, Albert Stengelson, Margaret Melgaard, Gladys Russell, Ella Johnson, Thordis Svensgaard.

Tommeraasen Entertains.

Last Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. Tommeraasen entertained the girls' basketball team, at a theatre party. The group was first taken to the theatre where all enjoyed a very good feature. Later they adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tommeraasen where an enjoyable evening was spent. Card playing formed the chief amusement of the evening.

A delicious lunch was served at eleven o'clock, after which the party broke up. The guests were Misses Dix, Eileen Herron, Viola Lund, Nora Lindquist, Pearl Shetler, Esther Hulrath and Lucille McGinnity.

Orchestra Makes Debut.

The high school orchestra, which was organized by H. S. Snyder about a month ago, made its initial appearance before the high school assembly April 22.

The orchestra is composed of seven pieces, two violins, two cornets, two saxaphones and one clarinet. Altho it was the first public recital for several of them, they rendered a musical program which was heartily enjoyed by the audience. The great enthusiasm displayed by the student body when the character of the program was announced makes it positive that the new orchestra will have a successful season, at least for the remainder of this year. As practically all of the members are under-classmen, we hope the orchestra will be continued and enlarged next year.

Central Notes.

The eighth grade are enjoying a new plan in spelling which was suggested by Supt. Zeigler.

The class is numbered and divided into groups with a captain over each group. The words are written as usual then the pupils pass to their respective groups, where they exchange papers.

The captain pronounces the words which the members spell orally and papers are corrected.

Senior play coming. Watch for date.

Those missing one word pass to the front of their group and then pass to the foot of it; those missing two words step to the front of their group and pass to the foot of it and so on. The captains then pass to the foot of the lowest group. The pupils remember and are ready for the next day's lesson.

A record is kept of the head marks and poor captains.

Friday afternoon at one-thirty, Mr. Tommeraasen gave a good health talk to the students of the seventh and eighth grades.

Students of the seventh and eighth grades have been very busy for the past week organizing Garden clubs. Any student may join the club. The purpose of the club is to have better gardens. A prize of five dollars will be given for the best garden of any of the club members. Officers of the club are as follows:

Willis Nason, president; Lloyd Bennes, vice president; Vern Erickson, treasurer and secretary.

Normal Department.

Miss Ober, parading about with her flowers attracted the attention of a particular busy teacher who was anxiously trying to get her record book up to standard, when after gazing a moment at Miss Ober, wrote on the next line: "Continued drill of flowers."

Miss Ober: "Why is the political campaign of Harrison called "The Log Cabin; Hard Cider Campaign?"

Ruth: "Because the people said that Harrison would be more at home in a log cabin drinking hard cider and skinning coons, than living in the White House." We wondered what kind of coons Ruth meant.

While teaching second grade reading, Mary asked: "What does a footman do?" Someone replied: "He drives the horses." Thinking to catch the attention of children the teacher continued: "Well then, what does a coachman do?" Evon waved her hand wildly: "I know," she said. "He holds the whip."

Miss Smith, who was going to tell a story to a primary group said to them: "Now I want you all to listen to this story and then you can tell it to your mothers when you go home."

Little Johnny raising his hand: "Oh, Miss Smith, you'll have to write it down on paper for me or else my mama won't listen to me, because she doesn't believe a word I say."

Performing an Imperative Service

THE total number of motor cars registered in the United States for the year 1920 records a gain of 17.16% over 1919. There is an automobile for every 12 persons throughout the country.

In the representative states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the percentage of gain is 23.43%. In South Dakota there is an automotive vehicle for every 5.24 persons in the state.

The increases over 1919 in the states served by this Company are:

States	1919	1920	Percentage of Increase
So. Dakota	104,625	122,040	16.64
Iowa	363,000	442,200	21.81
Minnesota	259,743	323,572	24.57
Missouri	229,577	295,817	28.85
Kansas	228,601	265,385	16.09
No. Dakota	32,885	90,840	9.59
Michigan	296,378	412,275	39.10
Wisconsin	236,974	303,246	27.96
Indiana	277,255	332,207	19.82
Illinois	478,438	569,127	18,97
	2,557,476	3,156,709

Sixty percent of the new cars sold in the ten states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) during 1920 were bought by farmers. These figures indicate one reason why the demand for petroleum products was so insistent in this territory. The farmer had to conserve his time and the automobile was the only solution for this problem.

Another reason was the increase of automotive machinery on the farm, for these machines were the deciding factor which insured the phenomenal crops harvested during 1920.

The efficiency of this motor driven equipment was due in a large measure to the efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) system of distribution, which assured the farmer that his needs would be supplied and his time conserved.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an essential economic factor in the national life. It contributes a definite quota of imperative service to society: It is especially organized to render this service. It operates in an environment of the most intense competition; it survives because it is efficient.

CREAM PRODUCTION SHOWING INCREASE

Cream receipts at the Thief River Co-operative creamery during the month of March approximated those of a year ago, according to Secretary P. Engelstad's report submitted recently. Disbursements to patrons are well below those of last year owing to the drop in prices for butter and butterfat. The average price paid for sour cream during March was 47 cents; for sweet cream, 50 cents. Both show a drop from February prices of 4 cents. Cream production for April is showing an increase. Patrons of the creamery whose checks for March totalled $50 or over are as follows:

Jens Kirk, $251.43; P. Engelstad, $243.38; Hans Anton, $216.65; Waldie Christenson, $176.63; Fred Copp, $149.21; Henry Coop, $147.22; R. M. Johnson, $133.44; E. Erdman, $138.20; C. Liden, $120.74; S. A man can get a heap more satisfaction from a small chew of this class of tobacco, than he ever could get from a big chew of the old kind.

He finds it costs less, too. The good tobacco taste lasts so much longer he doesn't need to have a fresh chew nearly as often.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is in the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health—Granny Chamberlain

Prosperity Waits on The Hammer and Saw

New Construction Will Start Business Revival

The time is ripe for some great leader in industry to step into the market and start the ball rolling. Construction can do it, perhaps better than any other line.

Because in the allied building trades costs have been reduced on raw material and labor approximately one-third.

The average frame dwelling, for instance, that cost $5,000 to build a year ago can be put up now for between $3,500 and $4,000. This ratio will hold true in practically all kinds of building construction.

A building revival will prove just the stimulus needed to bring back normal conditions of production, to make the full pay envelope, to increase patronage for our merchants, to give our people the steadfast faith in our country and its institutions that honest work, honest endeavor and honest investment predicate as our rightful heritage as citizens of this great country.

Then why delay? There is a crying need for construction of all kinds. High rents are the rule now because we need, right here in Thief River Falls, at least 150 new homes in order that our people may be housed comfortably, healthfully and at a rental rate which will enable them to spend more of their money for the necessities and luxuries of life that is the due of our splendid class of artisans, salaried people and less skilled workers.

Let's start this work now, while costs are at the minimum, when it can be made the great lever that will pry all industry out of its lethargy and start it on the upward grade toward general prosperity.

KOLN GOLDSMITH WRESTLE TO A TIE

Each the Victor in One Fall and 20 Minutes is Spent Trying For the Third.

Charlie Goldsmith of Crystal, N. D., and Henry Kolln of Greenbush wrestled to a draw at the Lyceum theatre on Friday night in the neatest sport event seen here in a long time. Kolln took the first down with a combination of holds after one hour and 12 minutes of hard work on the part of both grapplers. Goldsmith took the second with a hammerlock in five minutes and 50 seconds. After 20 minutes, during which the wrestlers were warned three times to get down on the mat, Referee Munden called the third set-to a draw. The two principals had remained on their feet in spite of the repeated warnings, Goldsmith, with 20 pounds weight to his advantage, treating his opponent to considerable slamming about the ring.

Soo Line Improves Street, Applying Coat of Cinders

Atlantic avenue between Third and Eighth streets is now the one thoroughfare in the down-town section of the city which is not affected in the least by passing showers or cloudbursts, the Soo line, whose freight station abutts the avenue at Seventh street, having contributed 20 carloads of cinders to completely surface the five blocks of road in question. The object of the railway company was to furnish a suitable approach to the terminal for heavily loaded vehicles. The roadway has been surfaced to a depth of several inches and made wide enough to accommodate two lines of traffic without difficulty. Six years ago this same five blocks of street was surfaced with 95 carloads of gravel furnished by the Soo at a large expense to the company. The city in both cases has furnished the labor necessary to putting the thoroughfare in condition.

ROSEWOOD

Melvin Olson.

Melvin O. Olson, aged 21, of Thief River Falls, who died at the Tri-county sanitorium last Wednesday from pulmonary tuberculosis, was buried in the Rindal cemetery here last Saturday with Rev. Geo. A few years ago, he moved with his mother, to Thief River Falls, which has since been his home. His brother, Olof Olson, is at present employed at the John Ranum farm south of town, others of the family residing in Pennington county. A large number of friends and relatives from this community and Thief River Falls attended the burial ceremony.

Clean-up Day at Rosebank School.

The teachers and pupils of Rosebank took an extra half day off from school work last Thursday to clean up the playgrounds and did an excellent job. All the rubbish, banking and dry leaves were raked together and burned, the wood was piled into the shed and all the play equipment straightened up. The idea is praiseworthy and if other schools would follow the example fewer dingy school grounds would disgrace the highway.

THE real, corking goodness of a loaf of Bread was one of the big lessons of the war.

You have to be cold and wet and hungry to learn it, but once learned, it's never forgotten.

Watch the sparkle in the ex-sailor's eyes as he sees the fragrant, warm loaves come from the oven—

Bread, the food of foods, for health, for enjoyment, for economy. Old and young should eat it freely.

SCHOOL DUTIES END FOR LARGE CLASS ON JUNE 3

Seventy-Eight Students to Graduate This Year, School's Next Largest Number.

Boys Outnumber Girls More Than Two to One, the Percentage Being Unusual.

Rev. T. E. Sweger to Deliver Baccalaureate Address on Evening of May 29.

"To Be Rather Than Seem to Be," is the motto of 78 young men and women who comprise the Lincoln high school class of '21 which will be graduated on Friday, June 3. This is the second largest class in the history of the school, the largest being the Class of '20, which numbered 86 students.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. T. E. Sweger of the Trinity Lutheran church at the city auditorium on Sunday night, May 29. Rev. M. J. Noesen of St. Bernard's Catholic church will have charge of the services. Commencement exercises will be held at the auditorium on the night of June 3. A prominent speaker from the University of North Dakota staff is being secured to deliver the address of the occasion.

Of the number who will graduate, 55 are girls and 23 boys. Twenty-five of the girls are enrolled in the normal training department, having taken three years work in the general high school courses. Twenty-eight members of the class are non-residents of district No. 18.

The Class officers are: Dreng Bjornaraa, president; Mary Vance, vice president; Clayton Steenerson, treasurer, and Ethel Conklin, secretary.

Zeh, Smithers, Sundahl, McDaniel, Bjornaraa, Penney, Lind and Fossum were members of this year's football team. Fossum, McDaniel, Larson, Sundahl and Olson starred with the 1920-21 basket ball quint. Eileen Herron and Viola Lund played with the girls' basket ball five.

Included in the class are Edward Fiterman, Vernon Copp and Esther Soards, who made up the debating team which, after several spirited debates, met defeat at the hands of the Crookston high team, which later was awarded the state high school championship. Fiterman was awarded the sub-district and district championships in oratory, only later to be eliminated in the state oratorical contest which took place in Minneapolis. Myrtle Krohn won second place in the district declamatory contest.

Jordan Penney and Hugh McDaniel served with the U. S. forces during the world war. McDaniel enlisted with the first Aero squadron on Nov. 6, 1918, and was discharged Dec. 25 from his station at Mineola, Long Island, N. Y. Penney enlisted May 26, 1918, and was discharged July 8, 1919, after having served overseas with the 421st supply train.

The senior class originally numbered 80 students. Ellen Nelson of St. Hilaire, who during the past school year has been enrolled in the normal training department, is at present ill at the Physicians hospital here and will be unable to graduate with her classmates. The young lady has made a commendable struggle to secure an education which would fit her as a school teacher. In addition to making her own way through school she has been obliged to practically support her mother, which she did by borrowing funds from a St. Hilaire bank, whose officials recognized the worthiness of her object. While she will not be graduated on June 3, it is hoped that she will be able to obtain her teacher's certificate by attending summer school. Stella Williams was lost to the class when she became the wife of Ray Johnson of this city.

Those enrolled in the Class of '21 at present are: Corine Adsero, Elline Anenson, Burton Aarnes, Florence Burns, Lucille Bleska, Julia Brudvick, Mildred Bottelson, Dreng Bjornaraa, Vernon Copp, Lester Coyle, Ethel Conklin, Alice E. Causin, Marguerite DeCremer, Chester Dols, Lillian Eide, Gladys Ellestad, Clara R. Engen, Allen Fossum, Edward Fiterman, Bertha Gunderson, Hulda M. Gustafson, Vivian Gabrielson, Lillian Hinelk, Esther Hadrath, Mildred Hauglid, Lynn Halvorson, Clarissa Hornseth, Eileen Herron, Frances Holmgren, Anna Hincik, Ruth Hadrath, Clarence Knutson, Dottie Krafthefer, Myrtle Krohn, Olga Koglin, Goldie Kellberg, Elmer Larson, Bennie Lind, Anne Leimers, Clare Lund, Viola Lund, Esther Loff, Cecelia Lubinski, Georgia Muzzy, Myrtle Mellum, Hugh McDaniel, Arthur Myra, Betsy Ness, Mae Olson, Henry Olson, Rose Oski, Valeria Parenteau, Jordan Penney, Helen Quirk, Mabel Robinson, Doris Richter, Marshall Race, Evelyn Saugen, Adolph Sundrud, Clayton Steenerson, Olga Swendsgaard, Esther Soards, Mable Swanson, Stella Stenvik, Louis Struble, Ida Shields, Amy Sorlon, Bernard Sundahl, Harold Smithers, Florence Stageberg, Beatrice Sandum, Gladys Smith, Ruth Sathre, Stella Thompson, Mary Vance, Mary Wing, Ernest Zeh and Olive Olson.

Teachers' League to Meet For Committee Reports

A meeting of all rural school teachers in Pennington county and graduates of the normal training department of the city schools will be held at the Washington school here on the afternoon of Saturday, May 14. At this time all sectional chairmen of the Teachers' Progressive league will submit their reports regarding teachers' reading circle work and all community activities. It is also planned to elect a committee to meet with the school officers here on June 4 for the purpose of determining what the teachers' salary schedule will be for the coming school year.

A reception will be tendered visiting teachers at the Washington school the same evening at 8 o'clock.

WILL MEET TO ARRANGE MEMORIAL OBSERVANCE

Mayor John Bratrud has called a meeting of committees from the civic and fraternal organizations of the city for Friday night when further plans for the observance of Memorial Day will be discussed. Committees from the Girl Scout and Boy Scout troops are particularly requested to be present. The meeting will be held at the Commercial club rooms promptly at 8 o'clock p. m.

FAMOUS BARITONE WILL APPEAR WITH CHORAL SOCIETY

Harry Phillips of Minneapolis to Sing Solo Parts in Presentation of "Holy City."

Gaul's "Holy City," an oratorio in two parts, will be presented at the city auditorium on Tuesday night, May 10, by the Thief River Falls Choral society under the direction of Miss Maude L. Johnson, music instructor in the city schools. Harry Phillips, Minneapolis baritone, assisted by city talent, will sing the solo parts. Mr. Phillips will also sing several numbers during the interim between parts one and two of the cantata. Miss Laura Forde, who assisted so ably in the choral society's first concert here on March 1, will again accompany the many numbers on the piano.

Miss Johnson has announced that the opening piano number of the oratorio will start promptly at 8 o'clock, in order that Mr. Phillips may leave on the south-bound Soo train the same evening. No one will be admitted to seats during numbers. All seats will sell at 50 cents, no reservations being made.

The treatment of "The Holy City" is almost entirely reflective, the more dramatic parts of the book from which many of the numbers are taken, viz: "The Vision of St. John," having already been treated in so masterly a manner by the great German composer, Louis Spohr, in his oratorio, "The Last Judgment."

The first part of "The Holy City" was suggested by the passages of scripture, "Here we have no continuing city," "Thy kingdom come," and sets forth the desire for a higher life, as expressed in the words, "My soul is athirst for God," which desire is followed by other passages expressive of the perfection of the higher life, such as "Eye hath not seen."

The second part was suggested by the words, "I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away," thus realizing the desire and promises contained in the first part.

With the exception of two hymns, a verse from Milton, and three verses from the Te Deum, the words are entirely scriptural.

MRS. PEARSON GETS 5-YEAR SENTENCE IN REFORMATORY

Former Thief River Falls Girl Will be Taken to Reformatory at Shakopee Today.

Mrs. Martha Pearson, found guilty of manslaughter in the second degree by a Polk county jury, at the last winter term of court, was sentenced to the state reformatory for women at Shakopee, by Judge William Watts in district court late Wednesday forenoon. Mrs. Pearson, together with her husband, Arthur Pearson, were charged with the murder of an infant child at a Crookston hotel. Arthur Pearson will be tried at the June term of court, it is believed.

Mrs. Pearson was present at court when sentence was pronounced. Motion was made by County Attorney James E. Montague that sentence be imposed, and following pleas of Attorney F. A. Grady and W. E. Rowe, on behalf of the defendent, sentence was pronounced.

The sentenced woman will be in charge of her mother, Mrs. Furstnau, of Thief River Falls, until tomorrow. She will not be permitted to leave Crookston.

The Pearson trial, which lasted over a week, created considerable interest. Testimony of the state was to the effect that an infant child was born to Mrs. Pearson, and that it was placed on the roof of a hotel where it was found two days following, in a frozen condition. The defense endeavored to prove Mrs. Pearson temporarily insane at the time the deed was committed.

Mrs. Pearson was formerly a resident of Thief River Falls, having resided here with her parents prior to her marriage to Arthur Pearson.

CENSUS FIGURES FOR STATE ARE OUT IN DETAIL

Show That Minnesota's Population Increased 311,417 During the Past Ten Years.

Pennington County Has 12,102 Residents and City of Thief River Falls 4,685.

Increase in Decade is $2,726 For County and 971 For City. A Good Showing.

The complete report for Minnesota giving the population figures for every city and village has just been issued. It shows the total population of the state to be 2,387,125, an increase of 311,417 or 15.0 per cent in ten years. The increase for the entire country during the same period was 14.9 per cent.

Of the 86 counties in the state, 77 showed increases and nine showed decreases. These last were: Houston, Fillmore, Wabasha, Goodhue, LeSueur, Scott, Carver, Washington and Traverse. The greatest increase is noted in Mahnomen and Koochiching counties, these being the only two showing a gain of from 60 to 100 per cent. Lake, Hubbard and Polk counties showed increases of less than 5 per cent. Pennington county is in the class showing increases of from 25 to 50 per cent, this being next to the highest classification in the comparative list. The county is thus in the same class as Beltrami, St. Louis, Itasca, Cass, Crow Wing, Aitkin, Mille Lacs, Pine, Kanabec, Anoka and Pipestone. Clearwater, Marshall and Roseau are among those showing increases of 15 to 25 per cent.

Following is a comparison of the population as given by the 1920 census with that taken ten years ago for cities and villages in the northwestern section of Minnesota:

	1920	1910
Ada	1411	1432
Argyle	956	744
Badger	394	395
Baudette	960	897
Bemidji	7086	5099
Clearbrook	310
Crookston	6825	7559
Detroit	3426	2807
E. Grand Forks	2490	2533
Erskine	457	324
Fergus Falls	7581	6887
Goodridge	231
Greenbush	310	274
Grygla	155

Holt	232
Karlstad	286	138
Lancaster	354	204
Mahnomen	1076	796
Middle River	324	149
Newfolden	246
Oklee	364
Oslo	365	344
Plummer	252	139
Red Lake Falls	1549	1757
Roseau	1012	644

Spooner	571	668
Stephen	581	618
Thief River Falls	4685	3714
Warren	1772	1613
Warroad	1211	927

In the northwestern portion particularly the rural population greatly outnumbers the urban. In the census report all persons living in communities of less than 2500 are classed as "rural," the division being made as follows for the only counties in this section in which are located cities of sufficient size to escape the "rural" designation:

	Urban	Rural
Beltrami	7,086	19,993
Clay	5,720	16,060
Ottertail	7,581	43,237
Pennington	4,685	7,406
Polk	6,825	30,265

Pennington county had 12,102 inhabitants at the time the federal census enumerators submitted their reports for the last census. Ten years ago the population numbered 9,387, an increase of 2,726. During the same period the city of Thief River Falls increased in size by 971 persons, the total being now given at 4,685 as compared with 3,734 in 1910.

CLEANUP CAMPAIGN ON IN FULL FORCE

Army of Shovel, Rake and Brush Wielders Achieving Great Transformation.

The city is conducting a spring house-cleaning campaign and making improvements in various quarters during the present week.

The wagon bridge across the Red Lake river on Bridge street is being given a coat of red paint, which will be covered later by one of green.

In every section of the city streets are being graded and dragged and gutters thoroughly cleaned of the winter's accumulation of earth and leaves.

All settings of scenery at the city auditorium have been repainted and completely renovated. The city council on Tuesday night passed a resolution whereby a levy of $10 per night is authorized for all companies making use of scenery, it having been discovered that frequent renovation is required to keep the settings presentable.

The Woman's club will again undertake the making of flower gardens in the small plot on the south side of the auditorium. Seeds are already in the ground and shrubs and vines being cared for.

The city park board is making extensive improvements on the East side block which several years ago was secured for park purposes. Elm trees are being planted along the four sides. Two tennis courts are being installed, a baseball diamond being layed out and swings and other play-ground equipment being arranged for. When present plans have been fully carried out, the common will be the mecca of children from all over the city, the playground filling a long-felt want.

The grounds about the five schools of the city have been put in very presentable shape. Under the supervision of Agricultural Instructor F. A. Tripp, trees have been pruned and in several instances small flower beds constructed and planted.

The limited grounds surrounding the county court house have been intensely landscaped by Deputy Sheriff Paul Midderigh and add much to the appearance of the neighborhood.

Business and residence properties throughout the city are being generally treated to paint, cleaning-up and beautifying processes in a most commendable manner.

PASSENGER MOTOR LINE IN SERVICE TO SOUTH POINTS

Enterprising Owners Also Consider Extending Service Toward North to Warroad.

Starting today, a passenger bus line was placed in operation between Thief River Falls and Crookston by A. Wald and G. Hold of Bemidji. The 12-passenger White bus, similar to those used with such success on the Minnesota iron range, the twin cities and in many other sections of the state, will leave the Hotel Evelyn here each morning and will return during the afternoon. Stops to pick up passengers will be made at any point along the route, which is via St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls and Wylie to Crookston. The proprietors of the line made the first trip over the route on Wednesday for the purpose of arranging a time schedule, which has not yet been announced.

The bus is commodious and comfortable and is equipped to carry light baggage. The trip from here to Crookston will require between three and four hours time, it being planned to carry passengers with comfort rather than with unusual speed, Mr. Wald stated while here on Wednesday. Future plans call for the placing of a second bus in operation over the same route, to leave Crookston in the forenoon and return to that point during the afternoon. A bus line between here and Warroad is also being considered by the Bemidji men.

CARS LEAVE TRACK; MANY ARE INJURED

Bad Smashup Occurs When Soo Flyer Hits Defective Rail Near Rockford Sunday.

A serious wreck occurred on the Soo Line Sunday night when three cars of the northbound Winnipeg Flyer were derailed and rolled down an embankment near Rockford, Minn., about thirty-eight miles north of Minneapolis. Ten persons were badly hurt and approximately 50 others slightly injured. A defective rail has been given as the cause of the wreck.

The flyer, traveling at a speed of forty miles an hour, was rounding a curve a short distance from Rockford when the accident took place, the last two Pullmans and the observation car leaving the rails and rolling down the embankment, turning over twice in their course. Passengers were hurled about the cars and were injured and crushed between the seats, many being cut by flying glass. That many persons were not killed is considered miraculous by officials of the Soo Line.

First aid was administered to the injured by farmers of the vicinity and doctors called from neighboring towns. As soon as word of the wreck reached the cities a relief train carrying physicians and nurses was sent out and the injured were returned to Minneapolis where they were immediately placed in hospitals. Physicians have predicted that none of the injuries will prove fatal.

The Thief River Falls sleeper was among those derailed but at the time of the wreck no local people were on any of the three cars, all being forward in the dining car. Many more would probably have been injured but for the fact that the accident took place during the dinner hour, road officials state.

The remainder of the Flyer proceeded on its way to Winnipeg, arriving at Thief River Falls about six o'clock Monday morning, when first word of the wreck was received here.

START WORKING ON BIG PROJECT SOON

Attorney For Red Lake Drainage Commission Sees Nothing Now to Cause Delay.

"Now, that the necessary $25,000 has been appropriated by the state legislature for the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district survey and since the federal bill was enacted into law there is nothing in the way of starting work on the drainage projects," said Chas. E. Boughton, Sr., attorney for the district, last week.

"Plans for the Clearwater river project have been virtually completed and work will start this summer under the supervision of Engineer Geo. Walker of Thief River Falls. The work will consist mainly of straightening the river by cutting through the bends. Hundreds of acres of land will be reclaimed by the work and if the farmers along the river show the proper spirit of co-operation with the drainage board the benefits will be large.

"The survey on the Red Lake river project has not yet been finished and when the plans are completed they must first be approved by the Indian department and the War department at Washington before work can be started. One result of the establishment of the drainage district and the starting of the work will be the development of water power along the Red river, for their owners are to be taxed for them whether they are developed or not, so it is up to the owners to get their money back by developing the properties."

CHORAL SOCIETY SOLOIST

Harry Phillips, Minneapolis baritone, who will appear at the auditorium here on Tuesday night as soloist for the Choral society's presentation of Gaul's "Holy City." He is considered one of the foremost vocal artists of the Northwest.

TRACTOR FACTORY IS POSSIBILITY FOR THIEF RIVER FALLS

Owners Now in Consultation With Local Business Men Regarding the Matter.

O. L. Gilliland and C. A. Jahicke of Minneapolis, owners of the Multpile Foot Rail Tractor Patents are in Thief River Falls taking steps to establish a plant here for the manufacture of a general utility tractor of the crawler type. Mr. Gilliland is the inventor of the tractor and a grain shock loader which was demonstrated at the Pennington county fair here last year. He holds patent right on the two inventions in both the United States and Canada.

The Minneapolis men were in consultation with the industrial committee of the Commercial club on Wednesday night and were scheduled to appear before the club at the weekly noonday luncheon today. It is their aim to either take over a Thief River Falls plant or to secure a building location and erect a suitable plant in order to enter into manufacturing at an early date. Mr. Janicke this morning stated that the proposition is a big one and would result in bringing many skilled employees to the city.

TYPHOID OUTBREAK AROUND ROSEWOOD

One Death and Fifteen Other Cases Bring Visit From State Health Official.

A typhoid fever epidemic has been spreading rapidly through an area seven or eight miles in extent about the little village of Rosewood nine miles northwest of here during the past ten days. Thief River Falls physicians report a total of over 15 cases, many of which are considered extremely critical. But one death from the disease, that of George Snyder, a New Solem township farmer, has so far been reported. The Rosewood correspondent for The Times reports that all cases are confined to the male sex of middle age.

Dr. J. Gahlen of Minneapolis, a member of the Minnesota Health department, in company with city physicians, has been conducting investigations in the afflicted district during the past week and it is thought that the typhoid carrier has been discovered. Vaccination is being carried on to a large extent, it being urged by medical authorities as a positive and successful means of eradicating the disease.

Sons of Norway Will Sell Building at Public Auction

As will be seen by a display advertisement in another section of The Times this week, the Sons of Norway will hold an auction sale of the building situated on lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 of Meehans addition, recently acquired by the building corporation of the order as a building site. The sale will take place on Thursday, May 12, beginning at 1 o'clock sharp. C. M. Evenson will function as auctioneer and it is expected that there will be a good crowd of bidders present. The successful bidder will be given 60 days in which to remove the structure.

CHAIRMAN OF DRAINAGE BOARD EXPLAINS PRESENT STATUS AND FUTURE PROSPECTS OF PROJECT

Believes Members of Thief River Falls Commercial Club Were Not Fully Informed as to Exact Situation When Investigation of Commissioners' Actions Was Suggested.

Mayor John Bratrud and Attorneys E. M. Stanton and H. O. Chommie have been appointed a Commercial club committee to inquire into the reasons for an alleged delay in carrying out the Red Lake basin flood project as authorized by congress during January and February of this year. The appointment was made on Thursday following an hour's discussion of the subject at the weekly luncheon of the Commercial club.

Since that time C. G. Selvig of Crookston, president of the drainage board of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district, has issued a statement to The Times in which he summarizes the accomplishments of the drainage board as follows:

Perfected an organized drainage district.

Secured the preliminary fund authorized by law.

Red Lake and Clearwater rivers petitions and bonds have been filed.

Almost completed both the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers surveys, until viewers can soon begin work.

Secured funds advanced by banks at 6 per cent and continued engineering work thereon.

Steenerson bill passed February 21, 1921.

Defended law under which district is organized from being practically killed.

Secured $25,000 state appropriation to complete final plans for both rivers.

The next step will a conference with the Indian Bureau and War departments to determine the level of Red Lake.

Final plans will be rushed to completion.

One of the next steps will be court hearing on the projects.

Following is Mr. Selvig's statement of Saturday printed in full:

"My attention has been called to an article in a newspaper referring to a recent meeting of the Thief River Falls Commercial club at which the Red Lake drainage project was discussed. Considerable apprehension is manifested by the writer of the article that somehow, somewhere, something is being neglected by the members of that board causing unwarranted delay with reference to drainage of Red Lake river. The spirit of the article is manifestly unfriendly to the drainage board. Any member of the board, its engineer or attorney, would have gladly answered any inquiries. In addition it may be said that statements of the progress of the work being made have appeared in the press from time to time. However, an attempt will be made to go more into detail in this statement.

"It was necessary of course, after the district was established for the judges to name the board members and later for the members appointed to organize the board. Next, steps had to be taken to secure a fund for expenses, including surveys. This required a notice of hearing to be printed in the newspapers, a hearing before Judge Grindeland, an order from him to the county auditors, followed in due season by action by the seven counties in the district. No expense, of course, could be legally incurred until the fund was in the treasury. In this and in every other matter referred to him Judge Grindeland has acted in fullest co-operation with the board.

"In the next place it was necessary for the attorney for the board, Chas. E. Boughton, Red Lake Falls, to prepare the proper petition for both the Red Lake and Clearwater river projects which the engineer in charge and E. V. Willard, state drainage engineer, agree must be surveyed and the improvements planned together, the narrow strip of land lying between the two rivers making this necessary. The petitions were duly prepared. Signatures were secured from the actual residents who were vitally interested. A slight delay was experienced in securing signatures for the bond. A personal visit to residents along Red Lake river was made by E. A. Aubol, Pennington county's drainage board member and to residents along the Clearwater by the writer, Polk county's member and C. E. Boughton. Finally in July the petitions were approved by the board.

Biggest Project in State.

"No time was lost in beginning the survey work. Fortunately the preliminary Red Lake survey by the War Department was furnished the board's engineer, Geo. W. Walker, Thief River Falls, so he could begin preparing final plans on that project as soon as the Steenerson bill became a law. More about that later. In the case of the Clearwater river, the work had to start at the very beginning. Mr. Walker deserves unstinted praise instead of blame for the record he has made in getting his crews organized and work done that was completed before snow fell. All must realize that these projects are immense engineering undertakings that cannot be properly handled without the most accurate and painstaking surveys and planning. The work to be done is planned to last for all time to come. Space forbids enlarging upon this point. The Red Lake basin, including the Clearwater river, the two Red Lakes, the Tamarac river and numerous other tributaries supplying the water that causes the floods, must all be included. It is the biggest drainage and flood control project ever undertaken in the state.

"During the time that all this was going on the Steenerson bill had not yet passed, so Federal authority for a large area of the district within the Indian Reservation was still lacking.

Savants Accorded Praise.

"The bill in its final form was drafted immediately after the drainage district was organized early in 1920. A committee of state legislature, E. V. Willard and the writer appeared with Congressman Steenerson before the Indian Bureau and before the House Flood Control Committee in Washington early in March, 1920, in support of a bill that would fit the needs of the project. Favorable action was taken by the House of Representatives on January 17, 1921, less than four months ago. The Senate passed it early in February. It became a law February 21, 1921. Those who are complaining of delay and are finding fault should be reminded that in the short space of one year the necessary federal legislation has been secured, without which absolutely nothing could be done. Congressmen Steenerson and Knutson and Senator Nelson deserve the highest praise for having prestige and influence enough to secure favorable action on this bill during the short session of Congress.

"There are other phases that enter into the account of progress made to date, namely, first the failure of the law (Chapter 13, Laws 1919, under which the district is organized) to provide sufficient funds for necessary survey work for so large a project; second, the inability of the banks to cash 6% warrants during our present financial depression, and, third, the fight made on the law that the board is working under by members of the legislature from the Minnesota Valley district who wished to repeal the entire law. Senators Naplin, Nord (before his death), Peterson, Cumming, and others, and Representatives Rako, Perry and McPartlin, and others fought against these amendments in a bitterly drawn out contest that lasted two months thru a dozen committee meetings. The writer, as president of the drainage board, was in constant touch with this situation to safeguard the work. The friends of the law finally won out and the amendments finally passed were agreed to at a conference when the board's attorney, C. E. Boughton, was present. The amendments passed strengthen the law rather than weaken it, as will be seen when the session laws are printed and received. In this legislative struggle the Red Lake Drainage board was looking after the interests of eastern Pennington and every other county in the district, ably assisted by the members of the legislature interested, but no Thief River Falls Commercial Club members were in evidence insofar as the writer was aware.

Necessary Funds Unavailable.

"During the time that these amendments were being debated the Board members felt it unwise to incur any further expenditure until the outcome was in sight. They were compelled to go slowly for financial reasons also because the preliminary fund of $5,000 having been used, as far as it went, in surveying work and other necessary expenditures, the only means the Board had to secure an additional $5,000, the limit of indebtedness placed by law, was to borrow the money from banks on 6% drainage board warrants. All know that last fall and winter and even now, these warrants were simply not wanted. Several banks were offered them but stated absolutely they could not assist. Finally Andrew Johnson, member of the board from Clearwater county, secured $1,000 from the Farmers' State Bank of Gonvick because they wished no delay to occur in the survey work. Director Axel Nelson, Holt, Marshall county's board member, secured a loan from Holt bank; Director Aubol, St. Hilaire, from the two St. Hilaire banks, and Attorney C. E. Boughton and Treasurer S. E. Hunt, Red Lake Falls, from the Citizens' State bank of that city. These banks cashed warrants to keep the engineer and draughtsmen on the job. This detail has evidently not been given consideration by the Thief River Falls Commercial Club which is so vitally interested in eastern Pennington County farmers.

The drainage board welcomes an investigation. It would ask only that it should start on July 18, 1919, before the district was organized as well as afterwards.

"But to return to the matter at hand. The drainage board was informed by its engineer that the complete survey, plans and specifications, etc., etc., for so large an undertaking would cost $25,000 for both rivers, the two Red Lakes and the territory north, east and south of them which drains into the upper and lower Red Lakes. In order to secure this sum it would have to be advanced out of the county treasuries by the seven counties in the district. This was considered too heavy a burden on the counties. In addition, the clause in the law which authorizes a levy of such a fund was involved in dispute in the legislature. The board's hands were completely tied until the amendments to the drainage law were passed, which was not done until April 19, 1921, about two weeks ago.

"To make a long story short, in order to proceed with the surveys and to secure the final plans, etc., as soon as it was humanly possible, a request was made for a state appropriation of $25,000 for this survey.

Naplin Supported Bill.

"It is the easiest thing in the world for any person or organization to request an appropriation. The Red Lake matter had been up before. It is another matter to secure the money. Senator Naplin, who strongly supported this request is thoroughly familiar with the hearings upon the request for this appropriation of $25,000. State Engineer Willard gave valuable assistance as did many others. The writer appeared before the House and Senate committees in its behalf. Suffice to say the bill signed on April 19, authorized $25,000 for surveys of the Red Lake and Clearwater projects. Arrangements were made on April 19, the same day, at a meeting of the board held at Thief River Falls to secure the final plans on both the Red Lake and Clearwater projects as soon as the necessary work could be done.

"The newspaperman was poorly informed when he wrote the article in question. All members of the drainage board are desirous of having the improvements proposed completed as soon as possible. They are acting in accordance with the law, legally, efficiently and honestly. More than that they have moved a long ways ahead in a year.

"The minutes of the proceedings of the board are open to all. The accounts are examined by the state public examiner. He has already recommended the procedure for the conduct of its financial affairs which is being minutely followed.

"The members of the L[illegible]vite inquiry. They emphatically resent the attitude of the newspaper article referred to, its insinuations and slurs. It is not worthy of attention excepting that unanswered, some persons not familiar with the board's membership and work may be misled. For the information of those who do not know the membership of the board, their names are given: E. A. Aubol, St. Hilaire; Wm. Paskewitz, Grygla; Axel Nelson, Holt; Andrew Johnson, Gonvick, and the writer. They are attempting to render a service to the people of this section of the state. AIM TO ORGANIZE FARM BUREAU UNIT IN EACH TOWNSHIP

Will Make For Closer Co-operation in the Handling of Local Problems of Farmers.

Meetings will be held in all townships in Pennington county during the next fortnight for the purpose of organizing farm bureau units, County Agent J. J. McCann announced yesterday. The schedule of dates is as follows.

May 6, Rocksbury at Valhal hall. May 7, Smiley; May 9, Cloverleaf; May 10, Kratka; May 11, Mayfield; May 12, Reiner, May 13, Star; May 14, Hickory; May 16, Deer Park; May 17, Highlanding; May 18, Norden; May 19, Sanders; May 20, Numedal; May 21, Bray; May 23, Polk Centre.

These meetings will be called at 8 o'clock each evening. The exact place of meeting will be announced in a letter to the residents of every township.

The purpose of the meetings is for the development of farm bureau work in each township, taking up the discussion on wool pooling, potato shipping, cattle testing, poultry culling, beet raising, use of phosphate, or any other topic that may interest the people in each locality. Officers will be elected for each township farm bureau unit and a vote will be taken on whether the taxpayers of the county wish to continue the appropriation for farm bureau work for the next two years.

It will be to the interest of everyone, whether a member or a nonmember of the bureau, to be present at these meetings in order to voice sentiments either for or against the work and to receive a full explanation of the methods to be followed in making the farm bureau a beneficial organization to every community in the county.

Eighty-one counties in the state have lined up with this work, with over fifty-six thousand members. The number of members in the United States has reached the million and a half mark and is increasing with happy strides.

Necessary Funds For New Staff House Are Provided

The commissioners of Red Lake, Marshall, Roseau and Pennington counties having all voted the necessary funds, the erection of a $35,000 staff home at Oakland Park sanatorium is assured. Warrants of the four counties will be issued to the sanatorium board within a few days. Upon the receipt of the money it will be deposited in the state treasury, following which the plans and specifications for the building will be approved by the state board of health and the state board of control. The contract for construction work will then be let.

OFFER TO DO WORK AT 1 CENT UNDER "LOWEST BID" WINS

Unusual Contract is Let by County Commissioners at Meeting of Board.

A contract for the construction of eight and one-half miles of state road No. 7 between Goodridge and Highlanding was let to H. B. Lund of Thief River Falls, by the Pennington county board on Wednesday. Mr. Lund's bid was at a price "one cent under the lowest bidder." Of the other bids the lowest being for 29 cents per cubic yard of earth to be removed, the successful bidder secured the contract at 28 cents. At this rate the total cost of the construction work amounts to approximately $7,200.

Mr. Lund's bid is unusual and its legality is questioned, it not being considered a competitive bid. The board was influenced by the fact that the contractor is not at present engaged in fulfilling other contracts and can start work immediately.

A contract for the construction of 18 small bridges on county ditch No. 68 was let to L. D. McAdams of this city for $19,300. The bridges are all between 16 and 22 feet in length.

The county commissioners during the special session which covered Tuesday and Wednesday conducted a hearing as to repairing judicial ditch No. 13 in Reiner township and county ditch No. 39 in Kratka township. After much discussion Engineer Irving Quist was directed to make a survey of the two projects to determine to what extent repairs are necessary. The cost of repairing ditch No. 39 was previously estimated at over $13,000, which is 75 per cent of the original cost of the ditch.

The county board granted a reduction of tax assessments for 1920 to the Larson Furniture company, the McFarland Auto company, Loken Bros., The Thief River Music company and Martin Benson.

Officials of the Pennington county Farm Bureau met with the commissioners to request an appropriation of $2000 to assist in maintaining the county agent's office during the coming year. No action was taken in this respect as the annual appropriation is not made until July.

No Players Yet Signed For Ball Team; Uniforms Here

Although practice games may be played before that time, the Thief River Falls baseball season will not be officially opened until the 29th and 30th of the month, when games will be played here, officials of the baseball association announced Wednesday. Games have already been booked with Gonvick and McIntosh for the early part of June. Applications are still being received from professional players but nothing definite has been done in entering into contracts. It is expected that the hired players and team will be well lined up by May 20. Twelve new uniforms in grey and maroon have been purchased and await the players.

CHANGES PLANNED AT GREENWOOD CEMETERY WILL TRANSFORM PLOT

When Work Now Under Way is Completed Tract Will be Finest Burying Ground in Northwestern Part of State.

Roadways thru the north half of the new Greenwood cemetery are being constructed in accordance with landscaped plans and the 40-acre tract otherwise being made ready for burial purposes. The plot was purchased six years ago as an addition to the present cemetery which it adjoins on the south. When completely platted and ready for use it will be one of the most beautiful burying grounds of the Northwest.

During the past two years the dense growth of popple timber has been removed, leaving only the shade oaks; stumps have been pulled or blown out and much of the tract will be planted to lawn grass. Last summer the cemetery commission engaged a landscape gardener for the purpose of drawing up complete plans for the beautifying of the addition. When the roadways, at present under construction, are completed they will assume much the form of a giant rose. The main driveway leads from the highway directly at the corner of the grounds where an impressive arch of masonry or iron grill-work will be erected. In the northeast corner of the tract a carriage turn has been graded, it being proposed to erect a stately chapel and receiving vault at this point. In the approximate center of the grounds is an elevation which will be devoted to formal gardens and memorials, about which the cemetery lots will be grouped. Present plans call for suitable fencing, the planting of much shrubbery and many flower beds. When placed on sale, lots will be priced according to location in grounds. The 40-acre cemetery will provide burial accommodations for over 13,000 bodies. Practically all lots in the two sections of Greenwood, as at present laid out, have been purchased and it is now necessary to keep a staff of sextons employed during most of the year.

The cemetery commission has also adopted a method which will best result in guaranteeing proper up-keep of the grounds. An annual fee of $3 per lot has been set. Lot owners may also enter into a perpetual care contract for which $40 is to be paid. The interest from a fund arising from the sale of these contracts will be devoted to clipping the grass on lots and streets and otherwise caring for the grounds, the principal to remain intact. Greenwood cemetery is owned by the city and governed by a commission appointed by the mayor. Present members of the commission are: W. W. Prichard, Jr., chairman; A. H. Akre, secretary; C. B. Larson, A. K. Olson and John Cronkhite.

Silverton Farmers' Club Enjoys Social Evening

The meeting of the Silverton section of the Teachers' Progressive league at the Silverton town hall on Saturday night drew an unusually large attendance, the hall being taxed to capacity. County Agent J. J. McCann addressed the assemblage on "Boys' and Girls' Club Work;" Miss Marie Knudsen, Pennington county nurse, spoke on "General Health," and A. N. Tommeraasen, Thief River Falls school athletic coach, on "Physical Education." The very instructive program was followed by a meeting of the Silverton Farmers' club, after which the "box lunch" social became the feature of entertainment. Many remained for the dancing which took place during the late hours.

New Dam at Cook's Rapids When River Is Improved

A surveying crew is reported to be working between St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls, running levels along the river. Rumor has it that a large power dam will be built at Cook's Rapids, when the Red Lake drainage project gets under way. The rapids is considered an ideal location for power purposes, as soon as the water stage of the river is made uniform by controlling locks at the lake.

"Will Declare War on 'Bossism.'" That's right in line with Mr. Ford's idea.

SPRING VALLEY ASKS WHAT KIND OF PAVING IS BEING LAID HERE

Hustling Fillmore County Village of 1800 People Will Have to Look Elsewhere For Advice on This Subject.

Members of the city council in session on Tuesday night relaxed from the discussion of routine matters long enough to join with the assembled citizens in a hearty guffaw which followed the reading of the subjoined communication received by City Clerk A. H. Akre from the recorder of Spring Valley, a Minnesota village of 1800 population:

"Dear Sir: The village of Spring Valley has petitioned for 25 blocks of residence street paving and the council is seeking information and data as to the best kind of material, width of paving, etc., and this we can only get by asking those who have had experience in this kind of work. We are asking your co-operation in this by asking you to answer the inclosed questions, assuring you that we will be mighty glad to reciprocate the favor if in our power.

Yours very truly,
LUMEN LAND, Recorder.

"1. Has your town any paved streets?

"2. If so, kinds.

"3. In your opinion, the best kind of paving for a small town?

"4. The most satisfactory width from curb to curb on residence streets?

"5. Kind of soil you have to pave on?

"6. Names of contractors doing your work?

"7. Cost per yard?

"8. Cost of curb, per foot?

"9. Are oiled streets satisfactory?

"10. Are you paving this year?

"11. What material?"

No disposition was made of the Spring Valley request, inasmuch as the aldermen were undecided as to whom the matter should be referred to.

Spring Moving Results in Benefits to All Concerned

Louis Cohn, proprietor of the Palace clothing store, has moved his stock of goods from the former location on the east side of LaBree across the avenue to the building formerly occupied by the Christofferson Grocery store, and is open for business at the new stand. The shifting of establishments has resulted advantageously for all concerned and in the remodeling and modernizing of two buildings on main thoroughfares of the downtown section.

NOT A HELPFUL MOVE.

The action taken by the members of the Thief River Falls Commercial club at its luncheon meeting last Thursday, when it was decided to appoint a committee to investigate reasons for the alleged delay in getting the Red Lake river drainage project under way, was probably not very well considered. Had time been allowed for looking into the subject a little more thoroughly it is cetrain that the language would have been different and the tone of the remarks somewhat modified.

That the incident has served no good purpose is evidenced by the fact that Mr. C. G. Selvig, chairman of the drainage commission, has deemed it of sufficient importance to make a reply. This he proceeds to do in an interview given to The Times this week and printed in another part of the paper. Mr. Selvig in this reply simply aims to put the people of the district right on certain matters of the greatest importance to them and improves the opportunity afforded to call attention to the achievements of the commission up to this time. His position on the board as well as his thorough knowledge of conditions in the drainage area makes him the natural spokesman for those who are in charge of the greatest reclamation work ever undertaken in the state. A careful reading of the article will make clear many things that heretofore have been but imperfectly understood.

The Commercial club of this city would perhaps have displayed better judgment had Mr. Selvig been extended an invitation to come before a meeting here and explain the exact status of the drainage enterprise at this time. He says he would have been very glad of the opportunity to make such an explanation and it is safe to say he has not been aware of any misunderstanding existing here with regard to the commission's aims or purposes. A reading of his article will convince anyone that so far from being apprehensive lest the progress thus far made might seem below the expectations, he feels that the things accomplished should call forth at least some measure of commendation.

The Red Lake drainage project is a tremendous undertaking and will affect communities somewhat widely scattered. It embraces the entire area drained by two rather sizable streams and of a vast section for which the Red Lakes act as an outlet. It was manifestly impossible for the commission to begin work all over this enormous district at once and the members were bound to take up the one requiring the least preliminary outlay in order to get under way. It is only a short time since it was possible that anything could be done with the Red Lake river because of the fact that it has been designated as a navigable stream by the war department and this obstacle had to be overcome. Other delays that did not similarly apply to the Clearwater had to be met and explained away. For these reasons, if for no other, the Clearwater project was the first on which a start could be made. It was very important that the work be gotten under way and the commission began where a beginning was possible. The members are to be commended for their quick action. It has saved several months in time if nothing else.

Had all this been taken into consideration it is not likely that the action of last Thursday would have been taken. Both Mr. Selvig and Mr. Boughton, attorney for the commission, have stated that they will be more than pleased to appear before the citizens of Thief River Falls and explain every detail connected with the work thus far accomplished. Until they are given an opportunity to do so it may perhaps be as well not to threaten anything in the way of an investigation.

Where there are so many things to be taken into consideration as is the case with this drainage project there is bound to be a few arise that everybody does not understand. They can generally be satisfactorily explained if opportunity for explanation is given.

One thing is certain: Beginning to find fault with the commission at this point in the proceedings is not going to help matters along. Better to overlook a few actual mistakes than to begin finding them where none exist.

MAY 8, "HER" DAY.

"Mother."

The most expressive word in the dialects known to man. No other holds the depth of meaning or brings to mind the same memories of childhood days, of smiles and tears, of pleasures and suffering, of love and faith; days when weary little heads were snuggled into the crook of a sheltering arm and weary bodies lulled to rest by the gentle cadence of the old rocker and the rhythm of now half-forgotten lullabys; the smiles and tender sympathy which greeted the injured feelings or the stubbed toe; tears which welled into eyes at childish wrong-doing; of suffering when youth for an instant stepped aside from the more-difficult-to-follow path of life; of love without equal that knew no bounds nor reckoned with death—and of these the greatest is faith.

She whose life honors the word has run the gamut of every human emotion. She has known physical suffering, the joy of the pillowed head on breast and the clutch of tiny hands; she has experienced the exaltation of the opera singer as eyelids closed to the crooning words of an improvised lullaby. She has known what it is to stand helplessly by when a life hangs in the balance; has known the pain at parting and the joy at return. Her love has been all-encompassing and one that doubted not for an instant the true worth of her child. Her greatest joy has been that of seeing a tiny body develop into that of a stalwart man or woman and the development of a mere instinct into a powerful intellect.

It is for her then that one day in the year is set aside. A red flower worn on May 8 heralds that her hands and love still rule; a white one, that her love alone remains.

EFFERVESCENCE

It's early yet, but the male of the household is digging up the old straw hat and beginning to get acquainted with the critter.

Nor Question Rates!

A Thief River Falls hotel proprietor in response to an advertisement for a night clerk received an application written on the stationery of a twin city undertaking establishment, in which appeared the following:

"I am temporarily employed by this firm just to fill in until I secure a regular position. No ghosts, no spooks! I find it very interesting and our 'guests' very quiet—they don't have to be called in the a. m., for an early train, nor do they ever kick about tough steaks or bum sample rooms."

COMMUNITY CLUB BOOSTER MEETING

People of Goodridge Enjoy Social Session and Discuss Many Interesting Topics.

The Goodridge Community club held a very successful meeting and program in the school house on Friday, April 15. The program given was well received by the large audience and much credit is due Supt. B. O. Norby and his assistants for the excellent manner in which the affair was carried out. Superintendent W. A. Zeigler of Thief River Falls, gave a very interesting address on educational tests and commented very favorably on the co-operative spirit shown by the Goodridge Community club. After the program there was a short business session and the following resolutions were adopted:

1. That the Community club will continue to cooperate and further the general interests and welfare of the community at large.

2. That if arrangements are made for a Tri-County fair this year, the Community club will give its undivided support to the success of the undertaking.

3. That the Community club give its loyal support to provide an agricultural exhibit from Eastern Pennington county at the next Pennington county fair.

4. That the Community club will be the first to give its support to the proposed plan of arranging for a Pennington county booth at the next Minnesota State Fair.

5. That the Community club considers the existence of a band an asset to the village and community and expresses its appreciation of the good will the members of the band have shown in community activities during the past year.

6. That the Community club realizes the social and educational value of a Lyceum course, and in view of the fact that few other entertainments of a like character exist, we suggest that the business men of Goodridge, following the precedent of other villages, procure and maintain a course for the coming year.

7. That the Community club appreciates the work of the Farm Bureau and County Agent in providing a Farmers' Short Course and for his general service to this section of the county throughout the year.

8. That the Community club recognizes and commends Mr. A. C. Tveit, the president of the Goodridge Commercial club, in his untiring efforts to establish a state highway extending from Oklee to Roseau to promote this cause.

9. That the Community club cooperate with the local board of health in arranging for a general "cleanup" day in the village of Goodridge.

EDUCATING PUBLIC IN USE OF BUTTER

Pennington County Creameries Endorse Program Inaugurated by Dairy Council.

Andrew French, ex-dairy and food commissioner, held two meetings in Pennington county, one in Thief River Falls on April 18, and one in St. Hilaire on April 21. Mr. French is employed by the dairy and food department in putting on a campaign for the advancement of dairy products. Each creamery association pays one-tenth of a cent per pound on all butter fat sold, handled or manufactured during the period of twelve months. In consideration of this payment the Minnesota Dairy Council agrees to carry on a campaign for the promotion and development of the dairy industry, to stimulate and encourage the consumption and use of butter and all other dairy products by publicity and other educational means, and to use the funds so contributed for such purposes, less necessary cost and expense of such a campaign.

The Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery has signed the contract with the Dairy Council to assist in the campaign. The statement going out by their secretary, Mr. Engelstad is very interesting and shows their rapid growth of their creamery since 1912. During that year the amount of business done by them was $40,000.00. The comparative statement for each of the following years are as follows: 1913, $50,000; 1914, $90,000; 1915, $120,000; 1916, $124,000; 1917, $159,360; 1918, $226,046; 1919, $319,701; 1920, $309,877.

CERTIFIED POTATOES PROVING VALUE IN THE OPEN MARKET

The Pennington County Produce association has proved its value in the amount of potatoes shipped out this season. Nine carloads were shipped during the past week, the last two selling at $1.00 per hundred f. o. b., Thief River Falls. Carloads were shipped to Texas, Omaha, Minneapolis and Manitoba. Many new members have asked to join this association because of the advantages offered in assurance of the crop being sold to the best advantage and at the lowest possible cost for handling. The Pennington county association has never made a canvas for members and is not planning on doing so, because the advantages are so great that the potato growers are coming in without being solicited.

The acreage of Pennington county for this season will be almost twice as great as that of last year. Early Ohios will be the leading variety. This stock sold at a premium last year, which accounts for many of the growers wishing to continue with this variety. Many of the farmers growing a large acreage are also making application for seed potato plots so that they may be furnished with good, clean seed for their entire acreage next season from their seed plot.

The bride was charming in a gown of white georgette crepe with a veil of silk illusion caught in cap effect with lilies of the valley, entrain. The bridal bouquet was an elaborate arrangement of lilies of the valley and white roses. The couple, who was unattended, entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Gaston Ward, a friend of the bride. Miss Dora Holmes sang "At Dawning," and "Because" before the ceremony. The rooms were replete with jonquils and ferns. Immediately after the ceremony the guests were served a three-course wedding dinner. Among the out-of-town guests who were able to be present at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Johnson of Oslo; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hall and daughters He[illegible] and Alice of Middle River; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kvennes, also of [illegible] River, and Arthur Granum of Minneapolis. The room was very attra[illegible] in decorations of yellow and [illegible]e with baskets of yellow jonquils [illegible]ntering the two large tables place[illegible]t both ends of the room. The early [illegible]art of the evening was spent in h[illegible]ming towels which were later prese[illegible]d to Miss Nelson. As a token o[illegible]ppreciation of the work that she h[illegible]done for the club in the past two y[illegible]s, Miss Ada Whipps, in behalf of the organization, presented her with several pieces of silver, including a set of knives and forks, jelly server and cold meat fork. LEADER IN EACH TOWNSHIP URGED BY CROOKSTON EDITOR

Selection of an agricultural college graduate as a farm bureau leader for every rural township in the United States, as the ultimate accomplishment of the farm bureau federation movement, is predicted by W. E. McKenzie, editor of The Crookston Times. Mr. McKenzie, addressing the graduating class of the Northwest School of Agriculture, said that "the splendid work the farm bureau is doing for agriculture through its county agents could be further extended and amplified and brought nearer home to the farmers by having not only county agents, but township agents to give the farmers the benefits of practical knowledge of better methods and clothed with proper authority to promote their interests."

REMEMBER to ask your grocer for Calumet Baking Powder and be sure that you get it—the Indian head on the orange label.

Then forget about bake day failures. For you will never have any. Calumet always produces the sweetest and most palatable foods.

And now remember, you always use less than of most other brands because it possesses greater leavening strength.

Now Remember—Always Use
CALUMET BAKING POWDER

There is no waste. If a recipe calls for one egg—two cups of flour—half a cup of milk — that's all you use. You never have to re-bake.

Contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities, is the product of the largest, most modern and sanitary Baking Powder Factories in existence.

Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Calumet Columbia Muffin Recipe
—4 cups sifted flour, 4 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 2 cups of sweet milk. Then mix in the regular way.

The Importance of Pasteurization

Pasteurization is conceded by all authorities who have studied the question and who really know what they are talking about, to be as essential to the safety and welfare of the public health as the PURE FOOD LAW which has done so much to protect our people and to create in the consumer's mind an absolute confidence in a food product carrying a pure food label.

The word "Pasteurized" on a bottle of milk has come to mean the same thing to the average housewife. It is seldom one hears the question: "What is Pasteurization?" Usually it is: "Do you Pasteurize?" Health authorities in many of the larger American cities have enacted ordinances making the Pasteurization of milk compulsory, being convinced that often ordinary raw milk is not fit food for humans and most particularly dangerous to infants.

Pasteurization in the purifying of milk presents five excellent advantages. The first and most important is that it saves the lives of men and animals. Typhoid nad diphtheria, septic sore throat, and other contageous diseases can be traced to raw milk. Pasteurization kills the germs of these diseases and this prevents the spread of contageon through infected milk. Second: Pasteurization lowers the infantile mortality rate by reducing the number of germs in milk. Third: Pasteurization checks the bacteria change in milk. Fourth: The keeping qualities of milk are improved by pasteurization, which partially destroyes the lactic force of bacteria and other germs which hasten the souring of milk. Last but not least: Pasteurization protects the public against the uninspected milk which sometimes forms a part of the milk supply of any community.

Avery "One-Man" Road Maintainer

Handle More Miles at Less Cost

Here is exactly the machine you need for smoothing and keeping your dirt roads and streets in the best possible condition. It is also the ideal one-man machine for road patrol system of continuous maintenance—a system which is rapidly coming into general use.

This Avery "One-Man" road maintainer is more economical, serviceable and durable than maintenance machines requiring two or three men to operate them. If you are interested in road building work, do not overlook the opportunity this machine offers for cutting expenses and giving you better roads and streets.

It is equipped with a blade attachment, swung directly in front of the operator—not underneath or behind him, but in the best position for him to watch his work at all times. This blade attachment has three sections, and is adjustable to the depth of the cut and curvature of the road. Springs at the end of each blade absorb shocks when the outfit is working over rough, rutty roads.

This outfit really makes rough, rutty roads smooth. It shaves off the high spots and fills in the low ones—does not cut high and low spots to the same depth, but actually spreads the dirt and leaves the road surface smooth and even.

Backs up and turn around in short space easily and quickly. Not even necessary to lift the blade when turning around. You can also use this machine for hauling loaded wagons, scrapers, rollers and similar machines. You can find many uses for this outfit. It means saving expenses and making profits.

VALUE OF BARLEY IS DEMONSTRATED

Experiments Carried on at University Farm Show Cereal Nearly Equals Corn.

Cattle Feeders Day, observed for the first time by the University of Minnesota on Friday, April 22, has come to stay, nearly 100 thoroughly interested cattle men inspected the livestock under tests and attended the exercises at University Farm.

The special feature of steer-feeding experiments which had been carried on at the farm for 112 days, was a comparison of ground barley to shelled corn as a grain for fattening cattle. That barley is equal to corn, pound for pound, in producing gains of weight, was a positive conclusion announced by Prof. W. H. Peters, Prof. N. K. Carnes, and others of the animal husbandry division who had charge of the experiments. It was shown that cheaper gains were made by corn-fed steers rather than by barley-fed steers, but the fact remains that the feeding trials go to show that northern Minnesota with its abundant crops of barley, its clover and alfalfa and corn for silage, can expect to become a cattle feeding district, more closely approaching results obtained by farmers in the famous corn belt than has ever been thought possible.

The 48 steers used in the feeding experiments were mostly Herefords and Shorthorns, bought on the South St. Paul market, and were divided into six groups of eight each. Although creditable gains in weight, ranging from 190 to 287 pounds, were made by each animal, a financial loss would have to be taken if the animals were sold at this time. The losses figured at the end of the trials corresponded closely to those reported on recent cattle feeders days at the Iowa and Nebraska college stations. Cattle feeders and the university men who spoke to them in the livestock pavilion generally took a favorable view, however, of the future of cattle feeding in this country.

LABOR OUTLOOK IS GREATLY IMPROVED

Statistics Show Relative Supply Is Larger Than Demand—Wages Generally Lower.

The farm labor situation in the United States is decidedly easier than it has been in the past three years. This fact is shown by the following figures, being averages of estimates of normal supply and demand, made by reporters to the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture, April 1, each year:

Percentage of normal supply of and the demand for hired farm labor—to be read as index numbers:

	Relative supply.	Relative demand.	Ratio of supply to demand
1921	95.2	87.5	108.8
1920	72.1	105.3	68.8
1919	84.4	101.8	82.9
1918	72.9	101.4	71.9

Comments made by agricultural statisticians for the Northwestern states on the labor situation follow:

Iowa—Supply plentiful and a reduction of from 25 to 35 per cent of last year's wages probable.

Minnesota—Supply sufficient for needs. Wages lower than last year.

North Dakota—Supply exceeds demand; wages noticeably reduced from a year ago.

South Dakota—Supply more plentiful than a year ago. Farmers not employing as much help as usual.

Wisconsin—Wages for single men are, approximately, $50 per month as compared with $80 a year ago.

NEW KIND OF CLOVER FOUND WHICH MATURES FIRST YEAR

A new kind of clover bids fair to become famous in this section, and all over the country. Roy Murray, residing on Birch Lake, two and a half miles from Hackensack, in Cass county, does not regret his experience with the new clover. He sold 3 1-8 pounds of seed this spring at the rate of $200 a bushel.

The new clover is known as Hubam, an annual white sweet clover. The particular feature of the clover is the fact that it matures in one year and seems to be a much more rapid growing plant than any other clover. It promises to be of especial interest to farmers of this section. A hay crop can be cut in 90 days from sowing.

Mr. Murray bought an ounce of seed last year and got at the rate of $200 a bushel for 3 1-8 pounds of seed. That shows what profit there is in the crop. The demand for the seed is large.—Hackensack Independent.

us old anti-study period g has arrived at last. In trip around the world it took special care not to incoln high school. They say that school will let out soon and that t classes are reviewing, the stu nts are able to get the work better cause it is easier.

It is said by the faculty and other elligent persons that the Freshmen l Juniors get "spring fever" worse anybody else, but next year they he Sophomores and Seniors and know better. Next year's Fresh nd Juniors will get this fever next Spring, of course, but that hole year off, so let us not wor the present time.

Class of 1924.

Class of 1924 has yet three in which to make their class graduation exercises and the other doings better than any class has given. At the begin of next year, when we elect new rs, we should elect those who worthy of the office and those n we know will do their best. It ly to these people that we can on to make our class a suc s with the help of every individual rson. The students that don't at d class meetings are the ones that y, "Let somebody else do the work, haven't time" and these are the nes who are slackers of our class. We could help those slackers by mak them interested in class doings show them what real class spirit eans. This will prove that even though we are Freshmen we have brains under our caps.

Bread Club Contest.

The annual Bread Club contest will be held Saturday, May 7th, in which about fifteen of the members will bake. The bread will be judged at 4:15 in the afternoon and anyone interested in club work may come to see the bread judged. The one whose bread scores the highest will win a free trip to the State Fair. Look for the results of this contest in next week's issue.

The Senior Class Play.

The annual Senior Class Play given by the class of 1921 has been making rapid progress. The cast has been rehearsing the last two weeks and know their parts thoroughly. Very little has been published concerning the play as yet, but with the date of the play soon arriving, it is understood that the Seniors expect to do extensive advertising in the near future, giving further details about the play.

The play is entitled, "All of a Sudden, Peggy," and is considered as good or better than any preceding play that has been given by the Seniors.

Another advantage which the Seniors are fortunate in having, is their director, Mr. Pierce, who is undoubtedly a man of ability in this field, and as a result the success of the play is undoubted. The Seniors have adopted as a slogan, "Not a vacant seat in the house" and they wish to advise the students and the public that a ticket selling campaign will be carried on, beginning about May 6. The date of the play is not yet known but will be advertised in due time.

Freshman Party.

The annual Freshman party was held Friday, April 29, in the high school gymnasium. The decorations were in green and gold and looked very pretty in the shaded light. The entertainment committee, led by Mr. Tripp and Miss Whipps, provided for an interesting and amusing program. This began by finding and writing down the names given to pupils which were written on pieces of paper and pinned on their backs. Camille Warner won the prize for having the greatest number of names. The following numbers were then given:

Piano solo—Palma Langseth.
Puppet show—Second graders.
Reading—Esther Lunsetter.
Grand March led by Mr. and Mrs. Tommeraasen.

A circle was then formed and a number of games played.

Pictures were given out which were cut in half, one part to the boys and one part to the girls, in order to get their partners for luncheon. A delicious lunch was served and at 11:30 all left for their homes, feeling that they had had a very enjoyable time.

Chapel on Friday.

After the usual singing at chapel period, Friday morning, Palma Langseth played as a piano solo, "The Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt. Both this and the encore were much enjoyed.

Miss Perry of the Normal training department, explained the conditions students must meet in entering that department. They must have twelve high school credits, which includes three years of English, a half year of United States history and a half year of Civics. At the conclusion of the course they receive a first grade certificate for two years. If they enter the normal department as high school graduates, they receive in addition to the certificate eight normal school credits which enables a student to complete a regular two-year normal course in one year and a summer school.

Honor Roll.

The following names were omitted in the list of March honor students published in the preceding issue: Juniors — Bertha Hosted, Amanda Skomedahl and Bertha Aaseby. Seniors—Bennie Lind.

Wednesday Morning Chapel.

What about chapel? Why don't we have our regular Wednesday chapel? That is what the students of the Lincoln high would like to know. We have already missed three regular Wednesday chapels. The last one given was the one under the auspices of Miss Leavitt by the Freshman class.

The teachers talk about the pupils not having enough school spirit, but what about themselves? When we are given assignments we are expected to carry them out. Why not apply this rule both ways?

"How much do you love me?" she asked in a slow, velvety tone.

"I love you"—he drew closer—"I love you as much as Eileen Herron loves the boys."

She was perplexed, "Not enough," she said.

"I love you as Lynn H. loves Dot." She shook her head.

"You must love me more," was her answer.

"Then I love you,"—he drew breath for a supreme effort—"I love you as Miss Swift loves Bill.

But still she remained cold, heartless.

In deepest despair the plucky fellow rallied, "I love you,"—his voice broke—"I love you as Ernest loves the teachers."

With a scream she dropped into his outstretched arms.

CATTLE RUN FALLS BELOW LAST WEEK

General Decrease in Receipts Tones Up Market—Steers Sell at $8.50.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minn. Department of Agriculture.)

Monday's Opening.

South St. Paul, Minn., May 2, 1921: Cattle 1,000, beef steers butcher cows and heifers strong to 25c higher, top steers $8.50. Calves 200, mostly steady. Packer tops $7.50. Hogs 6,600, mostly 10c to 25c lower than Friday's average, range $6.50 to $8.00, bulk $7.40 to $7.75. Sheep 300, market steady.

A reduction of about 25,000 cattle in the receipts at leading markets on Monday, compared with a week ago, tended to tone up the cattle market, and beef steers and most of the butcher cows and heifers opened on a strong to 25c higher basis, with spots in the steer market 50c or more higher than last weeks' low time. Only a few lots of good and choice beef steers arrived Monday, best of these being 28 head that averaged 1240 pounds and sold to feeder buyers at $8.50. Several small lots of handyweights, including some steers and heifers mixed, averaging about 700 pounds, and a few head of heavy steers, sold at $8.00. One load of medium grade 1100-pound steers sold to feeder buyers at $7.40, with common grades mostly from $6.25 to $6.75. Real choice handyweight heifers are quotable up to around $8.00, but few sold Monday above $7.00, with medium to good cows largely at $5.00 to $6.00. Bulk of bologna bulls sold from $4.00 to $4.75, with good beef bulls at $5.00 to $5.50. Top on veal calves to packers is $7.50. Demand is fair for better grades of stockers and feeders, with common and medium kinds moving slowly. Very good 850-pound feeding steers sold Monday at $7.25.

The hog market opened the week at 10c to 25c lower than Friday. The range was $6.50 to $8.00, bulk $7.10 to $7.75. Good and choice pigs sold mostly at $8.00. Strictly choice handyweight clipped lambs reached $10 last week for the first time this season. Some good grade clipped lambs averaging 70 pounds brought $9.25 Monday, with a few clipped ewes at $6.00.

New County Agent Visits.

J. W. Taylor, the new agricultural agent located at Grygla, was in the city last week, accompanied by M. C. Hanson, leader of boys' and girls' club work in the same county. The former stated that there are now 12 farm bureau units in the Grygla section and seven more in the process of organization. There is considerable talk of helping the boys and girls secure purebred calves for the club work.

Prairie Chickens Plentiful; Sason Opens September 16

Prairie chickens are plentiful this year, as a drive into most any section of the northwestern counties will go to prove, for the birds are to be seen feeding along the highways after the fashion of barn-yard fowl. Because of this fact and because the new state law permitting chicken shooting states that only 18 birds are allowed for the season, many sportsmen next fall will get but two days' hunting. Not only will dogs be permitted to be used in chicken hunting but the bag limit per day is increased to nine birds instead of five, as was formerly the case before the season was closed by the law. The season opens this year on September 16th and closes October 1st, the two days being designated as inclusive. The season will be closed on alternate years.

Approximately 75 bills, including many duplicates, affecting game and fish were introduced in the recent legislative session, but only 12 were passed and became laws.

Reasons for Case Satisfactory Performance

CASE Tractor design is the result of years of constant study of farm power requirements. It is founded on farm knowledge. The universally successful performance of Case Kerosene Tractors on the most trying farm jobs is proof of their Agricultural Adaptability.

Every Case Tractor is equipped with a vertical four-cylinder, valve-in-head, kerosene-burning motor, mounted crosswise on a twist-proof frame. This design makes possible the delivery of from 65 to 70% of the motor's power at the drawbar.

Power is transmitted to the drawbar without appreciable loss by means of simple, cut steel, spur gears, enclosed and running in lubricant. The full power of the motor is available for belt work because the pulley is mounted directly on the crank shaft.

The Case Patented Air Washer removes all particles of grit from the air before it is drawn into the cylinders with the fuel. This is protection against undue wear of cylinders, pistons and piston rings and insures a clean, moist fuel mixture that is highly explosive.

These features are typical of Case design. The best of engineering skill and knowledge, combined with comprehensive farm knowledge, backed by modern manufacturing methods—this is the foundation upon which Case tractors are built. Made in sizes to fit every farm need, they are everywhere sustaining their reputation of being distinctly practical farm tractors.

Building Now Means That You Are Helping the Nation Get Back to Normal Conditions

It is not necessary that you build a twenty thousand dollar residence. Very few people are in a position to do that just now. Remember, however, that every hammer that is put to swinging and every saw that is put in motion means a man behind it furnishing the energy. Every man that is put to work means just that much more money turned into the legitimate channels of trade. The man who refuses to build now on the mistaken idea that materials will be cheaper latter on is standing in his own light.

Materials Will Not Be Cheaper

In fact, they are certain to advance. This is the view of those who are in a position to judge. Do not postpone the matter too long as you will surely be the looser by so doing.

When you get ready to build, let us figure on your bill of supplies. We will supply the best there is at the lowest possible price.

American Legion Corner

KONECNY, HUNGARIAN SOLDIER-VIOLINIST, TO PLAY HERE ON MAY 17

Carried Violin All Through War and Played For Boys in Camp, in Hospitals and on the Open Field.

Josef Konecny, the Bohemian violinist, who appears here on May 17, has the double distinction of being the only artist before the American public who served first as an over-draft age volunteer in the great war as "buck private" and then gave ninety concerts in France under the auspices of the Overseas Theatre league for the American and Allied soldiers.

During his entire army enlistment Konecny had his violin constantly with him and played for the boys under every possible condition. His comrades-in-arms popularly called him "Joe, the violinist." He played for the men in camp, in the tents and barracks, in the hospitals, out in the open under the sky and trees to audiences ranging from perhaps a few enthusiastic doughboys up to 3,500 soldiers and civilians; he appeared on the rostrum of the Knights of Columbus and the Y. M. C. A. huts, and at Fitzgerald, Ga., even played from a baggage truck at the depot, when his company was moved south. He is now a member of the American Legion, under whose auspices he is playing in many of the leading cities of the country.

Miss Mary Tris, the brilliant American pianist, accompanied Mr. Konecny as associate artist on his overseas tour and did her share toward cheering up many home-sick boys.

Miss Lola Marel Alley, who will appear with the violinist as assisting artist, is a native product and received all of her training in this country.

The artists' recital will be given at the auditorium here under the auspices of the Elmer J. Eklund post of the Legion.

Granted Notarial Power.

Heretofore, only officers or notaries public might certify to duplicates of discharge certificates. Uncle Sam has now honored the commanders of eleven thousand Legion posts by granting them this power in connection with victory loan applications, irrespective of whether or not they held commissions in the government forces during the war.

To Dedicate Shaft.

Two Harbors, Minnesota, Legionnaires have arranged for the erection of a concrete shaft with bronze tablet bearing the names of the Lake county citizens who died for their country. It will be dedicated Memorial Day.

"Sandstormers" Will Meet.

Besides the proposed reunion of the 88th division members in that city next fall, Des Moines is planning to entertain 34th (Sandstorm) division veterans also. A meeting is scheduled to be held at the Savoy hotel, Des Moines, at 1:30 p. m. May 3, to arrange for the reunion of the 34th.

Do It Now!

Now is the time for former service men who had influenza or pneumonia or were even slightly gassed in service, to ask the U. S. Public Health Service, Minneapolis, to arrange for physical examination so that, if tuberculosis later develops, their disability may be connected with their war service, according to an official bulletin.

Adjust 9727 Claims.

During March, 1921, a total of 976 claims were adjusted for former service men, bringing the total claims adjusted by the Minnesota Legion Service Bureau, Old Capitol, to 9727, covering every variety of trouble ex-service men encounter in their dealings with the government.

Legionnaire Sings Trio.

To be able to sing in tenor, bass and baritone simultaneously and to control all three perfectly is the gift of Joe Kaufman, a Minneapolis Legionnaire. This accomplishment has baffled voice experts. No other case like it is on record. Even Kaufman himself cannot explain it.

For Them, War Still On.

U. S. hospitals for disabled buddies have steadily increased since March 3, 1919, when there were 22 in operation. On March 5, 1921, there were 61 hospitals with 17,650 beds. For many a buddy the war is still being fought.

Federal Veterinarians to Test Herds Here in June

Dr. W. J. Fretz, federal veterinarian in charge of tuberculin testing, has informed County Agent J. J. McCann, that his men will be in the county during the month of June to test the herds of applicants who have filled out the proper blanks and filed them in the Farm Bureau office. Others living in the neighborhood of those who have applications in should make their request to have herds tested as soon as possible, if they wish to have the work done this year.

Purchased Store Building.

Misses Irma and Gustie Johnson on Tuesday purchased of Mrs. Fred Roth the two-story frame building at 312 LaBree avenue north, on the ground floor of which they have for a number of years conducted a millinery establishment. The purchase price was $3,400. The young ladies will continue to make their home in the apartments on the second floor, which will be remodeled and modernized in every respect. At some future time the exterior of the building will be given a coat of stucco.

Visiting the Schools.

During the past week George M. Gunderson, county superintendent of schools, attended school programs at district No. 9, Hickory township; districts No. 59 and 56, Erie township, and at the Weiner school. He spoke before each assemblage visited.

Pastor Receives Call.

Rev. C. M. Grimsrud, pastor of the Lutheran church at St. Hilaire, has received a call from the Adams, N. D. congregation and is at present on a tour of inspection to the North Dakota city. He has not definitely decided whether or not to accept the new offer.

IS 72 BUT NEVER SAW ITS EQUAL

Duluth Man Says Since Taking Tanlac He Feels as Healthy As He Did Years Ago.

"I've tried Tanlac and never saw anything to equal it during the seventy-two years of my life," said John Ryan, of 128 Sixth avenue, W. Duluth, Minn. Mr. Ryan is now retired from business, having been a lumber valuator practically all his life, during which time he traveled extensively in Canada and the United States.

"When a man gets to be as old as I am he has to be careful of his health and when my stomach began to go back on me I knew I had to have something to help me out. Well I found my relief in Tanlac, and there's nothing like it when it comes to doing away with a heavy, bloated feeling and putting a man in a good, healthy condition. I had so lost my appetite that nothing seemed to appeal to me any more, and the little I did eat seemed to lie in my stomach undigested and caused me awful pain. I always felt bloated up, and in an unhealthy condition.

"I saw that Tanlac was so highly spoken of that I began taking it and now I am one of the 'Tanlac Regulars.' I have just finished my eighth bottle and it keeps me in the very best of condition. I have a splendid appetite and feel as healthy as I did years ago. I can't speak too highly of Tanlac and it is the only medicine for me from now on."

Will Go to Annapolis.

John Melgaard, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, arrived here on Friday from Marion, Ala., where he has spent the past school year at a military preparatory school. After a month's vacation he will go to Chicago to undergo a physical examination preliminary to entering the naval academy at Annapolis.

Drive in Itasca County.

Beginning with a rousing booster meeting on Monday held in the Commercial club rooms at Grand Rapids, the intensive drive for members for the Itasca County Farm Bureau opened its campaign. Mr. Smith of Parker's Prairie, who is in charge of the campaign in the county, reports a great deal of interest on the part of the farmers and states that he expects better results to be achieved than in many other counties in northern Minnesota.

$12 IS MINIMUM TAX FOR AUTOS UNDER NEW LAW

Two Per Cent of List Price at Factory With $12 Lowest Charge For Any Car.

Owner Must Learn Many Details Concerning His Auto Before Making Application.

All Registrations For Current Year Due in Secretary of State's Office May 15.

Secretary of State Mike Holm has dispatched to the press of Minnesota the following summary of facts regarding the procedure necessary to register motor vehicles for 1921 in accordance with the new law, being actuated by the belief that an early knowledge of the regulations will help his department very materially in taking care of what he styles "the big job."

Minimum Tax of $12.

The rate for automobiles, trucks, tractors, trailers, and semi-trailers is 2 per cent of the list price at the factory with a $12.00 minimum for automobiles weighing less than 2,000 pounds and a $15.00 minimum for automobiles weighing more than 2,000 pounds and for trucks under 2-ton carrying capacity. For trucks whose carrying capacity is more than 2 tons and less than 4 tons, the minimum is $30.00, and for all trucks of over 4-ton carrying capacity the minimum is $50.00. The minimum for trailers and semi-trailers is $2.00. The value of the vehicle during the fourth and fifth year will be 50 per cent of the factory list price.

As soon as they are printed, application blanks will be sent out for distribution to banks as before, to registers of deeds who by reason of their experience in connection with registration under the previous law are especially qualified to make out the applications, and to others that may apply for them. Rate books showing factory list prices and weights of the various models of standard makes of motor vehicles together with the registration fee computed in each case, will also be distributed for use by those who make out applications. The first distribution of the law will be in the legal supplements that will be distributed through the newspapers of the state. Every motor vehicle owner should take particular notice of chapter 461, which deals with motor vehicle registrations.

Applications Due May 15.

The law provides that the application must contain, among other things, the name of the motor vehicle, year manufactured, year and number of model, engine and car number, type of body, list price at the factory, weight of the motor vehicle in pounds, its rated load carrying capacity or seating capacity, and the number of cylinders. Car owners will save time if all these facts are ascertained before anyone is asked to make out the application. Applications should not be made except on the regular form. The application, this year, should be in by May 16.

Applicants who already have certificates of title are required to send their copies with their applications. Those who have not, must have affidavits of one neighbor on each application who has examined the numbers on the motor vehicle and who will swear that the statements in the application are true.

Checks Must Go Forward.

All certified checks, bank drafts, and money orders should be made payable to Mike Holm, Secretary of State, and should be sent together with the application to him. It is very important that a separate check, draft or money order is made out for each application and attached to the application for which it is to pay. Applicants will be given a receipt upon the approval of the application and the payment of the fee, and will be allowed to operate their motor vehicles upon the 1918-20 license plates until the new plate can be issued. In anticipation of the great rush of applications at the time of the annual re-registration, the law gives the Secretary of State three months in which to issue the plates. Every effort, however, will be made to get these out as soon as possible.

PLUMMER CREAMERY DECIDES ON CLOSER CREAM GRADING

The directors of the Plummer Co-operative creamery held their quarterly meeting at the creamery. It was decided that, starting in the near future, all cream taken in would be graded as first and second class and a difference of 3 cents would be made between the two grades. They also decided to have a general cleanup day at the creamery at which time the grounds will be fixed up and made to appear more attractive. There will also be a picnic on the same day so it is expected that a large crowd will turn out and help to make the effort a success.

A Fine Opportunity.

C. Wiener has just received news that his Herd Sire is one of the best in the breed and his Dam making big record. Now is the time to get one of the sons of this sire, one big enough for service. M5

SEASON'S FIRST GAME WILL BE PLAYED SUNDAY

Newly Organized Thief River Falls Team to Meet Alvarado Nine as a Starter.

Federolf, Former St. Louis Cardinal Pitcher, Booked by Locals For the Season.

Total of 22 Games Scheduled, 12 of Which Will be Played on Home Diamond.

Thief River Falls fans will witness the first baseball game of the season on Sunday afternoon, when the Alvarado team comes here to play the maroon and grey. Gus Federolf and Pete Morse, both of St. Paul, who have tied-up with the locals for the season, will do the twirling and catching respectively. The game will start at three o'clock. The Thief River Falls association will not declare an official opening of the season, however, until Sunday, May 29, when Fertile comes here to play.

Morse, one of the new men secured, during the past few years has picked up a reputation as a catcher and a hitter. He played one year with the St. Louis Cardinals and later was booked up in the Western and Coast leagues. During the six years of professional baseball playing he made a batting average of 300 or over, with the exception of one year when he dropped down to 287.

Federolf is also a slugger. His admirers claim that he will this year hit it up to over 300. He was formerly a battery mate of Morse while serving with the Western league. Both Morse and Federolf will arrive Sunday morning from the twin cities where they have been getting into form.

Vernon Soltau of Morton, Minnesota, has also been hired to twirl for the Thief River Falls nine. He is not expected to arrive here until the 24th of the month.

Fully 15 men of those who have been turning out twice a week for practice on the fair grounds are showing up well and officials of the association are confident that good baseball material is available. Starting Monday the men will be out at work every evening during the week and an early selection of the nine is expected.

Twenty-three games have already been booked. With several dates yet to be filled and with a slight extension of the season it is planned to increase this number to at least 30. The games played here on week day evenings will start at 6:15 or 6:30, this hour having been set to allow the greatest possible attendance of fans who are employed during the day time.

The schedule for the season has been arranged as follows. Nineteen games are provided for, 12 of which will be on the home diamond:

GIANT MACHINE IS USED IN DITCHING

Enormous Amount of Dirt Being Moved by Dredge of New and Novel Design.

A walking dredge of novel construction, the only one of its kind known to be working in the Northwest, was placed in operation on county ditch No. 68, three miles north of here, last Friday, by the Walker-Gesell Land company of Thief River Falls. The dredge is at present equipped with a 40-horse power engine and is capable of digging six miles of drainage ditch per month. It was formerly in operation in the vicinity of Goodridge, but this spring was torn down and re-assembled for the work on ditches No. 68 and No. 70. The present contract calls for the excavation of 35 miles of trench. Ten men, working night and day shifts, are employed by the company.

The 90-ton dredge is capable of taking 8-foot steps with great rapidity, power being furnished by the gas engine which operates bucket and hoist. The corner supports or legs of the powerful machine are fixed in position. Underneath the center are mammoth legs which alternate with the corner posts in bearing the weight of 90 tons and which act as the propeller of the dredge when bearing that weight. The owners have practically designed the entire machine and claim that it is the only one of identical construction in the United States. Patents are held on the walking mechanism. The cost of the dredge is estimated at about $20,000.

New Truck in Service.

The farm implement house of C. Gustafson & Son this week added a new Avery truck to their equipment. The machine will be used for hauling the company's freight in this city but will be particularly employed in carrying the necessary supplies to their branch house at Grygla. It is one of the finest trucks in the city and an advertisement for both manufacturer and dealer.

Will Appoint Farmers.

President Harding has promised to give favorable consideration to the request of the American Farm Bureau federation that men familiar with agriculture be given places on all federal boards and commissions, according to a message received by the Minnesota federation. The president received a delegation of farm bureau officers from the farmers' legislative committee in session at the capital. He assured them, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation has been informed, that he was committed to recognizing agriculture in important appointments, and that he regarded favorably their request for "farmer-minded" men on the federal reserve board, the United States shipping board and the Interstate Commerce commission.

Gold Stars For Mothers.

If a bill to be introduced by Congressman Royal Johnson of South Dakota passes, Uncle Sam will present a gold star to the mother of every boy who lost his life in the great war. The beautiful sentiment underlying this tribute, has the indorsement of the American Legion.

GREATEST OF ALL CHORAL SOCIETIES TO APPEAR HERE

Peerless St. Olaf College Choir of 55 Voices Will be at Auditorium June 21.

Arrangements are already being made to take care of the largest audience ever appearing at a concert in Thief River Falls when the St. Olaf college choir appears here on the evening of June 21. This famous organization has just completed a tour of the Southwest and the success of last year was repeated. Everywhere the choir has appeared the press and public have been unmeasured in their praise, the statement being repeatedly made that it is without doubt the finest organization of its kind in the United States and compares favorably with the great church choirs of England and Germany.

Edward C. Moore, musical critic of the Chicago Journal, says of their performance: "These three score young people sing only sacred music, at least in their concerts, and they sing it with a dignity, an impressive certainty, a carefully wrought effect that makes it something upon which to model all sacred singing. The most intricate floridities of ancient song, the most complex harmonies of modern compositions are all one to them. One of Conductor Christianson's secrets is the art of giving them the pitch so that no one in the audience has the slightest idea of how he does it. Then they sing and one begins to realize what can be done with unaccompanied voices. They furnish a genuine musical experience."

The Kansas City Times says of Conductor Christianson: "There is in his choir a soft brightness of tone, an enthusiasm in hewing to the line in the complex music, a refinement and delicacy of nuance that suggests the singers are also governed by this religious fervor as well as by the baton of the conductor. If religion can inspire good deeds, why not good singers?"

To Dr. O. F. Mellby, himself a former student at St. Olaf, is largely due the fact that the choir will appear in Thief River Falls. He some time ago began correspondence on the subject and was given the only open date in the organization's itinerary. The concert will be given under the auspices of Trinity Lutheran church.

GERMANY ACCEPTS ALLIED ULTIMATUM; AGREES TO TERMS

Six and Three-Quarters Billion Pounds Sterling is Total Amount of Indemnity.

Germany on Tuesday night accepted the Allied ultimatum. The Reichstag, by a vote of 221 to 175, yielded to the final demands of the Allied powers and, in so doing, agreed to fulfill the terms of the treaty of Versailles "to the capacity" of the nation to do so.

The Allied ultimatum required a definite reply, based on "yes" or "no." No conditional reply would be entertained and the ultimatum was formulated to expire on the night of May 12.

The total sum which Germany is called upon to pay is 6,750,000,000 pounds sterling. Disarmament must be carried on by the Germans in accordance with the provisions of the treaty and the trial of war criminals must be put into effect. Numerous other important terms, in which Germany has been in default, will be enforced.

Grant Ohm left Monday morning for Badger where he spent a day visiting friends.

CONTRACT FOR SCHOOL GIVEN LOCAL CONCERN

The Prichard Co. is Awarded General Constuction Work at $52,385.

Brown Plumbing Company Will Install Heating Plant at a Cost of $16,500.

Bids Opened Monday Were $32,845 Below Those Previously Submitted For Job.

In competitive bidding which took place at the board room in the Lincoln school building on Monday night, Thief River Falls firms were awarded the contracts for the construction of a 14-room school building on the site now occupied by the Knox school on the East side. The general contract was let to The Prichard Company for $52,885. The Brown Plumbing and Heating company secured contracts aggregating $16,500, and the South Side Electrical company of Minneapolis a contract for the electrical work at $2,070. Conracts as let totalled $71,455. Many contractors from Grand Forks, Crookston, Fargo, Moorhead and the Twin Cities were present at the opening of bids, while many firms submitted bids by mail. Ten bids on the general contract alone were opened by the board of education.

$32,845 Saved District.

A remarkable feature of the bidding of Monday night was the drop shown from the prices of a year ago. Bids for the same work were opened on June 21, 1920, when it was found that the lowest price at which the building could be constructed was $104,300, or approximately $25,000 more than the architects had estimated. In comparison with the low bid received last year, the letting of the contracts on Monday for $71,455 represents a drop in prices and cost of labor of $32,845 or a saving to the school district of that amount. The total of the highest bids on construction work received on Monday night was $92,820, other bids ranging well between the high and low marks. All twin city firms who submitted bids did so at figures over $60,000 for the general contract. The second lowest offer of $59,000 was submitted by Fred R. Comb of Minneapolis, who built the Northrop school here several years ago. The highest bid on the plumbing and heating was $21,000; that on the electrical equipment of the building, $3,100.

Low Bids A Surprise.

A. B. Dunham of the firm of Sund & Dunham, Minneapolis architects, who was present and who will act as inspector during the construction of the building, stated that the bids were exceptionally low. Contractors present publicly voiced the opinion that the bid of The Prichard Company was low beyond reason, but later said that the building could be erected at that figure on a small margin of profit.

The voters of the city at a special election held on March 29 last year authorized the sale of bonds in the sum of $135,000 for the erection and equipment of the new school to replace the Knox buildings. The money will be secured from the state at an interest rate of 4 per cent. Funds arising from the bond sale which are not used in the construction and equipment of the building will be placed in the school district sinking fund.

Seven Months For Completion.

The plans as drawn up by the Minneapolis architects call for a 14-room structure which will be the most modern and beautiful school in the city when completed. The frame building now occupying part of the Knox site will be moved from the present location. While the specifications for the building to be erected state that the walls of the brick structure now occupying the remainder of the site may be left standing and incorporated in the new school, W. W. Prichard, Jr., on Tuesday said that it would be entirely wrecked and the material used where possible.

Mr. Prichard also said that the hauling of material would begin within ten days time. Actual construction work will not start until after the close of the school term on June 3, it being necessary to move the frame building before excavation can take place. The successful bidders mean to employ local artisans and laborers for the construction work. The contract allows seven months for the completion of the building or until some time in December.

Secretary of Agriculture Approves Steenerson Bill

The provision of the Steenerson bill requiring boards of trade and Chambers of Commerce to admit to membership co-operative associations, were, on suggestion of the secretary of agriculture, included in the Tincher Grain Futures bill, favorably reported to the house on Tuesday and which is expected to be voted on today.

Miss Effie Hamry, worthy matron of the Winslow chapter of the Eastern Star lodge, went to Minneapolis the first of the week to attend the Grand Chapter.

City Gets Good Wetting But Rain is Not General

The finest downpour of the season hit Thief River Falls on Tuesday afternoon and proved a boon to gardens and pastures. Reports from outlying districts, however, are to the effect that the showers were not general and that several sections which are needing moisture to help crops get a start were not favored. Hardly enough rain fell at Goodridge to lay the dust while there was only a sprinkle to the southwest of the city. The western townships seem to have been passed up entirely but in the country between Hazel and Oklee considerable water fell.

No section is as yet suffering from lack of moisture but it would give things a decided boost if a good wetting were administered.

IOWA FARMER BUYS 2,000 ACRE TRACT; ANOTHER BIG DEAL

Transfers in Which the Purchase Price Aggregates Over $100,000 Are Recorded.

Walter Nation of Black Hawk county, Iowa, last week purchased Marshall county lands aggregating 2,080 acres. Included in the various tracts is the well-known Kelly farm of 640 acres near Gatzke. The remaining parcels of land lie along Marshall county drainage ditch No. 20. The sale was made through the Walker-Gesell Land company of Thief River Falls, the purchase price being $90,000.

Mr. Nation is a prominent Iowa farmer and owns 720 acres of valuable land in the vicinity of Waterloo. A brother will move to the newly acquired Kelly farm at Gatzke to look after the owner's interests in northern Minnesota.

During the same week, the Walker-Gesell company effected to C. E. Lang of Sheridan, Mo., the sale of 960 acres of Beltrami and Marshall county lands formerly owned by Bernard McBrady of Chicago. The purchase price in this instance was $24,000.

LITTLE TOWN HAS 15 TYPHOID CASES

John Sjolsvold, Young Rosewood Farmer, Second Victim of Baffling Epidemic.

The typhoid fever epidemic in and around Rosewood on Saturday claimed a second victim when Johan Sjolsvold, a young Norden township farmer, succumbed to the disease, after an illness of two weeks. He died at the Physicians' hospital here, where he had been moved a week previous. On Thursday his condition was reported as improving by physicians in attendance, but a severe hemmorhage set in on Friday and greatly weakened his resistance. A blood transfusion from his brother, John, was made on Friday, but to no effect.

The Rosewood correspondent for the Times reports that no new cases have been discovered during the last few days and that no definite conclusion has been reached as to the source of the epidemic. Two public sales were conducted in the neighborhood within a possible time for infection and are regarded with suspicion as being distributers. Blood tests conducted by Thief River Falls physicians and Dr. J. Gahlen of the state health department, indicate that several persons who were ill with typhoid during the epidemic of two years ago, are still carriers. None of these, however, were present at lunch distributions at the two public auction sales. Dr. C. M. Adkins, who conducted a personal investigation of conditions at the Rosewood stores, has issued a public notice stating that no tracings can be found there. At the last report 15 cases of fever were being treated.

Two Ex-Soldiers Leave to Take Course at Columbia

Dan R. Maue and W. C. Peterson, two young men who have been making this city their home during the past year, will leave tomorrow morning by auto for Minneapolis. Both are veterans of the late war, having been members of the 151st field artillery, and have been recommended for vocational training. They will engage in some line of business that will permit of their remaining out-of-doors as much as possible, until Sept. 1, when they will enter Columbia university, taking up the study of journalism.

Mr. Maue has been a member of The Times editorial staff since his arrival in the city, while Mr. Peterson was until recently city salesman for the Tessum-Coumbe company, altho formerly engaged in newspaper work. Both are young men of a high order of ability and have made a large number of friends in the city who will regret their departure and wish for them the most unbounded success wherever their lots may be cast. With their newspaper training as a background they should make much of the unequalled facilities offered by Columbia for turning their experience to the best account. Mr. Maue's home is at Monticello, while Mr. Peterson hails from Marshall, this state, so that it is probable they may return to Minnesota at the close of their college term.

CHORAL SINGERS SCORE SUCCESS WITH ORATORIO

Gaul's "Holy City" Presented to Small But Appreciative Audience Tuesday Night.

Harry Phillips of Minneapolis, Displays Range and Power in Baritone Rendition.

Mrs. Fisher and Miss Iverson Share Honors of Evening by Fine Solo Work.

The Choral society presented Gaul's oratorio, "Holy City," before a small but appreciative audience at the city auditorium Thursday evening and scored a triumph second to none other in the musical annals of Thief River Falls. The program moved with a smoothness and simplicity of presentation worthy of a more professional organization and gave proof sufficient of exceptional talent possessed within the city. The work of Miss Maude Johnson, director, and her singers, is every where commented on, being given unstinted praise. Individual members of the society entered into their work with a spirit betokening no small amount of artistry and immerged with an established reputation.

Of the chorus numbers it would be difficult to pick out anyone more deserving of meritorious comment than its fellow numbers, tho the chorus for double choir, "Let the Heavens Rejoice," was sung with unusually fine spirit and proved an inspiration to those who heard it. The singing of the ladies' duets, trios and quartettes as well as that of the mixed quartette was done with a finish and beauty that left nothing to be desired.

Solo Work Excellent.

Dr. J. N. Nesse and S. Karl Sundahl sang tenor solos which were greeted with prolonged applause. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher's two numbers, "Eye Hath Not Seen" and "Come Ye Blessed to My Father," were features of the evening's inspirational program. Mrs. Fisher possesses a powerful contralto voice which she controls with great precision, her tones especially in the lower register, being pure, rich and beautiful. In addition to the solo, "These Are They Which Came," Miss Grace Iverson sang the soprano solo in "Let the Heavens Rejoice," vieing with all others on the program for the honors of the evening. She has frequently been heard here both in concert and church choir work, as well as at private entertainments, yet the beauty of her voice came as a revelation to many on Tuesday night. She sings a soprano of unusually high range and her tones are clear and bird-like, no other term so clearly doing them justice as the word "exquisite."

Miss Laura Forde, piano accompanist, is to be congratulated upon her playing of the entire score without a single error and in a manner calling forth unstinted praise.

A Wonderful Voice.

In conclusion, too much cannot be said in praise of Harry Phillips of Minneapolis and his powerful baritone voice. He is a great artist. A better male voice has never been heard here. In the singing of solo parts of the oratorio as well as in the negro spirituals and other numbers given during the interim between part 1 and 2 of the oratorio, he produced tones as soft as those of an aeolian harp and others of such volume as to nearly bring his listeners to their feet. His singing is apparently all done with the greatest ease. Wherever possible his work was greeted with storms of applause. Following his presentation of "The Crying of Waters" and "On the Road to Mandalay," he sang two encores and because of a heavy part in the remainder of the program was obliged to refuse a third. The city of Thief River Falls is considered very fortunate in having heard so gifted a singer.

It is to be regretted that the first two appearances of this society in public have resulted in a financial loss. It is understood that expenses to date exceed the revenue and that it will be necessary of the members of the society to personally make good this deficit.

CLASS OF '21 WILL PRESENT COMEDY

"All of A Sudden Peggy" to Be Given Under Direction of L. N. Pierce, Friday, May 20.

The class of 1921 will present "All of a Sudden Peggy" at the auditorium Friday evening, May 20. A great deal of effort is being put into the necessary preparations for the production and under the direction of L. N. Pierce, principal of the high school, it is certain to be a success.

"All of a Sudden Peggy" is built on three ideas. Act I deals with the suddenness of Peggy; Act II, the suddenness of consequences; Act III, the consequences of suddenness. Peggy does things "all of a sudden—such as kissing a young Englishman when he gives her an idea for the book she is writing and giving out the news that she is married to Jimmy so her mother will be free to marry Lord Anthony Crackenthorpe. Complications arise so that by the end of the second act things are in a terrible muddle, when they take a turn for the better and everything is straightened out by the end of the third act. It is a comedy all the way through and has been so well worked out by the author that in addition to a great many laughs it holds the intense interest of the audience throughout the entire play.

The cast of characters and synopsis are as follows:

Anthony, Lord Crackenthorpe (Fellow of the Entomological Society) Allen Fossum.

The Hon. Jimmy Keppel, (his brother) Hugh McDaniels.

Major Archie Phipps, (retired) (Lady Crackenthorpe's Brother) Harold Smithers.

Jack Menzies, Chester Dols.

Parker (Footman at Hawkhurst) Ernest Zeh.

Lucas (Manservant at Jimmy's Flat) Dreng Bjoranrau.

Lady Crackenthorpe (Lord Crackenthorpe's Mother) Vellerrie Parenteau.

The Hon. Millicent Keppel, Dotty Krafthefer.

The Hon. Mrs. Colquhoun, Mildred Bottelson.

Mrs. O'Mara, (Widow of Professor O'Mara, F. R. S.) Rose Oski.

Peggy, (her Daughter) Mary Vance.

Act I. "The Suddenness of Peggy" The White Hall at Hawkhurst, Lord Crackenthorpe's Country House.

Act II. "The Suddenness of Consequences." At Jimmy Keppel's Flat in London, a week later.

Act. III. "The Consequence of Suddenness." The White Hall at Hawkhurst, on the evening of the same day.

NAME COMMITTEES FOR MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE HERE

Members of Elmer J. Eklund Post Will Have Charge of Program For Occasion.

Final arrangements for the observance here of Memorial day and the appointment of committees to take in charge every detail of the ceremonies, were made at a meeting of civic organization representatives held at the Commercial club rooms on Friday night.

WILL RECOMMEND TRACTOR FACTORY PLAN BE DROPPED

H. W. Protzeller and J. J. Richter, committee appointed by W. A. Hall, Jr., of the Commercial club, to make a personal investigation of the proposition presented by O. L. Gilliland and C. A. Janicke of Minneapolis, whereby the latter offered to establish a factory for a new tractor in this city, will report to the club at noon luncheon today. Their recommendation will be that the matter be dropped as in their judgment the enterprise holds forth no promise of being a success for the present at least.

They found that the inventors of the tractor have not yet received a patent, although a request for one has been in the patent office since 1919. The investigators could find no particular advantage in the new macine over the ordinary caterpillar tractors, while several things came to light which they regarded as drawbacks. While they admit that the machine may turn out to be a fine thing for straight-away hauling, its turning radius is too great to ever make it popular with the farmer. It was also found that the model weighs over four tons, and while this will undoubtedly be cut down by later refinements it seemed doubtful if even in this particular the new machine will be in any way superior to those now on the market. The plan of financing the project also failed to meet with the approval of the Thief River Falls men and the matter will undoubtedly be dropped.

At the luncheon today M. L. Holbrook is scheduled to give a talk on "Modern Methods in Dry Cleaning." Mr. Holbrook is proprietor of the newly established Thief River Falls Dress club and is an expert in his line of business.

FARM BUREAU'S WORK PROVEN GREAT BENEFIT

County Agent J. J. McCann Submits Report Covering Three Years' Operations.

Grain and Potato Yields Increased and Cattle Herds Improved by New Methods.

Financial Statement Shows That Cost to Taxpayers Has Been $1700 Annually.

The Pennington County Farm Bureau submits a statement of the work accomplished during the past three years and also an itemized account of the annual expenses to the county for the past three and one-half years.

The farm bureau now consists of 450 members on the new organization basis. Three townships have been organized and directors appointed to represent their locality at the county meetings. The entire county will be organized during the month of May and an annual meeting will be held in June.

Previous to this time the work has been carried under a handicap, as no township organization existed and it was very hard to tell what farmers wished to have the bureau do when they did not place their request in the farm bureau office. At the present time such requests may be placed with the township director and he, in turn, will take it to the county board of farm bureau directors. This will serve as a very efficient chain, connecting each township in Pennington county by an organized group of directors elected by the farmers in each locality.

During three years of the bureau's operation it assisted in grain and potato treating demonstrations which helped to eliminate oats smut and potato diseases. The increase in yield from plots so treated has amounted in value to $27,600.00.

The Peat Demonstrations.

Due to the demonstrations on mineral and peat soil nine carloads of phosphate were shipped into Pennington county. This has raised the yield of grain from five to 10 bushels of wheat to the acre and 15 to 50 bushels of oats to the acre. The number of acres so treated was 2,240. At an average increase of 10 bushels of oats to the acre it would bring the total increase to 22,400 bushels. At 30 cents a bushel this would amount to $6,720.00—a very conservative estimate of the increase for one year. This fertilization will show beneficial results for four years, which will greatly increase the total saving.

It has also been demonstrated thru the bureau that phosphate fed to cattle will keep them in much better condition and will save them from chewing boards and bones, which results from feeding animals food that lacks phosphate.

Free Tuberculin Tests.

Eight thousand six hundred and two animals have been tested for tuberculosis during the past four years. This work was all done free of charge by federal veterinarians. At a cost of $2.00 per head this would have cost the stockmen of the county $17,224.00. This not only benefited the owners of the herds tested but prevented tuberculin animals from being sold or exchanged throughout the county, which would have spread the disease in other herds—not only of cattle, but of hogs and poultry as well. Thirty-five percent of tuberculosis in infants is caused by drinking milk from tuberculin animals, so this

PRESIDENT HARDING DESIGNATES MAY 30 AS MEMORIAL DAY

Call Upon Fellow Citizens to Fittingly Honor Soldiers Who Fell in Battles—Asks All to Pay Homage to Noble Dead.

The annual Memorial day proclamation setting aside May 30 as a holiday was issued by President Harding. The text follows:

"Whereas this nation has been conceived in prayer and devotion by men and women who were moved under God to found a nation where principles of right should form the lasting corner stone; and, whereas, these principles purchased at the price of great sacrifice have been fostered by a worthy posterity; and, whereas, the great war has lately laid its costly demands upon our lands; now, therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, do hereby proclaim Monday the 30th day of May, already freighted with sacred and stimulated memories, a day of public memorial. I invite my fellow citizens fittingly to pay homage on this day to a noble dead who sleep in homeland, beneath the sea or in foreign fields so that we who survive might enjoy the blessings of peace and happiness and to the end that liberty and justice, without which no nation can exist, shall live forever.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done in the district of Columbia, this third day of May, in the year of our Lord 1921, and of the independence of the United States the 145th."

Society and Club

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Elev Aakre in Reiner township was the scene of a most enjoyable party on Saturday evening when eight automobile loads of people from the Holt neighborhood dropped in quite informally for the purpose of reminding the excellent couple of the fact that it was their silver wedding anniversary. The guests brought with them everything needful in the way of good things to eat and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner. Mr. and Mrs. Aakre were presented with a silver plated bowl containing a considerable number of silver dollars as a momento of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Aakre were married in the township of Holt on May 7, 1896 and resided there for nine years after their marriage. Sixteen years ago they moved to Reiner township in this county where they are held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends and neighbors.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

MUST BE SUPPORTED.

In another part of The Times today will be found the annual report of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association, compiled by County Agent J. J. McCann. The matter is of great interest to our people as a whole but should particularly appeal to the farmers. Unless a person has come directly into contact with the activities of the bureau he can of necessity have but a meager conception of the wonderful work that is being accomplished.

There are at the present time 450 members of the Pennington county organization and a campaign is now being carried on for the forming of township units. This plan of carrying on the enterpise will prove of great value as it will permit of closer cooperation and provide better opportunities for solving neighborhood problems. The township unit brings the women of the farms into closer touch with the agricultural development program as a whole, and their aid and influence are matters of the very highest importance.

Among the many improvements directly traceable to farm bureau work may be mentioned the experiments with phosphate fertilizers on peat lands. The wheat yields on these lands have been increased anywhere from five to ten bushels per acre by this scientific fertilization, while oats have been increased from 15 to 50 bushels per acre. This means that the value of the oat crop of the county is $6,720 greater than before the experiments were launched.

The stock men of the county were saved $17,221 through the free testing of cattle for tuberculosis. The total number of animals tested was 8,602 and the veterinarians' charge would ordinarily have been $2.00 per head. The farm bureau is directly responsible for this big saving.

The bringing of purebred cattle into the county, the treatment of livestock for disease, the marketing of potatoes and wool, the great boost given poultry raising, the important work being carried on by boys' and girls' clubs—these things are merely a part of the day's work and hardly form subjects for comment in spite of their great value.

The farm bureau has proven its worth, as any person who reads Mr. McCann's report will have to admit. At that its work is in its infancy. When the farmers get a clearer understanding of the many ways in which it can be made of assistance there will be no trouble about providing the ways and means for carrying it forward and extending its usefulness. It is the one great agricultural movement in the United States today and its membership is growing faster than that of any other organization in the world. Doing anything that would in any manner check its progress would be the greatest error that could be committed by an agricultural community.

A REAL PRICE DROP.

Building costs are down nearly one-third from what they were a year ago. At least this condition is indicated by the bids received for a new school building to be erected in Thief River Falls. There is an actual saving of more than $35,000 on a job estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. The bids showed that on every item going into the construction of a building the cost has been greatly reduced.

While this is a good thing for the people of the district, it is also valuable in proving that the present is an ideal time for engaging in building operations. Materials, labor and everything else is so far below the peak price prevailing at the close of the war that there is certainly no reason for holding up construction work of any kind in the hope that costs will be lowered. Those in a position to know assert that prices must advance, this being particularly true of lumber. When stocks that have accumulated by reason of the slump in general construction thruout the country during the past few years have been depleted, it will be replaced by material produced at very high cost and the manufacturers will have to advance the price or take tremendous losses. It is also certain that when the building boom now in the offing gets under way there is going to be such a demand for materials that the price will be forced up, to what height no one can foretell.

There is going to be quite a lot of building done in Thief River Falls this summer. This new school house and the additions contracted for at the sanatorium are the most important jobs thus far announced, but it is hoped that there will be a general resumption of residence construction. The city is easily short 150 modern houses at the present time and the situation is getting worse instead of better. A few residences are already going up but more are urgently needed. It would seem as if there is a fine investment opportunity right here now, particularly when the low costs and labor supply are taken into consideration. That the right time for going into building on a large scale is here cannot be doubted.

It is also gratifying to note that the contract for the new Knox school was awarded to a local concern. The Prichard Company only recently engaged in the contracting business but has already a number of smaller jobs under way. The important plumbing and heating equipment will also be put in by a local company. This means that home labor will be employed to as great an extent as possible—another fact of importance.

ST. OLAF CHOIR COMING.

Sometime during the latter part of June the people of this vicinity are going to have an opportunity of hearing one of the greatest choirs in the country if not in the entire world. F. Melius Christiansen is coming with the great St. Olaf's college singers and their appearance will be a red letter event in the song annals of northern Minnesota.

This choir recently returned from a tour of the Southwest where they added new laurels to those bestowed upon them in the East last year. Press and public state without hesitation that the choral work of these young men and women is so far superior to anything deemed possible that return engagements are almost begged for. One of the most remarkable demonstrations encountered on the latest trip was at St. Louis, Mo., where 5,000 people stood up and cheered the singers at the conclusion of one of their numbers.

The entire section will turn out on the night the St. Olaf choir is here and the large auditorium will be filled to capacity. It is not often that our people have an opportunity of hearing such singing as is presented by this choir and they will not be slow in taking advantage of this opportunity.

But we will have other good things in the way of music before the big event. The Koneeny concert on the evening of May 17 is one of these. This great soldier-violinist is claimed by everyone to be one of the greatest artists appearing in public today. The American Legion is sponsoring his appearance and their enterprise in securing an attraction of such unquestioned merit should be appreciated.

The Choral society's presentation of "The Holy City" on Tuesday evening surprised everyone by its excellence. Harry Phillips, the baritone soloist, who came up from Minneapolis to take the solo parts, was given a reception that must have proved highly gratifying even to one accustomed to the plaudits of audiences in large cities.

All of which is very fine. There is no danger of getting too much of this kind of thing. The liberal support afforded high class entertainments of this kind testifies to the intelligence and good taste of our people.

THE DONATION SALE.

An event of more than ordinary interest to the farmers of northwestern Minnesota will take place at Crookston on June 14, when a large amount of blooded livestock will be sold at auction, the proceeds going to pay off the indebtedness on the Red River Valley Livestock association's sales pavilion and exhibition quarters. Nothing could more effectively testify to the stock raisers' interest in the pavilion and the annual crop show than their attitude at this time. They are taking some of the finest individuals from their herds and flocks and presenting them outright to the association.

Pennington county stockmen are represented among the donators. To date three are on record: Olaf Ramstad, who gives a purebred Red Polled heifer; Fred Beerbower furnishes one of his finest Holsteins and James Dreeland of Wylie, supplies one of his prize-winning Poland China hogs. Fifty head of different kinds of stock has already been offered and at least 25 more are expected.

While the primary idea of the sale is to raise money with which to pay the outstanding indebtedness on the pavilion, the event will afford an excellent opportunity for anyone who is aiming to go into the purebred livestock business. The animals offered are all of the very best breeding to be found in the country and the purchaser will be getting something that has no superior anywhere. Many will doubtless take this opportunity to get a start in the purebred business.

Livestock men in the northwestern counties generally and the citizens of Crookston particularly have worked hard to make a success of the pavilion and winter show idea. With the indebtedness wiped out there is nothing in the way of the plant becoming one of the stockmen's most valuable assets. The spirit in which everything is approached which can in any manner help the enterprise along makes its success a certainty.

Plan early to be in Crookston on June 14.

Old Black Joe rests quiet in his grave only through failure to recognize his many variations.

EFFERVESCENCE

"Hosiery And Underwear Manufacturers Advocate Open Shop," headlines a twin city daily. It has been apparent for some time that they favored open-work.

It will be quite the proper thing to swat the fly again this year, in spite of the fact that a University of Virginia professor has found that the Kentucky coffee tree is deadly to the critter.

Madame Fashion again decreeing that ears will be worn to some extent, the jealous husband of Muskegon, Michigan, who twisted off his wife's ears in a fit of passion, undoubtedly let himself in for a pretty strong loss-of-beauty suit.

Amateur gardeners are urged to remember that the germinating of seeds requires the placing of the seed envelope at the end of the row to guide the sprouts to the surface of the soil.

How many women when placed on a jury, a board or a commission, can render an impartial judgment in spite of the fact that they do not like the millinery display made by the wife of the subject on the carpet? One might as well ask why raincoats and umbrellas are always some place else when it rains.

Oolai, after having been absent from this column for some time, breaks into print again with the statement that he does not care for "these paregorical movies."

The Minneapolis restauranteurs who couldn't think faster than the stuttering bandit could talk rightly deserve their loss of $200.

Icarus, as he reads his morning paper while seated in his golden chair on high, undoubtedly pats himself on the back and muses, "Gee, I sure started something," for such headlines as, "Mayor Plans to Fly Back From St. Cloud," are no longer uncommon.

JUST SEEMS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE

Duluth Woman Declares Tanlac Has Completely Restored Her Health—Gains 20 Lbs.

"If there's one thing I'm more thankful for than anything else it's what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. A. Nordeen, of 125 W. Superior St., Duluth, Minn. Mrs. Nordeen is a life-long resident of Duluth and is highly esteemed by a large circle of friends.

"For a year before I got Tanlac I had indigestion so bad I could scarcely retain anything on my stomach. No matter what I ate or how little, in just a few minutes after I ate it I turned almost deathly sick and just suffered agony. I got to where I actually dreaded to eat and I lost weight until I only weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. I seemed to get worse and finally I got to where even the sight of food would turn me sick.

"But Tanlac has changed things right around for me, and the way it has helped me seems almost too good to be true. I can eat better now than I have for years and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. I've been built up to where I weigh one hundred and fifty pounds and feel good all the time. I surely am glad to say a good word for Tanlac."

Sophomore Issue.

Last week you had an opportunity to judge the ability of the Freshman class of the Lincoln high school to edit a school paper. You will agree with us that they published a clever issue, and we compliment them on their success. We, the Sophomores, realize that more will be expected from us, because of our longer training in the rudiments of rhetoric under the able guidance of the teachers of the Lincoln High. We are not going to start out with the boast that we are putting out a better paper than any of the other classes, but we believe the Sophomore class has as much dormant literary talent as any class in high school. As few have had journalistic training, our newspaper style will differ somewhat from the customary; but we value this opportunity to show the world what two years at the Thief River Falls high school will do to develop a person's proficiency in the use of the English language, and also to show how the class of 1923 will work as a unit when the reputation of the class is involved. Just how far we have succeeded, the readers of the "Progress" may judge when they have read our sheet from beginning to end.

Retrospect.

As we are now at the close of our Sophomore year, it may be well for us to make a survey of the two years we have spent at the Lincoln High—to take an inventory, which is now considered so essential in business. High school may easily be compared to business. There is the credit side, what one gets out, the debit side, what one puts in, and the profits. First of all we must consider the investment, or with us, what we give on which we expect returns. Then there is the gross income, or in our sphere, the benefits which we receive from our high school course. Finally, there is the most speculative item, the profits—A business which does not yield a profit is considered a failure. Likewise, if we do not get more benefits from our high school course than to balance the time and effort spent, then why are we here? If we are not gaining anything of lasting value here, we might as well be doing something else, which would at least be of some value to humanity in general. For the chief purpose in our being in the world at all is to serve humanity according to our various capabilities, in the method for which each of us is individually best fitted, and the true purpose of our educational system is to help us increase our ability to serve our fellowmen. Anyone who places a purely monetary value on education is as certain to fail, in his earthly mission, as the business man whose only aim is the immediate profits.

In summing up the benefits received from our two years of high school, there are several things that must be carefully considered. It is not only the acquirement of knowledge that makes education desirable. A world of information will not avail the person who is hampered by narrow-mindedness or who lacks decision; the much-educated man whose activities are mis-directed by base ambitions or lack of character is more dangerous to society than the ignorant Bolshevist. Knowledge is the tool or medium which we must use in fulfilling our mission, but in order to insure efficiency and success a farsighted, observing mind, which is capable of exercising good judgment, is required. In order that this powerful accomplishing force of a thorough knowledge plus a strong effective mind may work for good rather than evil, a firm, invincible character is necessary. These three essentials to a real success, knowledge, an effective mind, and a strong character or personality may all be cultivated and developed to a greater or less extent at the Lincoln high school. Have we been doing this, to the best of our ability, the last two years? If we have, we may expect the time and energy spent here to return us great dividends. If not, it is never too late to begin on a good enterprise. Let not any member of the class of '23 have to say, "Oh, if I only had realized what opportunities I had!"

Class Play May 20.

"All of a Sudden Peggy," to be presented by the Senior class May 20, is very rapidly being shaped into form and all indications point toward one of the best and brightest comedies ever staged. The cast has been working very conscientiously of late and rehearsals are being held very regularly. Anthony has become so enveloped in his part that it has become generally known that he is driving the hobby of examining the bristles on the left side of a spider's left leg during his spare moments. Archie, who has been a dog in his days and still yearns for the bright lights of the "public house," is seen daily taking inventory of his remaining stock of home brew, which is so fast diminishing; all in his efforts to live his part. The rest of the characters are too real to be true.

All Seniors will be supplied with tickets and it is expected that not a vacant seat will be found in the house. Reserve your seats at Lambert's early. Remember the date, May 20.

Bread Club Contest.

On Saturday, May 7, twelve of the members of the Bread club baked in the annual contest. The girls set their bread at 8 o'clock in the morning.

At 12:30 a delicious dinner was served. Everything was prepared by the girls. Their guests were: Miss Dix, Miss Elliot and Miss Shirley Anderson. The following is the menu:

Pork Roast Mashed Potatoes Gravy
Sandwiches Pickles Coffee
Ice Cream Vanilla Wafers

At 4:15 Miss Geifer, domestic science instructor of Goodridge, judged the bread. Esther Lunsetter won first, her bread scoring 95. Myrtle and Hazel Krause won second, their bread scoring 94. Virginia Clemens won third, her bread scoring 93. The following are girls who baked: Esther Lunsetter, Hazel and Myrtle Krause, Myrtle Myron, Virginia Clemens, Grace Bakke, Margaret Williams, May Roberts, Evelyn Land, Eleanor Werstlein, Gladys Kolden, Clara Ostmoe.

Northrup entertainment tomorrow night.

Wood Work Exhibit.

The best pieces of furniture which have been made by the manual training classes during the winter will be exhibited for public inspection in a store window some time in May. The boys of the manual training classes of both the high school and the grade schools have turned out some exceptionally fine articles, such as writing desks, chairs, library tables, jardiniere stands, foot-stools, tool boxes, candle holders and match boxes and it is highly desirable that the public should know that the manual training is a practical, worth-while course of instruction.

Northrup entertainment, tomorrow night.

Domestic Art Exhibition.

The high school sewing classes are busy preparing for their annual exhibit which will be on display in two weeks. A contest will be held, Friday the 13th to decide which garments will enter the exhibit. There are too many garments to enter on display so a number of the best ones will be selected. The final decision will be based upon choice of material, design, accuracy of workmanship, neatness and general effect. Watch for the display in one of the downtown store windows and see how well the girls have done.

Rural Teachers Meet.

On the afternoon of Saturday, May 14, the rural teachers of Pennington county will hold their annual convention at the normal rooms in the Washington building. The purpose of the meeting is chiefly to hear the reports of the sectional chairmen of the Teachers' Progressive League, and to select a committee to meet with the school boards of the county on June 3rd, to discuss teachers' salaries for next year. Other matters in which the teachers have a common interest will also be taken up. In the evening a reception will be held at the normal rooms at which the normal girls, Mr. and Mrs. Gunderson and Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler will be honor guests.

Girl Scouts.

Two patrols, the Whip-poor-will and the Pine Tree, have passed the Tenderfoot examination for Girl Scouts and are now enrolled at the National Headquarters as active Scouts. The examinations, held in the Public Library, were given by Mrs. Zeh, Miss Ruth Johnson, Miss Lorna Dodge and Miss Margaret Dix.

Nature study under the direction of Mrs. Zeh is to be carried on during the coming weeks. Two patrols will hike through the woods and fields, studying the birds, trees and flowers.

On May 21, Girl Scout Day, an athletic meet for all of the Girl Scouts will be conducted on the school grounds. Long distance ball throwing, the running hop, step and jump, the 50 yard dash, the broad jump, kitten-ball and volley ball games will be the leading features of the day. After these events all of the girls will enjoy the biggest picnic of the year. Watch for further details.

Should Course be Dropped?

At a recent meeting of the School Board the question of whether the commercial course should be dropped or continued was discussed. Most of the members seemed to think it would be a good idea to drop it, as it would do away with a great deal of expense incurred by its continuation. This is very true, but what about the students who started this course and who will not be able to finish it? If he has not the means to go to college or take a course of some kind after his four years of high school, what is he going to do?

Is it not unfair to the student who has started this course? This is a serious question and demands just consideration.

—STUDENT OPINION.

Personals.

Misses Swift and E. Johnson left Friday evening for Crookston and East Grand Forks.

Conrad Hovie is among the sophomore boys who have recently returned to school after a short stay "down on the farm," during the opening of the rush spring season.

The Elks' play, "Nothing But the Truth," which was given at the city auditorium on May 5th, was attended by a large number of high school students.

Eleven high school boys enjoyed an automobile excursion to St. Hilaire on Monday evening, in a single Ford. Of course it was a trifle overloaded, but then—

Spring Football.

Football has been taken up as a spring athletic at the high school this year, as the students seemed to take a greater interest in that than in baseball. Quite a number of men have been practicing diligently for the past two weeks, and a promising team has been rounded out of the last year's veterans plus several new recruits, who are taking it up in the hope of making the team next fall. This spring practice will be valuable for both the old and new members of the team, as it is only a little more than three months until the fall season begins, and as all who have taken part in high school football know, the training must then usually be rushed in order to be at least somewhat prepared for the first game, which in our climate must come as early as possible in order that the full schedule may be played in our short fall season.

Several of last year's stars—McDaniel, Bjornaraa, Penney, Fossum, Smithers and Zeh, graduate this year and their places will be hard to fill, but with such veterans as Herron, LaBree, Doland, Evenson, Holmgren, Halvorson, Barzen, Anderson, Sorenson and Hendry as the neucleus of the new team and with the training the new players will get in the spring practice, we anticipate a very successful season in football next year.

When I Was a Freshman.

I used to be a Freshman once,
'Twas but a year ago;
But the memory of those bygone days,
Still tell their tales of woe.

They always called me "Freshy,"
Which made me very sore;
I said that I'd get even,
When I was a Sophomore.

For me the time flies swiftly,
In this great Sophomore year,
But when I was a Freshman,
Time stayed more in the rear.

I always had a good time,
In Freshmans' work or play,
But the fact that I'm a Sophomore,
Is more than words can say.

Sophomores in Athletics.

The class of 1923 have always taken a leading part in all high school activities and we are justly proud of the records made by the representatives of our class. Those who have taken part in high school activities are:

Track—1920—Took all honors: J. Paranteau, H. Doland, C. Herron.

A Monday Morning.

Scene—A class room. Time—The first period. Characters—Mr. Tommeraasen and fifteen students.

Mr. Tommeraasen: "Is everyone here today?"

Students: "Yes."

Mr. T.: "Please lock the door, Zeh so that the rest can't come in."

Fossum: "Can't we let our lesson go for today? I forgot where it was and didn't study."

Miss Weeks: "No, let's not let it go today. I studied it last night. Wait until tomorrow."

Mr. T.: "All right, take paper and pencil for your lesson for today."

Fiterman: "Oh! I forgot my paper upstairs."

Mr. T.: "Miss Crandall, have you got a tablet? If so please pass it around. Now take theorem 10."

Miss Hoppa: "I can't do that theorem."

Mr. T.: "Why if you could do it, you would laugh at yourself. Oh! yes, I almost forgot. The following students stay after school for make-up work tonight: Lorraine Will, Allen Fossum, Ruth Hoppa, Edward Fiterman and Esther Larson."

Miss Will: "It's Girls' Glee club tonight and I have to stay for that."

Mr. T.: "Well I suppose you'll have to stay for that too, won't you Fossum? So we'll have to let it go until Wednesday night."

"There's just time for one more theorem; take number 15."

Miss Larson: "That's just the one I can't do."

Mr. T.: "Oh, yes, try it."

Miss Larson: "There goes the bell so I won't have to do it."

Mr. T.: "Just a minute. I want Fossum and Zeh to stay here a few minutes after everybody has gone."

Jokes.

Miss Miller (in Commercial Geography): "Is Russia Dry?"

Sidney Schutt: "I don't know if they have prohibition or not."

Fredolf G.: "The Potomac river is of hysterical importance."

What difference does it make if you are at the head or tail of your class; they teach the same thing at both ends.

Miss Brown: "Whose report card is that?"

Clifford S.: "Yours truly."

Miss Elliot (speaking to Elizabeth Johnson who has not studied her American History lesson): "Did you study anything?"

Elizabeth: "Yes, I studied English this morning."

Harold Peterson (in Zoology class) "I don't know how to pronounce this word."

Miss Svedal: "Say it then."

Found on the blackboard in Miss Brown's room: "Laboratory work today. Everybody welcome."

Miss Miller (in Commercial Geog.) "What are the industries of Hungary?"

Bright Student: "Eating."

Miss Miller (in Commercial Geog.) "What is condensed milk?"

James V.: "That's evaporated goat's milk."

Miss Brown: "What is the rate of traveling on land?"

Fredolf G.: "You can go for nothing if you walk."

Miss Elliot (in Civics): "What is a legislative rider?"

Student: "A legislative rider is a man who rides on horseback to the White House with the bills that have been passed in Congress."

"I want to compliment you on the improvement in your themes since last year," said the teacher.

"Well, I ought to be better," answered Anthony T., "I wrote a letter to my girl every day last summer."

Miss Brown: "What is the difference between the jungles of Africa and South America?"

Henry V.: "The jungles of South America are more civilized."

Judging from the rapid progress made in Zoology class, the dissection of vertibrates and invertibrates, a few days hence vitamines will be dissected and made a study of.

REPORT OF COUNTY NURSE FOR APRIL

Will Attempt to Cover Every District Before Close of Present School Term

During the month of April Miss Marie Knudsen, Pennington county nurse, visited 18 rural schools of the county, conducting physical examinations of 257 children and giving 17 class-room talks on the subject "Good Health." Her work has been facilitated during the month by the early opening to traffic of all country roads, which permitted the use of a Ford coupe purchased since the first of the year for that purpose from the funds of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross. Miss Knudsen is making every effort to complete her inspection of rural school pupils before the schools close for the present term.

In addition to visiting the 18 schools, Miss Knudsen has made 41 home visits, talked at three parent-teacher meetings, accompanied many children to the offices of city physicians who are lending their co-operation in the good health work, and given nursing care in several instances where imperative.

In conducting the inspection of 257 children, the county nurse found physical defects as follows:

Throughout ten important Middle Western States, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) serves the drivers of these machines. Not only does it provide them with Red Crown, the high-grade gasoline, and with Polarine, the perfect motor oil, but it furnishes the road oil and asphalt which surfaces hundreds of miles of the best roads in the country as well.

Roads made with Stanolind Paving Asphalt make riding easy and smooth, and by eliminating the ruts and dust it also keeps down the upkeep cost of car, and clothing, and enables the motorist to get the utmost of pleasure from his machine.

Such roads eliminate the constant attention and expense which dirt roads exact, thus saving time, labor and money for property owners along the way.

MINNESOTA FARM MACHINES Are Made In Your Own Factory

The Minnesota State Prison is your factory, because, as a taxpayer, you helped to build it. And for the same reason you are entitled to your share of any benefits made possible by the industry carried on in this institution. The farmers of Minnesota are saving thousands of dollars every year on agricultural implements manufactured here—and if you have not been getting your share of these savings it is because you have not been buying the Minnesota Line of Agricultural Machinery.

This saving has not alone been effected on the price of Minnesota machinery, but its lower price has been the means of keeping the prices of competing lines down.—Yet the Minnesota Prison made goods are still lower than any of the competing lines.

YOU HAVE SOMETHING COMING TO YOU

When you purchase Minnesota Binder Twine or Machinery you are getting some return on your taxes, in the shape of a saving on the original cost and the saving on repairs and longer life of the machinery.

Minnesota Binder Twine this year offers a saving of $800,000 dollars to those who buy it. Think of that! There will be at least 16,000,000 pounds of twine manufactured. This is sold for 2½c per pound (wholesale) less than any other brand, which alone makes a saving of $400,000. Then freight, jobbers' profit, etc., would make 2½c per pound difference—altogether a saving of $800,000!

Minnesota Binders—a well-made high-grade product—as good as any on the market—can save you quite a little money. The 7-foot Binder, for example, is just $26.61 lower in price than its nearest competitor. Can you afford to overlook an economy like that? The 6 and 7-foot Binders offer, comparatively, the same saving.

Minnesota Rakes—the 12-foot, 36-tooth size—are just $8.44 lower in price than other good lines sold in the State of Minnesota—and their material and workmanship is guaranteed. Remember this when you need a rake.

Minnesota Mowers have many points of superiority, yet they sell for $13.00 less than any other make of similar quality. For long service and general satisfaction you can't beat 'em.

The MINNESOTA LINE of agricultural machinery is guaranteed by the State. It is made of the best materials obtainable and manufactured under the constant supervision of state-employed experts.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You nnot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at ght; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; aprent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

BEST HOME TALENT PLAY YET STAGED PRODUCED BY ELKS

"Nothing But The Truth" Pleased Large Crowd Last Thursday Night.

The three-act comedy drama, "Nothing But The Truth," presented by the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks at the city auditorium on Thursday night proved one of the most entertaining productions ever seen on the local stage and drew an attendance of over 800 persons, many of them from neighboring towns. The play was staged under the direction of L. Nathan Pierce, principal of the Lincoln high school, to whom great credit is due for having so successfully coached the cast of characters in the short time of less than three weeks. From the box office standpoint the comedy was a success beyond all expectations, the matinee given on Thursday contributing to the receipts for the Elk's treasury.

The play as given was replete with laugh material. Thanks to efficient propertymen, Roy Brown and Rolf Rasmusson, the settings were unusually complete and luxurious. City merchants furnished gowns, clothing and stage properties. The Thief River Falls Concert orchestra of 20 pieces added the finishing touch to the play-house atmosphere which prevailed with a complete program of overtures and between-act numbers.

The scene of Act 1 of "Nothing But The Truth" is the office of a brokerage firm in New York City. The firm in handling all sorts of stock often have to divert from the narrow path in making sales, which procedure Bob Bennett does not believe in. His two partners disagree with him on the score and the outcome of the argument is the making of a bet by Mr. Bennett that he can tell the absolute truth for twenty-four hours.

The scene of Acts 2 and 3 is laid in the Long Island home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralston, the former being the senior partner of the brokerage firm. Bennett has been brought to the summer home for the purpose of forcing him into telling a lie before the lapse of the 24 hours. During his stay he is continually forced to face situations more than embarrassing. Many feelings are hurt, a home is nearly wrecked and a sweetheart nearly lost—but the young broker wins his wager and, of course, the girl.

The performance evidenced a most careful selection of players for the cast. L. H. Lawrence as Bob Bennett, the truthful young man, falls naturally into the role of hero and portrayed the over-wrought youth in admirable manner. Miss Grace Iverson in the role of Gwen, Ralston's daughter and Bob's sweetheart, quite won the hearts of her audience with her easy stage presence and consistent playing. H. W. Protzeller as E. M. Ralston, senior member of the brokerage firm, was well adapted to the role in form and voice. A part easily over-played, he assumed with confidence and the slight emphasis necessary to a natural portrayal. E. P. Brevig as Bishop Doran, who proves a canny investor in blue-sky stock, convulsed the audience at his every turn. G. W. Connell who appeared as Dick Donnelly of the Ralston firm, was thoroughly at home in getting across the footlights the impression of a perfectly normal young business man. L. A. Lampert played Clarence Van Dusen, one of Ralston's best customers, with the proper shade of arrogance and disagreeableness, thereby incurring for that character the ill-will of the house. The part of Mrs. Ralston was taken by Miss Una Nelson with an exactness betokening professional ability and much training. Miss Laura Stopple as Mabel, a much sought after chorus lady, several times was forced to pause while her audience laughted at and applauded her brilliant character work. Miss Inez Howe as Sable, another queen of the stage, was good in her light speaking part. Miss Meta Kiland played the maid, a minor role, that left little opportunity for the display of talent.

work is not only beneficial to the livestock raisers but to the general public as well.

Through the assistance of the bureau, 55 head of purebred cattle were brought to Pennington county. Two cow testing associations were organized and results published in the annual report. Blackleg has been treated in five herds without the loss of a single animal after the treatment was administered. Blood samples of other cattle diseases were sent to the sanitary board and the disease identified. If contagious, the place was guaranteed immediately to serve as a protection to other livestock men.

Potato and Wool Pools.

Thirty carloads of potatoes were marketed during the past year at an average saving of $65.00 per car, which brought the potato grower a profit of $1,950.00. Thirty thousand pounds of wool were pooled with the National Wool Warehouse through the farm bureau. The office was notified that nearly all of this has been sold and that the checks will be sent out in a very short time. The price received for this wool ranged from 21 to 37 cents per pound, which is at least 10 cents more than could have been obtained from any of the nearby woolen mills or factories. This would net the wool growers a saving of $3,000. Plans are being made to pool the wool for another year, which will undoubtedly be more successful than the first.

Poultry raising has been encouraged and one of the finest poultry show in the northwest is staged annually in the city auditorium.

During the past three years 28 boys and girls have received free trips to the Minnesota State Fair with all expenses paid.

Made Fine Record.

During the past three and one-half years the bureau has the following accomplishments to its credit:

Eight thousand eight hundred and fifty acres were sown with treated seed.

Twelve farmers assisted in conducting of pure seed plots.

Forty eight farmers assisted in poisoning grasshoppers.

Eighty-six farmers were assisted in the sale and exchange of four hundred head of livestock.

Three hundred farmers assisted in keeping account books.

Assistance given in holding the annual community picnic.

Two hundred and ninety farmers supplied with nine hundred laborers.

Assisted four hundred and fifty people with income tax.

RECITAL OF KONECNY EVERYWHERE GIVEN UNMEASURED PRAISE

Telegrams From Legion Posts Thruout State Congratulate Local Committee on Having Secured Troup of Artists For Concert.

Telegrams from other American Legion posts in Minnesota to members of the Eklund post entertainment committee, which is in charge of the arrangements for the appearance here of Konecny, famous veteran-violinist, and his company of two soloists, are being received to congratulate the local Legionnaires upon having secured an attraction of such worth to offer music lovers of the city. The virtuoso and his company will appear at the auditorium for their recital on next Tuesday night.

The Winona post wired: "Konecny concert rendered wonderful recital here, pleasing over one thousand persons. We heartily recommend them to you."

Although posts for which Konecny has played are most enthusiastic in their praise of his work on the violin, they are not forgetting the other two artists of the company, Miss Mary Tris, pianistte, and Miss Lola Murel Alley, soprano soloist. The Owatonna Legion post said, also by wire: "Concert here yesterday afternoon and evening by Konecny assisted by Mary Tris, pianiste, and Lola Murel Alley, soprano, pleased hundreds of people. Konecny and his artists are surely wonderful musicians. Afternoon recital attendance over five hundred students. You have booked a real attraction."

Miss Tris is an American girl who received all of her training in America. She served four months in France as accompanist for Konecny, playing on every kind of piano, good bad and indifferent, but mainly bad, for John Doughboy. In spite of handicaps this proved to be one of the most interesting and satisfying times of her career. Her playing has brilliance and life, while in the melodious work she literally makes the piano sing, say her critics.

A remarkable feature of Miss Alley's work is her ability to render both the coloratura and dramtic compositions with equal ease and artistic taste. With this she combines a beautiful voice of wide range, equisite sympathetic quality, and great sustaining power; a thorough understanding and temperamental interpretation of the works of the masters, combined with charming personality.

Those who expect to hear Konecny and his assistant artists in recital here on Tuesday night are urged to hear his phonographic records which have just been placed on sale by city dealers. Tickets are on sale at the Thief River Music company's store.

TWO GAMES ARE SCHEDULED FOR COMING WEEK

St. Hilaire Will Play Here Sunday and Locals Will Go to Fertile Wednesday.

Game With Alvarado Last Sunday Won By Locals By Score of Twenty-one to One.

Team Shows Up Well and Prospects are Bright for Development of Fast Aggregation.

St. Hilaire is coming Sunday to try conclusions with the locals on the diamond. They have been going thru practice for the last two weeks and are reported to be in condition to give a good account of themselves. The Thief River Falls players are working out every day and an abundance of material from which to select the team is available. The game Sunday will be somewhat of a deciding factor in determining the final personnel of the team. On Wednesday the locals will go to Fertile for a game on the Fertile diamond.

The first game of the season for the local baseball team proved to be a very much one-sided affair and did not give much of an opportunity to get a line on the local players. The final score was twenty-one to one in favor of Thief River Falls.

Alvarado was completely outclassed from the start and at no period of the game did they give any indication of ability to give the locals anything to worry about. Federolf, the pitcher who arrived Sunday morning to join the local club, had the game well in hand at all times and held the visitors down to seven scattered hits. It was unnecessary for him to let himself out to any extent and for this reason the local fans were deprived of the privilege of seeing just what he can do in a pinch. Morse, the new man at the receiving end, played a perfect game and showed up strong with the stick, getting three hits out of four times up. Graden at short stepped into the limelight as a slugger, getting three hits. He also fielded his position perfectly.

This practice game indicates that the locals have a wealth of material with which to build up a team that will give a good account of itself throughout the season and the indications are that local fans are going to see some fast games.

The detailed score of the game follows:

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR BENEFIT SALE JUNE FOURTEENTH

Date Changed From May 20 in Order Not to Conflict With Potato and Corn Planting.

The Red River Valley Live Stock Pavilion benefit sale date is June 14 instead of May 20 in order not to conflict with potato and corn planting. It will be held at the live stock pavillion in Crookston. A picnic is planned at which Governor Preus, Dan Wallace, brother of the secretary of Agriculture, and W. A. McKerrow will be the speakers. H. O. Teller and W. H. Krause are the auctioneers. The sale will include at least 80 animals about 50 being pure bred bulls and females of the Shorthorn, Holstein, Guernsey, Angus and Red Polled breeds with Herefords yet to hear from. About 25 pure bred Duroc Jersey, Poland China, Chester White and Yorkshire swine and 6 registered Shropshire will also be sold. All of these animals are pure bred from leading herds in the Valley and state and represent the best in their respective breeds. They are valued at thousands of dollars in the aggregate and are being given to the Red River Valley Live Stock association to help pay the balance due on the pavillion, the donors receiving shares in the building for the purchase price of the animal donated.

There never was an opportunity like this for the farmers of northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota to secure such valuable breeding stock. That hundreds will attend this sale is clearly shown by the interest being taken in it. Credit arrangements will be made so that notes will be taken for the purchases. These notes will bear 8 per cent interest and will be payable on October 1. The ninth district bankers' association is actively cooperating to help those who need pure bred sires and who wish to make a beginning in better stock to do so.

The animals donated up to the present time include Shorthorns by Carlson, Erskine; Dahl, Twin Valley; Grant, Glyndon; Morkassel, Warren; Palmer, Euclid and Schroeder, Brooks. Others are expected from Smith, St. Cloud; Aylor, Grandin; Kvenoden, Fertile and Billings, Fergus Falls.

The Holsteins already donated are by Bacon, Grand Forks; Beerbauer, Thief River Falls; Enright, East Grand Forks; Grover, Moorhead; Grant, Duluth; Hedley, Kiewel and N. W. Experiment Station, Crookston; Schiefer, Detroit; Scott (2), Minneapolis; Schroeder and Steidl, Moorhead; Skrei, Glyndon, Sundberg, and Sugden, Hallock. Others are expected from Hackney, Dr. Graham, Irwin, Dr. Boeckman, Moscrip, McNelly, Hanson, Marlow, leading state breeders who are cooperating wholeheartedly with the Valley association.

The Guernsey breed will be fully represented according to L. V. Wilson and Leonard Houske, secretaries of the State and Valley Guernsey associations, respectively, as there is a strong demand for Guernseys in northwestern Minnesota.

BODY OF FARM HAND FOUND IN BRUSH WITH THROAT CUT

Suicide Suspected—Face Covered With Paris Green. Throat Cut From Ear to Ear.

The body of Ed. Torgerson, age about 45 years, was found in the brush on the farm of Ole Nessland two miles east of Grygla yesterday. The face of the dead man was covered with Paris Green and the throat was cut from ear to ear. All indications pointed to suicide.

Torgerson, who made his home at Thief River Falls part of the time, but who of late had been living alone on a farm near the Nessland farm, had been helping Mr. Nessland with his farm work. He did not appear when expected and Mr. Nessland went in search of him, discovering the body. The dead man had been separated from his wife about ten years. It is thought that his wife is now living near Lengby.

The coroner of Beltrami county left Bemidji yesterday evening and will hold an inquest over the remains today.

Silverton Township Meeting.

The Silverton Farm club will hold a farm bureau organization meeting on Saturday, May 28th. At this time the wool pool will be discussed and any other topic which may be of interest to the people of that locality.

RULING OF SUPREME COURT MAKES VALID PROHIBITION CLAUSE

Provision For Ratification Within Seven Years Does Not Invalidate Entire Measure.

The requirements that the prohibition amendment be ratified within seven years by three-fourths of the state does not invalidate the entire measure, the supreme court ruled on Monday. The decision was given in the appeal of J. J. Dillion, of San Francisco, from a decision in the lower courts refusing his petition for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the limitation made the amendment invalid.

Dillion was arrested while transporting a case of wine to the home of its owner. His counsel asserted that Section 3 of the amendment, originally proposed by Senator Harding, places a limitation on the action of state legislators and was therefore unconstitutional.

PAR COLLECTION OF CHECKS HELD VOID BY COURT

Federal reserve banks have not the right to insist on par collection of checks of member banks, the supreme court ruled today.

The court reversed decrees of Georgia court which had refused to enjoin the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta from taking steps to force collection of checks drawn on a number of Georgia state nonmember banks "except through the usual and ordinary channels."

Officers of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank refused to comment today until they had received the full text of the decision. A week ago a suit against the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank similar in general to that in the Georgia courts against the Atlanta bank was dimissed by the federal court in South Dakota. The State Savings bank, of Ostley had sued the reserve bank for damages because of the latter's insistence on par check collection.

CLASS PLAY TO BE PRESENTED FRIDAY NIGHT

"All of A Sudden Peggy" Three Act Comedy, to Be Given By Seniors.

Play Has Been Prepared Under Direction of Professor L. N. Pierce.

Advance Sale of Tickets Indicates That Production Will be Greeted by Big House.

Final rehearsals have been had and the class of '21 is now ready for the production of their class play, "All of a Sudden Peggy" at the auditorium tomorrow (Friday) night. The play has been prepared under the direction of Prof. L. N. Pierce and he is authority for the statement that the efforts of this year's graduating class behind the footlights will stand any manner of comparison with those of previous years. He is enthusiastic over the talent displayed by the cast in their rehearsals and says that the public will have a real treat Friday night.

Three-Act Comedy.

"All of a Sudden Peggy" is a thrilling comedy that has met with remarkable success both on the stage and on the screen. In addition to possessing all the qualifications of a laugh producing comedy it has just enough of a drama plot to hold the interest of the audience throughout the entire play. Peggy, by her suddenness of action, keeps the audience guessing as to just what she will undertake next and she does things in a way that keeps the audience in a continuous uproar. She gets out of one mess only to step into another one from the first until the last act, when the various tangles are straightened out and the play has a happy ending.

Well Balanced Cast.

The cast is particularly suited to a production of this kind and they have entered into the spirit of preparing for the play in a manner that bespeaks success for them in their public appearance Friday night. Every part has been mastered by the various members of the cast in a professional manner.

Packed House Indicated.

The advance seat sale indicates that the large auditorium will be packed to capacity. Very few seats are now left and the "standing room only" sign will undoubtedly be hung out early in the evening.

The cast of characters and synopsis are as follows:

Anthony, Lord Crackenthorpe (Fellow of the Entomological Society) Allen Fossum.

The Hon. Jimmy Keppel, (his brother) Hugh McDaniels.

Major Archie Phipps, (retired) (Lady Crackenthorpe's brother) Harold Smithers.

Jack Menzies, Chester Dols.

Parker (Footman at Hawkhurst) Ernest Zeh.

Lucas (Manservant at Jimmy's flat), Dreng Bjornaraa.

Lady Crackenthorpe (Lord Crackenthorpe's mother) Vellerrie Parenteau.

The Hon. Millicent Keppel, Dotty Krafthefer.

The Hon. Mrs. Colquhoun, Mildred Bottelson.

Mrs. O'Mara, (Widow of Professor O'Mara, F. R. S.) Rose Oski.

Peggy, (her daughter) Mary Vance.

Act I—"The Suddenness of Peggy" The White Hall at Hawkhurst, Lord Crackenthorpe's country house.

Act II—"The Suddenness of Consequences." At Jimmy Keppel's flat in London, a week later.

Act III—"The Consequence of Suddenness." The White Hall at Hawkhurst, on the evening of the same day.

DIVIDEND CHECKS ARE SENT TO HOLDERS OF CONVERTED POLICIES

Will Receive One Dollar For Each $1000 of Insurance Carried—Total Over One Million Dollars.

Holders of permanent peacetime policies—converted insurance—under the Bureau of War Risk Insurance are now receiving checks in payment of dividends. Mailing of dividend checks to holders of converted policies began on May 1 and is expected to be completed by June 1, in the case of all men who have had converted policies in effect one year or more on that date. The sum being distributed is $1,030,016. It represents the Government's earnings on the premium payments made by the holders of the converted policies.

Each holder of converted insurance whose policy has been in effect at least one year will receive not less than $1 for each $1,000 of insurance he carries. Men whose converted policies have been in effect two years will receive two yearly dividends immediately. Men whose policies have not been in effect at least a year will receive their dividend immediately following the anniversary date of their policy. Hereafter dividend checks will be mailed to all holders of converted policies immediately following anniversary dates.

It should be borne in mind that no dividend will be paid to holders of term insurance policies, the regular wartime insurance. These term insurance policies may only be continued until March 3, 1926. If they have not been converted by that date, the holder ceases to be insured by the Government.

Holders of converted policies will receive their dividends automatically, and there is supposedly no necessity for them to write to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance on the subject.

P. J. Keating is Delegate.

P. J. Keating returned home Saturday from attending the Woodmen of The World tri-state convention which was held at Mankato May 10 and 11. Mr. Keating was elected one of a committee of three to go to Omaha the first week in July for the purpose for setting forth the advantages of Minnesota over the other 36 states in which the W. O. W. is organized for the location of their new tuberculosis sanatorium which is to be built for the benefit of their members.

Legionnaires Will Over-Subscribe.

Up to May 1st Legionnaires of Minnesota had contributed $1,560 to the fund to be used by the Legion in France to place flowers on the grave of every dead buddy buried overseas, on Memorial Day. Indications are that Minnesota will over-subscribe its quota of $2,300.

FORCED TO JUMP FROM WINDOWS OF BURNING HOME

Fire Completely Destroys Residence of Edward Severson On Zeh Street.

Fire at about 12:30 last night completely destroyed the residence of Edward Severson at 223 West Zeh street. When the fire was first discovered the entire house was a mass of flames and by the time the fire department arrived there was nothing they could do except protect adjoining buildings.

The origin of the fire is not definitely known. It apparently started in the kitchen and inasmuch as some partly used pails of paint and possibly some rags used in painting had been left in the kitchen over night it is thought possible that they may in some way have become ignited. The entire family was asleep and when awakened by the smoke found that their only means of escape was through the windows. Mr. Severson jumped out of the upstairs windoy with their little baby and then secured a ladder and rescued his wife. The other members of the household escaped in the same manner. They were unable to save even a single piece of clothing except the night clothes which they had on.

The loss of the house and contents is total with insurance to cover only partially.

DISTRICT SUPT. TAKES CHARGE OF HIGHWAY SYSTEM

Trunk Highway Officials Getting Organization Into Working Condition.

W. B. Sewell, district maintenance superintendent for this district for the state highway department, arrived in Crookston Monday and is making arrangements for the opening of headquarters there.

Mr. Sewell will have charge of what is known as the Fifth district. There are sixteen district in the state system. That of the Fifth district embraces the state highway or trunk system as follows: All of the system north of Ada and Mahnomen; west of the Polk county line east of Lengby; west of the Polk county line near Gully, and west of the Roseau county line at Roosevelt. This gives Mr. Sewell all of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Polk counties and parts of Norman and Mahnomen counties, embracing a total of 500 miles of trunk highway.

Part of the system under Mr. Sewell's control has already been organized. This embraces the appointment of maintenance or "patrol" men who will have definite sections of the highway assigned to them that they will be regularly and continuously employed in keeping the roads in good condition, as maintenance is one of the larger parts of the state plan. Permanent improvements of extensive nature will follow as fast as conditions warrant and circumstances permit.

The work of perfecting the organization for the upkeep of the roads will be continued until all of the system is covered. Graveling will be employed to a large extent for the present and, in fact, it may reasonably be expected, according to the state highway authorities, that gravel will be used for the hard surfacing for a considerable portion of the entire state system for several years so that a greater amount of the system may be the more quickly gotten into good traveling condition.

Road maintainers will have sections assigned to them of lengths governed by the condition of the roads they are to maintain and the amount of travel on it. District foremen will be appointed to have charge of certain parts of the highway in each district including a number of maintenance districts.

RAILWAYS PLAN CUT RATES ON SLEEPING CARS

Necessary to Do Something to Stimulate Travel and Offset Decrease in Freight.

Believed That Removal of Surcharge Would Aid in Solving Difficulty.

Passenger Agents Say That Public is Complaining Bitterly of High Rates.

That the railroads throughout the country are feeling the heavy falling off in passenger travel due to the high rates now in effect is reflected in the statement just made public that a cut in sleeping car rates is being planned.

They are preparing for drastic action to rejuvenate passenger travel to compensate for the continued small volume of freight traffic, resulting from general business inactivity, it was reported by railroad officials recently.

Stimulation of passenger traffic is favored by railroad men as the most plausible means of increasing the depressed earnings of the carriers, it was pointed out by an official, in discussing the revenue problem.

Survey Is Made.

Following a comprehensive survey of the situation by practically all the railroads of the country, it is reported that removal of the surcharge on sleeping car berth rates is planned to become effective within the next two months.

It is expected that recommendation to eliminate the surcharge will find its origin at the hearing in Washington of railroad problems before the Senate committee on Interstate Commerce.

What removal of the surcharge will mean to travelers and tourists is indicated in the case of a person traveling from Seattle to Minneapolis. The running time is approximately 72 hours on a limited passenger train. For a drawing room, the traveler pays at the rate of about $1 per hour.

Fare Is Heavy.

The railroad fare from Seattle to Minneapolis is $96.06. A drawing room costs $47, with a surcharge of $23.50, and a war tax of $5.64, based on the total amount of the drawing room rate, plus the surcharge at the rate of 8 per cent, making a grand total of $76.14. Should the surcharge be removed, the traveler would pay for his drawing room but $50.76.

The railroad fare to Chicago is $15.83. The cost of a drawing room is $14.58, including surcharge and war tax.

With removal of the surcharge, application for which was made last fall under an Interstate Commerce commission ruling, it is estimated by A. A. Crane, chairman of the publicity and conventions committee of the Civic & Commerce association, that the volume of rail tourists and convention delegates to Minnesota would be increased more than 30 per cent.

Travelers Complain.

Minneapolis passenger agents assert that travelers are complaining bitterly about the high cost of rail travel, and many have suggested that the surcharge of sleeping car berth rates be removed, while others believe that e htwar tax should be removed as well as the surcharge.

Passenger department officials were agreed that with the drop in the price of gasoline, and the growing popularity of the automobile, with the extension of good roads, something must be done to stimulate the lagging passenger traffic.

Musical Performers Draw Slim Crowd; Able Artists

Greeted by an audience which was deeply appreciative but sadly deficient in numbers, Josef Konecny, Bohemian violinist, and assistants appeared in recital at the auditorium on Tuesday evening. The musical program was one worthy of much more generous support and it is difficult to understand why a larger audience was not present.

Mr. Konecny is a violinist of rare ability and performed the most difficult compositions without apparent effort. His part of the program consisted almost entirely of classical music but he responded to a number of encores with lighter selections. Miss Mary Tris, pianiste, rendered several difficult piano compositions in an exceptionally able manner, besides playing accompaniments for Mr. Konecny and Miss Lola Murel Alley, soprano. HOSPITAL PASSES INTO NEW HANDS

The Warren Hospital today passed into the hands of the Red River Valley Conference of the Augustana Synod by act of its board of directors in accordance with the authorization given said board by the members of the association at the meeting held last Friday evening. The transferee is to continue and maintain the work of the hospital and its nurses' training school, and should it fail to do so the hospital and its equipment will revert to the association.

The Warren Hospital Association was incorporated February 28, 1905. Its first board of trustees consisted of Theo. Bratrud, G. S. Wattam, W. F. Powell, Aug. Lundgren, P. H. Holm, Lewis Westman, H. J. Beardmore, A. Grindeland and L. M. Olson. The erection of the hospital building was at once undertaken and it was completed in time for occupation early in the ensuing year. The structure was built by popular subscription, except $7,000, which was procured as a loan, which loan has since been paid by the hospital's earnings. In the summer of 1918 a nurses' home was bought and in the winter of 1919-20 an addition of twelve rooms was made to the hospital. The present board of trustees is as follows: Theo. Bratrud, A. Grindeland, Aug. Lundgren, J. J. Olson, H. J. Beardmore, O. H. Taralseth, Aug. A. Johnson, C. E. Lundquist and L. M. Olson. Dr. Bratrud, who has been executive head of the hospital during nearly the whole 15 years of its existence, will continue as its chief physician and surgeon.

"HUMAN FLY" WILL INVADE THIS CITY MONDAY EVENING

Will Climb From Ground to Top of Hotel Evelyn Building At 7 O'clock.

Jack Williams, known the world over as the "original human fly," will demonstrate his skill at scaling walls in Thief River Falls Monday night at 7:30 p. m., when he will climb the Evelyn hotel building.

Immediately following his climb Williams will appear at the Lyceum theatre, and explain to the people how he accomplishes his daredevil feats.

Williams is the original "Human Fly." More than 500 men acting under this name have been killed in attempting to copy his feat. He has scaled every skyscraper in the United States, having been climbing more than eleven years, and in this period of years has scaled 1,500 buildings. Williams scaled the Woolworth building in New York, the world's tallest structure in 2 hours and 55 minutes, the height of the building being 56 stories. He also gained considerable fame when he climbed the L. S. Smith building in Seattle, 42 stories in 43 minutes in a terrific rainstorm.

Williams is appearing at the Lyceum theatre with his vaudeville company, the Jack Williams, the Human Fly and his Building Climbers Review, with a cast of six lady musicians who are cute, clever-convincing comedians, who sing, dance and play the songs and pieces you like, each one being a specialist in her own line.

GOV. PREUS WILL CLEAR ACRE OF BELTRAMI LAND

Pressing of Electric Button Will Send 65 Stumps Into Air Friday, May 27.

Although much land has already been cleared in connection with the Beltrami Land Clearing campaign, the formal opening of the campaign will take place at Bemidji, Friday, May 27, when Governor J. A. O. Preus will press an electric button which will blow 65 large white pine stumps into the air and clear one acre of Beltrami county's fertile soil.

The demonstration will take place on the Thomas Porte farm, seven miles north of Bemidji at noon. A huge picnic has been planned at which the governor will be present and at the conclusion of the picnic dinner the blast will be fired. Following the demonstration on the Porte farm Governor Preus will be escorted to Blackduck where another program will be carried out in connection with the land clearing campaign.

In the evening, it is expected the new armory at Bemidji will be formally opened and a reception held for the governor.

EXTRA TIME GIVEN ON AUTO LICENSES

Applicants for automobile licenses will have until June 1 or later to make their applications, Secretary of State Mike Holm announced Saturday. Clerks in his office are swamped by the applications received he said, totalling Saturday about 50,000. Licence plates are not ready for distribution and the time limit may have to be extended a second time. The law as passed by the last legislature gave auto owners until May 15 to make application with the provision that the secretary of state might extend the time.

WORK TO START MONDAY ON NEW KNOX SCHOOL

The Prichard Company Will Have Crew of Thirty Men Employed on Building.

Frame Structure to Be Moved About Forty Feet East of Present Site.

New Building Will Be Completed Within Seven Months Specified in Contract.

The Prichard Company, successful bidders on the erection of the new school building for the East Side, announce that work will be started next Monday. At that time they will put a crew of about thirty men at work wrecking the brick part of the present structure. It is their intention to completely wreck this part of the building.

Will Move Frame Building.

The frame building, comprising a part of the Knox school, is to be moved by the school board to a point about forty feet east of its present location. It will then be used temparily for school purposes until such time as the new building is ready to be occupied. The brick and such other material in the other part of the present building as is suitable will be used by The Prichard Company in the erection of the new building. The plans and specifications for the new building give the contractor the privilege of letting the brick walls of the old building stand and incorporating them in the new building but The Prichard company figures that a much more satisfactory building can be erected by completely wrecking them.

To Cost $71,455.

The contracts for the new building as let by the school board will total $71,455.00. This is $32,845 less than the total of the bids received on the same building June 21, 1920. The school board, in view of this big saving to the district, naturally feels that their action last year in delaying the erection of the building for one year is now appreciated by the taxpayers.

The contract as let calls for the completion of the new building within seven months, which means that it must be ready for occupancy some time next December. The contractors state that it is their intention to keep a large force of men on the job at all times and that they will have the building completed within the time specified in the contract. The building when completed will be one of the finest in the city, if not in this part of the state. It will be of the very latest design and have all the latest improvements for well ventilated and conveniently appointed school buildings. One of the new features and a complete departure from the older style of school buildings will be a large auditorum about forty by seventy feet in the center of the first floor. The various school rooms will open off from this large room and on the second floor a balcony will overlook the first floor auditorium with the school rooms opening off from it. This will leave an opening throughout the entire center of the building from the first floor to the roof where skylights will be arranged. This feature will provide excellent light throughout all of the building and make possible an excellent ventilation system.

The erection of the building at this time will provide much needed work for a large number of men.

Another Big Shake-Down of Prices to Round Out This May Event!

Back to the "Good Old Times" of splendid goods and lowest possible prices.

What a joy it is to see our money buy so much—to see every dollar get such big money's worth!

We spent the month of April searching the markets for extraordinary merchandise and values; so that we might give our customers a delightful month of May in supplying their Summer needs.

We counted it far better to spend our energies in buying, for your benefit, than to spend them in selling the goods for our own benefit. That is our idea of rendering real service to our public, while securing the larger volume of sales.

During the past week many new lots of specially purchased goods have arrived—some of the offerings being still better than those that came earlier.

And now you can buy with complete confidence, for PRICES ARE AT ROCK BOTTOM.

These are some of the new opportunities for tomorrow.

CHILD WELFARE.

Child welfare in this country is a democratic necessity. In an autocracy this work might be carried out by the benevolent few but in this republic child welfare is everybody's business. Autocracy may flourish with a handful of intelligent leaders and an utterly ignorant people but the success of democracy depends upon the health, intelligence and morality of its average citizen and that average citizen is being moulded in the homes, schools, streets and playgrounds in the cities and on the farms—in fact wherever American children are to be found.

With this thought in mind the great organization of Child Welfare Work has been established, from the Federal Children's Bureau through the various steps to the smallest county organizations. It is an interesting fact that Minnesota ranks first among the states of the union in the child welfare work. The Children's Bureau of this state acts under the State Board of Control, Wm. Hodson being director. At present there are about sixty county organizations. Pennington county was organized a year ago, holding its first annual meeting May 9, at which time Mrs. J. M. Bishop was re-elected chairman and Mrs. L. G. Larsen, secretary, the other members being Oscar J. Peterson, Geo. M. Gunderson and Peter Wold. The ex-officio members are County Attorney Theo. Quale, Sheriff W. J. LaBree and Probate Judge Lars Backe.

During the year the board has had charge of fourteen illigitimate children cases either directly or indirectly and in most of these cases paternity has been established and the father been obliged to assume full responsibility of the maintenance of the child until sixteen years of age. Two homes have been broken up because of moral delinquency, the children from one home being sent to Owatonna and the others being cared for by well-to-do families of the neighborhood. Two young girls have been sent to school where they have made splendid records both mentally and morally. Five mentally deficient children have been committed to the proper state institutions, the mentality of most of these cases having been tested by a mental expert sent out by the state.

The board has thirteen county allowance cases under its supervision at present. These pensioned mothers must be visited at least once in three months by members of the board before they can receive their monthly county allowance regularly.

There is a great deal of work to be done under the jurisdiction of this board. Many counties have their paid secretaries and social welfare workers in connection with its welfare work. Pennington county is not so fortunate in this respect but the work is new, the county is new and the board does its work as best it can, hoping that at some future time it may have these additional officer and therefore attain a higher degree of efficiency. The nature of the work of this board is such that a great deal of the activities must be carried on in a quiet manner. The accomplishments of the local organization during the past year are remarkable and wherever possible they should have the greatest co-operation.

BRAGDON AND HIS PAROLE.

The release of J. W. Bragdon nearly a year before the expiration of his sentence reflects on the judgment of the State Parole Board. Its Chairman has explained that it is the custom to parole prisoners with good records for the last year of their sentence. Other prisoners serving time for crime like those committed by Bragdon have been paroled sooner than he.

But there are circumstances in the Bragdon case that set it apart, and require that it be so treated. There was no excuse for what Bragdon did, no mitigation of his guiltiness. He did not lack for money, for education, for good associates, for social and business position. He outraged the moral sense of the community by crimes against girlhood that still seem utterly inexplicable for a man of his environment and opportunities. He fought against conviction with all the resources of money and influence—and he did not fight fair.

His conviction on the third trial, after material witnesses spirited away for his benefit had been found and brought back, was rightly hailed as a triumph of law and justice, and a refutation of the too often expressed opinion that punishment might be sure for the poor and friendless, but not for the well-to-do.

His sentence was light, in view of the enormity of the crime. It was "from one to seven years"—the most the court could give under the law. He ought to have been made to serve every day of it. As it was, he has been by his own statement practically out of prison three years, living an outdoor life on the prison farm, and now gets his freedom eleven months before the end of his sentence, already diminished to four years by good conduct allowance.

And Bragdon now comes back to Minneapolis, seeking, as he says, "the opportunity to show that I am not as bad as I was painted, and to regain my business and social standing." Expressing no contrition, but still arguing his innocence, he proposes that he be re-admitted into business and social standing in this community. Can it be that, after seven years, he does not understand that he proposes an impossibility?

Let him in all humility bring forth works meet for repentence. His parole was a mistake of judgment. Let him seek to justify it by a suitable course of conduct.—Minneapolis Journal.

Old Settlers Planning Celebration For June 8.

The fiftieth anniversary of the arrival in the Red River Valley of the first settlers in 1871 will be celebrated in an appropriate manner this year. The celebration will be given by the old settlers of Climax and surrounding territory, on the 8th day of June, at the Estenson schoolhouse, 4½ miles northwest of Climax. There is to be a big community picnic and program, it is announced. It is thot probable that Senator Ole Sageng, Judge Grindeland and other good speakers are expected to be present.

Will Not Build This Year.

The directors of the Physicians Hospital company have practically decided not to build any addition to the hospital this year. This decision was reached after giving the matter very serious consideration. Present financial and building conditions seem to make it advisable to delay the project for possibly another year.

YOU certainly want to save money, and you would like to have better bakings.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

"BEST BY TEST"

It received highest Awards, World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago — Paris Exposition, Paris, France—positive proof of its superior merit.

It is used by more housewives, domestic scientists and chefs than any other brand. That would not be the case, if it were possible to secure a higher quality leavener.

It is sold at a moderate price. All you have to do is to compare costs to determine how much you can save by buying Calumet.

Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Calumet Cream Cake Recipe
—3 cups pastry flour, 3 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, ½ cup butter, 1½ cups granulated sugar, Yolks of 3 eggs, ¾ cup cold water, Whites of 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon orange extract. Then mix in the regular way.

Junior Issue.

This is the third of a series edited by the four classes of the high school; in other words this is the Junior publication. The two preceding issues put out by the Freshmen and Sophomores respectively, were worthy of any class, and we believe they deserve a great deal of favorable comment and credit for the results of their efforts. The Juniors extend their congratulations.

The Freshmen showed considerable wit and cleverness, especially by "putting something over" on their classmates or teachers.

The Sophomores, who of course have had an additional year of training, deliberated on weightier subjects, to show that they could fulfill our expectations.

In this, our Junior number, we are attempting to combine wit and philosophy and juggle the news so that you may get a proportional amount of each. As we Juniors have almost completed our third year of our high school course, we are expected to have developed sufficiently to be able to think for ourselves and have a command of the American language so that we are able to express our ideas and thoughts in a clear and logical manner. To meet with these expectations we have done our utmost in uniting our efforts to produce an edition worthy of any Junior class.

A Better Lincoln High.

We have a motto or our High School—a good one. It is "Efficiency of Integrity." We should also have a slogan and "A Better Lincoln High" would be a very desirable one. That is not saying that our High School is not a good institution as it stands at present but it certainly could be improved and brought up to a still higher standard.

Many ideas for this improvement have been offered by the instructors, among them being the abolition of slang and of the smoking habit. During the year the students have had the opportunity of pledging themselves to make their high school work the most important factor of their lives during their four years at the high school. If each and every student would carry out this pledge it would greatly improve the standard of Lincoln High, and with the cooperation of the instructors and citizens of the city of Thief River Falls, this end could easily be accomplished. So here's for a better Lincoln High.

Senior Play tomorrow night.

Character and Literature.

Very few young people can be brought to realize that what a person reads is very often an expression of his or her character. By this I do not mean that what any person casually reads in a paper is an expression of character but that which she reads and re-reads and relates to others. This is often her own ideas just down in words by someone else. People who read stories of western life, of the desert, or of sports usually enjoy these things, or they have a secret longing to go west and see the country. People who read Shakespeare and Bacon are intellectual and studious and their taste in reading is well developed. Those who read cheap novels and articles written by men and women who know less than they do themselves, express and display their own cheapness, their inability to appreciate the true and fine quality of better works. Some stubborn people refuse to read anything that is not written by a particular author they like. Such individuals are usually narrow minded and prejudiced. Lastly there are people who read everything and anything that is printed, good, and bad and indifferent. They are unsettled people, they have no fixed ideas, no moral uplift, and no guide to their reading or life.

"All of a Sudden Peggy" Friday night.

Senior Honor Roll.

The honor roll of the graduating class of 1921 has been announced. Betsy Ness is valedictorian with an average of 93.1%; Ethel Conklin, Annie Hincik and Dreng Bjornarna were tied for salutatorian with averages of 91.75%, 91.65% and 91.35% respectively.

The ten students with the next highest scholastic standings are: Mary Vance, Adolph Sundrud, Rose Oski, Beatrice Sandum, Anna Leimers, Evelyn Saugen, Marguerite DeCremer, Lois Struble, Clara Lund and Lester Coyle.

"All of a Sudden Peggy" at the Auditorium Friday night. Tickets 50c and 75c.

Friday, May 27, the Juniors and the faculty members will be guests of the Senior class at a reception. It has always been a custom for the Seniors to do this as a return compliment for the banquet given by the Juniors earlier in the year.

Matinee Friday at 3:30. Adm. 15c.

Dear Alumni.

Did you know that the "1921 Prowler" is off the press and is now on sale? Have you sent in your dollar for your annual? Already a number of the alumni have sent in their subscription but they have not as yet been sufficient to buy up the quota which we had printed and have allotted to the alumni of Lincoln High School.

The annual this year is a great deal smaller than annuals of former years but still the 1921 Senior class feels positive that it is one that every one will be satisfied with. The annual consists of a great many pictures and things that every one is more or less interested in and all of the things that are boresome and uninteresting have been left out.

A great many of you have already received a letter and subscription blank. We realize that this is a busy time of the year, a time when things like annuals are put in the background of your mind. But we also realize that if we do not bring this matter before you that you will regret the fact that you put off sending in your subscription until too late, thus losing out on your copy of the "1921 Prowler."

Do not delay in sending in your dollar ($1.00) for your copy of the "1921 Prowler." Send all subscriptions to Business Manager of 1921 Prowler, care of Lincoln High School.

1921 SENIOR CLASS OF L. H. S.

Laboratory Equipment.

A most valuable department in our high school is the science department. Indeed any student at all interested in science will devote his time to that study in a way that he perhaps will not do to any of his other subjects. Science is a subject that is receiving great attention at the present time and in everyday life a knowledge of science will find enumerable applications. Therefore the High School laboratory as a means of gaining knowledge on this subject is very important. Our laboratory is not very well equipped, in fact, for a large class it is very poorly equipped and and the students are handicapped by the lack of material and cannot get the most out of their experiments. If a student is expected to do good work, it is not fair that he should be hampered because of lack of equipment.

—STUDENT OPINION.

Normal Department.

We are fortunate in having included in our high school the Normal Department, as a department for the training of pupils for rural teachers. This is an excellent opportunity for the Juniors who next year have the intention of entering this department.

Able men and women are needed as teachers and leaders. It has been estimated that eighty-five per cent of the entire population are followers, and only fifteen per cent are leaders.

The rural school teacher has a greater opportunity than a city teacher in this profession, as she has the experience of teaching the several grades. She is virtually the leader of the community in which she has charge of the school education, and is consequently among the fifteen per cent leaders. She has the enjoyment of gathering people together at entertainments, such as clubs, of socials. There is always an opportunity of the teachers in securing schools, as there is always the call for teachers.

This year the number of seniors graduating from the normal department is twenty-five, and next year this number will not probably be much diminished.

Harry Phillips Sings.

The students and faculty of Lincoln high school had the unusual opportunity of hearing Harry Philips of Minneapolis, one of the most noted baritones of the northwest, during chapel Tuesday, May 10.

He sang several selections, accompanied by Miss Laura Forde, among them being "Dear Old Pal of Mine," and "On the Road to Mandalay."

The appearance of this great artist was made possible by the Choral society, to whom we wish to express our sincere thanks.

A Swimming Pool.

Lincoln High School gives her students many advantages, for she does not only give education which developes the mind, but that which developes the body as well. Every student of our institution is required to take gymnasium twice a week and to spend some time daily in the open air.

Along educational lines our school lacks nothing. We have the best of teachers and the healthiest class rooms. We have a sunshiney library to do our reference work in and an airy study-hall to study in.

Our school offers the boys football in the fall, basketball in the winter and baseball in the spring. It offers the girls basketball. But there is one thing that we ought to have and that is a swimming pool!

I believe there are two good reasons why we should have this asset. There is first of all, the healthful exercise derived from it. It has been stated by noted physicians that people who take this exercise daily save many doctor bills. This in turn means that they become stronger physically and as a result of this the students do better work mentally. The stronger the pupils are in body the easier it is for them to study. They find school life a pleasure and take a keener delight in all their work. Now why should not Lincoln High have a swimming pool? There is no reason whatsoever that I can see, for Lincoln High is one of the most progressive schools in the state in every respect.

I also believe that pleasure obtained through this sport would make it pay to have it put in. How much fun it would be to be able to take a dip every day. All of us would learn to swim thereby making our summer trips to the lake a great deal pleasanter. How proud we would feel to be able to say: "We learned this too at Lincoln High School and you just ought to see the swimming pool we had. It makes me want to go back and take a swim there again."

I surely hope that soon we will be able to say that for our school. That which makes for health and happiness brings the best results both mentally and physically.

—STUDENT OPINION.

"All-of-a-Sudden Peggy" tomorrow night.

Entertainment a Success.

The pupils and teachers of the Northrop school were well rewarded for their work in putting on their entertainment last Friday. Both the afternoon and evening performances were well attended and everyone reported having enjoyed the entertainment to the utmost. The clever costumes added greatly to bring about the fairyland effect of the operetta given by the first, second and third grades. The costumes used in the play "Alice in Wonderland" were no less effective.

The little actors and actresses are to be complimented on their success.

On Friday, May 20, in Loken's store, the Home Economics department of Lincoln high school will give an exhibit of the work done this year. Miss Johnson's cooking classes and Miss Poppitz' sewing classes will furnish the material for the display. The food products will be sold at 5 o'clock to anyone who wishes to purchase them.

Knox School Notes.

This has been a month of birthday parties for the kindergarten pupils. Those having had birthday parties during the last few weeks are: Miss Friestad, kindergarten instructor; Melvin Johnson and Morris Lonson.

The pupils of the kindergarten have been turning their skill to gardening. So far the extent of their efforts has only been confined to planting nasturtium seeds in the window boxes, but it is fairly safe to predict that a second Luther Burbank may be developed from their ranks.

During the past two weeks the marching pennant for the lower grades has been awarded to Miss Lofgren's room and Miss Fjelstad's room, while that of the upper grades has been awarded to Miss Howe's room. This pennant is given for a period of a week to the teacher whose room marches in the most quiet and orderly manner.

Miss Grizold and Miss Fjelstad, instructors in the Knox school, spent the week-end visiting with friends and relatives at Grand Forks.

The pupils of the Knox school attended in a body the operetta given by the Northrop pupils at the auditorium Friday afternoon.

Central Notes.

For the past two weeks the people of the eighth grade have been very busy practicing for a play under the direction of Miss Mortensen and Miss Johnson, to be given in place of graduation exercises.

Last Thursday the eighth grade gave an ice cream cone sale. The purpose of the sale was to raise money for the play, that is to be given by the students.

Robert Halvorson has been confined to his home for the past week on account of sickness. He is expected to resume his duties Monday.

The Boy Scouts of the Wolf patrol went on a hike Saturday morning. They left at eight o'clock and returned the same evening.

Pupils neither tardy nor absent for the month of May are: Millard Myrin, Alma Myrold, Esther Rustad, Henry Hjelden, Olive Auland, Annie Amon, Bonnie Barnett, Kathryn Barzen, Lloyd Bennes, Evelyn Buringsrud, Keith Craik, Elizabeth DeCremer, Rose Dostal, Bernice Erickson, Myrtle Erickson, Orven Evenstad, Rose Flynn, Georgia Frissell, Dorothy Fuller, Lily Gran, Gladys Sandstrom, Thomas Scanlan, Emmett Shanahan, Oscar Soderberg, Kenneth Streeter, Marguerite Lofthus, Evangeline Umland, Leiv Vistaunet, Winifred Wengeler, Dale Zeigler, Robert Halvorsen, Henry Hjelden, Marjorie Hoppa, Alice Jacobsen, Ernest Jaranson, Maxine Johnson, Ariel Kinghorn, Ray Langseth, Muriel Loken, Ruth Melby, Ella Monsebroten, Lawrence Mulry, Russell Olsen, Francis Ohm, Francis Paranteau, Pauline Paranteau, Mildred Remmem, Earl Rue, Lucille Roark, Beatrice Sandum.

Some Poetry.

There are two boys in this zone,
Who both can play a saxaphone,
Tho not yet masters in this line
They've just begun and are coming fine.
The other day they made a hit,
When in the morning they did their bit
And played a tune or two in school.
They played so long they broke the rule
Which gives some minutes for the same.
These boys went to the Hall of Fame
By playing overtime a while.
And there was many a clap and smile
Amid the students who had stayed
And listened to them while they played.
If to the Hall of Fame you'd go
Just get a saxaphone and blow.

By X. Y. Z.

A Senior there was, oh, so straight and so tall,
He knew he was smart, and he thot he knew all.
And next to him sat a dull Junior so blue,
And he was sure that he knew what he knew.
The Sophomore next him did look, ah, so wise,
He thought he knew all, but his thot we despised;
And then came the Freshie so greenish and slow,
Who solemnly said: "Oh, I know I don't know."

Personals.

In order to avoid the inevitable drowsiness of a last-period-in the afternoon class, the American history class is being conducted at 8:20 in the morning. As a result there is a grand rush at the end of the forenoon. Possibly it means breakfastless mornings.

Edward F. was seen coming from school with books in both hands. It was also incidentally observed that he was entirely speechless. Of course we all know why.

Some of the teachers were seen having green umbreals. Evidently they are assisting "Mother Nature" in assuring us of the fact that spring is here.

The High School orchestra made its first appearance recently but as yet no cases of hysterics or other mental disarrangements have been reported.

The Modern history class under the direction of Mr. Melby is making a huge campaign map of the world's war. It may be up for exhibition at the county fair this summer.

Seniors have been scratching their heads these days trying to figure out how many friends they have and who they can expect presents from if they send them an invitation.

Kermit Anderson's latest name: "Tag-a-long."

The school board is considering some kind of a welcome sign to be placed over Prof. Melby's door. The board was unanimous in voting for the epitaph: "You'll like it."

Get Ready to Can Berries

THE crop is abundant this year and the quality unusually good.

Sugar is way down.

No preserves, jellies or jams are so full-flavored, pure, wholesome and delicious as those that mother puts up at home—in Ball mason jars.

Put up your own berries,—it will make a big dent in your living cost and give your family better food.

Check up your fruit jars and rings,—get in a supply of sugar,—be sure to have reliable recipes.

Strawberries will be ready for canning almost any day now.

The Significance of Maintained Quality

OF highest significance to the motorist is the fact that during those times when the demands for gasoline have been so great as to threaten positive famines, Red Crown, the high grade motor gasoline manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), maintained its standard of quality in the face of every difficulty.

Impartial tests made on authority of the Government proved Red Crown surpassed the specifications set by the Government for its requirements of motor gasoline. These facts indicate the ideals of service which animate the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in every department of its business.

To maintain the quality of a product when the demand is normal is a general practice. It is when demand is pressing and the supply is low that insistence upon maintained quality is a true measure of a manufacturer's integrity.

To maintain the quality of each product at the point set by the technical staff is an outstanding characteristic of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Red Crown is a good example.

Another is Fortnite long-time burner oil. This product is used in railway signal lamps. These signals are often located at points remote from human habitation. For public safety their uninterrupted service is of the utmost importance. It is essential that the oil shall burn with a clear, bright flame for days at a time without attention.

During the blizzard of January, 1918, lamps filled with Fortnite, located high up in the Rocky Mountains, burned night and day during the ten days that traffic was tied up, and at the end of that period they were giving perfect service.

It is only by multiplying such records of quality and integrity of manufacture over a long period of years that the reader can grasp the degree of public confidence enjoyed by Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The class that's got some "pep and speed,"
That pulls the tricks that's new,
The class that pulls together,
Is the Class of '22.

This year we're called the Juniors,
Next year it's something more.
May we never be as green and small,
As the Class of '24.

Next term when we get seats in back,
And when we'll Seniors be,
We hope we won't be so stuck up,
As the Class of '23.

We are the bunch that starts the scraps
The bunch that has the fun,
Here's hoping we won't feel quite so big
As the Class of '21.

—A JUNIOR.

Matinee tomorrow: 3:30. Adm. 15c.

Ouija Revelations.

To Whom It May Concern:

The Junior Mediums, Madame Mae B. Shefollem, Madame Lotta Humbug submit the following report from the recent seance:

How will Mildred E. and Bessie E. win fame? Ask the Dancing Midgets.

Will Benhy Lind ever get over his bashfulness? Most assuredly, just as soon as he can hide his face behind his mustache.

What sort of death is predicted for Adlynn LaBree? Unless she mends her ways, she is doomed to be consumed by the bookworm from her neglected text books.

What classes will the class of '22 outshine? The classes of '20-'21-'23.

A Warning.

These lines are meant for only you
Who next year sometime,
While on your toes with back bent low
Will face our football line.

When you see "Wildcat" coming
Why lose your head and run,
Don't say, "I'll get this fellow,"
Because it can't be done.

And then there's "Kip" and "Stanley"
And more to back these three,
So with them back here next year
We're planning strong you see.

So when the band begins to play,
Although they make some noise,
The rest of you who do not play,
Get out and back the boys.

Use Tact.

When you're a Freshman, by nature you're green,
You study each lesson; write every long theme;
But when you're a Junior, you're wiser, in fact
You don't bother to study at all, just use tact.

Smile, oh! so brightly
Speak so politely
Nothing can then from your power detract
If you never act lazy
They'll think you're a "daisy"
They'll give you an "A" and it's all due to tact.

Wake, Wake, Wake.

Wake, wake, wake,
From thy sweet young dreams, O scholar
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts, while I put on my collar.

O, well for another days joy
Then he shouts for his sister to bring
O, his tie and everything,
Then he frowns while the school bell rings,

And the stately scholar bluffs on,
Thru his classes, hour after hour,
But O for the grip on a fishing rod,
On the banks of the river, Hour.

Wake, wake, wake!
From thy springs fervor dreams, O scholar,
And the tender graces of the ruler's pang,
Will always come back to me.

The Junior's Lassies.

What is there so rare
As a lady so fair,
As some of our Junior lasses.
And although they are nice
They always think twice
Before they report to their classes.
But when they get there,
They get their full share
Of anything else but pleasure.
So let this be heed
To some few who may need
A bit of our daily measure.

"All of a Sudden" Peggy, presented by Senior Class tomorrow night.

Jokes.

Junior: "That boy is a good cartoonist."

Sophomore: "Oh, what instrument does he play?"

Miss Elliott: "Elsie, what is the difference between a written and unwritten Constitution?"

Elsie: "A written Constitution is written and an unwritten Constitution is unwritten."

Math Barzen is living up to his favorite song: "I'm Always Falling in Love with the Other Fellow's Girl."

Ask John Hendry if he prefers fences to sit on rather than chairs.

In Chemistry class: Mr. Melby talking to students, "What's the matter with you, did you check your brains at the door when you came in?"

Miss Patrick: "Ella, name ten of Burn's poems."

Ella: "Oh, ah, 'to a Mouse,' 'To a Louse,', oh, ah, 'Tam-O-Shanter,' oh, ah—??"

Miss Patrick: "Well, what is one you probably have danced to?"

Ella (brightening): "Oh, 'To Mary in Heaven.'"

Time! Oh Time!

First boy: "How much time have you got to make up tonight? Should I wait for you?"

Second boy: "Yes, wait three hundred and eighty minutes."

Now our paper is complete,
Written in letters both clean and neat
We're paid for all our labor,
If it but meets with your favor.

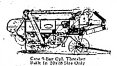
The Big "7" of the Grain Country

WHEREVER grain is grown you will find Case Threshing Machines saving the crops. They have been at it since 1842 at which time the first Case machine went into the field.



Case 9-Bar Cyl. Thresher
Built in 20x28 Size Only
The Machine for Individual Threshing

Over 80,000 Case Threshers have been sold to the farmers of the world—an achievement made possible only by the satisfactory performance of Case Machinery.

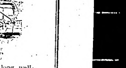
Here in the grain country of the west, the "Big 7" that comprise the Case line of steel-built, galvanized threshers are making new records for themselves and their owners each year. Their universal reputation for complete threshing, thorough separation, perfect cleaning and unequalled saving of grain is being more than maintained and is winning many new friends for "Case". There are good reasons for this. For instance:

Case Features

The new Case-design feeder is equipped with an adjustable straw governor that automatically controls the volume of unthreshed grain fed to the cylinder so that it is impossible to choke the machine by over-feeding. A sensitive speed governor admits grain to the thresher only when cylinder is running at the proper threshing speed.

Case 20-Bar Cyl. Thresher
28x50, 32x54, 36x58 and 40x62 sizes
For General Custom Threshing

The heavy, double-bar steel cylinder of our own design, is equipped with big, extra-strong, annealed-and-tempered teeth which drive through the toughest kind of threshing without difficulty. Absence of outer cylinder bands permits use of concave teeth of uniform length which makes possible extra-close concave adjustments for the most effective threshing, without danger of cracking grain. Case cylinder and concave teeth are interchangeable which is a decided economy and great convenience.



Case 12-Bar Cyl. Thresher
Built in 22x36 and 26x46 sizes
Ideal for Community Service

The violent agitation of the long, well-balanced straw rack insures thorough separation; the Case adjustable sieves, noiseless, end-shake shoe and full-width, underblast cleaning fan clean the grain perfectly while the Case Grain-Saving Wind Stacker protects the farmer against possible losses such as would result from temporary faulty adjustments of the thresher by operator.

A Size for Every Requirement

There are seven sizes of Case Threshers—a size to meet every threshing requirement—20x28, 22x36, 26x46, 28x50, 32x54, 36x58 and 40x62. These machines will thresh all kinds of grains and seeds. Write for descriptive catalog and name of nearest Case dealer.

No one in Thief River Falls who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Thief River Falls woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Thief River Falls resident can doubt.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, 412 Main Ave., N., Thief River Falls, says: "I used many remedies for kidney trouble and backache but had no permanent relief until I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Curtis Drug Store. This remedy not only cured my back but made me feel better in every way. I am only sorry that Doan's didn't come to my attention sooner."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Williams said: "During the past seven years Doan's Kidney Pills have done the work whenever I have used them for kidney weakness. I hold Doan's in the same high estimation as when I first endorsed them."

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

157,170 FARMS IN STATE; 14,185,289 ACRES CULTIVATED

First Census of Agriculture Shows 40,753 Laborers Required in Summer of 1919.

With the reported number of farms in the state as 157,170, Minnesota farmers cultivated 14,185,289 acres in the season of 1920, according to the farm census report just completed in the office of N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture.

This is the first farm census taken in the state, Mr. Holmberg announced and was done in conformity with the law passed at the legislative session of 1919. Reports were received from practically every township in the state on all agricultural activities.

The report shows a total of 26,859,526 acres in the state, of which 12,674,329 were not cultivated, while 253,299 were cleared and stumped in the five year period ending in 1919.

Of the total number of farms, 118,707 are occupied by owners, 38,463 by renters. These producers, both farm owners and renters, were instrumental in tilling more than 1,020,000 acres of land, thereby draining a vast territory which now is fertile soil, and producing large crops, the report shows.

Services of 40,753 laborers were required to carry on the activities of the farmers in the 1919 summer growing season at an average wage of $60.00 a month, while 11,815 laborers were required to carry on the work in the winter months at an average wage of $41.64 a month. The total wages paid by the farmers to laborers in the summer months amounted to $2,448,588, in the winter $411,978.

There were 90,436 dogs reported in the state on the various farms in the 1920 year which were the cause of killing 3,710 sheep. Wolves, the report shows, killed 1,962 sheep.

There were 1,083,660 cows, of which 22,982 are classified as purebred and 1,060,680 common. There were 19,496 purebred bulls and 52,824 common bred bulls. There were 21,859 purebred heifers and calves, 984,150 common bred and 326,466 classified as "other cattle." The report showed 772,863 horses, 1,310 being purebred males, 2,811 purebred female and 678,733 classified as "others." The number of mules used by farmers is shown to be more than 5,600.

Farmers of the state owned 257,666 sheep and 1,341,779 swine. The mortality rate among livestock owned by farmers reached considerable proportions. The census reports show that 27,086 horses died of disease in the year ending April 1, 1920. In that same period 310 mules died of disease, 30,850 milch cows and 77,913 cows classified as "other cattle" and 39,313 sheep.

The mortality rate reached larger proportions among swine, 47,780 having been reported as dying from cholera and 141,148 from other causes.

Creameries and centralizing stations purchased more than $49,266,300 worth of milk and cream produced by the farmers in the 1920 season, while the city trade purchased more than $3,776,600 worth of this dairy product. It required 118,295 cream separators to prepare this product for the market.

The feeding of the dairy herds required 15,293 wooden silos for the preparation and preservation of their food and 5,803 silos constructed of other material than wood.

Minnesota poultry produced $10,728,743 worth of eggs in the year ending April 1, 1920, while the poultry of the state is valued at $3,915,311. The value of livestock sold for meat was placed at $77,447,108.

Farmers planted 2,776,881 acres to spring wheat and 52,848 acres to winter wheat during the 1920 season. There were 5,350,056 acres of corn planted, 4,079,573 for silage purposes and 1,250,483 for grain. More than 880,100 acres were seeded to oats. The acreage sown to other grains were: fall rye, 527,891 acres; spring rye, 500,331 acres; barley, 1,007,199 acres; emmer or "speltz," 20,028 acres; buckwheat, 31,660 acres; potatoes, 302,282 acres; rutabagas, 3,564 acres; onions, 1,351 acres; cabbage, 3,365 acres; sugar beets, 7,031 acres; cow peas, 2,028 acres; flax, 378,552 acres; millet, 74,498 acres; sorghum for syrup, 1,627 acres and 11,500 acres for fodder.

Tame grasses and legumes acreage under cultivation April 1, 1920, were: timothy 989,210 acres; clover 293,761; blue grass 17,811; alfalfa 41,306; sweet clover 18,136 and other tame grasses 150,026. The state produced 114,610 bushels of cloverseed and cut 2,081,429 tons of tame hay during 1919 not including alfalfa or sorghum.

That the farmer rapidly is improving working and housing conditions is shown by the report that there are 14,588 tractors and engines and 61,039 smaller power plants. There were 540 electric lighting systems which directly involve the lighting of 15,275 farm buildings; 443 carbide lighting systems lighting 846 farm buildings and 1,700 gasoline lighting systems which illuminated 1,548 farm buildings.

There were 24,813 stands of bees in the state, producing 703,365 pounds of honey.

Broken Main Causes Trouble.

A broken water main in front of The Times office was discovered late yesterday afternoon. A crew of men worked half the night trying to locate the trouble and the break will will probably be repaired some time today. It was first discovered that something was wrong when water started to leak through the front wall in the basement of the Times office where large quantities of paper are stored. An effort was made to shut off the water in front of the building but this could not be done and Supt. Legvold then put men to work digging up the street. It is apparent from the condition of the ground that the leak has been going on for some time and it is fortunate that no greater damage has resulted from it.

BREAK GROUND FOR CREAMERY

Work on the new, modern home of the St. Hilaire Co-operative Creamery association was started Monday morning this week. It is expected the basement will be finished last of this week, and material is already on the ground for building forms for pouring the foundation. All material has been ordered shipped, and if all goes well, Contractor Carlson expects to have brick laying well under way by the first of next month.

When completed and equipped, the plant will be one of the finest and most modern to be found in this part of the state. Stockholders of the association realize the urgent need for a new building and have planned one that will take care of its needs for many years to come. It takes courage and faith to go ahead with a project of this kind under present conditions, but the people in this vicinity have both as is evidenced by the new building now in course of construction.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

BADLY CRIPPLED UP, SAYS MINER

Had Rheumatism So Bad He Could Not Stoop to Untie His Shoes.

"A man can't help praising a medicine that rids him of his sufferings like Tanlac has me," said Eli Baderd, a miner living at 514 W. Superior St., Duluth, Minn.

"Last spring I was taken down with a bad case of rheumatism and thought I was going to be completely crippled up. It started with severe pains in my back and neck and got so bad I couldn't turn over in bed without suffering agony. The pains in my legs were so terrible that I could hardly walk home after work and my legs pained me so I could hardly stoop over to untie my shoes.

"One of the fellows at the mine where I was working said to me one day, Why don't you take Tanlac and get well? See what it has done for me.' Well, I took his advice and it was the best thing I ever did, for it put me back on my feet and now I am just brimful of new life and energy. I get around fine and work as well as I ever did, as all my pains are gone and I feel better than I have in many a day. I wish I had time to call on everybody who is suffering as I was and tell them about Tanlac."

The Teacher Shortage.
A. K. Lockrem.)

Improvements are absolutely necessary along three lines of our Public School system, if we can hope to get enough teachers throughout our land.

These improvements must be: Better living conditions for teachers both in cities and the rural districts, and a change in the tenure of office.

The city school districts should build suitable residences for the superintendents. Many superintendents have to rent houses quite far away from the school buildings, thus making the distance inconvenient; they often have to pay an unreasonably high rent; this added to heating and other living expenses consumes their entire salary. The nature of their profession hinders them from building a house of their own.

This is in a nutsell the explanation to why so many superintendents leave the teaching profession. There is a general conviction that the school districts are not showing up the proper consideration for their personal welfare and living conditions.

No general plan for comfortable teachers' homes has yet developed, and the short time they are engaged indicates a distrust on the part of the district.

No Common or High School Board has yet ventured to engage a teacher for a longer period than just for the school months of one year.

This practice does not show much confidence.

It seems that most school districts expect to get the very best teacher, and that during the short trial term, the teacher is "weighed in the balance and found wanting," and that they expect to get a better one the next term; thus is the habit of changing teachers kept alive.

This habit of changing teachers almost every year, added to the inconvenience to the teacher, because the districts have not provided for convenient teachers' homes, is the reason why we have so few men teachers.

Nearly every young man wishes to establish his own home, and in order to do that he must have a steady job. Therefore it is out of the question to plan for continuing in the teaching profession at the present time except for a few, whose desire for education and for the teaching profession is so strong, that they cannot do otherwise.

These few men, then, obtain a full normal, college or university education, so they can fill the highest positions. But in the small rural schools men teachers are so few, that when such a one is found it creates surprise. So also in the grades of the city schools.

These last mentioned, and the rural schools, are generally taught by young women. This is, of course, entirely all right except that it causes a continual struggle on the part of the state officials to turn out a sufficient number of new teachers every year. Only a few young women plan to continue in the teaching profession for lifetime. When the Divine Architect formed their nature in the soul of noble mother Eve, He laid in her heart a strong wish for homelife, and most of them follow this blessed inclination; their average years of teaching are few.

But if the public school system in regard to living conditions and tenure of office were changed as above mentioned, young men could safely plan to enter the teaching profession for lifetime, thus eliminating the necessity of turning out such a great number of new teachers every year, their average years of teaching would be many, thus steadily reducing the teacher shortage. This plan will not do injustice to our women teachers; they will always be needed. This plan is aimed at reducing the teacher shortage, only.

(Possibly a way may be found to improve the living conditions for women teachers also, though that appears to be more difficult. But the change in tenure of office for women teachers could be applied, if they should wish it.)

The people will accept this plan much easier than to continually increase teachers' salaries. High cash salaries are never looked upon with pleasure by the common people, of which I am one, for the simple reason, that they, most of the time, have to get along with small salaries themselves. (The present high salaries for common labor is only a passing incident that after a few years will come down again to its former time-worn level, and cannot be taken as a standard for future conditions.) But to build teachers' homes is not objectionable to the common people. Free housing and a little smaller cash salary is much more agreeable to their minds, and is better for teachers.

This can be proven by remembering, that the church people do just this to their pastors and to teachers of their denominational schools. This plan, then, to improve living conditions and tenure of office is agreeable to both parties concerned and ought to work well. It would add a certain dignity to the teaching profession, bring the necessary steadiness and convenience to a profession, which for all time will have more or less of the external characteristics of the Levites of ancient Jewish history.

These improvements, coupled to the present state insurance for teachers, will, beyond a doubt, be an inducement to young men to choose the teaching profession as their life's work. Professors for our denominational colleges are called for an indefinite period of time, and we have had no shortage so far.

In my next article I shall state my views on rural schools.

MERCHANT BODY PLANS UNUSUAL BARGAIN EVENT

Wednesday, June 22 is Set as Date—Special and Novel Inducements Arranged.

Free Auction, Base Ball Game, Band Concerts and Extra Movie Will be Features.

Booster Paper Will be Published in Effort to Attract People From A Distance.

Wednesday, June 22, has been set as the date for Thief River Falls' first big Market Day celebration by the Merchants association. Elaborate plans are being made and everything possible will be done to make it eclipse any previous effort in this direction.

Special Attractions.

Among the special entertainment features of the day will be a big free auction, baseball game between the fast teams of Thief River Falls and Karlstad, band concerts, and a special movie feature at the Lyceum. For this date Manager Brumund has arranged to show "The County Fair," a screen production that has caused a storm of favorable comment.

In addition to this the merchants will all conduct new and novel sale events. Special bargains will be offered by all the stores and merchandise featured that will attract large crowds here.

Special Paper to Be Issued.

As an added advertising feature the merchants will issue a special eight-page paper. This will be sent as a supplement to the regular subscribers of The Times and in addition will be mailed to a list of five thousand names in all parts of this section of the tate. It will be the first gun of a mammoth campaign to establish Thief River Falls as the trading center of Northwestern Minnesota.

To Be Monthly Affair.

The fourth Wednesday of each month for the next six months has been decided upon as the date for the big market day celebrations in Thief River Falls and every effort is to be made to make them banner events. New attractions will be featured each month and entertainment provided that will please.

The first publication of the Merchants association "Market Day Special" will be on June 16. It will be brim full of interesting reading matter and attractive adverstisements. It is probably the biggest undertaking of any group of merchants in the northwest and will be one of the strongest advertising features that the city has ever had.

The first issue will be called "The Market Day Special" but in that issue the merchants are offering a cash prize for the best name submitted for future issues. This contest will be open to all who wish to submit names and the person suggesting the one that is adopted by the association will receive twenty-five dollars in cash. Another feature for the first day will be a "Round Robin Sale." Just what this is remains to be seen. The "Latch String" in the first issue of the paper will give complete details.

Neighboring Postmasters Receive Raise in Pay

Four postoffices in this section were advanced to what is known as the presidential grade from fourth class on April 1. Goodridge is among these and the postmaster at that point will hereafter receive a salary of $1,200 per year. Climax, Grygla and Holt are among the Minnesota communities similarly promoted.

Overlands Drop in Price.

Announcement is made this week by the Northwestern Auto company of a big drop in the price of Overland cars. A decline in price of two hundred dollars has gone into effect on all models of Overlands and three hundred dollars on the Willys-Knight.

M. C. BURNS SUFFERS SERIOUS INJURY IN FALL FROM LADDER

Arm and Hip Broken and Injured Internally—Chances For Recovery Slight.

M. C. Burns was seriously injured Monday when he fell from a ladder at his home, breaking one arm and hip and receiving internal injuries. Because of his advanced age and the seriousness of his internal injuries it is feared that the accident will prove fatal.

Mr. Burns had climbed to the top of the porch, using a ladder which was a little short for the purpose. He had placed it on top of a box and experienced no difficulty in climbing to the top of the porch. When he was descending, however, the box upset, throwing him to the cement walk below. It was first thought that a broken arm and hip were the only injuries he had received but later in the day symptoms of internal injuries developed which have since proven to be of a very serious nature.

The injured man is 72 years old and one of the first settlers in this secmtion of the state.

LOCAL COUNTY JAIL SCENE OF SUICIDE LAST FRIDAY NOON

Life Taken by Hanging Self With Handkerchief From Top Of the Cell.

A man named Joe Hanson took his own life in the county jail last Friday noon by hanging himself. He was a resident of Karlstad and had been taken in by the local authorities Friday morning when his queer actions indicated that his mind was unbalanced.

Hanson had been taking treatment for some ailment at the Kirby farm south of the city. Friday morning he wandered away from the farm and engaged in numerous antics that attracted the attention of neighboring farmers and convinced them that the man must be insane. Sheriff LaBree was notified and brought the unfortunate man to this city, where he was placed in the county jail.

At noon Deputy Sheriff Paul Midderigh went to the jail with the man's dinner and found him hanging from the top of his cell with his handkerchief tied about his neck. The assistance of Deputy Sheriff Frank McGinnity was secured and the body taken down and the coroner notified.

The remains were shipped to Karlstad for burial.

Farm Values in County Increase 162 Per Cent

The value of farm lands and buildings in Pennington county increased from $5,128,728 in 1910 to $13,468,465 in 1920, according to the figures of the census bureau just made public. This is an increase of 162.6 per cent and shows up well in comparison with other northwestern Minnesota counties. The number of farms, however, show a slight falling off, there having been 1,244 reported for 1910 as compared with 1,221 in 1920. These figures are all the more astonishing when it is noted that the total acreage in farm lands ten years ago was 257,485 as compared with 284,688 acres at the present time. This is an increase of 10.6 per cent whereas there is a decrease of 1.9 per cent in the total number of farms. The amount of land designated as "improved" increased 42.2 per cent, jumping from 136,735 acres in 1910 to 194,473 acres last year.

Wheat Falls Off.

That wheat is rapidly losing its standing as the principal crop of Northwestern Minnesota counties is proven by the census figures. These show that in 1919 the total acreage devoted to this evereal in Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Marshall counties was 473,620 acres as compared with 292,871 acres ten years previous. In spite of this big increase in the acreage the total wheat yield in these counties dropped from 4,556,267 bushels, to 4,421,314 bushels—a falling off of 114,953 bushels. Wheat is the only grain showing a decline, oats, rye, barley and flax production having kept pace with the increase in land development in the section, with rye making the best showing.

In 1909 there was only 820 acres devoted to rye in Pennington county and the total yield was 11,492 bushels. Ten years later the acreage had increased to 12,293 and the yield to 123,711 bushels. In round numbers the oat acreage increased by 4,000 acres and the yield by 100,000 bushels.

Cattle Showing Disappoints.

Contrary to all expectations the report shows the number of cattle to have decreased in the county during the ten years, although it is explained that the figures for domestic animals are not very closely comparable for the reason that the 1910 census was taken in April, or about the middle of the breeding season, while the figures for 1920 were secured in January and consequently do not include the spring calves. It is likely that if the census for the two decades had been taken on corresponding dates a slight increase would have been indicated. In other northwestern counties the same situation is noted, Marshall and Polk showing an increase of only a few head. Red Lake county shows up particularly well in this respect, there being an increase of 4,000 head indicated.

Valuation Increase.

The actual development of the section is perhaps best indicated by the increase in the value of its farm lands. In every instance this is remarkable, as will be noted by the following figures:

County.	1920	1910	Inc.
Clearwater	$ 8,681,910	$ 2,598,659	$ 6,083,251
Marshall	41,520,290	14,081,313	27,538,977
Pennington	13,468,465	5,128,728	8,339,737
Polk	75,260,443	29,738,082	45,522,361
Red Lake	12,603,909	3,006,651	9,597,258

TWO GOOD BASE BALL GAMES ON SUNDAY-MONDAY

Fertile Aggregation That Defeated Locals in 10 Inning Battle, Here Sunday.

Decoration Day Game Will Be With Ada. Both Teams Have Salaried Players.

St. Hilaire Defeated by 6 to 0 Score on Local Diamond Last Sunday.

Some real baseball is on the calendar for next week. The fast Fertile bunch of ball tossers will be here Sunday and Monday. Ada is coming with a salaried team to give Thief River Falls a real battle. Both games will be called promptly at 3:00 o'clock and the admission will be fifty cents. Federolf will be in the box Sunday and Van Dusen will do the twirling in Monday's game.

The local team will be strengthened this week by the arrival of Len Schroeder from St. Paul, who will hold down the initial sack. He is an old timer, having played with Cincinnati in the National league for one year and with the Columbus American Association team for three years.

Ten Inning Battle.

Yesterday the local aggregation played at Fertile and came back with the short end of a 4 to 3 score. It was a ten inning contest and a fine exhibition. The Fertile mound artist had the sign hung on the Thief River sluggers, letting them down with three hits while Federolf was found by the Fertile men for eight safe clouts.

St. Hilaire Defeated.

Sunday afternoon St. Hilaire was defeated by the score of 6 to 0. The game, however, was not as one-sided as the score might indicate. With the exception of the first inning it was a close game. In the first period Thief River Falls put four runs across the plate but for the remaining eight innings only two men made the circuit.

Federolf was in good form, holding the visitors to four scattered hits. Melquist, for St. Hilaire, was pounded for thirteen safe drives, two of these being three baggers and one two bagger.

The following box score gives the details of the game:

JUNE FIFTH SET AS DAY OF RED LAKE AUTO TRIP

Teachers in Public Schools Invited to be Guests of Commercial Club on Trip.

Outing Will Include Big Picnic Dinner and Boat Rides on The Lake.

Enthusiasm Indicates that at Least Fifty Cars Will Make The Trip.

Sunday, June 5th, has been decided on by the automobile tour committee of the Commercial club as the date for the first tour of the season. Red Lake is to be the place visited and the natural attractiveness of this future playground of Northwestern Minnesota is certain to make the touring party one of the largest that has ever gone from this city.

Teachers to Be Guests.

At the Commercial club luncheon this noon it was unanimously decided to extend an invitation to the teachers of the public schools to be the guests of the Commercial club on the trip. The necessary accommodations will be provided for them and every effort possible made to make the outing an enjoyable one for them. The fact that Red Lake is the largest body of fresh water located wholly within the United States makes it a point of more than usual interest.

Agency to Furnish Boats.

Chairman E. O. Mogensen of the Automobile Tours committee, was assured by a long distance telephone call from the agent at the Red Lake Agency last evening that they would do everything possible to add to the pleasure of the outing. He stated that their plans would include the furnishing of a large boat and a number of small ones to give the party a trip on the water. The boats will be at the outlet of the lake and the ride will be made just as extensive as time will permit.

Fish Chowder Dinner.

H. W. Protzeller has been placed in charge of preparations for the picnic dinner and he is making elaborate plans for a feed that will be somewhat of a novelty. It will be a fish chowder dinner, made from fresh fish taken from Red Lake. Mr. Protzeller with his assistants will leave everything in readiness for the party when it arrives Sunday morning. All of the necessary provisions will be purchased by the committee and then each member of the party will pay their proportionate share.

Band to Accompany Party.

Geo. C. Loken has been appointed as a committee of one to make arrangements for taking the band on the trip. This will add much to the day's pleasure and Mr. Loken is authority for the statement that he will have assembled on the morning of June 5th one of the "peppiest" musical organizations that ever left this city for any similar purpose.

Notify Committee.

The committee in charge of the tour consists of E. O. Mogensen, chairman; H. W. Protzeller, L. H. Lawrence, Dr. G. W. Booren, Roy Lambert, R. H. Ross, and Geo. C. Loken. Any who wish to make the trip are requested to at once notify any member of this committee or Scott Laird, secretary of the Commercial club. The teachers who intend to go are requested to notify Secretary Laird so that cars may be provided for them.

It is also requested by the committee that all owners of autos who will have extra space in their car notify them in order that all who wish to go may be accommodated. All who wish to go and have no car of their own are also requested to leave their names with the committee. This is to be a big community affair and it is intended to see that all make the trip who wish to. In this connection it is anticipated that a number of the teachers will have invitations from private parties to accompany them on the trip and it is important that the commercial club secretary or members of the committee be notified of this. Those extending invitations to any of the teachers need merely give notification of the fact together with the names of the teachers they have invited.

Service Car.

WORK STARTED BY PAVING CONTRACTOR

CITY'S BIGGEST IMPROVEMENT WILL NOW BE CARRIED OUT AS PLANNED BY THE CITY COUNCIL

Contractors Agree to Accept City's Certificates of Indebtedness at Par as Payment For Work—Removes All Obstacles For Much Needed Improvement.

Crew of Men Now at Work on Main Avenue Putting in Curbs and Gutters—Work of Excavating and Laying Pavement Will Start in About Ten Days.

Pavement for the streets in the business section of Thief River Falls is now an assured fact. The contractors arrived with their equipment Monday and the preliminary work has already started.

Public Surprised.

This announcement came as a complete surprise to the people of Thief River Falls. In fact the idea of the possibility of the streets being paved this year had to all appearances been abandoned by everybody and the opinioned prevailed throughout the city that the action of the Oen Mercantile company against the city of Thief River Falls had successfully blocked the paving program for this year at least. With this case coming up at the June term of court and the likeliness of an appeal to the supreme court from whatever decision might be reached in district court the sale of the bonds seemed impossible and none could see any light in the situation.

It is now apparent that the city officials have been proceeding quietly with their plans which terminated with the arrival here of the contractor and his equipment Monday.

Contractor to Take Certificates.

It appears that the contractor has agreed to go ahead with the work and accept the certificates of indebtedness of the city at par in payment as the work progresses. This gives the city full benefit of the advantageous sale of the certificates of the city to the Capitol Trust and Savings Bank of St. Paul some time ago as the contractor has agreed to accept the certificates at the same price as was bid by this bank. It will be remembered that the Capitol Trust and Savings Bank, after contracting for the certificate, later repudiated their contract and announced their inability to handle the certificates with the Oen Mercantile company litigation pending.

The only thing which could stop the work at this time would be a restraining order from the district court and inasmuch as this would necessitate a large sized bond to protect the contractor from damages it is not anticipated that any application will be made for one. It is also claimed that very little opposition to the carrying out of the program now exists, even on the part of those who have been most active against it, and that it is doubtful if any would care to stop the work if such a thing were possible. The general attitude seems to be to forget differences and get behind the improvement now that work has actually started.

Work on Main Avenue First.

The first work will be done on Main avenue. The work preparatory to the putting in of the curbs and gutters is now progressing on this avenue from the Great Northern tracks north. It will be necessary for this part of the work to be done about four or five blocks ahead of the actual paving construction and with the weather continuing favorable this will mean that the excavating of the streets and laying of pavement will be under way in about ten days.

Sidewalks to Be Widened.

The contract calls for the widening of the sidewalks two feet on each side of the street. This will leave the actual width of the paved streets fifty feet. This change will make considerable difference in the cost and will leave the streets plenty wide, they will, in fact, be the same width as Nicolet avenue in Minneapolis.

With the carrying out of the program as the contractors now have it planned Main avenue will be the first paved. Work will be done on Main from the Great Northern tracks to Fourth street. The next will be done on LaBree avenue from First to third street and following that Second street will be paved between Main and LaBree. Third street from the Soo station west will be the next undertaken and from there on the extent of the improvement will depend in a great measure on weather conditions.

IT'S ALL RIGHT NOW.

The work of paving the streets of Thief River Falls has been begun and there is no longer any sense in keeping up a discussion on the topic. If there are still those who believe that the move is a mistake they are evidently willing to let the majority rule and will in the end be found as heartily in favor of the enterprise as are those who have been on the affirmative side of the question from the start.

The time has come to forget any antagonisms that may have arisen while this matter was under discussion. The best plan in the circumstances is to admit that that there has existed nothing but a difference of opinion and that those opposed to paving had a right to their views, even though these did not coincide with the views of the majority. No harm has been done and none will result if we forget all about the matter and pull together from now on. On the other hand, if the feeling of antagonism is permitted to grow it will be the worst thing that has ever happened to the city.

Before long no one will be found willing to admit that he opposed paving and it will be better for all concerned if no one is foolish enough to question his memory.

MEMORIAL DAY.

On Monday the people of the United States will pay tribute to their soldiers, living and dead, by appropriate exercises conducted in every city and village throughout the country. The men who took part in the three last wars in which the United States was engaged will share equally in the honors.

There is a tendency to forget the services of these men and it is not well that this should be the case. This one day in the year has been set aside for the purpose of keeping memory of their sacrifices fresh and it is a decidedly poor kind of a citizen who fails to do his part by refraining from his usual labors and joining with his fellow citizens in such observances as have been arranged for the occasion.

Attend the services at the auditorium next Monday morning. Not only will your presence prove that you have not forgotten what is due the nation's defenders, but it will help keep alive in your a keener appreciation of your own responsibilities as a citizen and help you place a higher valuation on American citizenship.

Public Forum

Cincinnati, Ohio,
May 17, 1920.

The Times,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dear Sir:—Hhaving received the map of the proposition for the new drainage project, "Beltrami and Marshall County Consolidated No. 1," and which is to be passed upon, or a hearing had at Warren June 14, 1921, I write to ask that if you have not done so before, you will give some articles, which will express the public sentiment regarding the new drainage project. Also if there has been information as to how the cost of the work (if approved) is to be assessed. Some of the drainage proposed is inside the Judicial District No. 11, for which $100,000 bonds were sold, the drains dug during 1912 and later. To nonresidents it is a matter of interest (as well as to resident owners) to learn if the cost of the work done inside the lines of Judicial District No. 11 is to make a second assessment on the unimproved land which now carries an annual assessment of taxes and drainage, say $90.00 per quarter section. If the work is to be done in the near future the cost will be much higher than that of previous ditches, also the bonds will have to bear a higher rate or sold at a greater discount than formerly. The supposition is that the drainage in Judicial District No. 11 would take care of the water that would naturally fall upon it, but would not take care of the surplus water from Beltrami county and northern Marshall county, which has been running into it and made a serious flood a few years ago. The new drainage it would appear is for the benefit, primarily, of the above mentioned undrained sections of Beltrami and Marshall counties, but they find it necessary to use in part the drains previously constructed and to enlarge and deepen Thief river to take the increased flow of water. If the present drainage and proposed drainage had been made and financed when Judicial District No. 11 was drained it would have covered the whole territory more effectively at less cost than can be done now. This may be nothing new to you, but as I am acquainted with a number of resident and nonresident land owners who have asked me for information, I submit the matter to your judgment that the facts and conditions as they arise would be good reading matter for your paper and help to inform all parties interested in Beltrami and Marshall counties as to what is doing and what the public sentiment may be or is regarding the proposed drainage, assessments, etc., and its probable effect on the future of the respective counties. What percentage of the lands drained by Judicial District No. 11 have been, or are susceptible of cultivation since this drainage was completed? What percentage of land would be supposed to be cultivated of the district now being considered for drainage. Would the lands sell for a price that would carry the general and school tax and ditching charges, interest, etc., and leave any profit in ten years time to an investor? If there is not sufficient immigration into the district to make a demand for these particular lands unless advertised to compete with other sections offering agricultural lands at low prices? These are questions affecting the well-being, the prosperity and financial condition of all of that section (in three counties), as it is tributary to Thief River as a banking and a commercial center as well, and if the owners of these lands cannot either sell or cultivate them at a profit, they might as well be undrained until immigration, advertising, etc. make a demand for additional land. If I am correctly informed the present supply of drained and uncultivated land is much in excess of the demand.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health — Granny Chamberlain

$5,000 Reward

The Senior class of 1921 offers a reward of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars for the capture, (dead or alive) or information leading to the capture and arrest of any person who is known to willfully, premeditavely, and maliciously slander the senior issue of the High School Progress. See Dreng Bjornaraa, president.

Senior Issue.

The Seniors are issuing the High School Progress this week and even though we are busy with the Class Play, preparing for our social affairs and commencement we intend to put out a worth-while and "peppy paper." The Classes have each had a chance at displaying their ability in seriousness and wit and we intend to show what we can give. We are here but for a little while longer and then we leave this high school never to come back. We hope that every Senior will have some article published in our issue so that he may feel that he has been able to contribute.

A High School Career.

Of just what should a high school career be composed? For some it can safely be said, that it means all play and no work, for others all work and no play, and for still others, some work and some play, evenly and wisely divided.

The next question in our minds—which after all, is correct: To sail through our high school career out on to the sea of life on the ship called Pleasure, with foolish frivalities, "late hours" and "good times" for fellow passengers? Most certainly not. We should also say just as emplatically most certainly not to a voyage on the ship called Work, on the board of which there is always burning of "Midnight Oil," no healthful recreation, and eternal worry and drudgerly. A wise combination of the two seems to be the only solution. We might, as Freshmen, go aboard the ship called Work, choosing our fellow passengers carefully and with discretion, be willing to take good advice, and choose for recreation, clean, healthful activities, avoiding such actions which would give our fellow passengers the right to think and say things utterly untrue of us.

Why not "all play and no work," says someone, when you can get away with it? Let us remember that life isn't one "long glad song." There will be a great many discords whether we try to avoid them or not, so why not, to help make things run smoothly, be willing to take advice and be directed by those who have been through it all, and know?

Why not "all work and no play" when one can get away with it? But we can no more get away with that than with the other, for it will leave its stamp on us, broken health, pessimestic outlook—when optimism is what we need today—joy and happiness partaken of sanely and carefully. A joyless child does not make a good man or woman, and what do we need more for tomorrow than good men and women?

So we see that it must be a combination of work and play, to make us normal, good men and women, and to make us willing, anxious to take our places in the ranks as our predecessors drop out.

Now that the end of our high school career is drawing near, it seems to be the attitude among the members of the Senior class that nothing more is required of them. But they are mistaken. If they have not very much studying to do they must still continue to support their class. Now that commencement-week is almost here we need the support of every member of the class of 1921 to make our commencement exercises the best ever.

They have worked valiantly to be able to publish an Annual and have succeeded. The Annual will be out very soon and everyone will be sure to get a copy.

Members of our class have been working almost day and night on the class play and the success of the play depends upon the support that is given by the rest of the class.

Now, Seniors, let's all keep pushing together and in doing so make this class of 1921 the best ever.

Two Habits.

There are a number of people who have the habit of getting "P" on their report card. This is about half way to Failure, speaking figuratively. I say it is half way, but what are the stages of Habit before that. Nine chances out of ten it is not because they can't get their lessons or do not want to have their lessons, but you will find it is because of Carelessness and its twin brother, Thoughtlessness. The average student will come to class and pay a half-way attention to assignments probably thinking at the time of getting it from his or her friend. After leaving class new ideas and things are ever popping up, and one not in the habit of exercising his memory will forget the lesson and come up next day with a "Oh, I forgot." It is the student's business to think. That is what brains are for. They who do not think about their work are as bad as they who do not work at all. These are habits no girl nor boy can afford to cultivate fore they will operat later in life, and much of their welfare and happiness will be destroyed by thoughtlessness and carelessness.

The 1921 Prowler.

Hurrah! the 1921 Prowler is off the press and is on sale. There are only a few copies left unsold and they are going like hot-cakes. Are you not afraid of losing out on your copy? Can you imagine any student or alumni of old Lincoln High who would not be interested enough to purchase a copy of the Prowler? It is a pretty hard thing to do but still it is fact that a great many have been found out.

The "1921 Prowler" consists of 60 pages of snappy pictures, jokes, snaps, etc. The alumni section of the Prowler is what we consider very good. The snapshots of both faculty and student body are just as snappy as any that have been put in books. How do we know? Why, because we had just as many snaps turned in as any class who were publishing an annual of 160 pages thereby getting a better selection that would make the snapshot department one of the snappiest that has ever been put into an annual.

Hark! ye Alumni. The 1921 Prowler can be purchased for the small sum of $1.00 from any 1921 senior or by sending your subscription to The Business Manager of the 1921 Prowler in care of Lincoln High School.

Hear ye, hear ye, the class of '21 of Lincoln High School is about to dispose of their masterpiece at public sale at Lincoln High School to anyone who may possess the sum of $1, and who is willing to give same in exchange for a 1921 Prowler. Ye students who have not as yet subscribed get into action and put your class in the lime light by having the most subscriptions. At the present time the Freshmen have exceeded all other classes in subscription to the 1921 Prowler.

Subscribe now ere ye be too late and miss out on your copy.

Advanced Education.

Hoy many students continue their learning after they leave the high school? About ten per cent of the graduates of a high school go on to further leaing after they sing Alma Mater at their graduation.

Many do not realize what an advanced education is necessary. It is true that a few will not need further instruction and these few, who are exceptions, acquire good and paying positions but an average between eighty and ninety per cent of those who do not look to higher education fail in life and business. They will find some petty job, which will probably bring them a fair income but is this all we are looking to in this life, an income? What is an income to a man of small knowledge? It is a means of degrading him. If a man acquires a fortune with no effort and has no education, what will he do with it? He will throw it to the winds. He will have no knowledge of how to spend it or invest it so that it will bring him returns and a satisfactory living. So in leaving high school one must look ahead and form his future. By so doing he must form his business a way to acquire a comfortable living for his family and also to give to the world as much and more than he takes out. He must contribute to society instead of becoming a parasite to it. And the only way knowledge can be gotten in the right way is through the teaching of colleges and universities. So when you finish your high school course look forward to a higher education and continue into the higher social world.

Girl Scouts.

Although not a new organization the girl scout is a new feature in the public school life of this city. There are at present nine troops, consisting of eight girls each and it is the ambition of every scout to become a better citizen and a more intelligent voter when she is called upon to take the reins of government in her own hands.

Upon these principles the organization was established and toward this end they have constantly been striving under the able leadership of Miss Dix.

Every Monday night there is a troop meeting at which topics of present day importance are discussed, and if it lies within the power of the local organization to remedy the existing conditions willingly do so.

It is impossible to estimate in dollars and cents the value of the work already accomplished by the organization even in our own city as the help they rendered in soliciting for the Chinese Relief fund alone, probably saved the lives of a great number of our Chinese cousins across the Pacific.

These same scout are at present struggling hard for an existence and it behooves every citizen to give his or her support to them at every possible chance.

Class Dues.

Throughout the year we have seen notices on the board asking the students of the various classes to pay up their class dues, but judging from the number of time that this request has been repeated, we must conclude that the students do not respond as they should.

Now, why is it that class dues are considered such an unnecessary expenditure by so many of the students? It is true, of course, that some of them pay their dues promptly, and these are the people who are paying for the class entertainments and expenses while the shirkers get the same benefits and the pleasure out of the affairs.

Do you want some one else to pay your way when you yourself are just as capable of paying it yourself? The assessments made in all the classes are not high and well within the reach of every student. Shoulder the responsibilty, then, of paying off your dues before the year is ended, and stop riding on someone else's ticket.

Senior-Junior Reception.

The Juniors in the spring always give a banquet for the Seniors, and in return the Seniors give a reception. This year the reception will be held on Friday evening, May 27 at the High School. It is hoped that all Juniors, faculty, and Seniors will be present to share in the last gathering of this kind for the year.

To be or not to be, that is the question
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The slings and arrows of outrageous chemistry,
Or to take up arms against a mob of formulae
And by opposing end them? To weep; to suffer;
No more;—and by this to say we end
The head-ache, and the thousand natural F's
That flesh is heir to, 'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wished. To weep; to suffer;
To suffer; perchance to flunk—ay, there's the rub;—
For in that condition what marks may cone,
When we have suffled off this mortal misery,
Must give us rest. There's the subject
That makes High School of so long life;
For who would learn the experiments and analyses,
The instructor's wrong. The awful quizzes,
The pangs of low marks, the sharp words,
The insolence of questions, and the F's,
The patient work of the unworthy takes
When he himself his credit might make
With a string of D's.

Better Lincoln High.

Statistics show that only three per cent of the pupils that enter high school go to a college or university. The remainder either leave school before they finish, or they do not go on farther.

Oftentimes you hear one of the ninety-seven per cent say that he wished he had the chance to go thru school again, and he would have done more work or taken more subjects, that he now could use to good advantage. If that person had had more responsibility he would not say that, because, he would have used his time far better than he did. Responsibility is the key-note to success, and if you shirk responsibility no matter who you are, you will be a failure. In every instance, the man or woman who accepts the responsibility is the one who becomes a success.

At the end of the school year most of those graduating will go into the world and try to make their way through life. As they come out they will find that people do not take the interest in them as they did at home. They will find that unless they have a firm foundation to build their success on, they will have no success. How can they get a firm foundation? By learning to accept responsibility, and while in school, to choose studies which they may need later on, and to study those subjects.

Sometimes you hear a freshman asking somebody in the other classes above him what subjects are easy or require little preparation so they will not have to work hard. These are the ones who when Seniors, say they wished they could go through school again and they would have done differently.

If every pupil in the Lincoln high school would take the subjects he thinks he will need, and really studied, we would have a far better school and the pupils will find the road to success easier. "Passing the buck" has not made a success of anyone. By accepting responsibility they will find that success is by far easier to reach. By doing this we will not only have a far better school, but there will be a great deal more success to those who go and make the very best use of their opportunity.

Commercial Picnic.

Last Monday the Commercial department students sojourned to Squaw Point immediately after school for a picnic.

The first number on the program was a baseball game between the boys and girls. No one kept score. Suffice to say that although the boys were fewer in number they were in better form than the girls, and the game was just a series of home runs for them.

When lunch time came around, capable cooks were not wanting. Bernard Sundahl supervised the coffee making, and Allen Fossum, with the aid of the only available utensil, a butcher knife, stirred the beans so religiously that they never thought of burning. There were sandwiches and ice cream and cake galore. "Knute" can bear witness to the abundance of the last named article.

After supper, games were continued for a while, after which the group of tired but happy commercialites wended their way home.

The students of shorthand class one, have for the past week been practicing on test copy to be sent to the Gregg company, which will enable them to get an O. G. A. certificate if their work is up to a certain excellence. The students will get their O. G. A. certificate before the end of the school term.

Miss Svedal's Program.

On Wednesday morning Miss Svedal took charge of the chapel exercises. Six girls in costume danced Norwegian Folk dances and Mildred Loftness gave a humorous reading in Norse dialect.

Immediately afterward Mr. Ziegler announced the honor roll for this year.

Betsy Ness has the honor of being the class valedictorian. As there were three people very close for the place of salutatorian, Ethel Conklin, who has a fraction of a point higher than the other two is to deliver the salutatory address while Annie Hincik and Dreng Bjornaraa were a tie for the next place. The other students on the Honor Roll are as follows:

Mary Vance, Adolph Sundrud, Rose Oski, Beatrice Sandum, Anna Leimers, Evelyn Saugen, Marguerite De-Cremer, Lois Struble, Clare Lund and Lester Coyle.

Scene (or Sun) in the Winter.

A certain young man who for long years I've known
From the time he was born 'till now he is grown,
Spoke to me thus, "Every girl that we meet
Wears the lowly galoshes each day on her feet.
And along with same she wears filmy silk stockings
Such conduct I think is really quite shocking."

Even a Freshman.

A dear little Freshman (may his kind increase)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace
And saw within the confines of his room
Sitting direct in the light of the moon
A Senior writing in a book so old
A book which, long before, the druggist sold.
"What writest thou?" The Senior raised his head.
"Compiling monthly honor roll," he said.
"Is my name there?" the Freshman then inquired.
Now none had known till then that he aspired.

We Add 50 Cents to Each Dollar Invested by An Employe

RECENTLY the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) announced a plan under which it is possible for its 25,000 employes to become partners in the business on a very attractive basis.

The publisher of a small newspaper, unacquainted with the motives which animate the seven men who direct the operation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), wrote an editorial in which he questioned the motives of this Company, and intimated that the plan was a scheme whereby the Company aimed to benefit by getting in this additional capital.

To set right this publisher, and any one else interested, the Company deems it advisable to direct attention to two outstanding features of this plan which are illuminating in this instance.

First, that to every dollar paid by the employe for the purchase of stock, the Company adds, as a gift, 50c.

Second, that participation in the plan is not obligatory, and that in no case is an employe permitted to pay in more than twenty percent of his earnings.

In formulating the employe partnership plan, the Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was inspired solely by the idea of benefiting those employes who wish, through systematic saving, to become partners in the business. It believes that the man who works and saves is climbing upward, but that the man who invests his savings wisely is climbing faster. It believes that the employe who has money invested in the business is freer of mind, more contented, and more productive than if this anchor to windward did not exist.

The idea of employe ownership of industry is in line with modern tendencies. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has always been a progressive organization. Its willingness to receive new ideas has put it in the lead in the petroleum industry.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed an efficient, enthusiastic body of workers. Every employe, from the Chairman of the Board of Directors to the man who drives a tank wagon, is working steadfastly to serve the public to the best of his ability.

It is the recognition of this fact that prompted the Board of Directors to inaugurate the plan which enables the employe—whatever his position may be—to become a partner—a factor in the business.

Hood River Strawberry Canning Time Is Here!

Here Is a Reliable Recipe for Strawberry Marmalade

Small or over-ripe berries may be used but they must be free from decay. Wash carefully and quickly, and stem. Put into a preserving kettle and crush. Add three fourths as much sugar as there is crushed fruit. Boil over a slow fire for fifteen minutes. Fill cans and seal.

There is a pleasing variety of ways to put up strawberries. Watch for other recipes.

THOSE big, red, juicy Hood River berries are best for canning. Sugar is down. Put up a big supply of strawberry jam, jelly and sauce for next winter,—in Ball Mason jars.

By canning at home, you're sure of the purest, most wholesome preserves at a saving of 1/3 to 1/2. The family is never really satisfied with any but the kind that Mother puts up.

This is Your Institution—
Are You Getting Dividends?

This Is The Minnesota State Prison

As a taxpayer your money has helped to build this institution and as a Minnesota farmer you can get your money back many fold. Farmers are saving hundreds of thousands of dollars on agricultural implements manufactured here. If you have not benefited, here is your chance to share in the profits. Savings have been effected by keeping prices of competing machinery built outside the state down and still selling way under any other manufacturer.

Get Your Share Of This

A saving of at least $800,000 has been made to the farmers of Minnesota on the famous Minnesota Binder Twine. Our wholesale price of this twine is 2½c per pound lower than any other, and there is another 2½c for freight and jobbers' profit which must be added. Therefore, on the 16,000,000 which we will make this year there will be more than three quarter million dollars saved to the farmers of this state.

Years of Reputation Guaranteed by the State of agricultural machinery is guaranteed by the state. It is all made of the best materials obtainable and throughout its production is constantly under the supervision of state employed experts.

The MINNESOTA

Minnesota Binders as good as the best—show a favorable comparison in price and quality with any other. For example, the 7 foot binder is exactly $26.61 lower than its competitor. These binders compare as favorably as the twine and this economy is well worth while.

Minnesota Mowers with years of reputation behind them, are sold, 5 foot length, for $13.00 less than any other. When you consider the many points of superiority and long wearing qualities of this line you will see that these are the implements to buy.

Minnesota Rakes are just $8.44 lower than any other good line sold in this state. This difference in price on the 12 foot, 36 tooth size.

This Is Your Opportunity

Thousands of farmers throughout the Northwest have benefited through the saving on Minnesota Machinery. Do likewise. You are financially interested in this institution and it is financially interested in you. Insist upon the Minnesota Line from your dealer.

The funeral occurred at Rindal on May 17, with Rev. George Larson of Thief River Falls officiating.

I'd walk a mile for a Camel

The pleasure is worth it. There's no substitute for Camel quality and that mild, fragrant Camel blend.

The fellow who smokes Camels, wants Camels. That's because Camels have a smoothness, a fragrance and a mildness you can't get in another cigarette.

Don't let anyone tell you that any other cigarette at any price is so good as Camels.

Let your own taste be the judge. Try Camels for yourself. A few smooth, refreshing puffs and you'd walk a mile for a Camel, too.

PUREBRED STOCK OFFERED FOR SALE AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Cattle, Horses, Hogs and Equipment of Fine W. J. Bell Farm to be Sold June 6.

An auction sale which will attract more than ordinary interest is that to be held on the W. J. Bell farm in Smiley township Monday, June 6. This is one of the best stocked and equipped farms in the county and the sale is certain to attract a large crowd. Inasmuch as it is to be held just the day preceding the sale of the Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders association it is likely that a number of prospective purchasers from various parts of this section of the state will attend.

A complete list of the stock and equipment to be sold will be found in an advertisement on another page of this paper. It includes eight purebred Guernsey cows, three purebred Guernsey heifers, the purebred Guernsey herd bull, purebred Duroc Jersey hogs, nine high grade Guernsey cows, four high grade Guernsey heifers, six head of good work horses, a Velie and Overland automobile and a fine list of farm machinery.

The sale will start at ten o'clock in the morning with W. J. LaBree as auctioneer and the First and Peoples State Bank as clerk.

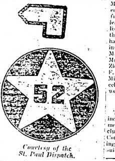
Last Wednesday the regular chapel hour was held, Miss Sveidal, the norse instructor having charge. The program was divided into four parts the numbers being as follows: Mountain March, Reap the Flax. The dance given by nine girls dressed in Norwegian costumes. The last number on the program being a reading given by Mildred Loftness entitled "Katryna's Visit to New York."

HIGHWAYS MARKED BY YELLOW STARS

Blaze Design Announced by Babcock Shows Route Numbers and Direction.

Yellow stars on black backgrounds soon will mark all trunk highways in Minnesota—the North Star State—according to the St. Paul Dispatch.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, recently made public marker design which is to blaze all state trunk roads. The figure on the star will indicate the trunk highway number; the flag above a turn—that in the illustration a left turn. The value of the markers will depend largely upon the extent to which the general public becomes familiar with the highway numbers.



Courtesy of the St. Paul Dispatch.

"This design of marker was adopted mainly because it will plainly indicate the route and be clearly legible at night," said Commissioner Babcock. "The department in making a selection has profited by the experiences of other states and omitted lettering and other features that make the markings less plain."

Until permanent trunk highways are designated and marked with metal signs, the department plans to effect a material saving to the state by stenciling the markers on poles along the highways.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Schuster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

AT SEVENTY SHE GAINS 15 POUNDS

Mrs. J. E. Williams Declares Tanlac is a Medicine Without an Equal.

"Besides getting complete relief from six years of suffering by taking Tanlac, I have gained fifteen pounds in weight," said Mrs. J. E. Williams, of 1414 West Minnehaha Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

"I simply can't describe all that I suffered on account of indigestion. Everything I ate soured in my stomach and formed gas that bloated me up until I was in perfect mysery. I got into a very weak and run-down condition. I had headaches constantly that nearly drove me distracted, and my nerves became so upset that I could not sleep at nights. I always got up in the mornings feeling tired and worn out and with a bad taste in my mouth. I just didn't have the strength or energy to do my housework and often felt I should have to give up altogether.

"But since I began taking Tanlac all my troubles have disappeared. I now have a splendid appetite and can eat anything I want and never suffer in the least from indigestion. I have not only gained fifteen pounds in weight, which alone is remarkable for a woman of seventy, but have been built up in strength to where I can do all my housework without any trouble. I have never come across any medicine equal to Tanlac and I never intend to be without it after this."

Eastern Star Party.

The Winslow chapter of the Eastern Star held a party at the Masonic hall last evening in honor of H. C. Durrin, who was recently appointed Grand Sentinel by the new Grand Worthy Matron, Mrs. Sheffield, of Moorhead. This is a distinct honor for Winslow chapter and gives Mr. Durrin a splendid opportunity for advancement. Both Mr. Durrin and Mrs. J. M. Bishop, who is the only other grand officer represented from Winslow chapter, gave very interesting talks. At this meeting Misses Marrian and Ella Miller were initiated. As a token of esteem and friendship, Mrs. W. A. Ziegler, who leaves in a short time for Minneapolis, where the family will establish their home, was presented with a handsome silver spoon with a star insignia. A committee composed of Mrs. Scott Laird, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. Nels Christianson, Mrs. W. A. Ziegler, Mrs. P. J. Bottem, Mrs. F. F. Haynes, Miss Anna Quale and Miss Belle Hermanson served an excellent lunch. The hours following were spent in dancing.

Girls' Community Club.

The annual election of officers was included in the program at the last meeting of the Girls' Community club held on Monday evening in the Commercial club rooms. The following were chosen to serve for the ensuing club year: President, Esther Gjertsen; vice president, Ida Tandberg; secretary, Anna Quale; treasurer, Valborg Sandum. The musical part of the program consisted of a piano solo, "Romance in B Flat," by Sebilius, rendered by Miss Laura Forde. Miss Myrtle Williams sang "Felice," accompanied by Miss Olive Lonson. A guessing contest furnished the entertainment for the remainder of the evening. A feature of the occasion was an unusual lunch consisting of hot baking powder biscuits, honey and coffee. This meeting concludes a most successful year both financially and socially. Every member of the club has given her able support in every undertaking. Miss Marie Nelson, retiring president, is to a large extent responsible for the congenial spirit existing among its members. Under the guidance of the new officers an equally successful year is looked forward to.

Eighth Grade Commencement.

The graduating exercises for the eighth grade were held last evening at the auditorium and were witnessed by an audience that taxed the capacity of the building. The program was greatly enjoyed but perhaps the most interesting part of the proceedings was the explanation by Supt. W. A. Ziegler of the new system employed with regard to the distribution of classes. Hereafter there is likely to be no eighth grade commencement, strictly speaking, as the seventh, eighth and ninth grades will form a sort of intermediate section between the grade school proper and the high school. Supt. Ziegler outlined the plan, which in brief provides for work preliminary to high school entrance in the three grades of the junior high, but in addition gives the pupil an opportunity for making selection of such studies as may be finally chosen. During the seventh grade year this scope is somewhat wide and intended to indicate the general trend of the pupil's capacities and preferences. During the eighth grade year greater specialization is resorted to and the branches particularly favored are given the preference in the instructions, while during the ninth grade term the aim is to make the work directly apply to the particular branches to be taken up during the four years of high school. Here the elimination is further followed until at the end of the senior year the scholar is fully equipped along the lines chosen to take his or her place in the world. The aim is to do away as far as possible with the wasting of time on subjects of which a general knowledge is sufficient and to furnish specific training along lines that will prove of particular value when the graduate starts out to apply his knowledge in gaining a livelihood.

Boys Arraigned For Petty Thieving; Will be Watched

Three boys still in their teens, were brought before Judge N. W. Tarrant on Tuesday charged with having committed a number of petty thefts. Two saws and other carpenter tools were recently stolen in the city and it was charged that these boys were the guilty parties and that they had later disposed of their booty to local second hand men. County Attorney Theo. Quale recommended that sentence be suspended and the court agreed, holding the case against the boys open while their behavior is being observed. Parents of the youngsters promised that there would be no further ground for complaint against them.

JOSEPH JOHNSON, PIONEER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Former County Commissioner, Councilman and War Veteran is Deeply Mourned.

Joseph Johnson, one of the pioneer residents of Thief River Falls, died at his home here Monday morning of heart disease after a week's illness. His health had been failing for the past year but it was only a few days ago that his condition became serious.

Deceased came to Thief River Falls 30 years ago and during the greater part of that time has been local manager for the Red Lake Milling company. He was widely known and enjoyed to a marked degree the confidence and respect of the people of the city. He served one term as county commissioner previous to the time Red Lake county was divided to form Pennington county, was president of the city council of Thief River Falls one term, and was a veteran of the Spanish-American war. He also served as postmaster for a time during President Cleveland's administration, filling out the unexpired term of the regular appointee.

Until very recently Mr. Johnson took an active interest in all movements of a public nature and was one of the men whose judgment was always deferred to. Among the old-timers particularly was he held in the very highest esteem.

Joseph Johnson was born in Norway Dec. 31, 1862, and came to this country at the age of 17, settling in Park River, N. D., where he was married. His first wife died many years ago. About five years ago Mr. Johnson was again married and is survived by the widow and two children by the first marriage—Inez of this city, and Carl, late a soldier with the expeditionary forces in France but whose exact whereabouts is at present not certain.

The remains were taken to Park River this morning to be laid at rest by the side of the first wife.

HENNEPIN CHOOSES BITULITHIC PAVING FOR LYNDALE AVE.

Action is Significant in View of Question Arising in Thief River Falls.

The action taken by the board of county commissioners of Hennepin county in selecting bitulithic surfacing for Lyndale avenue, one of the most important thoroughfares, is of considerable interest to citizens of Thief River Falls. There has been a question in the minds of some of our people as to the wisdom of selecting this material for street paving, quite a number holding out for cement.

A majority of the Hennepin county commissioners decided for bitulithic in spite of the fact that the job would cost $194,000 more if this material were employed. In this attitude they were solidly backed by the business men of Minneapolis, who stated that they would be willing to have the county go to a greater expense in order to secure the more elastic surface. The commissioners declared that their experience with concrete roads had been that they always cracked from heat and cold and pointed to the road between Anoka and Elk River as an example of what weather extremes might be expected to do to surfacing of this kind. It was conceded that the first cost of cement would be less but that the five year guarantee attached to the bitulithic proposal more than offset this. It was shown that the county had not up to this time expended one dollar in upkeep where bitulithic had been used. First cost figures are invariably misleading, it was contended, and the cost of upkeep should be a matter seriously considered when paving contracts are awarded.

Injured Man Improving.

Reports from the home of M. C. Burns, who last week was seriously injured in falling from a ladder, are to the effect that he is getting along very well and that hopes are now entertained for his recovery.

LAD DROWNS IN RED LAKE RIVER; RECOVER BODY

George, 11-Year-Old Son of John Reitz, Loses Life When Canoe Upsets.

Quick Work of Witnesses to Accident Prevents Companion From Sharing Fate.

Body Found This Morning Only Short Distance From Point Where Boy Went Down.

George Reitz, 11 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reitz, was drowned in the Red Lake river about 7 o'clock yesterday evening. In company with John Hoyem, another boy about his own age, the unfortunate lad went out for a canoe ride near the foot of Fifth street. In some manner the frail craft was upset and both boys thrown into the water. Fay Draper, who resides nearby, and C. A. Joslin witnessed the accident and rushed to the rescue in a boat. They managed to reach the Hoyem boy in time but the other must have been seized with cramps as he sank within a very short time after having struck the water.

Search for the body was immediately begun but had to be given up on account of darkness. A short time after the work was resumed this morning the body was found by James Burrell, having floated only about 40 feet from the point where the boy went down.

The father is janitor at the Northrop school. No arrangements for the funeral have as yet been made.

HIGH-CLASS STOCK WILL BE OFFERED AT DONATION SALE

Expected That 85 Animals of Exceptional Breeding Will Be Sold at Crookston.

The breeders have been very generous in donating valuable pure bred animals to the Pavilion Donation Sale to be held at Crookston on June 14. According to the latest list as announced by C. G. Selvig of the sales committee the total number is 72 animals which will probably be increased to at least 85 before the sale begins. By breeds the number is as follows: Holstein, 19; Duroc Jersey, 17; Chester White, 11; Shropshire, 8; Poland China, 7; Shorthorn, 5; Angus, 4 and Yorkshire, 1. The consignments represent the best of the respective breeds.

So many exceptionally valuable animals are donated that it is impossible to single out individuals. In each of the breeds prospective buyers will be able to secure animals bred in the purple. It will not be a surprise at all if buyers come from a distance as the offerings are so distinctly meritorious. Both old breeders and beginners alike can secure the very best foundation stock at this sale.

Catalogs of the sale can be secured this week by addressing Red River Valley Live Stock Association, Crookston. Preparations for a big picnic on the 14th are progressing. Credit arrangements for stock purchased can be made if ready cash is not available. All are cooperating to make the day and the sale a success. It is a Valley affair in which every resident is interested. A good attendance will help to make it a success.

County School Officers Will Meet Here Saturday

The Pennington County School Officers association will meet at Lincoln high school auditorium on Saturday, June 4, for the purpose of receiving instructions relative to their duties. A member of the state department of education will be present for the purpose of delivering an address and there will be other features of more than ordinary interest. School officers are allowed to charge mileage and one day's salary for attendance at this meeting. Attendance certificates will be issued by the county superintendent to all those present at the session.

LIFE OF SERVICE GOOD CHARACTER, OF HIGHER VALUE

Too Little Attention Paid to These Things Says Pastor in Baccalaureate Sermon.

A large audience gathered to hear the baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. T. E. Sweger of Trinity Lutheran church to the graduates of Thief River Falls high school last Sunday at the auditorium. The speaker took for his theme St. Paul's advice to Timothy: "Study to show thyself approved unto God; a workman that needeth not be ashamed." Rev. Sweger stated that he did not urge upon anyone to give up their usual avocations—stop work, in other words—all must labor. This is a divine decree which none has the right to shirk. He urged, however, that his young hearers give the world the benefit of a good character and a life of service in behalf of the higher things. He maintained that so completely do the material concerns of life engross mankind that the more important spiritual things do not receive even a small part of the attention they deserve. His entire sermon was an arraignment of worldliness and selfishness and an appeal to his audience, and especially those who at this time are entering upon the more serious responsibilities of life, to so choose and perform their work so as to show themselves approved unto God.

It was a splendid sermon and evidently made a deep impression on the audience as well as the students.

The meeting was in charge of Rev. R. L. Barackman of the Presbyterian church, who opened the services. The Choral society led in the singing and proved a pleasing addition to a most instructive and inspiring occasion.

WARREN COMES TO TRY CONCLUSIONS TOMORROW NIGHT

Ancient Base Ball Rivals Will Meet on Diamond For First Time This Season.

There is always a great deal of interest displayed over any kind of an athletic game between contestants from this city and Warren, and this is particularly true of base ball. For this reason there is sure to be a big crowd present when the two teams meet on the diamond here for their first game on Friday evening. The game has been called for 6:30 o'clock sharp. Warren always has a good nine and it is said that the outfit is this year better than for a long time past. It is to be hoped that such is the case as the boys here are prepared to give them the fight of their lives.

Rain on Sunday and Monday prevented games between the home team and Fertile and Ada respectively. The postponed game with the former team will be played off on Wednesday, June 29, this date having been left open in the season's schedule. A date for the Ada game will be announced later.

Next Sunday the locals go to Gonvick for a game and it is probable that a goodly company of rooters will accompany the team. It is said that the Clearwater county nine is one of the best in that section but it will need to be as the Thief River Falls representatives do not figure on losing any more contests this season.

A Thousand Poppys Worn In Memory of Soldiers

Millions of poppys were worn on Memorial Day in the United States in honor of the boys who laid down their lives on the battlefields. One thousand of the red emblems were sold in Thief River Falls alone, every person encountered having one displayed somewhere about his or her person. The sale was conducted under the leadership of Mrs. J. O. Sethre and was without doubt the most successful thing of its kind ever attempted here. The proceeds will be used by the Legion Auxiliary for the relief of disabled soldiers and their families.

RAIN PUTS DAMPER ON MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE HERE

Large Crowd Gathers at Auditorium to Witness Exercises in Spite of Weather.

A steady downpour which persisted all day Monday prevented the usual Memorial Day parade, but otherwise the program was carried out as planned by the committee. The capacity of the auditorium was taxed to accommodate the crowd which sought to gain admittance to the exercises in the morning and many made the trip to the cemetery and decorated the graves of dead soldiers.

The auditorium program opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the Choral club and audience, followed by an invocation by Rev. R. L. Barackman. Miss Una Nelson gave Lincoln's Gettysburg Address in a most impressive manner, being followed by R. K. Calloway in a fine expression of appreciation to all soldiers, living and dead.

Mayor John Bratrud officiated as chairman of the meeting.

Rev. M. J. Noesen was the speaker of the day and delivered one of the finest addresses ever heard here on a similar occasion. He sketched the history of the United States throughout all the wars in which the country has engaged and paid a glowing tribute to the men who have gone forth to suffer and die, if need be, for the principles to which we are committed. The address was received by the audience with every manifestation of approval.

At the close of the auditorium program a considerable number marched to the cemetery, headed by the band. Here the usual observances in honor of the dead soldiers were gone through, a volley fired over the graves and taps sounded.

TO PROVE CITY SECTION'S BEST BUYING CENTER

Six Unusual Bargain-Giving Days Will be Held Monthly Throughout the Summer.

Business Houses in City Will Present Special Attractions to Buying Public.

Free Public Auction to be One Feature of Day Full of Startling Surprises.

The merchants of Thief River Falls, firmly believing that this city is the center of trade for northwestern Minnesota and that they have to offer lines of merchandise equal to those found in any market, will open their "Let's Get Acquainted" market day campaign on Wednesday, June 22, and will continue a series of six gigantic market days on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Invitations are being mailed out to 8,500 neighbors and they are especially invited to visit Thief River Falls on market day to convince themselves that the merchants of this city are able to supply their needs—such as cannot be supplied at their home market—and that their extensive stocks, varied styles and adjustment period prices are more attractive than will be found elsewhere.

Auction Sale a Feature.

That the holiday spirit will prevail is evidenced by the fact that special attractions in the way of entertainment extraordinary will be offered on these two days, the program of each market day being varied and made interesting to the out-of-town buyer.

The program for June 22 will include a free auction sale on the grounds west of Hall Brothers' hardware store. Any person having anything to offer for public sale may place same for disposal by an expert auctioneer and the expense of the sale will be borne by the local merchants. The auction sale will take place at 10 o'clock and will continue until all articles have been offered.

The local theatres will offer attractions out of the ordinary, and at the Lyceum will be shown the greatest silversheet production of the day, "The County Fair." Persons having witnessed this attraction pronounce it one of the greatest efforts in motion photography. Band concerts in connection with this show will be given throughout the day.

To Issue Special Paper.

The afternoon attraction will be a fast base ball game between Thief River Falls and Argyle. Lovers of the great American sport can come prepared to witness a real exhibition.

Although Thief River Falls merchants are satisfied that their everyday offerings are attractive to the buying public, they believe that once the buyer becomes acquainted with the local market he will continue to make Thief River Falls his trading center. With this campaign, as a motive to extend the field of activity and on these market days' will be found bargains that will demand the attention of the buying public from any reasonable distance. All are requested to be on the lookout for the Market Day Special contained in the issue of The Thief River Falls Times published on Thursday, June 16, and to accept it as the invitation to visit Thief River Falls on Market Day.

All Asked to Help.

While primarily this campaign is for the purpose of bringing the distant buying public in touch with the local market it is also expected that the home trade will become better acquainted with the offerings of home merchants. Our people are especially invited to participate in the special offerings of the day and to assist in making Thief River Falls the recognized "Hub of Industry" in this section of the state.

A novelty attraction will be offered in the presentation of a new get-acquainted idea in "The Latch String," introducing a Round Robin Sale, which is offered by ten of the local merchants for the purpose of offering special inducements to the public to visit their places of business.

This campaign is a city and community development idea and all of the residents of this community are requested to get into the spirit of the occasion and make Thief River Falls' Market Days real events that will be looked forward to by the buying public of northwestern Minnesota.

Discover Fine Gravel Bed; May Lower Cost of Paving

The cost of paving in Thief River Falls may be reduced materially if a bed of gravel discovered near the city is found to answer the purpose of base material as well as crushed granite. Highway engineers in the city last week stated that they were of the opinion that the material would serve the purpose admirably and sent samples to the office of the highway commissioner to be analyzed. Should it develop that this gravel will make as good a base as the crushed granite it will represent a saving of 30 cents a yard on the paving cost. Besides it will mean that the money paid out for base material together with the freight charges from St. Cloud will be left right here in the neighborhood. City officials regard the discovery as particularly fortunate.

Paving work received a setback because of the rainy weather during the past week but will be resumed as soon as possible. The work of pouring concrete for the curbs will be begun as soon as the equipment arrives, this having been delayed somewhat in transit.

To Mark Road Corners.

The county commissioners of Red Lake county have hit upon a new plan for marking the corners on the Jefferson highway through their territory. They have caused to be planted three pine trees in a triangular position wherever there is a turn in the road in order that persons approaching in a car may be notified of the turn while still at a distance. Last year all right angle corners were improved on this highway, gradual bends taking their places. Trees of like nature have also been planted on each side of the Pennington-Red Lake county line.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF FARM BUREAU SET FOR FRIDAY, 17TH

Big Community Outing Will Again Be Held at Squaw Point Near City.

County Agent J. J. McCann announces that the annual picnic of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association will be held at Squaw Point on Friday, June 17. The Commercial club, Woman's club and Girls' Community club are co-operating with the farm bureau in arranging the picnic this year and each of these organizations will have a share in carrying it out. A meeting of representatives of the four organizations will soon be held for the purpose of arranging the details.

M. L. Warner of Warren, an active worker in farm bureau work, will deliver the principal address. Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture will address the gathering on the subject of drainage and more particularly the work being carried on by the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy commission. It is expected that J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, will also be present, although this is not now certain. Mayor John Bratrud will deliver an address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of Thief River Falls.

While this picnic is held under the auspices of the farm bureau, all citizens will be inivted to take part. It is a community event in which residents of town and country have an equal interest. Three such picnics have been held in years past and have proven among the most enjoyable events of the summer.

TWO CATTLE SALES OF MUCH INTEREST

Red River Valley Guernseymen's on June 7 and Mrs. Walters' on June 6.

The second annual picnic and consignment sale of the Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders association will be held at the Burr Oaks farm, Albert Johnson, proprietor, in the beautiful grove on the banks of the Red Lake river two miles south of Thief River Falls, Tuesday, June 7, at eleven o'clock. Everybody cordially invited to this picnic and sale. A fine program will be rendered and in the afternoon an auction sale of 27 splendid purebred and high grade Guernseys will be held. This will be an interesting and profitable day to those who are interested in dairying and better livestock for the Red River valley. It is suggested that farmer families pack picnic baskets, board the automobile and come. They are assured of a day of pleasure and profit combined with an opportunity to secure some of the best Guernseys in the Red River valley.

Mrs. Sophia Walters is having a sale on June 6, the day previous to the Red River valley sale. This will make it possible for Guernsey buyers to attend both sales if they so desire. Any community wishing to get a number of good Guernseys will be enabled to get a car load from both places.

Legion Getting Ready For Big Celebration on Fourth

A tentative program for a monster Fourth of July celebration in this city has been announced by the Legion committee in charge. The morning will be given over to races of different kinds on the principal streets while there will be special attractions in the afternoon, besides a base ball game between the Thief River Falls team and one from a neighboring city. In the evening there will be open air boxing and wrestling matches in the downtown section and a Roman candle parade put on by the fire department. An old fashioned log rolling contest will be staged and is expected to furnish a part of the evening's amusement. The day will wind up with a big dance in the auditorium. The streets will be decorated, there will be the usual vending concessions and the city will have a genuine holiday aspect.

GREAT TURNOUT IS ASSURED FOR SUNDAY'S TRIP

Sixty-Five Loaded Automobiles Will be in Line From Thief River Falls Alone.

Reservation Officials Making Special Preparations to Provide Good Time For All.

Start to be Made at Six O'Clock Sharp; Dinner and Supper Served at Lake.

ADVICE TO TOURISTS

Have cars filled with gasoline and oil, and pump up all tires on Saturday night.

Be ready to start Sunday morning at 6 o'clock sharp.

Meet at the corner of Third and LaBree.

Bring soup bowls, knives, forks and spoons.

Dinner and supper will be served at the reservation.

Route—State road to Goodridge, north to Ditch 20, east to Thorhult, south on ridge to lake.

Time of arrival, about 10 o'clock.

Notify E. O. Mogensen, chairman, if you have vacant seats in your car in order that all cars may be filled.

If you have car trouble, drop out of line and service car will take care of you. Take end of line upon resuming trip.

Cars will be numbered indicating place in line, which position must be kept to end of tour.

The largest automobile excursion ever starting out from this city will leave the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock sharp with the Red Lake Indian reservation as its objective. Chairman E. O. Mogensen of the trip committee states that he has assurances that 65 cars will be in line when the start is made and that more will join from Goodridge and Grygla. W. J. LaBree will be in charge of the expedition as general overseer.

Invitation Extended.

George W. Cross, government agent at the Red Lake agency, has extended a formal invitation to the citizens of Pennington county on behalf of the people on the reserve. In a letter to Chairman Mogensen he states that he will send out a number of teams to fix the bad spots in the road just before the lake is reached and that there will be nothing left undone that can in any way add to the pleasure and comfort of the visitors. Mr. Cross has taken a keen interest in the excursion and will personally be on hand to extend welcome. He has arranged for a lake trip from the outlet to the narrows for those who wish to make the journey, which will consume about three hours. Boats will be on hand so that all who wish may row out onto the lake.

Will Have Things Ready.

H. W. Protzeller will be in charge of a party leaving on Saturday for the purpose of getting things at the lake in readiness. He will superintend the construction of a fish chowder to be served when the excursionists arrive, and those who have sampled the results of his skill in this direction on previous occasions know that something particuarly fine is in store. Those who intend making the trip should carefully read the instructions printed herewith or they may have to wait until they can borrow the necessary tools with which to do justice to a great dinner. The intention is to serve the meal about 11 o'clock and supper about 5, thus making it possible to get an early start toward home.

Teachers as Guests.

One of the reasons for making the trip at this time is that it gives the teachers in our schools an opportunity to go along. Most of them will still be in the city and these have nearly all signefied their intention of making the journey. The committee intends making exact disposition of passengers before the start is made in order that there may be no confusion. Auto owners as a general thing will make up their own parties but are urged to notify Mr. Mogensen in case they have an extra place.

It is important that the start be made promptly at 6 o'clock as the success of the trip will depend largely on everything being done according to schedule. The reservation officials will guage their part of the program by the plan announced at this end and the same applies to the cooks. Be in line at the appointed hour.

A service car will bring up the rear prepared to quickly fix things up in case there is a breakdown. Every detail has been most carefully looked after and nothing but bad weather can prevent a day's outing of the most enjoyable and interesting kind.

It is suggested that car owners place a few flags on their cars in the way of decorations. It will help lend tone to the cavalcade.

H. C. Dobner of St. Paul was in the city the latter part of last week on business. Mr. Dobner was a former resident here.

Surprise Party.

About thirty auto loads of people from the neighborhood of Holt drove to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Anderson three miles north of Holt, and surprised them on Saturday evening. A splendid time was enjoyed and before the departure of the guests a donated lunch was served by the ladies of the party. American Legion Corner

A Pledge to America.

Memorial Day is behind us. From the graves of our comrades we have retraced our steps. Having paid them full honor and having enshrined their memory deep in our hearts, let us learn the lesson of their sacrifice. Let our brand of patriotism be as was theirs, so that we too may be willing to lay down our lives for our country. Let us repeat in our hearts this pledge to the land which we love so well.

"I am proud that the United States of America is my country, the Stars and Stripes my flag. No matter from what race I sprang, or what nation may claim my friendship, my watchword shall be 'America First.' A citizen by birth or choice, I will ever strive to make my government revered at home and respected abroad.

"I will cherish and uphold the principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity. I will abide by the decisions of the majority and respect the rights of the minority. I will never discriminate against any citizen because of his religion. I will support the constitution of the United States and oppose every organization destructive to my country's welfare. I will follow no party that does not salute the flag and keep step to the music of the Union. I pray God to bless by country and her people.

"For my country's sake I will ever strive to be a better citizen. I believe that the laborer is entitled to fair wages, reasonable hours and proper working conditions. I believe in the sacredness of the home and the marriage tie. I will do my best to keep physically strong, morally clean and mentally active, and by voice and by vote, take an intelligent part in the government of my country.

"I hold in grateful memory the gallant deeds of the men who carried our Flag through death and danger. I will make my gratitude practical by helping in every way to restore them to a place of honor and prosperity as worthy citizens of this great nation.

"I pledge to America the love of my heart, a true, constant and absolute loyalty; I pledge respect and obedience to her laws. I pledge my property, my honor, and, if need be, my life, to defend her. I pledge allegiance to my Flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Here's how the ten Minnesota congressional districts are forging ahead in carrying out the slogan "No bachelor posts in Minnesota." In the Second, Fifth and Seventh districts 60 percent of the Legion posts have established Auxiliary units. In the First, Fourth and Eighth districts 50 per cent of the Legion posts have the backing of Legion auxiliaries; and in the Third, Sixth, Ninth and 10th districts the percentage of auxiliary units to legion posts is 30 per cent. Almost half the Legion posts in the state now have auxiliaries, and about four new units per week are being formed. Minnesota still leads every other Legion department in the United States in this respect.

HOSPITAL NOTES

H. E. Jackson left Saturday night for Watertown, S. D., after having recovered from the most serious operation ever performed at the Physicians hospital. He was rushed to the institution after a rupture of the stomach caused by the breaking of an old ulcer. His condition was for awhile very serious but his gain was both steady and rapid. He will decuperate on a farm during the summer.

Mrs. Serena Nordhagen, 80 years of age, underwent an operation for a cataract over her left eye last week and will partially regain her sight in spite of the fact that she has been totally blind in the other eye for the past 20 years.

The three-year-old son of Emil Ness, residing four miles west of the city, had a narrow escape from losing the sight of one eye one day last week. While playing around the barn the little fellow ran against a pitchfork in the hands of his grandfather, one of the tines striking him near the eye. He was rushed to the Physicians hospital and the surgeons are now certain that the eye will be saved.

The nurses at the hospital were all taken out to Squaw Point for a picnic supper and marshmallow roast on Friday evening. They went out boat riding on the river and otherwise disported themselves as becomes picnicers who do not have an opportunity of getting out very often. In the party were Misses Skiem, Bradley, Kuehn, Wilde, McCrum, Nordquist, Hermanson and Harms. The hospital was in charge of Miss Esther Samuelson during their absence.

Fifth Anniversary Sale.

It is five years ago this week since E. O. Mogensen engaged in business in Thief River Falls and he is celebrating the event by holding a big bargain sale. As will be seen by his advertisement on another page, substantial reductions are being made on everything in the store and the event presents an excellent opportunity to the trifty buyer.

This store has steadily grown in popularity since Mr. Mogensen took charge five years ago, and is at the present time one of the most widely known in this section of the state. The lines handled are the very best to be found and the proprietor has gained a reputation for doing exactly as he says he will. The sale starts Friday morning.

EVERYBODY SEES A CHANGE IN FATHER

Grateful Son Says His Father Looks Like Different Man Since Taking Tanlac.

"My father has suffered from chronic stomach trouble for over twenty years and has paid out thousands of dollars for medicines and doctors," said G. W. Slayton, a well-known Cobb county farmer, living a short distance out of Atlanta, Ga.

"We tried nearly everything trying to cure him and he went off to the Springs, thinking maybe the water might help him but it just looked like nothing would reach his trouble. Then he tried dieting and lived on liquid food until he almost starved, but even that failed to do him any good and he just kept going from bad to worse.

"I don't guess there ever was a case as stubborn as his and if there ever was a confirmed dyspeptic, he was one of them and I guess he would have been one yet if it hadn't been for this Tanlac.

"The first we heard of this medicine was when my father saw an advertisement in the papers from parties he knew in Tennessee, who were friends of his and he knew what they said about it was the truth so he got it right away and began taking it. Well, sir, it acted just like magic—everybody notices the change in father—why, he is just like a different man and sits down to the table and eats like a farm-hand. Only yesterday he ate pork and turnips for his dinner and ate so much we were actually afraid he was going to overdo the thing but he laughed and said nothing hurt him now and that he was hungry and expected to eat and make up for lost time.

"Now, when a medicine will do things like that I think people ought to know about it and I want to say right now that I would not give one bottle of Tanlac for all the other medicines and health resorts in the country put together."

Rev. T. E. Sweger of Trinity Lutheran church, leaves tomorrow for Moorhead to attend the Minnesota district meeting of the Young Peoples League of the Lutheran church. E. A. Mostue will deliver the sermon at the local church on Sunday.

GOING AT IT RIGHT.

Thief River Falls is the natural trading center for a large area and the merchants of the city are going to do something out of the ordinary to impress this fact upon the neighbors. June 22 the city will be host to people from every section of this vast territory at one of the most interesting get-acquainted gatherings ever attempted in this state. And this first day is to be but a beginning. Once a month for six months a similar plan will be followed, the general schedule being the same for each event but all being different in detail.

One entire eight-page newspaper is to be issued by the Merchants association just prior to the date on which the market days will be held. These will be mailed to every home in this section of the state and will fully explain everything connected with the plan. Bargains such as were never before offered in this or any other part of the country will be found in Thief River Falls on these market days and will include merchandise of all kinds. Every business and practically every business house in the city is represented. Never was a campaign so general in its application attempted by a community. The unusual offerings extend all along the line and include everything needed by an average American family. The only places where special bargains will not be offered on these days will be the postoffice and public library. Here is one time the merchants will get together for the purpose of proving that Thief River Falls is the best city in which to trade—and it will make no difference in what particular store the trading is done.

This experiment will be watched with interest by merchants of neighboring towns. It is going to cost some money to put the thing across but the buying public will be the gainer. It will be a good thing for the town, the buyer and the merchant, although the latter will bear the cost of making the experiment.

THE TRIP TO THE LAKE.

The largest party ever visiting the Red Lake Indian reservation at one time will put in an appearance there next Sunday morning, providing the weather-man knows what is good for him. About sixty automobiles loaded with Thief River Falls boosters will make up the bulk of the party, but there will be quite sizeable delegations from Goodridge and Grygla as part of the expedition.

This is going to be first and foremost a neighborly visit, but other matters are expected to be helped along. It is hoped that the need of a road directly eastward from Thief River Falls to the reservation will be so thoroughly impressed upon the excursionists that they will not rest until a modern highway connects the two points. There is also a hope that the residents on the reserve will like our people well enough to wish to trade with them and thus restore the ancient and natural line of business intercourse. Just now this last is a side issue, however, and the trip is made for the purpose of getting better acquainted.

Agency officials want our people to come. They have had the roads fixed up and made arrangements for boat trips and other modes of amusement. Agent Cross has himself taken a deep interest in the forthcoming visit and promises to see that the pilgrims shall find things interesting.

Every owner of an automobile ought to be in line. The trip is full of interest from beginning to end and the excellent roads will make the journey a pleasure. There will be regular picnic eats, prepared by men who have grown famous in the business. A service car will follow the parade in case any of the automobiles should go lame. In fact, there is nothing to expect except a most enjoyable time.

Annual Meeting.

The Teacher Shortage.

As to the rural schools, it is plain that consolidation of two or more districts is the proper way of solving the present "teacher shortage" problem. It is getting plainer every year, that the present small country school house—the same pattern that was in use 150 years ago—is not in harmony with development in other lines of human activity in our prosperous land. It is also a fact that housewives are becoming more and more reluctant to give housing accommodations to the country school teacher. This indicates plainly that a change is needed.

It is almost a comical sight to observe a well-to-do farmer, who lives in a "modern" home, taking his children into his auto to bring them to school, landing them at the door of a small, lonely, forsaken-looking country school house, where wild grass, weeds and shrubbery grow up along the walls and over the door step. I confess that my own district has the same kind of school house. But it was built some 30 years ago and the present generation continue to use it for reasons that are plain to anyone that can reason logically.

Now, when we have the teacher shortage upon us, mainly as a result of the antiquated system, we are strongly urged to start at once to improve and modernize the system so as to make it harmonize with the development and financial ability of our beloved country.

Residences for teachers should be built near the consolidated school building, thus making a pleasant home for the teacher and his family. Ten or twenty or forty acres should be added to the school grounds as a farm for the free use of such teachers during their summer vacation, and the teachers should be engaged, not for the school months of one year, but without setting any time limit, just as when taking a position in a bank or any other office—as long as he is doing good work. Now, when the State Board of Education insist on having only highly educated teachers, this plan should be safe, because such teachers are pre supposed to possess the necessary training to continue as teachers of such a district for quite a number of years. The above mentioned accommodations would greatly reduce their expenses and they would accept smaller cash salaries.

Thus this hustle every summer on the part of school boards to get a teacher, and the efforts of teachers every summer to secure a new school would be done away with to a great extent; able teachers would try their very best to hold a pleasant position by doing good work, and the school boards would see the need of making it as pleasant as possible for the teachers in order to retain them.

This consolidated school should be adjusted to the needs of a rural population as outlined by State Board of Education. The present high cost of living has plainly demonstrated, that too little attention (although a good start has been made) has been given to the noble science of making the earth bring forth more abundently the precious fruits that everybody needs to eat. It has been said on good authority, that the Japanese farmer, even in this country, can produce two blades of grass where the American farmer produces only one. This truth brings home to us the necessity of adding a course in agriculture, etc., to the curriculum of the rural school after the eight grades have been mastered.

Thus the farmers' boys and girls could easily be interested in the healthiest and safest occupation on earth; the food supply of the country would be more plentiful, and more general prosperity among the American farmers would result. (The present industrial and financial confusion is only a temporary collapse of activities, that were going too fast.)

At this consolidated school should also be organized a system by which warm lunches could be served to the children, which is also recommended by our State Boards of Education. This is absolutely necessary to help the children become strong and healthy. The physical welfare of school children has been sadly neglected.

The consolidation of several districts will reduce the teaching force to about one-half, thus relieving the teacher shortage. It can give good, up-to-date school houses, better arrangements for instruction and an absolutely necessary instruction in the duties and advantages of rural life—the consolidated school can become the convenient center for a town hall, where community meetings of all sorts can be held, etc. Teachers can get suitable residences right on the school grounds; can raise vegetables and other farm products during their vacation, and as a remuneration for these accommodations, keep the school grounds in proper condition.

Such an arrangement will make rural school teaching an ideal position for able young men with families, and if systematically carried out throughout the United States, will do its part to end the teacher shortage problem.

I will also add that it is absolutely necessary to modernize the old system, as I have outlined in these two articles, for also another reason which has been caused by the antiquated system. Many districts, at present, are compelled to retain some teachers, that either do not care to do good work, or that have no native ability to teach a school. By improving the antiquated system we would soon have enough good teachers and the lazy ones would seek other occupations.

Enthusiastic, clean and able teachers are priceless gems in this world, but the lazy ones should be eliminated.

Three Motors to a Mile of Road

IN the United States there are three motor vehicles for every mile of highway, and this includes all our unimproved roads.

The Federal Bureau of Public Roads estimates that the vehicle use of the public roads in the agricultural districts has increased 500 percent during the past 5 years; also that 15 percent of the main highway traffic is carried by motor truck.

Roads built even 10 years ago were not intended to withstand the impact of modern motor vehicles passing in a steady stream. The modern road must be built to withstand this tremendous shock.

For years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been producing material which has been used to provide many miles of road throughout the Middle West with cushion tops of paving asphalt—protecting the highways of town and country against the mighty shocks of modern traffic.

Good roads are a prime essential to national prosperity. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in creating a road covering of proved quality, is playing a vital part in the development of the Middle West.

Stanolind Paving Asphalt is refined from petroleum by distillation with steam agitation. It is an asphaltic cement of the very highest quality. It was developed to conform to the needs of the modern highway as determined by highway engineers working under actual road conditions in the Middle West.

In working out problems of highway construction to meet modern conditions, the Company is prepared to cooperate with any corporation, or engineer, engaged in road construction.

In the production of Stanolind Paving Asphalt, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has added one more useful product to the long list of its achievements.

Stanolind Paving Asphalt in itself is essentially useful, and by reason of its manufacture as a by-product of petroleum, the Company has been able to hold down the cost of manufacture of Red Crown Gasoline, Perfection Kerosene, Polarine Lubricating Oils, and other major products, without disturbing their high quality, thereby exerting a deterrent influence on increasing the selling price of these products, which accrues directly to your individual benefit.

Hood River Strawberry Canning Time Is Here!

Here Is a Reliable Recipe for Strawberry Marmalade

Small or over-ripe berries may be used but they must be free from decay. Wash carefully and quickly, and stem. Put into a preserving kettle and crush. Add three fourths as much sugar as there is crushed fruit. Boil over a slow fire for fifteen minutes. Fill cans and seal.

There is a pleasing variety of ways to put up strawberries. Watch for other recipes.

THOSE big, red, juicy Hood River berries are best for canning. Sugar is down. Put up a big supply of strawberry jam, jelly and sauce for next winter,—in Ball Mason jars.

By canning at home, you're sure of the purest, most wholesome preserves at a saving of ⅓ to ½. The family is never really satisfied with any but the kind that Mother puts up.

The Price of Building Material Is Down at Least One-third as Compared With a Year Ago

Have you asked about prices on building materials lately? If not, you will be surprised at the reduction that has taken place during the past few months. Practically everything that goes into a building can now be bought at very near pre-war prices.

This Is the Time to Build

Labor is cheaper now than will be the case later on while material will not go lower. The man who hesitates is making a mistake. In other cities the building boom is already on and the demand for men and materials is growing. When a certain point is reached the price must advance.

Ask Us About It Today

We will be pleased to give you the benefit of our experience, extending over a quarter of a century right in this neighborhood. Our stock is the best and our prices will be found as low as those of concerns offering goods of inferior quality.

Finds Southwest Booming But No Place For Poor Man

Councilman O. L. Ihle returned the first of the week from a month's trip in northern Oklahoma. He states that he likes the country well enough but that it is very hot down there at this time of year. Business conditions are very good as a general thing and there are many fine cities of small size. One thing he noticed particularly was that there was hardly a town but what had paved streets. The oil boom has somewhat slackened because of the low price for the crude product but there seem to be plenty of opportunities in this business for a man with money. Any one who goes into the game on a shoestring, however, is liable to find himself badly disappointed. So far as the farms of the region go, these do not in any way compare with those in this neighborhood, having more the appearance of squatters' premises.

LOW MARKET FOR ALL LIVE STOCK

Weakened Dressed Trade Depressed By Warm Weather. Slight Reaction in Hogs.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minn. Department of Agriculture.)

Monday's Closing.

Cattle 1,000. Market dull, about steady. Calves 300. Market steady, packer top $6.50. Hogs 6,200. Market steady to strong, range $6.50 to $7.50, bulk $7.00 to $7.50. Pigs 10 to 35c higher, bulk desirable kinds $8.35 to $8.50. Sheep 1,600. Bulk billed through. Market weak to 50c lower. Fairly good lambs at $9.00. Good to choice ewes $3.00 to $3.50.

South St. Paul.—Warm weather is having its effect in further weakening the already slumpy trade in dressed meats both here and at large eastern consuming centers, and this and other bearish factors sent cattle values 25c to as much as $1.00 lower last week, and the market opened this week about steady with the low basis reached last week. Very good beef steers are stopping at about $8.00 at present, with best here Monday, a load of good 1148 pound steers selling to outsiders at $7.65, and one load going to packers at $7.60. Bulk of common and medium steers are selling from $6.50 to $7.25. A few real good butcher cows and heifers are selling at $6.50 to $7.00, with bulk from $4.50 to $6.25. Most of the canners and cutters are going at $2.00 to $4.25. Packer top on light veal calves is $6.50. Stocker and feeder trade continues of very light volume.

Heavy receipts of hogs and a dull trade in the dressed product sent prices down about a dollar last week. A slight reaction was noted Saturday, and the market opened this week steady to strong, range $6.50 to $7.50, bulk $7.00 to $7.50. Good to choice pigs $8.35 to $8.50, few $8.60. Sheep and lambs suffered a seasonal price decline last week, the most severe break being on old sheep. Good to choice lambs are quotable from $9.00 to $10.25, good to choice ewes, $3.00 to $3.50.

WOMEN TO APPEAR AT CLUB LUNCHEON

Will Urge Necessity For Action With Regard to Women's Building at Fair.

Representatives of the different women's organizations in the city are expected to appear before the commercial club at today's noon luncheon for the purpose of urging that some action be taken looking toward providing a woman's building at the fair grounds. This is a matter that has been discussed for more than a year and is of considerable importance and interest.

Last Thursday G. L. Sterns, local manager for the Northwestern Telephone company, explained how business men could save considerable in tolls by putting in station-to-station instead of individuals calls. Mr. Sterns stated that the saving would be at least 25 per cent.

Dr. M. George Milan spoke on "Tubercular Sanataria in Minnesota," stating that Oak Park sanitorium is one of the best equipped in the state. The institution is not large enough, however, to meet the demands made upon it by the people of the four counties which it is now serving and it will be necessary to enlarge it to twice the present capacity before long. Another thing impressed upon those present by Dr. Milan was the necessity for teaching people the importance of immediate action where tuberculosis is suspected. The percentage of cures where the disease is taken in time is steadily increasing, he said, and would be much greater if people would not delay having a thorough examination as soon as there is an indication of danger.

Secretary Scott Laird read a letter from State Engineer C. M. Babcock to C. L. Hansen, chairman of the highway committee of the club, in which the former stated that as soon as survey is made of the Jefferson highway through Clearwater county the repair of that stretch will be undertaken. Mr. Babcock stated that the work may be done this year.

Unknown Donator Sends Pastor Check For $100

Rev. J. B. Smith a few days ago received an unsigned communication containing one hundred dollars for the centenary fund of the Methodist church. The size of the donation as well as the action of the donor in wishing to keep his or her identity a secret is unusual, and Rev. Smith wishes to publicly express his deep appreciation in gratefully acknowledging the gift.

Science Teacher Goes to Lake City as Principal

A. N. Tommeraasen, instructor in mathematics and athletic coach at the Lincoln high school during the past two years, will not return to his post next season. He has been offered the position of principal of the high school at Lake City, Minn., and as the place must be regarded in the nature of a promotion he has accepted. Mr. Tommeraasen is a young man who will make a success of the teaching profession should he decide to follow that pursuit further as he possesses in a rare degree the qualifications necessary in a modern instructor and executive. Mr. and Mrs. Tommeraasen have made a host of friends in this city who will regret that they have decided not to return, but will wish for them every success wherever their lot may be cast in the future.

Biggest Day in History of Thief River Creamery

Tuesday was the biggest day in the history of the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery, so far as output is concerned. Ten churnings were made, resulting in approximately 7,000 pounds of butter being turned out. The fact that Monday was a holiday had something to do with this unusual run, but every day during the past month there has been an exceptional showing. The total for last week ran over 20,000 pounds, being one of the best on record.

Free Delivery of Parcels By Postoffice is Begun

Through the efforts of Postmaster John Morgan a new feature has been added to the postoffice service in Thief River Falls. A parcels post delivery was inaugurated on June 1 and is already greatly appreciated by the patrons as it does away with the old methods of calling at the postoffice for parcels post packages. This class of mail will be delivered as are letters and papers within the free delivery zone, a horse-drawn vehicle being employed for the present. It is planned to have the first delivery leave the postoffice at 8:30, a round of the business houses being made first, after which the residence districts will be visited. A similar delivery will be made in the afternoon.

Road Survey Started.

Oklee Herald: Red Lake and Pennington county people that are interested in state road building on a big scale and who have been urging the State Highway Department to give early attention to the road between Bagley and Clearbrook in Clearwater county, may learn with gratification that the survey of said road by the State is now in actual progress. A crew of eleven men and an army truck carrying the equipment started the survey from Bagley and north toward Clearbrook last Monday. A construction crew is expected to be set to work as soon as the survey is advanced to the point of possibility of letting the contract for grading.

BRUTAL MURDER OF GRYGLA GIRL IN FARGO HOTEL

Miss Marie Wick, 20 Years Old, is Victim of Assailant, as Yet Uncaptured.

Head Crushed By Blows With Brass Nozzle of Fire Hose Taken From Hall.

Gray Hair Clutched in Dead Girl's Hand Only Clew Yet Found By Police.

Marie Wick, 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Wick, living on a farm five miles east of Grygla, was murdered in a room at the Prescott hotel in Fargo Monday night. No clue to the identity of her assailant has as yet been discovered. Indications are that the murderer was a degenerate, William Green, state's attorney for Cass county, said. A whisp of gray hair gripped in the dead girl's hand was the only clue.

Fire Hose Nozzle Used.

The body was discovered Tuesday morning, gagged, with wrists tied to corner posts of the bed and head broken by blows from a brass nozzle of a fire hose which was found later in the day. Dents in the wall and in the brass frame of the bed, and blood spatters and finger prints on the wall, indicated that the girl had struggled hard and had dodged blows that finally beat her down. Indications were, authorities said, that she had torn one hand free in the fight.

Occupants of rooms near that of Miss Wick heard nothing of the struggle they said, with one exception—Mrs. John Van Vorst, who occupied a room adjoining that in which the girl was murdered. She had heard a sound as of someone pounding and of noise at the fire escape, she said.

Murder Was Deliberate.

The murderer had stopped to smoke a cigarette while in the room and had been very deliberate in his work, county officials believed.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Wick of Grygla, parents of the girl, left at once for Fargo. Police also believed that a young man who last night escorted Miss Wick to the hotel would make his whereabouts known as soon as he learned of her death.

The young man, Arnold Rasmussen of Moorhead, on Tuesday evening reported to the police. He said he had escorted Miss Wick to the hotel the previous evening. He showed a letter from the dead girl telling of the proposed visit with an aunt at Pettibone, N. D., and asking him to meet her at the train in Fargo. The police seem satisfied that Rasmussen had nothing to do with the crime.

City and county have offered a reward of $500 each for capture of the murderer.

Some Details of Murder.

The murdered girl had been gagged and each of her wrists tied to a bed post with pillow cases removed from two blood-stained pillows. Her nose was broken, there was a deep contusion on the left side of her head and another on the right, made made by a blunt instrument of some kind.

Blood spots on the walls and on the body indicated that she struggled and fought her assailant, who evidently attacked her after she had retired for the night, and then made his escape, likely by one of the fire escapes of the building.

Gagged Her First.

The woman, in the belief of Cass county authorities, was gagged first with a pillow case. Her wrists were then tied.

In struggling with her assailant, she freed her left wrist and battled with the man until she was pounded into unconsciousness. Her left wrist was then retied to the post from which she had worked it loose.

In the tussle with the assailant she tossed her head over on the right side of the bed, for authorities found a pool of blood on the floor, just to the right of the upper end of the bed. The abrasion on the left side of the head is the deeper of the two.

Clutched Gray Hair.

In her right hand she clutched some gray hair, seized in the grapple with her murderer.

This constitutes the only tangible evidence on which the authorities can work. Whether the finger prints on the walls and the body of the woman, and also on the bed clothing, are those of the assailant or the woman herself, has not been determined. Photographs of the finger prints were ordered taken at the instance of William C. Green, state's attorney, and Fred Kraemer, sheriff.

After the murder the assailant, in fleeing, locked the door of the room. No trace of the key has been found.

Dr. P. H. Burton, county physician, believes that the crime was committed between midnight and 2 a. m.

Came to Hotel at 10 P. M.

William Gummer, night clerk at the hotel, said that the woman and a man about 20 years old, of light complexion, entered the lobby of the hotel about 10 p. m., the woman arriving in the city from Crookston. She had two grips and registered under the name of Miss Mary Wick of Grygla, Minn. She waited in the lobby for several minutes and then the night clerk escorted her to her room, 30, which is located in the southwest end of the building.

Miss Wick went into her room and returned a few minutes later and was joined the man waiting for her in the lobby. They went out to lunch together. The woman returned an hour later, about 11:30 p. m., and left word at the desk that she wanted to be called at 7 a. m. She went to her room alone.

Older Man Suspected.

The gray hair found on the bed clothing and the gray hair which she clutched in her hands when she was murdered, cause Sheriff Kraemer and State's Attorney Green to believe that the crime was committed by a middle aged man, who may be badly scratched and scarred from the stubborn fight she put up in resisting the attack.

State's Attorney Green advanced the theory that the woman was murdered after she had retired by a man who gained access to her room for the purpose of assaulting her.

Sheriff Kraemer was positive in his assertion that the instrument used in committing the crime was a hammer because of the wound mark it made in the plaster.

Former residents of Grygla now living in Thief River Falls know the Wick family well. The say the murdered girl was of a very quiet and retiring disposition and the last one for whom such an end could have been predicted.

VOTE IN FAVOR OF MAINTAINING FARM BUREAU IS 8 TO 1

Investigation Shows That Cost to Average Farmer is Only Few Cents Every Year.

The question as to whether or not Pennington county will support the farm bureau association with an appropriation of $2,000 to help meet the expenses for the next two years will come up at a special meeting of the board on June 18. It is understood the commissioners agree to appropriate the sum if it proven that a majority of the farmers in the county desire that the farm bureau shall be continued. In order to make certain on this point a number of those interested inaugurated a canvass of farmers in all sections and find that the vote is overwhelmingly in the affirmative, standing at the present time 435 in favor of continuing the bureau as compared with only 51 against such continuance. All the votes are not yet in and it would not be surprising to find that the percentage in its favor is even greater.

In the townships of Smiley, Hickory, Sanders, Wyandotte, River Falls, Black River, Silverton and Reiner the vote was unanimous in favor of continuing the appropriation to the bureau, while in Highlanding, Deer Park and Numedal townships only one vote was cast against it.

It has been figured out that the additional tax necessary in order to make this appropriation would amount to 25 cents on each quarter section of land in the county—providing all the taxes were paid by the farmers. The city of Thief River Falls, however, pays about 36 per cent of the entire tax burden and this would bring the amount down to about 16 cents for each 160 acre farm. Under the present valuation of the county the tax would amount to one-thirtieth of a cent on every dollar—one cent for every thirty dollars—$3.33 where the taxable valuation is $10,000.

MANGLE PRICES MERELY TO GET PEOPLE COMING

Cost Lost Sight of By Thief River Falls Merchants on First Great Market Day.

One Special Bargain Will Consist of Twent Pounds of Sugar For One Dollar.

Nine Merchants Combine to Foot Loss in Making This Sensational Reduction.

Although the merchants of Thief River Falls always have the latchstring hanging out and invite everybody to come in and look around even though they do not wish to buy anything, the fact is to be made of unusual importance on June 22, when the people from all over this section are invited to come here and get their share of the avalanche of bargains to be launched by every business house in the city.

The Round Robin Plan.

This first Market Day will be more of a Get-Together event than an occasion for great trading. It is hoped that the trading part of the program will come later—after the visitors have become acquainted with the merchants in this city and are convinced that the latter will at all times be able to provide them with any kind of merchandise desired at the lowest prices quoted in this section.

In order that there may be some interest in the event as well as profit to the buyer in this visit, a particularly attractive special offer will be made. Nine of the merchants subscribing to this campaign have agreed to stand the loss incident to selling 20 pounds of the best granulated sugar for $1.00. The C. S. Simonson Meat & Grocery company's store has been selected as the place where this bargain may be had—and there is no limit to the number of families that can take advantage of the offer. Ten tons of sugar—200 sacks—will be offered at this price, but no family will be entitled to more than one package of 20 pounds. This provision is made in order that the 20,000 pounds may be made to go as far as possible. It is not likely that anyone will be turned down even should the demand become so great that this allotment is not sufficient, the merchants having determined that every family shall receive 20 pounds of sugar at 5 cents per pound if it takes all there is in town.

The Way It Will Work.

There is but one condition attached to this agreement. The buyer must pay a visit to the places of business of the nine merchants who are standing the loss on this sugar. It is not necessary that the visitor buy one single penny's worth at any of these stores, but it is absolutely required that the call be made. The merchant will then sign a card and when eight of these signatures have been secured—one from each of the merchants besides Mr. Simonson—the bearer will be entitled to his bargain in sugar. Following are the merchandising establishments behind this plan and which must be visited before the sugar will be delivered at the price named. They are here placed in the rotation in which they may be most easily visited and the round should not take more than a few minutes: Larson Furniture company, Loken Brothers, The Sapero company, E. O. Mogensen, A. M. Langseth, Hall Brothers, L. L. Cohn, Albert Lieberman. These merchants will all give the visitor a ticket after which Mr. Simonson will produce the sugar.

Creating Much Interest.

Secretary G. Howard Smith of the Merchants association, has received numerous inquiries from other cities asking what plan is being pursued in carrying out this Market Day program. Interest among merchants in other sections over the outcome is keen and it may be that the business men of Thief River Falls have started a country-wide bargain-giving movement. The general public also is watching the proceedings with awakened interest, wondering just what it is going to mean. They will find that never in the history of this section has such opportunities for saving money been presented. When The Times comes to their homes next week it will contain the announcements of an array of bargains such as have not been seen anywhere in the country before. The merchants are determined that the idea of prices being still at a high point shall be shaken from the minds of the buyers and will foot large immediate losses in order to bring about this realization.

Every man and woman who is desirous of saving money on any kind of purchase should come to Thief River Falls on June 22. Having come this once they will miss none of the Market Days arranged for during the next six months.

EVERYBODY INVITED TO JOIN ELKS IN FLAG DAY EXERCISES ON TUESDAY

Tuesday, June 14, is Flag Day, and appropriate exercises will be conducted by the Elks lodge. All members are requested to assemble at the lodge room at 8:30 for the purpose of marching to the Soo park, where honors to the colors will be observed. A firing squad from the American Legion and all who have at any time worn the uniform of the United States are asked to take part. Retreat will be sounded as the colors are lowered from the flag pole, after which the regular Flag Day exercises of the Elks will take place in the lodge room. The public is invited. W. B. Fuller will be in charge of the outdoor exercises while the Flag Day address will be delivered by Rev. J. B. Smith.

County Weed Inspector Named by Commissioners

The commissioners on Tuesday appointed three weed inspectors to have charge of the fight against barberry, sow thistle and other noxious weeds, during the months when these flourish and propagate—June 1 to Nov. 1. The men appointed and their districts are as follows: The section west of Thief River Falls, Carsten Christianson; north of the river and east of city, Peter C. Wold, Kratka; south of river and east of city, John Radnieski, Rhoda. The inspectors will receive $3 per day and expenses for their services. They are expected to make reports on weed conditions in the county at certain periods specified by state law, notify farmers as to what measures to take to eradicate and prevent the spread of weeds and be of assistance in the campaign in such other ways as may suggest themselves.

CELEBRATION HERE WILL SURPASS ANY PREVIOUS ATTEMPT

American Legion Post Making Preparations For Appropriat Observance of Fourth.

The eagle will scream itself hoarse on the Fourth in Thief River Falls this year. The American Legion boys are going to put on a celebration that will be the talk of the country side for at least half a century. At a meeting this week the committees were all appointed and every member is working under a full head of steam.

The parade will be in charge of George Loken, who with a number of carefully selected assistants, will stage something both appropriate and novel. The procession will form at the auditorium and march through such streets as are not made impassable by reason of the paving work. It may be that the parade may have to be held out in the country—but it will be held and it will be a hummer.

Oscar Smith will be assisted by L. A. Lampert and Roy Lambert in looking after the sporting events. These will be held on the principal streets of the city beginning at 10:45 a. m. Some real exciting contests will be staged.

In the afternoon Chairman Smith will be assisted at the fair grounds by L. H. Lawrence, Leonard DuChamp, Judge Tarrant and others. Automobile races, horse races and a stop Ford race will be on the card. A regular rip-snorter of a base bass game will wind up the daylight activities.

Kenneth Wattam is in charge of the dance program for the evening. Paul Midderigh will superintend the novel Roman candle parade as soon as it gets dark enough.

Carnival attractions will be found along the streets and on the road to the fair grounds all day and far into the night. Such delicacies as wienerwursts with horseradish, hamburger and fried onions and ever so many other things will be on the bill of fare. There will be a shooting gallery, in all likelihood, as well as cane and doll racks, lemonade stands, etc.

A more detailed program will be provided later on. The main thing just now is that you make up your mind to spend the Fourth in Thief River Falls. It will be the biggest celebration in the entire region.

Will Notify Owners to Widen Sidewalks at Once

A committee representing property owners in the block on Main avenue between the Great Northern tracks and First street appeared before the council on Tuesday evening and requested that they be permitted to seed down the space that will be left vacant when the street is narrowed to meet the paving specifications. The intention is to widen the sidewalks in the city where this situation occurs but these citizens requested that this not be done at once. The sidewalk is in such shape that it will require relaying before long, anyway, and they maintained that it would only be adding to the expense to widen it out at this time. The council saw no reason why this request could not be complied with.

Property owners generally will be notified to have the sidewalks in front of their premises widened to meet the new requirements. The work may be let by the owner himself or left to the city to do, in which case it will be charged up the same as is other paving. It is important that the matter be attended to at the same time as the electric light wires are put underground. It will require about 70 yards of additional walk to the block.

BIGGER, BETTER ANNUAL OUTING OF FARM CLUBS

Country Districts Will Be Deserted Next Friday; All Are Coming to Big Picnic.

C. G. Selvig, Crookston, and M. L. Warner, Warren, Will Be Principal Speakers.

Program of Sports and Games Include Nearly Everything That May Add Interest.

County Agent J. J. McCann has received assurances from every section of the county to the effect that the neighbors are coming to the big farm bureau picnic to be held at Squaw Point on June 17. With favorable weather there should be on hand the largest crowd ever turned out to a picnic in Pennington county—and that is saying a good deal.

There was some talk early in the week of changing the place for holding the outing from Squaw Point to Lovers' Lane, but the first selection made was finally decided on as the most convenient.

The Thief River Falls band will be on hand all day to furnish music, and other essentials have been well looked after. The committee has finished the program of sports, which includes practically everything in the way of contests for old, middle aged and young. The Woman's club will be in charge of the musical section of the program and this feature will be well handled.

Bring Lunch Along.

While everybody is expected to bring their picnic baskets loaded with things to eat, yet matters will be so arranged that any unattached person will not need to go hungry. Refreshment stands will dot the grounds and these will be able to provide just what is needed on an occasion of this kind.

Bring the whole family and let them meet the neighbors. It is the one outing of the year in which everybody has an interest—town dweller and farmer alike. Soon the busy season will be at hand when no one will be able to take a day off for the purpose of playing around.

The Speaking Program.

Mayor John Bratrud will welcome the picnicers on behalf of the city, after which there will be an address on "Progress of the Farm Bureau" by M. L. Warner of Warren. The Woman's club will then give a vocal selection, after which Supt. G. C. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, will speak on "Drainage." The program will close with a song by the Farmers' quartet.

The sports will include races of every description—foot, canoe, swimming, sack—as well as a pie-eating contest for men, women, boys and girls.

While this picnic is conducted under the auspices of the farm bureau, everyone is invited. It is for farmers, merchants, professional men and working men alike. It is the one big community event of the year.

MUCH INTEREST IN ST. OLAF SINGERS; ARE COMING SOON

Greatest Organization of Kind in America Will Be Heard Here on June 21.

Few events in the history of Thief River Falls have been looked forward to with so much interest as the coming of the famous St. Olaf College choir which will be heard at the auditorium on Tuesday evening, June 21. Critics everywhere are unanimous in saying that this choir is incomparably the best in America today and that it is doubtful if anything finer can be found in England or Germany—countries in which choral singing has reached its highest development. A recent tour of the Southwest proved but a repetition of the eastern appearance last year. The singers appeared before audiences in which every nationality in America predominated and in every case has the result been the same—a verdict of unparalleled excellence.

Among the many fine tributes paid the St. Olaf singers is the following by Karleton Hackett, musical critic of the Chicago Evening Post, and it is but one among hundreds:

"Some thousands of people in these United States now have a most sincere respect for St. Olaf college of Northfield, Minn., who a month ago had never heard the name. The choir from St. Olaf has been making a unique place for itself in these last few weeks down east, and on its return trip stopped for another concert here in Chicago. Last evening the hall was filled and the choir had a reception from the audience such as their singing deserved.

"In my recollection there has been no a capella choir in America which could compare with these young singers from St. Olaf. The Mendelssohn choir from Toronto was a Canadian organization in which we of the states could claim no part. But these young Americans of Norwegian descent form a part of our great agglomerate of which we are proud.

"Their singing last evening merely emphasized the impression made on their first appearance. It was not only astonishing in its technical accuracy, but there was a spirit about it that made it most impressive. It was not merely a display of choral virtuosity, but the expression thru music of deep conviction. There was beauty of tone, such absolute certainty that in all the taxing program not one singer used notes, perfect balance of the parts and variety of shading and dynamics. This was the technical equipment and the finest that I know of in this country."

All seats will be one dollar plus war tax and the entire house will be reserved. This is a lower price than is being charged at any other town in this section, and is possible because of the large seating capacity of the building. Seats may be reserved at Lambert's drug store one week before the night of the concert and it will be well for all who intend hearing this great organization of vocalists to get their orders in early.

Open-Air Address.

Mrs. Josephine E. Sizer, organizer for the W. C. T. U. and known as the Minnesota Whirlwind, will deliver an open-air address on one of the street corners in Thief River Falls next Tuesday evening. Her subject will be, "Law of the Land."

LOCAL SURGEON TO IMPORTANT POST IN SOUTH DAKOTA CITY

Dr. A. J. Paulson Severs His Connection With Clinic Here and Will Leave Soon.

Dr. A. J. Paulson will on June 20 sever his connection with the Physicians hospital in this city and leave shortly thereafter for Watertown, S. D., where he has become associated with Watertown Clinic, one of the foremost organizations of its kind in the state. Dr. Paulson will be one of the surgeons of the Lutheran hospital, an institution at the present time containing 65 beds but soon to be doubled in size. He takes the place of Dr. Giere, who in turn has accepted the post of chief surgeon at the St. Paul City hospital.

The selection of Dr. Paulson for this post is a high tribute to his standing as a surgeon. He was selected after competitive tests in which five candidates participated, one of these being from the Mayo hospital at Rochester. His long experience and steady application in keeping abreast of the times through attendance at clinics in all parts of the country, as well as doing post graduate work in some of the largest hospitals, decided the matter in his favor.

Dr. Paulson has been a resident of Thief River Falls for five years and has been most successful in his practice, particularly along the lines of surgery. This is the branch he has strongly favored in his studies and his ability has become so well recognized that surgery has formed by far the largest part of his practice with the local hospital. This experience will stand him in good stead in his new field as it is in this class of work that he will be almost exclusively employed. His associates in the Clinic here have as yet made no arrangements for a man to take his place on the hospital staff, this being a matter requiring most careful consideration.

Dr. Paulson is a graduate of Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, and began the practice of his profession at Flaxton, N. D., where he established a hospital which became famous in that section. Coming later to Thief River Falls he first associated himself with Dr. O. F. Mellby and later with Dr. H. W. Froehlich and Dr. L. F. Fisher. The firm has become one of the best and most favorably known in this section.

Dr. Paulson has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances both inside and outside his profession who will be glad to note his promotion at the same time deeply regretting his removal from the city.

Public Charges May be Sent to Marshall County

Marshall county officials have notified the city authorities that the $25 per month heretofore paid for the support of the Kildahl family, who are in straitened circumstances, has been withdrawn and any aid hereafter extended must be at the city's own expense. The family came here from the town of Excel in Marshall county and the town board has been notified that this city can not be held responsible for their maintenance. Representatives of the town board are expected in the city today to look into the matter.

Donate $400 as Aid to Pennington County Fair

The Pennington County Agricultural association was granted an appropriation of $400 by the commissioners on Tuesday to help defray the expenses of the coming county fair. This amount is the same as in years past.

Auto Club Meeting Tonight.

There will be an important meeting of the Thief River Falls Auto club at the commercial club rooms this evening at 8:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be on hand as matters of general interest are scheduled to come up.

SUNDAY'S VISIT TO RESERVATION ENJOYED BY 300

Total of Sixty-Five Cars Make Long Run Without Mishap or Trouble of Any Kind.

Speedometers Show That Distance is Eighty-Seven Miles Over Southern Route.

Rain in Afternoon Cut Short Visit For Many—Direct Road Not Yet Likely.

Sixty-five automobiles—all but half a dozen from Thief River Falls—were in line when the start was made for the Red Lake Indian reservation Sunday morning. The time of departure had been set for 6 o'clock and it was only a few minutes past that hour when Starter E. O. Mogensen gave the word to get under way. The weather might have held greater promise of stability without being unpopular, but it was a fairly bright morning and the crowd hoped for the best. Rain came in the afternoon, however, and most of the cars returned in a steady downpour.

The trip was made by way of Hazel, Oklee, Gully, Berner and Windsor and the running time for the 87 miles was just about five and a half hours. Stops of considerable length were made at Gully and Oklee so it is likely that the actual running time did not exceed five hours. The Goodridge and Grygla delegations joined the party at Oklee.

Outside of two of three stretches where new construction work is being carried on the roads were in fine condition and good time was made. There was not an accident on the trip out, not even a blowout delaying the excursionists.

Beautiful Location.

Arriving at Red Lake it was found that a committee headed by H. W. Protzeller had been working the greater part of the night to get the dinner ready. This consisted of a fish chowder, fried pike, donated by Mr. Solvig, superintendent of state fisheries on the reserve, together with all the accessories and fixings clear down to ice cream. It was a bouillon of the kind that sticks to the ribs and just right for a company of more than 300 tourists who had their appetites whetted by a drive of over 80 miles in the bracing air.

Red Lake, where the executive offices of Agent W. L. Cross, the Indian school and other buildings are located, is built on a beautiful site. The banks at this point are high, being some 30 feet from the water, and afford an excellent view of the greater part of the lower lake. It was the intention to make a trip to the narrows, plainly seen from the camping place, but as the distance across is 16 miles it was feared that time would not permit. Quite a number of the visitors went for a boatride on the Chippewa, going down the lake as far as Redby. They were hauled out to the boat with horses, the water being too shallow to permit bringing it close to shore.

Were Made Welcome.

Mr. Cross made the company welcome, as did others connected with his office and the fisheries department. The ladies particularly were interested in the work of the school, which was in session, and were taken through all the departments. Everything possible was done to make the visitors feel welcome and all speak in high praise of the treatment received.

Interested in Road.

While the construction of a road from the Pennington county line to the narrows would be highly pleasing to Mr. Cross, he was of the opinion that this could not at this time be undertaken except as a private enterprise. Very few of the Indians live along the route of the proposed road and there would be no hope of getting them to make a demand for it, at least not at present. Mr. Cross said he would grant the right-of-way and suggested that the peninsula jutting into the lake on the west be leased from the Indians and building sites sub-leased for enough money to construct a road from the ridge running north and south to the lake. The plan is easily feasible and will be given serious consideration.

Rain Spoils Return Trip.

The rain which had been threatening more or less all day came by mid-afternoon and many started back to town. Those who stayed found rather troublesome going, but all managed to reach home without any serious trouble. Most of the cars came back over the Jefferson Highway by way of Red Lake Falls. This made the trip somewhat longer but the roads were more to be relied upon.

The excursion must be accounted a success from every angle. Chairman Mogensen, Mr. Protzeller and the latter's assisants, and all others who aided in making the expedition possible, are entitled to much praise for the manner in which the thing was handled.

Attending Convention.

THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

THE DONATION SALE.

An event of much interest to stockmen in the Northwest will be the donation sale at the Red River Valley Livestock association's pavilion at Crookston on June 14. More than 80 head of purebred stock will be disposed of to the highest bidder, the proceeds going to pay the outstanding debt on the pavilion.

Stockraisers in every county in the district have made donations from their flocks and herds for this sale and animals of the best breeding procurable will be offered. In the Holstein division alone there are 26 head with every individual from a blue-ribbon strain. The manner in which stockraisers responded to the suggestion that they make donations to this worthy movement shows that they realize the importance of the display rooms and sales pavilion to the livestock industry in this section.

The undertaking is deserving of every encouragement. Not only is the purpose of the promoters most commendable, but the sale itself will give a large number of farmers an opportunity to make a start in the purebred business. It makes no difference what kind of stock they fancy—cattle, hogs or sheep—they will find at this sale just the kind of animal they want. The event will prove of even greater value to them than to the association.

Pennington county should send a large delegation to the sale. Our people are as much interested in the success of the stock show at Crookston as are those residing in Polk county. It is an enterprise of inestimable value to the stock-raising interest of the entire section, with no community or association of breeders favored above another. It took years of hard and at times discouraging work to bring the enterprise to the point where its value was recognized, but this has been reached and from now on there will be no trouble in securing ample support. Should the proceeds at the forthcoming sale prove sufficient to wipe out the indebtedness one serious handicap will have been removed. From the interest already displayed, there is every indication that this will be the result.

A large share of the credit for the successful carrying out of this rather unusual proceeding should be given Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture. To his untiring efforts is largely due the fact that the pavilion was made possible in the first place and now he is just as keenly ambitious that his pet enterprise shall be free of debt. With the liberal support given him by the association members his success in this direction is also assured.

Sale catalogues may be had by addressing Mr. Selvig at Crookston. Secure one beforehand and then make up your mind to attend the sale. It will surely be worth your while.

STATE CREAMERIES FORM ASSOCIATION

Will Aim to Put Industry On Better Business Footing and Stabilize Product.

President Hans Anton of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association is attending the meeting of creamery representatives of the state which convened at St. Paul on Tuesday morning for the purpose of forming a state-wide association. The special purpose of the organization will be to help the creameries build up and maintain the best possible system of manufacturing butter, also to help the creameries market their butter to the best advantage. Uniformity and high quality of dairy products will be goals which the state association will undertake to reach.

A. J. McGuire, of University Farm, dairy extensionist, says: "The cooperative creameries of Minnesota manufacture around one hundred million pounds of butter yearly. Last year the sales of butter by these creameries amounted to sixty million dollars. It is not necessary to mention the importance of this business in Minnesota because it is already well known. But it is necessary to have it known that this important industry may be seriously injured by the importation of foreign butter and the promotion of butter substitutes.

"There is need, therefore, for the co-operative creameries to get together for self protection. The state association will be chiefly for this purpose."

Will Attend Convention.

President H. A. Brumund of the city council has appointed the following to represent the city at the convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities to be held next week at Red Wing: Mayor John Bratrud, Councilmen Ness and Brandon. The convention will be held next Wednesday and Thursday and the delegates will leave on Tuesday evening.

What because of that City Ordinance forbidding the keeping of cows inside the city limits?

There are some people in Thief River Falls who seem to have no respect for the other fellow's feelings and good intentions to keep the city clean and beautiful. Neither do they respect other's right to property as they have the nerve to tether their cows right under their neighbor's windows, accumulating dirt and insects.

For the sake of the sanitation as well as for the looks of our city in general, our honorable city council will have the support of every well-meaning citizen in enforcing the ordinance regulating the keeping of cows and thereby doing away with the prevailing nuisance of giving the cow the right-of-way in the heart of the city.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

MINNESOTA FARM MACHINES Are Made In Your Own Factory

The Minnesota State Prison is your factory, because, as a taxpayer, you helped to build it. And for the same reason you are entitled to your share of any benefits made possible by the industry carried on in this institution. The farmers of Minnesota are saving thousands of dollars every year on agricultural implements manufactured here—and if you have not been getting your share of these savings it is because you have not been buying the Minnesota Line of Agricultural Machinery.

This saving has not alone been effected on the price of Minnesota machinery, but its lower price has been the means of keeping the prices of competing lines down. Yet the Minnesota Prison made goods are still lower than any of the competing lines.

YOU HAVE SOMETHING COMING TO YOU

When you purchase Minnesota Binder Twine or Machinery you are getting some return on your taxes, in the shape of a saving on the original cost and the saving on repairs and longer life of the machinery.

Minnesota Binder Twine this year offers a saving of $800,000 dollars to those who buy it. Think of that. There will be at least 16,000,000 pounds of twine manufactured. This is sold for 2½c per pound (wholesale) less than any other brand, which alone makes a saving of $400,000. Then freight, jobbers' profit, etc., would make 2½c per pound difference—altogether a saving of $800,000!

Minnesota Binders—a well-made high-grade product—as good as any on the market—can save you quite a little money. The 7-foot Binder, for example, is just $26.61 lower in price than its nearest competitor. Can you afford to overlook an economy like that? The 6 and 7-foot Binders offer, comparatively, the same saving.

Minnesota Rakes—the 12-foot, 36-tooth size—are just $8.44 lower in price than other good lines sold in the State of Minnesota—and their material and workmanship is guaranteed. Remember this when you need a rake.

Minnesota Mowers have many points of superiority, yet they sell for $13.00 less than any other make of similar quality. For long service and general satisfaction you can't beat 'em.

The MINNESOTA LINE

of agricultural machinery is guaranteed by the State. It is made of the best materials obtainable and manufactured under the constant supervision of state-employed experts.

Home Canned Strawberries
Are Cheaper and Better

THERE'S only a short time left to put up plenty of strawberries for next winter. The berries from Hood River Valley and Puget Sound are the last to come on the market—and the season is short. These varieties are especially good for canning. Put them up yourself. Sugar is cheap. You can save ⅓ to ½.

Here are two reliable recipes that will help you to have variety in your canned strawberries:

Strawberry Jam

One pound of hulled and washed berries. Three quarters of pound granulated sugar. Place all together in preserving kettle and boil rapidly till syrup breaks as in jelly making. Pour into bottles or jars. When cold cover with melted paraffine. Store in cool room.

Strawberries and Rhubarb

4 pounds rhubarb, cut in 1 inch pieces
4 pounds strawberries
4 pounds sugar
Place in kettle, cook for a minute and can. This makes a sauce with a pleasing, tart flavor.

Can NOW and SAVE

There is no canned fruit so delicious, wholesome or economical as the kind that mother puts up at home,—in Ball mason jars. You can have variety, too—preserves, jam, conserves, marmalade, sauce, etc. Try the recipes given here.

Are You Helping Keep Prosperity Away?

The man who should be building a house of any kind and holds off because he deems conditions unfavorable is making a mistake. There has been no more opportune time for doing construction work for many years. The prices of materials are down more than 30 per cent from a couple of years ago and the same holds true of labor costs.

The Bottom Has Been Reached

From now on it is safe to look for a steady advance in prices. The demand is reaching a point that will mean an advance before long. Anyone will realize this is so.

Don't Hold Prosperity Back

Build now—but build right. Get the best material for the money you spend. That's the only kind we handle.

ELKS TO INITIATE CLASS OF 35 SOON

New Members Will Bring Total Up to Nearly 600—Remarkable Growth Reported.

The first large class to be initiated this year by Thief River Falls lodge of Elks will be taken into the herd on Friday evening, June 17. There will be about 35 candidates ready to take the obligation at that time and great preparations are under way for their reception. The initiation will take place in the new lodge room, Citizens bank building.

The local organization has made great strides during the past two or three years and is now the largest in this section of the state. Its record of growth is one of the best in the entire country and grand lodge officers have complimented the membership upon the excellent showing made. The grand lodge aims to have an enrollment of a million members in the United States by the end of the present year and to judge by the start already made this goal will be passed.

Exalted Ruler H. W. Protzeller and other officers are working on plans that will produce something different from anything yet attempted to add interest to the lodge work this summer. The territory of the local lodge extends from the southern boundary of Mahnomen county to the Canadian border and it has members in every city, town and hamlet included in that territory. The aim during the present year will be not only to extend the membership in the city and immediate neighborhood, but to bring a large number of worthy men from the outside under the protection of the antlers.

Must Pay Light Bills.

The city council has decided to more strictly enforce city ordinance No. 47 hereafter. This ordinance was passed for the regulation of electric current users and a disregard for its provision has become rather general. From now on the power will be cut off without further notice from premises where the department's bill is not paid by the 15th of each month and a charge of $2 made for again making the connections. Before this is done all arrearages and charges must have been paid.

Pure as the Sunlight

Our aim to serve our customers with milk and cream as clean, pure and rich as it is possible to get, finds its reward in the verdict of the discriminating hundreds who pronounce our dairy products the best they have ever known. You have tried the rest; now try the best.

PUREBREDS BRING FAIR PRICES WHEN PUT UP AT AUCTION

Successful Sale Held By Valley Guernsey Breeders at Johnson Farm Tuesday.

Threatening weather and bad roads kept many away from the sale of Guernsey cattle held by the Red River Valley Guernsey Men's association at the Burr Oak farm of Albert Johnson two miles south of the city on Tuesday. The crowd was not large but the sale must nevertheless be accounted a decided success. Many valuable animals changed hands, the average price paid for the mature females being $263 for the purebred and $90 for the grades. Following is a list of the offerings, together with the prices at which they were sold:

Sweet Alice of Clovercrest II, consigned by L. Jensen, Clearbrook, $240.

St. Hilaire School Board Authorizes Bond Issue

In the special election held last Wednesday evening to vote on the matter of issuing bonds of school district No. 102 (St. Hilaire) in the amount of $20,000.00 to take up outstanding orders of like amount, the issue was carried by a record vote of 77 to 1. Issuance of bonds at this time will result in a direct saving of from five to six hundred dollars a year, and will also be the means of lowering the tax levy to that extent. With outstanding orders it is necessary to take some up from time to time, and issuing bonds will do away with that extra levy each year.

WIN FROM WARREN; COMEDY OF ERRORS IN GONVICK GAME

Both Were Good Contests and Should Have Resulted in Victories For Locals.

The base ball game last Friday evening, when Warren was defeated by a score of 6 to 3 on the home diamond, was anybody's victory up to the seventh inning. In this frame, Childs, whose underhand delivery had been bothering the Thief River Falls boys more or less, rather lost hold of the situation and permitted the home bunch to pass his team, a lead that was kept to the end. He pitched good ball during the first six innings, however, and could hardly find fault with his support.

The Thief River Falls boys played a consistently good game but were out of luck when it came to getting around the bases. In almost every inning of the first part of the game the bases were well occupied when something happened to the man at bat and promising scores were nipped in the bud. However, they found their batting eye before it was too late and everything came out all right.

Although Gonvick made one more error than Thief River Falls in the game at the latter town on Sunday, the Pennington county bunch managed to put their's where they would do the most harm. Federoff was taken out of the box after the third inning—the first time this has happened this season. Carlsen, who followed him, held the Gonvick outfit down, but the damage had been done. There is no other explanation of the defeat than to say that the Thief River team did not put up its usual brand of base ball. The grounds were slippery and rough, a fact that contributed in no small measure to the undoing of the outfit hailing from this town.

Win From Lancaster.

Lancaster was taken into camp last evening by a score of 10 to 3 in a game played on the diamond here. Three new men appeared in Thief [illegible] tomed control. Len Schroeder of Minneapolis, who played with Cincinnati one year, has been signed as first baseman, and Frank Larson of St. Paul, a fast infielder has also been acquired by the local management.

Locals at Warren Friday; Lancaster Coming Tuesday; Grand Forks to Play Here

Warren will be given a chance to wipe out the defeat of last week when the Thief River Falls base ball team goes to that town tomorrow afternoon. It is no part of the local boys' intentions that such shall prove the case, but a snapping good game will be witnessed, that much is certain. It is hoped that a large number of strong, healthy rooters will be on hand to help keep down the enthusiasm of the Warren bunch, and several have signified their intention of making the trip.

On Sunday there will be a game here with Stephen as the opponents of Manager Morse's colts. The outfit from up the line does not come from a very big town, but there are indications that the Kittson county representatives are going to give a good account of themselves.

Next Tuesday Grand Forks will try conclusions with the Thief River Falls nine on the diamond here. If the Flickertail team lives up to its advance notices, this contest should be one of the best of the year. The week-day games start at 6:15 o'clock. The team goes to Halleck on Wednesday and St. Hilaire Thursday. Halleck comes here on Friday, the 17th and Gonvick on Sunday, the 19th.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT COMMENCEMENT FOR SENIOR CLASS

Closing Program of School Year Witnessed By Largest Audience in City's History.

Standing room was at a premium in the big city auditorium on Friday evening when Thief River Falls high school senior class held its commencement exercises. The hall was tastefully decorated, the scene forming a pleasing background for the eighty-odd young people who on this occasion closed four years of high school work. For many it doubtless meant an end of all school activities as it is not likely that more than a very small percentage will enter colleges or universities. The costumes of the girls were simple but highly appropriate, good taste rather than lavish expenditure being apparently the end aimed at.

The salutatory address by Ethel Conklin and the valedictory by Betsy Ness were excellent both in conception and presentation. The three selections by the High School Girls' Glee club, were rendered in a manner most pleasing, as were the two songs by the class. Rev. J. B. Smith of the Methodist church, pronounced the invocation and benediction.

The commencement address was made by Dr. John M. Gillette of the university of North Dakota. His subject, "New Opportunities For Success," applies particularly at this time and is of special interest to young men and women just starting out in the world. It was an address filled with strong common sense rather than a brilliant oratorical effort.

The presentation of diplomas to the graduates was made by Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of the board of education.

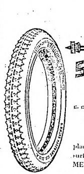
USE SIMMONS "KK" NON-SKID TIRES



SIMMONS "KK" Non-Skid Tread is the design of the "KK" Trade Mark.

The Tread is composed of "KK" Trade Marks placed closely together, top to top. Will grip any surface, such as WET, GREASY ASPHALT PAVEMENT, and prevent skidding or side-slipping.

Added service is given this tire through the extra bulk of rubber on the tread. This extra amount of rubber affords an effective non-skid.

In addition to its being a non-skid tire it will wear much longer than the plain tread, giving you more service and satisfaction.

When purchasing, consider the extra thickness or amount of rubber contained in the non-skid feature and you will realize that when this has been worn off, you have left practically the life of a plain tread tire.

SUSPECT HELD FOR MURDER OF GRYGLA WOMAN

William Gummer, Night Clerk at Hotel, Arrested at Fargo Yesterday Afternoon.

Cass County Officials Absolutely Convinced Young Man Is the Guilty Party.

Polk County Has Mystery Case in Which Girl is Beaten, Gagged and Tied Up.

William Gummer, night clerk at the Fargo hotel in which Marie Wick of Grygla was killed last week was arrested on a charge of murder Wednesday in connection with the case. He is held without bail. The complaint was sworn to by William C. Green, states attorney. The prisoner was arraigned before J. K. Bingham, justice of the peace. His hearing was adjourned until ten a. m., on June 21st.

The arrest of Gummer follows an investigation lasting eight and one-half days by States Attorney Green and Fred Kramer, sheriff, assisted by an investigator from the William J. Burns detective agency.

Prosecutor Convinced of Guilt.

Sheriff Kramer and States Attorney Green said yesterday that they had no statement to make in connection with the arrest of the night clerk who had been on duty at the hotel but two weeks, except that a searching investigation conducted by the authorities during the last week "has convinced us absolutely that not only is Gummer guilty of the crime charged against him, but it appears beyond the realm of possibility that it could have been committed by any other person."

While it was evident from the condition in which the room occupied by the murdered girl was found that a struggle must have taken place, yet none of the lodgers on the same floor heard any unusual commotion, with the exception of a Mrs. VanVorst, who stated that she retired about 12:30 o'clock and was awakened from a doze by hearing a dull thud such as would be made if a baseball were thrown against a wall.

H. J. Hagen, former president of the Scandinavian-American bank, occupied a room next to that of the dead girl. Because of this fact his name was more or less connected with the case from the start. He requested that his finger prints be taken and that his body be examined for scars and bruises. The prints showed no similarity to any found in the room and photographed and no bruises or scratches were disclosed which gave evidence of Mr. Hagen having been involved in a struggle of any kind.

The crime is said by the chief of police to be the most brutal that has occurred in Fargo in the 25 years he has been connected with the department.

The body was claimed by the parents of the girl and shipped to Grygla for burial. It was her first trip to the North Dakota city.

Polk County Has Mystery.

Katie Dobias, 17 years old, residing with her parents near Angus in Polk county, was gagged, tied to a table leg and beaten into insensibility by a man as yet unknown on Friday. The girl's parents were away from home and she was the only person on the place at the time. According to her story, a masked man entered the kitchen and, pointing a revolver at her, threatened to shoot her if she made any outcry. He then grappled with her when she tried to make her escape. She managed to pick up a butcher knife with which to defend herself, but this was wrested away by her assailant, who beat her over the head with the handle until she was insensible. He then tied her by her own apron to the leg of a table, after which the supposition is that he became frightened and ran away.

It is reorted that the girl declares she recognized the voice of the man who attacked her as belonging to an uncle, Joe Dobias. The authorities are trying to piece together the evidence found.

ANOTHER PIONEER OF COUNTY CALLED

Mother of State Senator and County Commissioner Dies at Polk Center Home.

Mrs. Kjosa Naplin, mother of State Senator O. A. Naplin of this city and County Commissioner Gus Naplin of the Third district, died on Monday at the family homestead in Polk Cetner township. Deceased was born in Westergotland, Sweden, in 1836, being 85 years of age at the time of her death. She was married to Swan J. Naplin in 1868 and in 1880 came with her husband and children to America. The family resided for two years at Dudley, Iowa, coming in 1882 to Black River township where Mr. Naplin took up the homestead which continued to be the family home until eleven years ago, when the old folks retired from active work and built themselves a place on the banks of Black river about two miles from the old home farm.

Mrs. Naplin was in good health until some five years ago when she fell down a stairway and injured herself in such a manner that she was thereafter unable to walk. From that time on she failed slowly until the end came peaceably while she was asleep on Monday evening.

Besides the two sons above mentioned, deceased leaves to mourn her loss, the aged husband and two other sons, John A. and Carl E., both of Polk Center township, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Johnson of Cass Lake, and Miss Anna M., residing at home.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon from the residence and Black River Lutheran church, of which deceased had been a member since its organization.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN GIVEN CONTRACT AT OAKLAND PARK

Nurses' Home Will Cost $27,652, Just One-Half of Estimate Made in Fall of 1919.

A. E. Rydlun of Minneapolis, was awarded the general contract for the new nurses' home by the Oakland Park sanatorium board on Tuesday. His bid was $19,572 and was the lowest of three submitted, although the others were not much higher. The plumbing and heating contract was secured by Ed. Lee of Thief River Falls, his figure being $6,700. The electrical work will be done by the Arnston Electrical company of Minneapolis, at a cost of $1380. This contract provides for the laying of all wires in conduits as an added measure of safety. The completed building will cost $27,652.

The new home will be of hollow tile and brick construction, the brick facing matching the main building. Including the sun parlors at each end, it will be 72 feet in length by 32 feet wide. It is to be located to the northwest of the main hospital and about 200 feet distant, on the banks of the Red Lake river. The boilers now in use are of sufficient capacity to supply heat for both buildings. The contract calls for completion by the first of October.

In the fall of 1919, when the need for additional buildings at Oakland Park first engaged the attention of the sanitarium board, an estimate on a building such as is now to be constructed placed the cost at $55,000. This was at the peak of high prices and it was deemed advisable to hold off until there was a drop. A year later the matter was again taken up and an estimate of $48,000 received. This was a drop of $7,000. Conditions have so altered during the past year that another saving of $20,000 has been made by the postponment.

Duluth Boosters Will Pay Visit to City on Tuesday

Thief River Falls is one of the towns to be visited by the 150 Duluth manufacturers, jobbers and wholesalers Tuesday, June 21, on their special trade tour through the northern and northwestern section of Minnesota. The tour is in charge of F. X. Gravel, well known traveling man, who formerly lived at Crookston but is now in charge of the sales organization of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company of Duluth.

Mr. Gravel announces that a special train of nine coaches has been engaged to carry the party.

The tourists will arrive over the Great Northern from the north, having previously made stops at Baudette, Warroad, Salol, Fox, Badger, Greenbush, Strathcona, Middle River and Holt. They will continue their trip the same day, stopping at St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls, staying at Crookston for the night.

Will Explain New Law to Pennington Threshermen

There will be a meeting of farmers and threshermen of Pennington county at the court house in this city on Tuesday, June 21, beginning at 2 o'clock. At this meeting H. C. Gildemeister, president of the Minnesota Brotherhood of Threshermen, will explain the new law in regard to compensation and workmen's liability insurance, as the threshermen now comes under the provisions of this statute. The latter have organized a mutual company which is selling insurance at cost.

The cleat law, which was passed at the last session of the legislature, will also be explained. This law bars all traction engines from the highways of the state unless they have smooth wheels.

Elks' Summer Vacation.

The Elks are preparing for a big initiation on Friday night as this will be the last occasion of its kind for some time to come. During the summer there will be but one meeting in each month—on the first Friday—and it is not likely that any important work will be undertaken until the regular schedule is resumed on the first of September.

CROOKSTON MAN HEADS BANKERS; FUTURE BRIGHT

Ninth District Bank Group Holds 18th Annual Convention in This City.

Period of Readjustment Coming to an End and Better Times Are Just Ahead.

Thos. H. Smith of Mavie Made Member of Executive Committee For Next Year.

The Ninth district group of the Minnesota Bankers association closed a most successful meeting in this city with a banquet at the Brumund hotel on Monday evening. In point of attendance the meeting was one of the best in the association's history, practically every city in the district being represented.

The meeting was held in the Commercial club rooms and opened with an address of welcome on behalf of the city by Mayor John Bratrud. J. A. Shea, State Bank of Perham, president of the group during the past year, in his annual address, spoke of the serious times the country and district is just passing through and said that the end of the money stringency is in sight. He complimented the bankers on the manner in which they had assisted by every means at their command in the restoration of confidence and predicted that by the time the crops are harvested this fall industry will be functioning normally and the people will have almost entirely recovered from the set-back incident to conditions brought on by the war.

After hearing the report of Secretary-Treasurer R. B. Rathbun of Detroit, the delegates listened to a most instructive address on "The Basis of Credit to the Retail Merchant," a subject in which they are all deeply interested, by A. V. Smith, vice president of the State Deposit bank, Minneapolis. Mr. Smith brought out many points of value to both banker and merchant.

Duluth Man on Program.

An address of unusual interest to those present was that delivered by C. P. Craig of Duluth, who spoke on the subject: "Lakes to Ocean." Mr. Craig pointed out that the Northwestern farmer, banker and business man is as vitally interested in the construction of a canal that will permit ocean-going vessels to dock at the head of the lakes as are the people residing in Duluth and Superior. He showed how transportation rates on grain destined for foreign ports would be greatly reduced, resulting in a saving of millions annually to the producers of this section of the country. He was listened to with rapt attention, his remarks containing many points not heretofore clear to his audience.

J. H. Hay, assistant commissioner of agriculture, spoke at the afternoon meeting and again at the banquet in the evening. His remarks dealt with the importance of better agricultural conditions generally and outlined some of the aims of the department with which he is connected. Being an authority on farming conditions in the state and more particularly in the Ninth district, Mr. Hay presented facts and figures of the utmost value to the men who must work hand in hand with the farmer if either is to be successful.

There was a round table discussion of topics particularly affecting banks and bankers at which James M. Hanson of Crookston presided.

At the banquet in the evening H. O. Chommie of this city acted as toastmaster, performing his duty with his accustomed ability and keen sense of the appropriateness of things generally.

Officers Elected.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, J. M. Hanson, Polk County State bank, Crookston; vice president, R. B. Rathbun, Merchants National bank, Detroit; secretary-treasurer, F. M. Alexander, Farmers and Merchants State bank, Fergus Falls. Thomas H. Smith, cashier of the Farmers State bank, Mavie, was elected a member of the executive committee.

Odd Fellows Lodge Delegates.

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for Minnesota is being held at Virginia this week. Hans Heckne is representing Lone Pine lodge of Thief River Falls, while F. C. Dablow is the delegate from Riverside encampment. Mrs. J. L. Gasow from Lion Rebecah lodge. Mrs. Dablow, Mr. Gasow and others will also attend, the citizens of Virginia having promised to give the wearers of the three links the best time in their history.

Examines Candidates For Military Training Camps

Dr. H. W. Froehlich has been named local examiner of candidates for the Citizens Military Training camps conducted during July and August under the direction of the War Department. The government now pays all the costs of conducting these camps and furnishes everything in the way of equipment and uniforms, medical aid and emergency dental treatment. Citizens attending the camps are under no obligation other than strict attention to instructions and observance of regulations during the training period.

The purpose of these camps is thus set forth in the circular sent out by the department: To bring together young men of all types, both native and foreign born; to develop closer national and social unity, to teach the privileges, duties and responsibilities of American citizenship. Further, to show the public by actual example that camp instruction of the kind contemplated will be to the liking of their sons; that it will develop them physically, mentally and morally, and will teach Americanism in its true sense."

Any information desired as to location of camps, term of service and plan may be had by applying to Dr. Froehlich.

ASK NEW BIDS ON MONEY FOR STREET PAVING

Bonding Expert Advises Council That This Will Prove Most Expedient.

Also Believes That Forfeit Money Deposited By Former Bidder is Collectible.

Claimed That City Has Been Put to Heavy Expense By Bond Company's Action.

John H. Ray of Minneapolis, an attorney making a specialty of the law applicable to bond issues, was in the city on Tuesday for the purpose of conferring with the city council. He stated at the regular meeting in the evening that he would have no hesitancy in buying the paving certificates of Thief River Falls for his clients under conditions existing at present, but advised that new bids be advertised for. His advice was taken and the council will at once ask for terms on a loan of approximately $300,000.

Bonds Will Be Sold.

While it is probable that a slightly higher rate of interest than that accepted by the Capital Loan and Trust company will have to be paid when the time comes for selling the certificates, yet it is certain that they will be sold, if in the opinion of the council the figure is reasonable. This, the councilmen have no hesitancy in asserting, will be the outcome whether the obectors decide to be satisfied with the district court decision or not. This presupposes that the contention of the council as to its right to proceed along the lines now being followed will be upheld by the court. The members feel reasonably certain that such will be the case, having consulted the highest legal authority before committing themselves to a definite program.

Attend Firemen's Meeting.

Fire Chief Paul Midderigh and Pipemen O. J. Erickson and William Warner left Monday morning for International Falls by way of Warroad and Baudette. They will attend the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Firemen's association which is being held in the Koochiching county seat for three days this week and expect to return tomorrow afternoon.

Elks Lodges Paid Tribute to Flag Tuesday Evening

The beautiful Flag Day service of the B. P. O. E. was observed by lodge No. 1308 in this city on Tuesday evening. The members and others marched to the flag pole at Soo park, where retreat was sounded as the banner was lowered. It was a pretty ceremony and was witnessed by a large crowd. W. B. Fuller was in charge.

The program at Elks hall opened with an overture by Miss Laura Forde. This was followed by the regular flag exercises of the Elks lodge, exemplified by the officers, after which Miss Una Nelson gave "The History of the American Flag." "The Elks' Tribute to the Flag" was read by H. O. Chommie. Mrs. L. F. Fisher sang "Flag of Mine" most beautifully and responded to an encore with a couple of verses of "Dixie."

Rev. J. B. Smith of the Methodist church delivered a stirring address on what the flag stands for—politically, progressively and potentially. It was a clear, forceful talk and well received. At the close "America" was sung by the audience, with piano accompaniment.

Arrested Here.

Lee Ulrich was on Friday arrested by Sheriff LaBree and held at the request of Pope county officials, being wanted on a statutory charge at Henning. An officer arrived for him the same evening.

CROP OUTLOOK NEVER BETTER AT THIS TIME

With Ample Supply of Moisture Fields Have Fairly Bounded During Past Few Days.

Sow Thistle Will Cause Much Less Damage Than Has Been Case in Former Years.

Rye Crop Now Made and Will Exceed Last Season's Yield in County as a Whole.

Crop conditions in Pennington county have not been so promising since 1915, and in many respects the outlook is better than at the corresponding period of that banner year. From every section of the county the reports point in one direction—to one of the largest crops in the history of the section.

One particularly pleasing feature of the outlook is that the sow thistle seems less prevalent than for some years past, except where wheat has been grown continually on the same ground for some time. This bears out the contention that a rotation of crops will eradicate this pest. It would also seem as if the claim that this thistle will disappear of its own accord after having run its course is verified to some extent.

Hay is Coming Fine.

The early spring was not particularly favorable for the production of a large hay crop, cold weather hanging on too long. An ample rainfall and a long stretch of fine weather has, however, overcome this poor start and it is now certain that there will be better than an average yield. This is now one of the most important crops in the entire county, and while there is almost an invariable surplus, any condition threatening the output in any manner is viewed with alarm.

Rye Above Average.

It now appears that small areas of rye was winter killed. In spite of this fact the yield will be better than average, in the opinion of County Agent J. J. McCann. On the ridges in the western part of the county the weather of the past few days has been particularly favorable to rapid growth and these farms are expected to break the record for that region. At times it has happened that when these western tracts received moisture enough the eastern section of the county was too wet, but the distribution thus far has been most satisfactory to both divisions.

Sugar Beets Thriving.

Most of the sugar beet fields in the vicinity of Thief River Falls have already been blocked and thinned, placing the crop far ahead of where it was at this time a year ago. The Barzen field of 15 acres at the edge of the city presents a most promising appearance, being kept free from weeds by three Mexicans who are experts in the cultivation of the beet.

COUNTRY'S FINEST CHOIR COMING ON TUESDAY, JUNE 21

Famous Singers From St. Olaf College, Northfield, Will Be Heard at Auditorium.

The advance sale of tickets for the concert by the St. Olaf college choir indicates that long before the night when this remarkable musical organization is to appear every available place will have been taken. The sale began on Tuesday morning and the demand has been greater than for any other attraction ever appearing here.

Very few organizations of any kind making a tour of the country have come in for such unanimous indorsement. In sections where Northfield and St. Olaf's college have hardly been heard of the reception has been as enthusiastic as where the previous work of the singers was well known. Musical critics for whose favorable notices stars of the first magnitude oftimes strive in vain have given this company of singers such praise as has never before been bestowed in America. There are columns of these notices, all in the same strain.

W. L. Hubbard, one of the best known writers on musical subjects in the West, says in the Chicago Tribune:

"The choir sang remarkably when heard here before but last night its performance was of even higher grade. It was choral singing, such as is rarely found—tonally lovely and pure throughout, technically flawless, diction clear and neat as the finely spoken word would be, and shading and expression beautiful, artistic and musically in every respect. The singers have not only compelled recognition and admiration for themselves and their college, but they have set an artistic standard for choral singing in each place they have visited which organizations coming after them will have to strive to reach."

H. E. Krehbiel says in the New York Tribune: "Exquisitely balanced, fresh and euphonious in quality and trained to a precision equal to that of the Bach Choir, of Bethlehem, we were made to marvel at the ability of the choir, and there was ravishing beauty in an anthem by a modern composer, Lindeman, with its suggestion of bell chimes."

Seats are now on sale at Lambert's drug store, the entire house being reserved and sold at one price—$1.00 plus war tax. With a choir of this size there will be no particular advantage in securing seats near the stage and no one should stay away for fear that the close-up places have been taken. The only danger is that unless reservations are made at once it will be impossible to get into the auditorium at all on the evening of Tuesday, June 21.

EXPECT PICNIC TO BE GREATEST EVER HELD IN SECTION

With Fair Weather Tomorrow's Community Event Should Set Attendance Record.

Tomorrow is the day of the great community picnic for the people of Pennington county. At that time they will foregather from every section for the purpose of enjoying themselves and comparing notes. From present indications the event will draw out the greatest crowd in the history of the county.

Only one change has been found necessary in the program as announced last week. Mayor John Bratrud has been called from the city and will be unable to deliver the address of welcome. In his place City Attorney H. O. Chommie will speak on behalf of the citizens of Thief River Falls. Other speakers are Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Crookston school of agriculture, and M. L. Warner of Warren, organizer for the farm bureau association. Music, games, boating, swimming and everything else necessary to make up a successful picnic will be part of the program.

People from the farming districts are particularly invited to this outing, although all will be made welcome. There will be something for the instruction of the grownups and the amusement of the youngsters. Bring your own lunch and stay all day. Things of interest will be taking place every minute and you can afford to miss none of them. It is advisable to take along something to eat as it would be impossible to undertake the feeding of such a crowd in any other way.

DALQUISTS DISPOSE OF MILLINERY STORE

St. Paul Parties Become Owners of Business in This City, Taking Charge July 1.

Mrs. B. E. Dalquist and Miss Laura Stopple have sold the millinery business conducted by them in this city for ten years and will leave sometime after the first of June with Mr. Dalquist for a trip to the Pacific coast. The purchasers are W. L. Brown and Mrs. Eota Barton of St. Paul. The latter will have personal charge of the business here and as she is a milliner of wide experience in the larger cities of the country she may be expected to add to the high reputation already enjoyed by the establishment. Miss Onata Stopple, who has been associated with her sisters during the past two years, will remain with the new proprietors.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalquist came to the city ten years ago and the latter, together with Miss Laura Stopple, has built up one of the finest businesses of its kind in this section. Their departure from the city at this time does not mean a permanent removal as Mr. and Mrs. Dalquist still retain ownership of the building in which the millinery store is located as well as of their residence at 614 Knight avenue north. Until their return from the West the latter property will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eide, who have leased the place furnished.

The new proprietors will take charge about July 1.

Minnesota Members Want Lumber Put on Free List

The Minnesota delegation in the house arranged to protest Tuesday to President Harding against the reported refusal of the ways and means committee to put lumber on the free list in the new tariff bill. Representative Newton, who headed the group, declared in the Payne-Aldrich fight the Minnesota unit was for free lumber. "The ways and means committee," he said, "has agreed on a retaliatory provision which would make finished lumber subject, as is the case in Canada, to a 25 per cent advalorem duty and in addition has put a tax of $1 per 1,000 feet on logs."

Representative Tawney was the only member from Minnesota voting for the Payne-Aldrich bill.

WILL GO LIMIT IN PRICE SLASH TO GET CROWD

Market Day Offerings in Thief River Falls For Wednesday Creating a Sensation.

Only Impassable Roads Can Prevent This Being Greatest Day in City's History.

Offerings So Varied and Prices So Unusual That Entire Section is Interested.

Nothing in the way of a booster enterprise ever engaging the attention of the people of this section can in any manner compare in interest with the Market Day scheduled for this city next Wednesday. So keenly is this great bargain-giving occasion looked forward to that the merchants staging it are not certain but that they have overreached themselves. It begins to look as if people for long distances around are holding off on certain of their necessary purchases in order to be better enabled to take advantage of the wonderful bargains offered in Thief River Falls on that day. This was a contingency not taken into consideration when the plan was first broached. The business men are game, however, and will stick by their guns. In fact, they seem to have adopted as a sort of slogan: "The more money we are out on this occasion the better we well like it."

The Future Will Repay.

Here is one time when volume of business will prove a detriment instead of an advantage. Prices on merchandise of every description have been cut to such an extent that they represent an actual loss to the merchandiser. This, however, was just what was intended. It was felt that in order to convince the buying public that there is no longer any excuse for holding off in the expectation that costs will go down, it were best that drastic measures be taken at once. There is no denying the fact that many are of the opinion that costs are still far above what they should be and, while they are mistaken, the impression works havoc with business. If this Market Day sacrifice shall have the effect of convincing buyers of their error it will have served the purpose intended and the business men will consider themselves well repaid. It is only another way of assisting a return to normalcy.

Sugar as a Headliner.

Looking about for some one thing upon which they could make a sensational cut—something needed by every family—sugar was hit upon. It was decided to limit the amount of each purchase at the price quoted to 20 pounds to each head of a household, but to place no limit whatever upon the number who might take advantage of the offer. Twenty tons of sugar was therefore secured and will be found all nicely tied up in 20 pound sacks at the Simonson Meat and Grocery company's store on Wednesday. One dollar will buy one of these sacks, providing the buyer has visited the eight other stores whose proprietors are helping stand the loss. It is not necessary that a single thing be bought at these stores. Simply go in and say "hello" to the boss, have him punch a card that will be given out at the first place visited, keep on making the rounds and go get the sugar. The entire proceeding will take only a few minutes. More detailed information will be found in the page advertisement explaining this feature in another part of the paper today.

Means Saving Money.

Coming to Thief River Falls on Market Day—next Wednesday, June 22—means that you will be confronted with hundreds of oppotrunities for saving money. If these interest you—come. You will be made welcome by every business man in the city.

Record Crowd Looked For at Sons of Norway Picnic

Officers of Snore lodge, Sons of Norway, have assurances from every city in this section where lodges of the organization are located that there will be large delegations present for the annual picnic on Sunday. The outing will take place at Squaw Point at the north edge of the city and arrangements are under way for making it the greatest affair of its kind ever held.

Bj. Bjornarna of Wanke, president of Sætesdalslaget and one of the best-known Norwegian-Americans in this section, will speak in the mother tongue of those present, while the English address will be made by City Attorney Hans O. Chommie of Thief River Falls. There will be music and games, boat riding and all kinds of sports. The visitors are asked to bring lunch baskets, although practically everything needful may be secured at booths on the grounds.

A general invitation is extended to everyone to attend this picnic. There will be no admission charge.

The bride, whose parents reside on a farm near the city, has spent the past winter in Minneapolis, where she has been employed as milliner. They will make this city their home.

Cummings-O'Morrow.

A wedding which has been kept secret for over a month was announced yesterday. Ray E. Cummings of Mankato, and Miss Bernice E. J. O'Morrow of Norwood, Mich., were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Holmes in this city on May 13. Rev. R. L. Barackman was the officiating clergyman. The couple advanced to the altar to the strains of Lohingren's wedding march played by Miss Beatrice Holmes. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Holmes. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. The decorations throughout the rooms were in pink and white. Mr. Cummings has been professor of schools at Federal Dam for the past four years and will enter the University of Minnesota this fall to complete studies and receive his B. A. degree. Miss O'Morrow has been engaged as teacher at the above named place.

Mr. Granum is employed as salesman for the Western Importing company, but until recent years made his home here with his parents. The bride is well known to many here as she has visited her cousin, Miss Gladys Anderson, on several occasions.

Philie), Mrs. C. O. Erickson and Lillian Johnston. The junior and senior divisions then separated for the study period after which a delicious lunch was served.

American Legion Corner

After crushing a poppy he had purchased and then making disloyal remarks, Ralph Altman of Melrose, Minnesota, apologized for the act before members of the American Legion post of Melrose. The apology was accepted.

The Elks Lodge in St. Paul has shown its friendship for St. Paul Legionnaires by inviting the more than one thousand members of St. Paul Post No. 8 to hold their bimonthly meetings in the B. P. O. E. hall instead of in the Old Capitol building, where previous meetings were held. The invitation has been accepted.

New Legion posts have recently been organized in Minnesota at Brook Park, Clarissa, Morgan Park, Duluth, Birchdale and Albany, making a total of 483 Legion posts in the state. In addition, South St. Paul, which gave up its temporary Legion charter last year, is re-organizing; and a post is being established in West St. Paul.

The official U. S. Headstone provided on request by the government for the graves of great war veterans is of American white marble, 40 inches by 2½ inches by 10 inches. Each stone has a 2½ inch circle on the front face, near the top, in which a Maltese Cross or The Star of David is carved, according to the creed of the deceased.

Legion Loses Its Chieftan.

Words fail to express the sorrow with which the Legion and the nation regard the accidental death of Frederick W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American Legion. He was a leader to be proud of, a great fighter, a loyal advocate of the cause of ex-service men, particularly the disabled. Long and affectionately will his memory linger. As a symbol of sorrow the flags and charters of Minnesota's 483 Legion posts will be draped for thirty days. A special tree on the Victory Memorial Drive in Minneapolis was dedicated to his memory June 11. "On fame's eternal camping ground, his silent tent is spread, and glory guards with solemn round, the bivouac of the dead. Nor wreck, nor change, nor winter's blight, shall dim one ray of glory's light, that gilds his deathless tomb."

Regulation blanks on which to apply for U. S. official headstones has been mailed to each Minnesota Legion post. Copy may be secured from Legion Service Bureau, Old Capitol, St. Paul. These stones are supplied for unmarked graves only. They will not be supplied for graves which have already been provided with private headstones.

Weekly News Letter.

The government has promised the American Legion that none save ex-service men will be employed as pilots of Uncle Sam's airplane in the U. S. Postoffice Air Mail service. Instructions to that effect have been issued, and Legion posts are asked to inform eligible air pilots of the above mentioned ruling.

To plant a tree for every war veteran and affix a plate bearing his name and military record, is the suggestion of National Commander Galbraith of the Legion. Four million trees of types recommended by the U. S. Forestry Bureau would be planted along the great national highways. The idea is meeting the approval of the strongest newspapers in the Middle West and has the indorsement of the U. S. Forestry Bureau.

Approximately half a million poppies were placed on sale in Minnesota on the morning of May 28th. So great was the response that practically every poppy was sold by evening. And so half a million Minnesotans paid honor to their loved ones who died that liberty might live, and at the same time helped to provide funds to care for and find work for sick and unemployed buddies temporarily out of work.

Though located many miles from "their boys" who are lying sick or wounded in Twin City or other government hospitals, the women of Minnesota's 217 Legion Auxiliary Units are "adopting" these boys and are helping to cheer them by sending them scores of little personal gifts which assure those who suffer that their sacrifice is not forgotten.

When a Legion representative appeared before the Winona Trades and Labor Assembly last week and explained to the members the real aims and ideals of The Legion, the union men promptly passed a resolution indorsing the latter organization and urging eligible Trades and Labor members to become members of the American Legion.

Seventy-seven signatures, covering several feet of paper, accompanied the application for Auxiliary Unit Charter, when the auxiliary to the American Legion post at Aurora, Minnesota was organized last week. The Auxiliary promises to be several times as big as the Legion post. The latter has 74 paid-up Legionnaires. Practically all of the larger Legion posts in Minnesota have now organized auxiliary units.

The total number of claims of various kinds which the Minnesota Legion Service Bureau, Old Capitol, St. Paul has secured action on since its organization in August, 1919, is 10,843, up to May 31, 1921. The number of claims received during May totaled 785. Claims include everything from travel pay, back pay, death claims, $60 federal bonus, to compensation claims, insurance reinstatements, vocational training, etc.

In 1921, Legionnaires of Minnesota more than tripled their 1920 contribution to the Legion Overseas Grave Decoration fund. The National organization had pledged itself to decorate the grave of every American soldier sleeping in foreign soil. Minnesota's 482 Legion posts remitted $1,800, to help accomplish this sacred task.

Eastern Financiers Raise 25 Millions For Stockmen

J. P. Morgan and other eastern financiers have agreed to raise $25,000,000 as half of a pool for making loans to the livestock industry, it is stated at the treasury. The other $25,000,000, it was said, will be raised by western bankers.

A ROAD TO THE LAKE.

There is no possibility of a road being constructed directly eastward from the Pennington county line through the Red Lake Indian reservation to the lakes. This was explained to the large delegation of Thief River Falls, Goodridge and Grygla people who visited the lakes last Sunday. The reason given for the unwillingness on the part of the department to sanction such plan are sound and reasonable and there is no longer anything to be gained by keeping up the agitation.

Indian Agent W. R. Cross would personally like to see such road built, but explains that there are no Indians living in or near the section the proposed highway would traverse. Nor will any of them take allotments there until the drainage program now under contemplation has been put through. The region is swampy and will not be in demand unless drained, until the higher land to the south has been taken up.

Mr. Cross stated, however, that he would greatly favor the building of a piece of road to the lake from the ridge running south from Thorhult. If this were done a very good highway would connect the western country with the lake, but a short detour would be necessary. Mr. Cross was very doubtful if there would be any demand on the part of the Indians for even this piece of road for the reason that it would be used by them but little—at least for some time to come. As a consequence any appropriation for its construction would be a difficult matter. He suggested, however, a plan by which the highway might be constructed. It is that a holding corporation or company lease from the Indians the peninsula jutting into the lake from the western shore and convert it into a summer resort. Building plots on this leased land could in turn be sublet to individuals at a price somewhat in advance of that paid the Indians and the money thus provided put into the building of the proposed road. Mr. Cross is of the opinion that there would be no difficulty in securing the department's sanction to a proposition of that kind.

The peninsula would make an ideal summer resort. It is beautifully wooded and the beach is perhaps the finest on the entire lake. Lumber for cottages could be procured at the mill on the reservation and very little in the way of construction essentials would have to be freighted from the outside. The Indians would be glad to have a summer colony at this point, according to Mr. Cross, and it is not likely that there would be any objection on the part of the department.

If the people of the Red River valley became sufficiently interested this plan could be put across without any trouble. Unless something of the kind is decided upon it is likely that the finest resort site in Minnesota will remain just as it is today.

There is no disposition on the part of anyone to drop this road agitation. The only change in the proceedings is that from now on there will be something definite to work on. A committee already is mapping out a proposition to be submitted to the people of the valley and the matter will be gone at intelligently and with enthusiasm. There are enough people in this section who would be only too glad to pay a reasonable sum for a summer cottage site on this lake to provide the comparatively small sum necessary to construct the road from the ridge to the narrows. That is all necessary in order to make the playground easily accessible to every person who enjoys life in the wilderness for a short time during the summer.

A BARGAIN OPPORTUNITY.

Unless it should so happen that there is a downpour next Wednesday, the date will long be remembered by the people of this section. It will be the occasion of the first Market Day in the series scheduled to extend over a period of six months and it has been decided that it shall have the proper setting for the forerunner of an enterprise of such far-reaching importance.

As will be seen by the advertisements appearing in this issue of The Times, practically every business house in Thief River Falls is offering some special bargain, while many of them are presenting a whole series of unusual inducements. Never in the history of the state has such general price-cutting campaign been launched and never have the business men of any community gone at the matter in such whole-hearted fashion.

It is an indisputable fact that the seller will be the looser on this particular occasion. He expects to loose at least a little and hopes to loose a whole lot. He is willing to pay a premium for having folks come to the city and find out just how completely and at what reasonable prices their wants can be supplied. Stocks were never more attractive and if anyone is under the impression that this Market Day is launched for the purpose of aiding the merchants in getting rid of a lot of out-of-date merchandise, he has another guess coming. The goods offered are of the most desirable character nad the fact that they will be sold at prices ridiculously low is no reflection on their quality. It has simply been decided to start things back toward normalcy by making a sensational bid for the public's good will.

Every merchant in a city the size of Thief River Falls realizes that a large share of the business that should be coming his way goes to St. Paul, Chicago and other large cities. He also knows that it is often impossible for people residing in the country to secure just what they need at the smaller stores in their immediate neighborhood. It is not for the purpose of cutting in on the business that legitimately belongs to these country merchants that this sale is being held. But the money that goes out of the section entirely is of no more value to this latter class than to the merchant in the neighboring large town. In fact, if the end sought in this campaign is achieved it will prove of as great benefit indirectly to the man doing business at the cross roads as to the Thief River Falls merchant. It will demonstrate to the buying public that sending far away for goods is a waste of money and the home storekeeper will be the gainer as well as his neighbor located in Thief River Falls.

When all is said and done, however, it is bargains the people are looking forward to at this time. These are being offered by Thief River Falls merchants on this first Market Day and will be continued on each succeeding Market Day for six months at least.

Read every advertisement in The Times today. They present the money-saving opportunities all have been looking for.

Closing a most garbled and mendacious report of the ball game played here last week between the Warren team and local nine, the Warren Sheaf says: "Following the activities at the Pennington county fair grounds, the Warrenites got up a slumming party and visited the roller rink, where a dance was in progress. Several business and professional men, with their wives from Warren, also joined the party but were forced to embark for home early because of the roughness of the place." Bless their innocent hearts. It so happened that the Warrenites were in the city on a particularly quiet day and selected one of our most peaceful and orderly places for their visit after the game. We had intended staging a murder, bank robbery and abduction for their special benefit, such things being of common occurrance here, but they acted so peevish over the outcome of the game that it was decided to let them shift for themselves. As a consequence they lost seeing something really worth while.

Persons residing within a hundred miles of Thief River Falls should so arrange their affairs as to be able to spend the greater part of next week in the city. Tuesday evening the wonderful St. Olaf College choir comes for a concert at the auditorium; Wednesday is Market Day; Thursday our first circus of the season will be here.

OBSERVATIONS.

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

The B. V. D. weather has finally arrived.

There's one nice thing about planting string beans. If the frost gets them you haven't missed much.

Once upon a time there was a Baudette citizen who didn't have the idea that he could run the village better than the council.

There has been many a slip between the cup and the lip in the days of old, but it is so scarce that people are more careful now.

There is nothing like a little humor, even in official notices. Ferinstance, a city has this sign on the outskirts: "Drive slowly and view our city. Drive fast and view our jail."

Judging from the number of divorces we take it that a lot of couples think marriage would be all right if it didn't last so darn long.

The average picnic at the lake would be all right if the mosquitoes didn't get the idea that it was their picnic.

Crude oil is down to $1.25 a barrel, which is no doubt the reason we are still paying 30 cents a gallon for gasoline.

Conducting the affairs of Baudette wouldn't be so difficult for the council if there were no expenses.

We heard of a bottle of home brew saving a man's life the other day. His wife poured it in the sink.

THIS MAN DREADED TO SEE NIGHT COME

Was So Restless He Couldn't Sleep and Daylight Was Always Welcome.

"With the exception of a little milk toast, which comprised my diet for more than eight weeks, I could not eat anything," said Capt. Geo. W. Womble, residing at 105 Jennings St., Knoxville, Tenn., a highly respected citizen of that city.

"I am now able," continued Captain Womble, "after taking two bottles of Tanlac, to eat practically anything. I had a bad form of stomach and intestinal trouble for a long time and for months my condition had been such that I suffered agony. I got so I could not eat the simplest food. I tried doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine but nothing that was prescribed for me seemed to do me any good. I had a terrible pain in my breast just over my heart and for weeks and weeks I got no relief.

"I finally got so nervous that I actually dreaded to see night come as I could not sleep and was always so restless that I would rejoice to see daylight come. I was also constipated all of the time. In fact, life seemed a burden and I was so miserable that I was almost on the verge of despair. Several of my neighbors told me about Tanlac and advised me to try it.

"I am personally acquainted with Mr. Dan M. Chambliss, of the firm of Kuhlman & Chambliss, and when I told him of my condition and how I suffered he advised me to begin taking Tanlac without delay and that it had relieved hundreds of the best people in Knoxville. I have now taken two bottles of Tanlac and am giving you this testimonial in the hope that it may induce others to take it. Since taking this medicine I actually feel like I had been made all over again with the youth, energy and ambition of a sixteen year old boy."—advertisement.

Ice Cream Cones and Cut Rates Twin Attractions

Manager Brumund of the Lyceum gave a special matinee for the children on Friday afternoon. He placed the admission charge at six cents and gave every youngster attending an ice cream cone. The house was packed to the doors but it was not a very profitable performance. The cones cost about five cents each, which does not leave much for film rent, power, lights, help, etc. It proved a most enjoyable occasion for the kids, however, and as this was the only result sought in making the unusual offer it must be accounted a great success.

Market Day or any other day, this is good advice. It is particularly of value just now, however. The cost of material and labor is much lower than for several years. The tendency from now on will be upward.

Build With Reliable Materials

For a quarter of a century this concern has been supplying building materials to the people of this section—with "Quality" as its watchword. In these days of cheap substitution we are more careful than ever that this reputation shall be maintained.

Build this year, but build with reliable material.

WAGE ADJUSTMENTS ON ALL RAILWAYS EFFECTIVE JULY 1

Three Thousand Additional Men Will Be Put to Work on Soo Lines in Northwest.

Four hundred million dollars a year was slashed from the nation's railway wage bill when an order handed down last week by the United States railroad labor board took full effect. The decree is effective July 1 on 104 lines. Granting the petitions of the companies the board directed an average cut of twelve per cent which eventually will apply to all the railroad employes of the country. Members of 31 unions are affected immediately.

The cuts range from five to thirteen cents an hour, or from $10.20 a month for apprentice boys to $26.52 for the better paid skilled labor, figuring on an eight-hour day basis.

The decision granted reductions varying from five to eighteen per cent, and in the case of section laborers, completely wiped out the increase granted that class of employes by the $600,000,000 wage award of July 20, 1920. Section men who have been receiving $3.70 for an eight-hour day were cut to $3.02, the same figure in effect under federal control. The reduction was approximately 18 per cent.

Switchmen and shop crafts were given a nine per cent reduction while the train service men were cut approximately 7 per cent. Car repairers were cut about ten per cent.

While the decrease is specifically applied for the present only to the 104 roads whose cases have been heard by the board, the decision says it may later be applied to any other road asking a hearing in accordance with the provisions of the Esch-Cummins transportation act.

Railroads throughout the Northwest announce that there will be a general resumption of activities in shops and at terminals as a result of the wage reduction announced by the labor board last week. On the Soo line in this state alone 3,000 additional men will be put to work by July 1, according to Vice President G. R. Huntington. Every department will be affected and a resumption of much of the work abandoned during the high cost period will be resumed.

FIRE LOSSES ALMOST EQUAL TO INSURANCE PREMIUMS IN CITY

Figures Show That Companies Conducted Business at a Loss During Past Ten Years in Thief River Falls.

A glance over the insurance records for the city of Thief River Falls for the past ten years—from 1911 to 1920 inclusive—shows that there is not a very wide descrepency between the amount received as premiums by the companies and the amount of the losses paid by them. During the ten years there was paid in premiums the sum of $274,542.75, while the losses paid aggregated $235,140.46, or $39,102.29 less than the premiums. This leaves a margin of only $3900 per year, which comes a long way from paying the commissions and other expenses incidental to writing this amount of insurance.

While it might seem as if a fire loss of $27,400 per year is not very large, yet it is much greater than there is any need for its being. Insurance men make the claim that at least 50 per cent of this loss could have been prevented if proper precautions had been taken. In other words, carelessness in this regard is costing about $500 every month on an average.

In looking over the records one is struck by the fact that it seems to be the better constructed and more modern buildings that are selected for destruction. At least the larger share of the losses has been on risks of this kind, where the danger fould naturally be expected to be least.

CIRCUS IS COMING; A REAL BIG SHOW

How's Great London Circus and Amberg's Menagerie Will Be Here Thursday.

One hundred men are working day and night just to let you know that Howe's Great London Circus and Van Amburg's Trained Wild Animals—the new and big combination of two well known and established shows—will come to Thief River Falls on Thursday, June 23.

These men are the advertising agents, advance managers, bill posters, lithographers and banner men of the big show's advance. Besides this force, there are local contracting agents, railroad contracting agents, press agents—all arranging for the coming of the show—supplies, transportation, publicity and permits.

So, on circus morn, when the four Howe-Van Amburg trains pull into town, you'll know that many men have toiled and planned so that the big tents may rise on time, the two-mile parade may proceed on a practicable route, the big show doors may open on time.

Back with the show are eleven hundred people, five hundred and fifty horses and three hundred wild animals, with nineteen elephants and a flock of ponies swelling the total. The double menagerie will be a treat, indeed, as will the thrilling wild animal acts, which form a background for the three-ring, two-stage circus program presented by three hundred and eighty-four European, South American and American circus stars. The big top of the show, with its patent grandstands, which unfold from thirty special wagons, seats twelve thousand people.

ADEQUATE CREDITS FOR FARMER MOST URGENT NEED NOW

Farm Bureau President Says Reconstruction is Retarded By Present Handicap.

Extension of adequate credit to the farmer was urged as the paramount duty of the American banker, by J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau association, before the Iowa Bankers' association, in convention at Des Moines this week. Reconstruction without such credit provisions, is impossible, said the speaker.

"It is incumbent on the bankers of this country so to adjust their business that the farmer may have an opportunity to carry on without forced liquidation until the other fellow comes to his level of credit or income, or the farmer is again restored to his proportion in all adjustments. On April 1st, this year, the farmers' products were 27.6 per cent below the average for the past ten years. No other business has yet anywhere nearly approximated prewar levels."

"Many of you view with apprehension the growth of the cooperative marketing developed among the farmers. I am for it, if it is well organized and directed. Our distributing systems are overgrown and tremendously expensive," Mr. Howard declared.

To raise the basic line of credit in the agricultural states, Mr. Howard urged every country banker to affiliate with the federal reserve. He pointed out the federal reserve bank must extend its redi-count period on grain crops to nine months, however, if the farmers' needs are to be served, and on live-stock paper to two years.

Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Minneapolis.)

Consistent with the large decrease in the government's June estimate of the total winter wheat crop, and on reports of development of black rust damage in Nebraska, the wheat market during the week scored many substantial advances with definite signs of weakness at no time evident.

Course grains were under pressure of heavy daily receipts at all terminals. Prices finally receded, but there was constantly a firm undertone, which was due, doubtless, to additional sales of corn for export and also sentimentally following the action of wheat. The Saturday advance regained much of the lost ground. Holders of corn and oats are required to have a great deal of patience, but these grains seem to be gaining new friends on the theory that present prices are extremely low and that the probabilities are that another bumper crop will not be realized.

The government report of June 8 revised its winter wheat crop to 578 million bushels, or 51 million less than the previous month and eight million in excess of the estimate of 570 million in our May 9 review. The official spring wheat estimate to June 1 is 251 million, which makes a total indicated wheat crop of 829 million and compares with final results last year of 787,128,000 bushels. Spring wheat acreage is below that of last year but the condition of the wheat for the corresponding time last year is 4.3 better and, in fact, slightly better than the ten year average.

The oats crop officially promises 1,405,000,000, exceeding the June, 1920, indication of 1,315,000,000. Oats acreage is larger than last year, but the condition is slightly lower than prevailed the previous year. The new hay crop or present condition is not reported by the government, but the acreage is shown about seven million larger than last year.

We are still inclined to hold to the opinion that the position of wheat in the July delivery is strong, due to the exceptionally light stocks, steady export sales, improved domestic milling demand and possible crop scares in the Northwest. Foreign exchange rates, however, are again in a very weak condition and most authorities on foreign trade report that Europe will be forced by financial stringency to continue substitution and that also due to increasing production their requirements will be less than during the past year. Pending new developments, therefore, it seems quite likely that the September contracts in all grains will be on an entirely different basis than the nearby deliveries and we should advise caution in following the present advance in the distant deliveries.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loken and family spent Sunday at Maple Lake.

Always-Dependable Case Steam Outfits

LONG before gas tractors were thought of, "Case Steamers" were furnishing dependable plowing and threshing power for the farmers of the West. Case Steam Tractors have been rendering satisfactory service for more than forty years and are as popular today as ever. These are spring-mounted, rear-geared, double-drive engines, which, because of their proper distribution of weight, will pull maximum loads on grades without "rearing up" in front. Long flues and large fire box insure easy steaming. These tractors successfully burn coal, wood or straw.

Features of Case Threshers

Working hand in hand with Case Steam Engines, Case Steel-built, Galvanized Threshers have been giving good accounts of themselves on the toughest and biggest jobs of threshing. Turkey Red Wheat; rank, tangled straw; mouldy, wet, frozen or stack-burnt bundles—they are all one in so far as Case Threshers are concerned.

A sturdy, non-warping, rot and fire-proof frame that resists distortion from the heavy pull of the main drive belt; a large diameter cylinder equipped with big, annealed-and-tempered steel teeth that are interchangeable with concave teeth; a scientifically designed feeder that regulates volume of straw fed to cylinder and controls feeding in accord with proper threshing speed; a long, well-balanced straw rack, the violent agitation of which shakes every particle of grain from the threshed heads and straw; a noiseless, end-shake shoe and full-width underblast fan that cleans grain perfectly; a grain-saving wind-stacker that saves grain which may escape shoe because of faulty thresher adjustment by operator; these are some of the features that account for the fact that most threshermen prefer Case Steel-built, Galvanized Threshers. Case Threshers are unexcelled for flax threshing.

Case Threshers are made in seven sizes—20x28, 22x36, 26x46, 28x50, 32x54, 36x58, 40x62—and Case Steam Tractors are furnished in 40, 50, 65 and 80 H. P. sizes. We also make kerosene tractors with power rating of 10-18, 15-27 and 22-40 H. P.

WARREN DEFEATED ON HOME GROUNDS; STEPHEN A VICTIM

A ball game which brought the fans up standing at times was played at Warren on Friday afternoon when the Marshall county bunch was defeated by the warriors from this city by a score of 4 to 1. It was a good exhibition of baseball from the start, both pitchers—Federoff for the locals and Childs for Warren—working in fine form. Not a run crossed the plate for either side for five innings. In the sixth frame, Jonas, who was petting a Charlie Horse, forgot that he couldn't run until he reached second base after a nice, long swat. Gradin followed with a single, placing Jonas on third. At this point Carlson came up and drove the ball half way across the county, making a home run and chasing Jonas and Gradin over the plate ahead of him. In order to make sure, another run was added in the ninth although it was not needed, one run, permitted throug an error in the seventh, being all that the Warrenites were allowed. Umpires, Stolman and Fox.

Childs, the Warren pitcher, added considerable to the gayety of the afternoon through a by-play. He failed to hit at a good one and Fox proceeded to charge it up to him. This so enraged the Warren hurler that he started down the field toward Fox, emitting much language and swinging his bat in a threatening manner, the evident intent being the scatter the brains of the genial arbiter all over the surrounding real estate. Fox was not greatly excited, however, and invited the irate gentleman, bat and all, to walk over into a nearby potato patch for a few minutes—providing there was someone on the team could take his place afterwards. Calmer council prevailed and the game proceeded, Fox not caring enough about the episode to order Childs off the field. In justice to the Warren fans it must be said that they were practically unanimous in condemning the action of their player.

Win From Stephen.

Thief River Falls Won from Stephen on Sunday by a score of 8 to 5. The visitors started out in good shape, getting one across in the first frame. Carlson was pitching and he refused to allow anything further until the sixth, when he suffered a relapse and allowed three hits resulting in two runs. At this point he was relieved by Federoff, who started out by allowing a two-base hit, scoring one man. After this he tightened up, however, and the total was held down to five. It was the kind of a game that furnishes plenty of rooting opportunities for the fans, there being a total of 19 hits made, out of which number Thief River Falls secured 11. Morse, Gradin and Lawrence each made two runs. The home team made seven errors while the visitors were charged with only three.

Rain Stops Game.

The game scheduled to be played here on Tuesday with Grand Forks as opponents of the locals was called off on account of rain. While none fell during the day there was a heavy shower the night previous and the North Dakota boys telephoned to say it would be impossible for them to get here, although every preparation had been made for giving them a merry reception.

Yesterday the Thief River Falls team went to Hallock for the first game of the season with that team. It was an off day and Thief River Falls was defeated by a score of 3 to 2. On the face of the returns the result is hard to explain, the locals securing 10 hits to but 5 for Hallock. Loose playing generally is given as the reason for the poor showing.

On Friday Hallock comes for a game here. This matinee will begin at 4:30 o'clock in order to give the visitors an opportunity to get an early start for Grafton, N. D., where they play on Saturday.

Gonvick comes for a game on Sunday when it is expected that the boys will wipe out the sting of having been defeated in that village two weeks ago.

DRIVE TO COMBINE CROP SALES BEGUN BY FARM BUREAUS

Organized Producers Must Enter Terminal Markets, Say Federation Officials.

Centralized marketing, with the sale of a large part of all staple farm crops in the hands of the farmers' own co-operative agencies on the terminal markets is the best and probably the only means of obtaining fair prices based consistently on the cost of production, the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation said today in a message to all county farm bureaus.

The statement marks the beginning of an intensive drive to centralize co-operative livestock marketing through the new farmers' agency at South St. Paul. The state federation is directing the drive.

"The Minnesota Farm Bureau federation believes it can do no greater service for the farmers and for the strength to the centralization of co-operative marketing," the directors said. "It offers all its facilities to promote the organization of central selling agencies; it will encourage and assist its county and township units to carry on this work throughout the state; in connection with its livestock, grain and dairy marketing projects now under way. It stands local co-operative agencies to sell other crops as well, whenever the demand comes from the farmers. The county farm bureau, reaching into every community, controlled absolutely by the farmers themselves and responsive to their wishes, constitutes a machine perfectly equipped to launch and direct these enterprises.

"For the last 25 years, Minnesota farmers have been developing co-operative marketing in their own communities; they have put Minnesota in the lead in this work. Now they have discovered that local marketing associations have their limitations, and that in order to affect the large markets, farmers must unite to handle their crops in quantity, and go into the terminal markets themselves. Local co-operatives have really been assembling bodies; they have brought produce together, and then turned it over to somebody else to sell for them. The time has come when they must sell for themselves."

SHIRTS FOR IMPORTANT COATLESS DAYS' SERVICE.

Of course, they will be of finest madras or percale, unless they are of soft and lustrous silks.

We have been most exacting in making our selections, first as to the qualities of the fabrics; then the patterns and colorings; but above all, of the style in which the shirts are made and the character of the workmanship.

In every detail they are right.

There is abundant variety to select from, and prices are so much lower than they formerly were.

Quite a pleasure to pick them out. All men's stores in the city will make special showings on Market Day.

Real value—The Times—$2 a year.

Value of the Personal.

Robert Welles Richie, who furnished a series of interesting articles on "Live Country Newspapers" for the Country Gentleman, has no misconceptions about the value of the personal item. The personal item, he says, means more to the country weekly editor than do yards of boiler plate about how the Grand Lama of Tibet eats his breakfast. "The greater the number of lively correspondents scattered over the field," he says, "the more acceptable the paper. The fact that Ma Pettingill Tuesdayed in Liberty is just as hefty for the country reader as the news that J. P. Morgan has returned from Europe is to the New Yorker."

YEARLING BEEVES IN GOOD DEMAND

Insufficient Supply of This Kind Coming to Meet Local Needs. Hogs Steady For Week.

(By U. S. Bureau of Markets and Minnesota Dept. of Agriculture.)

Monday's Closing.

Cattle 1,900. Market closing steady to weak. Top yearlings $8.50, best heavy cattle $8.00. Calves 800. Market steady, packer top $8.50. Hogs 8,500. Market about 25c lower. Range $6.50 to $7.75, bulk $7.35 to $7.65. Top pigs $8.50. Sheep 700. Market about 50c lower.

South St. Paul.—Yearling beeves weighing from 700 to 900 pounds are not coming to market at the present time in sufficient numbers to satisfy the local demand and are outselling heavy cattle of the same grade at least 50c per hundred. Lead lots of this class of a good grade are slow sale from $7.50 to an extreme of $8. Bulk of the beef steers are selling from $7.00 to $7.75 with only the commonest ones down to $6.50 or slightly below. Dry fed butcher she stock continues scarce, top heifers of this class being quotable to $8.00 or slightly better, and top cows around $7.00, with the bulk selling under $6.50. Grassy she stock is selling largely from $4.00 to $5.00 or slightly above. Canners and cutters are draggy and slow sale at $1.50 to $3.75. Bologna bulls go from $3.25 to $4.25, with seconds largely at $5.00. Practically no good or choice stockers or feeders are coming, and common and medium grades are selling on a slow uneven market, prices ranging largely from $4.50 to $5.25.

The hog market is about steady with a week ago, range $6.50 to $7.75, bulk $7.35 to $7.65, top pigs $8.50. Lambs opened lower, best spring lambs here Monday being a good grade that brought $10.00, with top ewes at $8.50.

Merchants Wish to Handle Only Bargains Wednesday

Theif River Falls business men next Wednesday are going to dislike most intensely the handling of any article on which the price has not been cut. It is Market Day in Thief River Falls and they do not expect to sell any of the goods on which cuts in price have not been announced to any great extent before that time, but there are certain lines of goods on which any kind of shading is impossible. Many of these are necessities and these the people are asked to order on Tuesday. The storekeepers will all be busy on Wednesday looking after those who are shopping with a copy of The Times in their hands and will be greatly obliged if our own citizens will avoid bothering them with telephone calls. They ask that everything possible be bought on Tuesday—except of course such items as are advertised as specials for Market Day.

Information Bureau For Visitors at Washington

It is the wish of the President that visitors to the seat of government shall have every opportunity to get full information concerning all governmental departments. It is especially his desire that all those who come to Washington to transact business with any department or bureau of the government may be quickly advised as to the exact location and means of reaching the particular department or bureau in which may be centered the business which they may desire to transact.

For this purpose there has been established a bureau of information on the ground floor of the post office department building, located on Pennsylvania avenue at Twelfth street, which is in charge of competent people who will definitely answer queries of this character.

The public is advised of this arrangement and invited to make use of the facility.

North Dawota Crops Helped By Heavy Rain Wednesday

Danielson Brothers, Clay county farmers, will receive $4,000 damages from the Scandinavian-American bank at Fargo, according to a decision in Clay county district court yesterday. The plaintiffs were suing for $173,000 damages, claiming that they went into certain cattle raising deals on promise of the bank to supply loans, which were later withheld, causing loss to them.

The $4,000 represents one of a number of claims of this nature, the other claims being disallowed.

"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

Consider Your Clothes

HAVE you ever stopped to think of the part petroleum plays in converting raw material into the fabrics which are used to make your suit of clothes? From the wool on a sheep's back to the clothes on your back is a long journey and petroleum shortens it at every step.

By machinery lubricated with petroleum, a man may shear from 175 to 200 fleeces a day. By the old method, 50 fleeces would be considered a big day's work.

After leaving the sheep, the wool passes through ten major processes before it is ready for the tailor. Each of these require the use of intricate machinery, having bearings which run at speeds varying from 350 to 12,000 revolutions per minute.

From the clipper to the last finishing machine, a diversity of mechanical conditions exist, each of which has been studied and experimented with, and a lubricant found which meets exactly the needs of the machinery.

In solving these lubricating problems, and manufacturing oils and greases which enable these machines to perform their work, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always has been among the leaders.

Its staff of carefully trained chemists, refiners, and lubricating engineers are constantly at work, devising new and more efficient means of reducing friction.

This Company computes its success not wholly upon its balance sheets, not wholly upon the number of useful products it manufactures, but rather upon the fact that many of the useful products of petroleum are made from material which otherwise would be wasted, and are made by processes which were evolved in the Company's laboratories.

NATIONAL TRACTOR CONTEST TO BE STAGED AT FARGO, JUNE 28, 29, 30

[illegible]ow Will Be Unique in Annals of Middle Northwest—Horses and Oxen to Compete.

Scores of Tractors Entered---Cost and Efficiency Tests and Varied Character of Exhibits to Give Demonstration Marked Educational Value to City and State---Square Mile of Space Allotted---100,000 Persons May Attend.

"ALL ABOUT THE BIG SHOW"

What it is: The first National Tractor Demonstration and Contest ever held in the Middle Northwest.

Time and place: June 28, 29 and 30, 1921, at Fargo, N. D.

Purpose: To show cost and efficiency of power and horse farming.

Scope of demonstration: 100 tractors of 40 to 60 different makes, shown by an association representing 96 per cent of the tractor manufacturers of the United States; horses and oxen also to be entered, with big prizes for each.

Scope of interest: Farmers and businessmen of North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Montana and the entire Northwest.

Demonstration plat: 645 acres—better than a square mile of space for demonstration and parking; more than 60 acres for auto and vehicle parking alone.

Expected attendance: (Based on committee's previous experience with these shows)—75,000 to 100,000 guests during the three days.

Reduced fares applied for; special train service guaranteed. No charge for admission to the grounds.

Fargo Commercial Club in charge of local arrangements. Write for particulars.

Is the tractor really the efficient and logical source of power for farming purposes in the Northwest? Well, public opinion might naturally be divided about that, but——

THE NORTHWEST IS GOING TO BE SHOWN!

You see, the farmers of Minnesota, Montana and the Dakotas have horses galore—a few oxen, too, that could be utilized for a contest—and the men composing the Show and Demonstration Committee of the National Implement and Vehicle Association have something like 100 tractors they'd like to enter for such an event. Result: Plans for the biggest tractor demonstration and farm power contest ever held in the middle northwestern states. It's going to be held at Fargo, June 28, 29, 30,—three notable days of informational exhibits along agricultural lines! No admission charge will be made at the grounds.

Greatest Event of 1921.

The foregoing paragraphs but sketchily suggest the arrangements in progress for what promises to be the largest and most important farm gathering Fargo has ever been called upon to entertain; a gathering that will attract the attention of farmers and their families for hundreds of miles around. Its relative importance may be gathered from the fact that similar demonstrations held elsewhere about the country within recent years have customarily drawn an attendance of from 70,000 to 100,000 persons each. It is the first undertaking of similar magnitude ever proposed in this territory. [illegible]ern papers are featuring it this month as the greatest event the summer will produce.

What Fargo Contributes to Show.

What can be done to make such an event a success may be understood by the fact that the city of Fargo has secured and will contribute for the demonstration the use of 645 acres of ground near the city, to be used for tests and for the parking of visitors' automobiles. On this great tract scores of machines of every standard size and make are expected to show the efficiency with which they can plow and prepare the ground for seed.

Prizes for Horses and Ox Teams.

Besides these, the advocates of animal power for farm cultivation will demonstrate the feasibility of their plans; for five cash prizes aggregating $1,250 have been posted as an incentive for exhibits of this class. In addition to purses hung up for horsepower work, the Commercial club of Fargo offers $200 as a prize for the best team of oxen entered. Here is a [illegible] for any farmer in the North[illegible] to more than pay his expenses to [illegible] great show. Each contestant, by [illegible] way, must plow and prepare a plot [illegible] less than 10 acres, the work to [illegible] completed in each case by the [illegible] man and tractor or team. Farm[illegible] wishing to enter for the contests should communicate in advance with E. E. Whaley, manager of the demonstration, in care of the Fargo Commercial club.

Fine Site Chosen for Contest.

President Bartholomew, of the national committee of the tractor manufacturers in charge of the exhibition visited the scene of the proposed demonstration last week and pronounced the field to be the most ideal spot ever offered to the association for this purpose. Mr. E. E. Whaley of Springfield, Ohio, who is to manage the undertaking, arrived with him and viewed and approved the field. Mr Whaley has been actively engaged in the management of similar enterprises for a number of years and will bring to the work the ripest experience of a life-long tractor man.

More Than Mere Tractor Show.

That the event is to be more than a mere show of tractors and farm power units is a fact of no little interest to the people of the state, since it is announced that the committee has a large concession adjoining the demonstration plot, upon which there will be erected the booths of manufacturers of every kind of agricultural machinery that may be offered for display. Among other equipment definitely promised for the event is an extensive showing of road making machinery which will be exhibited in the actual work of grading, drawn both by tractors and trucks. The educational value of such an opportunity, on the whole, will readily be seen to be of advantage not only to actual farmers but to all who are interested in the success of this industry upon which all our prosperity is based.

Publicity Man States Plans.

John C. Pollock, chairman of the committee on publicity for the enterprise, has been busy preparing data relative to the demonstration, and advises that applications have been made to all railroads for reduced fares for the show. Special trains will be run where required, including a shuttle train service from Fargo to the exhibition grounds, a short distance west of town.

A particular activity explained by Mr. Pollock is that in which the proper committees have engaged to see that no excessive prices shall be charged for food, shelter and other necessities of visitors while present in the city or at the show. Auto service to and from the grounds will be operated at a reasonable rate. Pure drinking water and all necessary sanitary arrangements will be furnished free upon the grounds. Farmers' autos may be checked at the grounds, under protection, and at a very nominal fee.

Good Facilities for Camping.

Special attention is called to the advantages available to those who wish to bring their own tenting outfits and camp while visiting the demonstration. An abundance of space will be offered for the pitching of tents along Fargo's beautiful drives and riverside parks, so that the event may be made the basis for one of the pleasantest outings of the year.

FARGOANS PUSH PLANS FOR BIG TRACTOR MEET

Accommodation Charges Moderate, Is Part of Plan---Low Rail Rates Requested.

GOOD SITES FOR CAMPS

Notable Character of Show Assures That Persons Missing Opportunity Will Regret They Did Not Attend.

Are you going to be one of the crowds who will visit the big tractor and demonstration contest at Fargo on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week? If you are, you will be interested to know that nearly a hundred committeemen, representing the local and general committees of arrangements, have become exceedingly active in the preparations to make this what it is confidently promised to be—the biggest and most successful event of its kind ever "pulled off" in the Northwest. Incidentally, don't forget the dates—June 28, 29 and 30—for if you fail to meet this opportunity while it is on you are going to look back upon the fact with regret.

Accommodation Rates Moderate.

Secretary W. P. Chestnut of the Fargo Commercial club has been busy, with others, in arranging to see that no profiteering is engaged in by those who are catering to the coming crowds. Not only will rooms and meals be made available at the most reasonable rates, but farmers and their wives finding it necessary to make purchases while in town will be accorded every possible consideration that a well-organized business community can afford.

Great Opportunity for Camping.

A big feature of the event will be the opportunity it offers to automobile owners and their families to take a week's outing with camping equipment and enjoy a treat seldom excelled in this line. Fargo's parks and riverside boulevards offer abundant sites for the location of restful and pleasant camps, where meals may be prepared, and congenial groups can enjoy "all the comforts of home."

Austin Predicts Big Crowds.

John Austin, the local tractor man upon whom the chairmanship of the general arrangements committee has fallen, has been indefatigable in whipping the organization into perfect shape and seeing that no elements likely to contribute to the success of the occasion have been overlooked. Under his direction the most active business men of the city have arrayed themselves upon the various committees, which now have the arrangements well in hand. Seen by a local publicity man the other day, Mr. Austin heartily endorsed the widespread opinion of implement dealers that this meeting will draw thousands of visitors to the city from all parts of the Northwest. Farmers were never considering their machinery expenditures more carefully than now, and for every dollar invested, they will naturally want to know definitely the values they are to receive. No better opportunity can be offered in this direction, along machinery lines, than that afforded by the demonstration about to be staged at this time.

Special Rail Rates Asked.

At the time of preparing this article information had not been received regarding the allowance of reduced fares on the various lines of railroad leading into Fargo, but applications had been made to the management of all lines, and prospective visitors are requested to apply to their local station agents for information on this point. As a special accommodation for the crowds the management of the Northern Pacific railway has agreed to run trains at frequent intervals between Fargo and the demonstration grounds west of town. Auto "taxi" service will also be available to and from the grounds at moderate fares.

Don't Forget Bigness of Show.

In view of previous publicity it may be trite again to mention the extensive and interesting character of the preparations for this first great tractor and power farming contest ever held here. That between 600 and 1,000 acres are being provided; that probably 100 leading makes and sizes of farm trucks and tractors will be shown; that every class of farming machinery is open to representation and display—all these facts combine to make this event both a spectacular and educational one second to nothing else of its kind.

Some One Will Get Big Money.

A phase of the exhibit which is bound to interest foreseeing farmers is the fact that experienced men who are provided with first-class draft teams and good farming equipment can come to this meeting and find themselves in line for big cash prizes irrespective of the question of whether or not their work technically "competes" with that of the motor-drawn outfits in economy of cost. The prizes offered (five for horse-drawn equipment and one for the best work done by oxen) aggregate a total of $1,250 and are to be awarded to the winners in their respective lines alone. Men winning out in this competition stand to make anywhere from $50 to $100 apiece at small cost, besides seeing a most unusual agricultural implement show.

Tractor School Men Will Come.

Tractor school graduates, of whom there are hundreds in North Dakota and western Minnesota alone, will be liberally represented in the gathering of the "clans" intent upon seeing what the up-to-date tractor manufacturing interests now afford. The array of self-propelling power machines here shown offers a chance of a liberal education in the outward aspects of tractor lore, plus the more minute and intimate details which are always gladly explained to interested inquirers by the operators and exhibitors in charge. As a post-graduate course for tractor men, it is generally admitted that the present opportunity cannot be excelled.

Hundreds of Exhibitors Present.

No survey of the importance of the event, as a local gathering, is at all comprehensive unless it recognizes something of the size of the army of skilled tractor and implement men who will be present either in charge of or to aid in the presentation of the various exhibits. Interviews with hotel men indicate that hundreds of reservations have been arranged for by this army of workers, each of whom is planning to bring some information for the enlightenment of the public as to the merits of his particular line.

Don't forget there will be parking facilities at the demonstration grounds and abundant means for transportation to and from the grounds for those who come by train.

Before coming to the show, be sure to ask your agent about special rates.

Flowers Are Dangerous.

The odors of many familiar flowers are poisonous. The old self-colored tulips, particularly those of a deep crimson hue, have a powerful odor which is dangerous when inhaled. This odor is of saffron flavor, and affects many people in a very peculiar manner. If breathed deeply, it has the effect of producing light headedness, which continues for some time, causing the suffered to do and say all manner of remarkable and mysterious things. Its influence often lasts for an hour or two, and is followed by deep depression.

In a Gambler's Market

A clerk's error, adding three ciphers to a thousand-bushel selling order, caused wheat to fall 8¼ points on the Chicago Board of Trade last October. It didn't change the world's wheat supply by a single grain or affect actual wheat needs by so much as a crust of bread, but every farmer whose wheat was marketed that day lost money as a result.

A short time before, the market was sent tumbling by a false cablegram announcing that France had a big harvest of wheat.

When a clerical error or baseless rumor can rob the farmer of millions, some remedy MUST be found.

A practical remedy is knowledge of world markets. Accurate information on all foreign crops can be gathered and given out. This would make supply known and demand steady.

The Farm Bureaus aim to prevent costly price fluctuations by this means. They believe in the "light cure" as a remedy for distribution evils. And you can help! If you are not a Farm Bureau member, join today.

In your individual effort to contribute toward the improvement of farm conditions, you will find THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN a powerful ally. With a large staff of editors and contributors covering every corner of the land—even studying foreign markets—THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN presents each angle of our national farm problems in the most helpful and interesting way. It warns you of causes for price changes before they occur, helps you to make money, entertains and inspires you—all for just $1.00 for 52 big issues. Send a dollar bill—or your check is good!

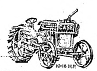
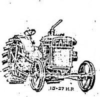
Reasons for Case Satisfactory Performance

CASE Tractor design is the result of years of constant study of farm power requirements. It is founded on farm knowledge. The universally successful performance of Case Kerosene Tractors on the most trying farm jobs is proof of their Agricultural Adaptability.

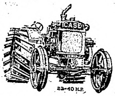


Every Case Tractor is equipped with a vertical four-cylinder, valve-in-head, kerosene-burning motor, mounted crosswise on a twist-proof frame. This design makes possible the delivery of from 65 to 70% of the motor's power at the drawbar.



Power is transmitted to the drawbar without appreciable loss by means of simple, cut steel, spur gears, enclosed and running in lubricant. The full power of the motor is available for belt work because the pulley is mounted directly on the crank shaft.

The Case Patented Air Washer removes all particles of grit from the air before it is drawn into the cylinders with the fuel. This is protection against undue wear of cylinders, pistons and piston rings and insures a clean, moist fuel mixture that is highly explosive.



These features are typical of Case design. The best of engineering skill and knowledge, combined with comprehensive farm knowledge, backed by modern manufacturing methods—this is the foundation upon which Case tractors are built. Made in sizes to fit every farm need, they are everywhere sustaining their reputation of being distinctly practical farm tractors.

"Passion" a Great Picture; Some Approve, Others Not

Perhaps the most widely discussed moving picture that has been shown in Thief River Falls is "Passion," in which Pola Negri starred on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings. It is a fairly accurate portrayal of the historical incidents in the career of the famous Madam DuBarry of the French court and the lesson it seeks to convey is the old one that it pays better in the end for a girl not to make too great a sacrifice in order to gain temporarily a place which causes only the very foolish to envy. The photography in the picture is the best that has been seen here for some time, the cast is well balanced and convincing and the whole really a work of rare merit. It is not a Sunday school picture, but on the other hand there are no disgusting features. Manager Brumund secured the picture upon the recommendation of theatre men in every section of the country and deserves credit for taking a chance with such a costly production. He has others in store, some of them now being tried out under the most severe tests and under the supervision of the most merciless critics in the moving picture world. If they pass and are accepted Mr. Brumund has been assured that his treatres will be placed among the bookings at the earliest opportunity.

Col. Leach Elected.

Col. George E. Leach, late commander of the 151st Field Artillery in France, was on Monday elected mayor of Minneapolis by a majority of 13,000 of Thomas Van Lear, socialist candidate. The campaign was one of the most bitter in the history of Minneapolis.

MARKET DAY SPECIAL

Supplement to The Thief River Falls Times, Thursday, June 16, 1921

FIRST GUN IN MAMMOTH CAMPAIGN TO ESTABLISH THIEF RIVER FALLS AS NORTHWEST'S TRADING CENTER

Special Market Days With Entertaining Attractions Will Be Held in Thief River Falls on Fourth Wednesday of Each Month.

The objective of the Thief River Falls Merchants Association Market Day campaign has not as its motive engaging in competition with the rural retailers, and most emphatically is conducive of the home idea in purchasing, for they realize that when city merchants go after the rural home trade they are inclined to ignore absolutely the rural situation. They don't give a hang if they get in bad with the small town merchant and they risk his enmity and thereby lose the entire value of their campaign of community building.

Such a campaign may work out for one year but it will eventually prove detrimental to the community trying to put it across. It's next year the Merchants Association of Thief River Falls has in mind, and the year after that, and the years that are to follow.

It is a well-known trade fact that purchasers, by force of habit and through a mistaken belief, do to a certain extent look upon distant markets as being something of a superior nature. Just as distant pastures appear greenest but in effect are often more barren than home fields, so is the open market. And it is with the idea of using the home market first and the nearest home market when one cannot be supplied in his ordinary field of trade that this campaign is launched.

The Chicagoan feels that goods purchased in New York must be superior to those found at home, and as a matter of fact he usually purchases Chicago goods in New York. The Twin City shopper thinks that surely Chicago goods must have it over home products and therefore spends time and money to purchase goods originating in St. Paul or Minneapolis. Such is the case all down the line, when, as a matter of fact, if the purchaser would comb the home market first and BUY AT HOME and carry out the idea all the way down the line, communities would be more prosperous, the people more contented and the spirit of unrest would be a thing of the past.

In the operation of this system all markets would receive the patronage that they deserve. If the home market was not alive and up-to-the-minute, the trend of business would move to the next nearest home market and the aim of modern business would be to establish a most attractive home market to deserve the patronage of the public.

In the evolution of home trading it is a recognized fact that the rural merchant is unable to keep up his stock to such a capacity as will fill all the wants of his customers and all of the residents of his community, and it is therefore necessary that they seek the next most advantageous market. This market should be made by its merchants advantageous and attractive to the purchaser. Unless this is done the home merchant cannot expect the patronage he would otherwise be in a position to demand.

Thief River Falls merchants believe they have put themselves in such a position as to warrant your patronage and that before you go into distant, greener-appearing pastures, you inspect the local market. Also that when you require a distant market, you offer to your nearest home market an opportunity to serve. You will be surprised how well your wants can be taken care of in your own community.

We also believe that in the event that our local markets fail to serve the most discriminating buyers, that the opportunity be given to our nearest grown-up neighbors. You will find that the greenest and most desirable pastures for grazing in the fields of modern merchandise will be found oftentimes at your very back door.

FREE AUCTION SALE SCHEDULED TO BE HELD IN THE MORNING AS ONE OF DAYS LEADING EVENTS

Any Articles May Be Listed by Individuals and They Will Be Sold at This Big Sale Free of Charge To All Participating.

Sales will not only be made by merchants on Market Day but a public auction sale has been planned and a highly efficient auctioneer secured. Market Day visitors from the country are invited to bring anything from a threshing rig to a baby carriage, out of service, and the genial sheriff of Pennington county will impress the virtues of the article upon the patrons of the sale. Exchanges of benefit to those participating will be the order of the hour.

The free auction sale is limited to visitors from the country and individuals in the city who have articles to offer for sale, but no person engaged in business will be permitted to offer articles for sale, this event being staged for the exclusive benefit of Market Day patrons.

If you have some article of value lurking around the place that has lost its desirability in your eyes, it may be just the thing your neighbor needs. Bring it along and assist in carrying out the spirit of the day—the exchange of commodities to the mutual benefit of all concerned.

The sale will take place on the corner of Fourth street and LaBree avenue, immediately in the rear of Hall Brothers' hardware store, and will commence at 10 o'clock a. m. All entries for sale must be made with the representatives of the First National bank, which institution has gratuitously offered its services in clerking the sale.

All sales will be for cash. Arrangements will have to be made by the individual purchasers with their bank for credit service in connection with the free auction sale, and representatives of all banks in the county are requested to be present at the sale for the purpose of handling such transactions as are arranged for by their patrons.

It is hoped that full advantage of this first sale will be taken by the public and that the free auction sales of future Market Days will be developed to such a point that they will be of great value to the Market Day visitors. The Merchants Association will do everything in its power to make these free auction sales a real benefit to the community.

Visitors are requested not to bring useless articles but to offer for sale only such articles as are of value to one requiring their use.

It is hoped to develop the market sale idea to the point of arranging an exchange of farm products between the growers and the merchants and the growers and the public, which will work out to the mutual advantage of the grower, the merchant and the buyer. The Market Day committee is now planning along that line.

Contrary to common belief the handling of fruits and vegetables is not profitable to the retailer and he would be the first one to welcome a medium of exchange of such products direct from producer to consumer.

THE TRUTH IN ADVERTISING.

That advertising pays the advertiser is evidenced by the fact that each year brings forth greater effort on his part. That it pays the buying public is even more evident. Careful buyers follow advertising very closely and make their purchases at such times as special bargains are offered. If the public were not the gainer in advertised sales they would not be continued as they would not pay the advertiser.

To be in a position to advertise, the merchant must have a commodity that is desired by the public. He must have the styles and colors and designs demanded and must present them in such a manner that they will prove attractive and create a desire on the part of the buying public to become the owner of the article advertised.

After creating the desire on the part of the purchaser the advertiser must offer his commodity at such a price that the buyer will be pleased to pay what the advertiser asks for the article offered for sale. But the most essential element in advertising is an expression of the old honored virtue, TRUTH, and for advertising to be successful for advertiser as well as purchaser, that doctrine must be fully complied with in every element in the makeup of a sale of any commodity, from a battleship to a paper of pins.

The purchase by the mercantile buyer of marketable goods is highly important. The proper display of the goods to the public through the newspaper—the right arm of the advertiser—the whole TRUTH must be told in each instance to make advertising really pay. It is money thrown away by the advertiser and time lost by the purchaser if that law of advertising is not carried out, and both are the loser.

That the TRUTH shall be told in the Merchants Association Market Day campaign is assured by the fact that a censor committee will investigate every advertisement placed in this supplement before it is presented to the printer in order that the buying public may be protected. Every statement in this supplement will be backed up by the Merchants Association.

ROUND ROBIN SALE NEW FEATURE OF LOCAL MERCHANTS

Business Men Going to Pay Visitors to Come Into Stores and Get Acquainted.

"The Latch String" Published Elsewhere in This Section Gives Complete Details.

Although the Latch String of Thief River Falls is always out to her neighbors of Northwestern Minnesota, the merchants participating in this "Let's Get Acquainted" campaign, through the Round Robin Sale, desire by special inducement to convince the buying public of this great section that Theif River Falls is the logical trade center of the northwestern part of the state.

To accomplish this we want you to visit our stores—not for the purpose of purchasing our goods only—but to become acquainted with us as individuals. We feel that when you have become acquainted with our places of business and realize the merchandising opportunities that our city, stores and places of business offer you will come often, and we are confident that an inspection by you of our goods, with the varied range of styles and patterns to select from, offered at attractive prices, will convince you that your future trading point should be Thief River Falls.

We want to get acquainted with you personally, to meet you, shake hands with you, and you will find that we are regular fellows like yourselves. If you like our style and desire to favor us with your future patronage you will find us ever on the alert to serve you in every capacity known to modern merchandising.

We are going to shoot square with you and tell you just why we are willing to sell you TWENTY POUNDS OF SUGAR FOR ONE DOLLAR. We believe that Thief River Falls is the real trade center of Northwestern Minnesota, both in wholesale and retail lines, for the supplying of those articles and lines not regularly carried by the home merchant, and—thoroughly thus—we believe in patronizing the home merchant and that is the reason for this campaign. We are your home merchant when your wants cannot be satisfied in your own locality.

To get down to the meat of this idea: We want to prove to you that you do not have to go into any larger trade centers to secure the best of modern merchandise, sold by modern merchants and at modern prices.

Believing as we do we have arranged a novel "Get Acquainted" plan in our ROUND ROBIN SUGAR SALE, the rules of which will be found on the "Latch String" page in this issue.

Now, honestly, weren't you surprised at the smart becomingness of that bit of neckear that Mrs. Harris had on the other day? And it might have been picked from this special collection of vestees, guimpes and collars, especially prices for Market Day distribution by Thief River Falls merchants.

BUSINESS HOUSES PRESENT SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS

Biggest Bargains of the Season Are Offered by Merchants as First Market Day Specials.

New Stocks of Merchandise Marked at Readjustment Period Prices Will Be on Display.

To find a large number of merchants in a community hoping that things will so shape themselves that they will lose a lot of money is, to say the least, rather unusual. This, however, is exactly what the merchants of Thief River Falls hope to accomplish on Market Day—June 22. In fact the success of the entire Market Day enterprise will to a large degree be determined by the amount of their losses. Unless they are out of pocket on the proposition they will be greatly disappointed.

In looking over the Market Day specials advertised exclusively in The Times this week, the reader cannot help but be convinced that this is no ordinary price-reduction campaign. The slashing is so general and so deep that nothing like it has ever before been known in this section. Every line of business is represented and practically every store and merchandising place in the city is involved. There is an avalanche of bargains such as has never before been seen in this or any other community.

Big Loss on Sugar Alone.

Take alone the offer of 20 pounds of sugar for one dollar and stop to think what this loss will amount to when divided among the nine merchants who are footing the bill on this particular item. It should be remembered that the difference in the sale price and buying price is not all that must be taken into consideration. There is the work of weighing and sacking up ten tons of sugar, dividing it into 20-pound packages. This work must all be done beforehand as the rush on Market Day will be so great that there will be time for nothing except handing the sugar out and collecting the one dollar. There are also sacks, string and a day's general overhead charge to be set against this one undertaking.

Another Example.

Then there is the offering of the Larson Furniture company. This is not mentioned here for the purpose of giving the advertisement undue prominence but is picked out because it happens to be the only furniture advertisement in the lot. Not only are the discounts unusual, but all goods purchased by parties residing outside of town will be crated for shipment free of charge and the freight will be paid on them to the home station of the purchaser. The other offers are similarly attractive and unless all are read carefully the shopper is liable to miss an opportunity of saving considerable money. It should be borne in mind that the items quoted in the advertisements are in most instances not the only ones on which reductions will be made on this day, the knife having very generally been applied to everything in the stores.

Make it a Holiday.

There will be enough attractions of different kinds in the city on the 22nd to make it advisable for all the neighbors to come early and stay to the end. One feature that is creating considerable interest is the free auction at which anyone can offer for sale any article they may wish to convert into cash and buy something else of which they may stand more greatly in need.

It will be a wonderful day for the ultimate consumer. He has been waiting for things to change somewhat in his favor for a long time. Now that the day has arrived it will be interesting to note just to what extent he takes advantage of the situation. The business men will meet him more than half way.

THE WHYS AND WHEREFORES OF SALES.

To others than close students of "sales" the reason for the offering of merchandise at prices below the ordinary market is often misunderstood and often disbelieved. Many times you hear it expressed that a sale is the "marking up" and then the "marking down" of articles to fool the public. Such efforts are of no benefit to the merchant and one who practices such methods does not remain long in business. He soon loses the confidence of the buying public.

The secret of all business success, whether it be on the farm, in the factory or in the mercantile field, is quantity production on the farm and in the factory, and quantity of output in the mercantile field. The merchant who can turn over three times the volume of the other fellow with the same overhead will be returned the winner. Therefore every dollar's worth of business gained through advertising that would not come to the merchant in the ordinary channels of business, increases his earnings at the end of the year. That is the reason he can afford to advertise and why he can afford to sell at a lower price and offer attractive prices which will make the transaction profitable to the customer as well as to the storekeeper. Close buyers are very keen to keep informed as to those who follow this plan and they are the ones who pick off the real bargains.

Finance problems affect the merchant just as they do the farmer, the factory owner and other activities, and, just as the farmer is often compelled to sell his products below the normal market price to obtain funds, the manufacturer is compelled to dispose of his product to the retailer at a lower figure. The retailer in turn is often compelled to to offer his merchandise at such prices as will bring him funds, regardless of profits, and the assisting agency of all these persons is advertising.

FASTEST BASEBALL TEAMS IN NORTHWESTERN MINNESOTA WILL BATTLE FOR HONORS ON DIAMOND

Thief River Falls and Argyle Semi-Professional Teams Have Been Selected For Special Market Day Attraction At Fair Grounds.

Everyone will have the opportunity to witness a fast ball game between Argyle and Thief River Falls next Wednesday. The game will be played at the Fair grounds and will be called at 3 o'clock.

The Argyle team is composed largely of salaried players and the local outfit is expecting a real battle. The Argyle outfit has been playing all of the fastest teams in this part of the state as well as a number from eastern North Dakota and has won a large percentage of the games.

The local team has in its line up some of the fastest men in the Northwest, including Pete Morse, who was with the St. Louis Cardinals one year and with Seattle in the Coast league for four years. Len Schroeder, who managed the Little Falls team last year, is holding down first base and taking his turn in the box. Schroeder played with Columbus in the American Association for two years and was with Cincinnati in the National league one year. He is conceded to be the fastest first baseman playing semi-professional ball in the Northwest. Federolf, who is the pitching mainstay of the locals, will very likely do the slab work in this game. He has been pitching great ball all season. In the two games which he pitched against Warren he allowed but four hits in each game.

The local team has played eight games, winning six and losing two, one of these being a ten-inning game at Fertile, which they lost by the score of 3 to 4.

This game promises to be worth coming a long distance to see and the local merchants feel they have secured an attraction which will please the Market Day crowd.

DAYS WHEN EVERYTHING IS GROWING SO FINELY—

The rich soil, the right seed, the gracious rains and the kind, helpful hands, bring splendid growth.

But something else is growing, too, these days.

Not the least of all great necessaries—

The expanding Dollar!

This year's Dollars are giants compared with those of last year and the year before. So much bigger in buying power that one can scarcely believe it until the actual proof is seen.

Come to Thief River Falls, Market Day, June 22, and measure the bigness of the dollars this season.

A JUNE RAINBOW OF SILKS FOLLOWS STORM AMONG THE PRICES.

All the clouds that preceded this June happening were by reason of lost profits and those of the makers who had to cut the prices.

There was a gracious rainfall of reductions and there has been a wonderful windfall of happy bargains in all the rich tissues of which summer's silken frocks are to be made.

The lustrous taffetas, the soft crepes, the clinging satins the plain colored silks, the exquisitely figured silks, the smart striped silks—every stylish and highly desired sort is included in this unusual offering.

What a pleasure to pick out exactly the kinds you want, and then pay so much less than silks have been before, in many a moon.

Come early and get the best of the occasion.

ALL LEATHER HEELS STRONG.

At this stage of the fall style development nothing stands out prominently as an indication of what may eventually grow into the leader. Straps are prominently featured, although two or three of the manufacturers feel that the strap models will simmer down to a one strap shoe fastening with a button. Buckles appear to be passing out. Toes are slightly rounder, vamps a bit shorter and heels slightly lower. One manufacturer predicts that full Louis heels for the fall season will measure, at the maximum, two inches over all. In the matter of heels, the all leather Cuban and military heels are coming in stronger, in the opinion of some of the leading makers.

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE.

When someone stops advertising, someone stops buying;
When someone stops buying, someone stops selling;
When someone stops selling, someone stops making;
When someone stops making, someone stops earning;
When somebody stops earning, everybody stops buying.

A NEW SATISFACTION.

There's a new satisfaction:
In storekeeping for us—
In shopping for you.
The days of uncertainty have passed by.
The days of confidence are here again.

For years prices were unsettled, so that one never knew today what prices would be tomorrow. No injury was done so long as we were sure that prices would always be higher the next time, but it was most perplexing for us and for you when we had to worry each time we went to buy goods as to how soon prices would go down and we would have paid too much for the goods.

Now we have reached the happy time when PRICES ARE STABLE AGAIN. We, as merchants, may now buy goods on the market with considerable assurance that there will be no immediate or large reductions from the prices we have paid. So also you, when you come to the store to buy things, may have perfect assurance that prices will not be lower in a few days—except, as is always the case in storkeeping—must always be the case—that prices will be cut on odd lots that are being cleared out of stock, for good merchandising reasons.

Right now we are BACK TO NORMALCY. Prices are reasonable and fair on practically all lines of goods, and right now, in our stores, many special offerings are being made, at prices much lower than they will be when a new season opens and regular prices must be paid again.

That is the kind of storekeeping that Thief River Falls merchants like—the kind that will be so much greater satisfaction to you, every time you have goods to buy—and especially right now. Come and see.

A CARNIVAL OF RIBBONS!

It seems as though every summer frock were to be made a foundation on which to drape glorious ribbons—for rich ribbons are all the rage—here as they are in Paris.

The rarest gowns must be adorned with a radiant ribbon sash that glorifies the wearer's waist and then falls in colorful cascades to the bottom of her skirt, or far below.

So the main feature of the ribbon event is the assemblage of sash ribbons, of every tone and hue, of every texture and figuring—purchased just as the season closed for the makers, and just as it is beginning for you.

Many of the low prices are quite startling, and many of the lots are in small quantities that you'll want to look through promptly.

Of course, all other kinds of ribbons are here as well—for millinery, for lingerie, for baby's garments, and all decorative purposes—all at special prices, too.

Perhaps it's your little girl who is so eager for a new "dress-up" frock? Just the nicest kinds will be found in attractive Market Day offerings. To see is to believe. Convince yourself.

MORE FARM BUILDINGS AND BETTER ONES.

A good farm is worth good buildings.

Any farm is good that provides a living for the family.

Comfortable buildings help to make a poor farm good and a good farm better.

Even the land that has been ruined and "turned out to the Lord" may be brought back to life by the aid of live stock; but first you must have buildings and fences to make the live stock comfortable.

Each farm is shy a building or two and most farms need more fencing. Fences for range, health and pasture, barns and stables for storage and winter feeding.

Economy in business often means spending money for necessary improvements.

If animals require all their feed to keep them alive and warm, then the grain is being burned for fuel, while the animals are marking time. Time may not be much of an object to the animal but it is to the owner.

The strongest argument in favor of good buildings on a farm is a visit to a well managed stock farm.

Good buildings convert scrub animals into grades. The grades soon give way to pure breds. Pure bred stock is the surest sign of farm prosperity.

We don't really own our land until we have it all fenced. We don't really own our own live stock until we have proper building to house them.

Saving the waste makes the profit. A farm barn is a farm factory. Waste material is a by-product in disguise. What was formerly waste is now worked into saleable merchandise.

Farm buildings are farm factories. The soil produces the raw materials which are taken to the farm shops and made into high-priced butter, beef, mutton and pork.

By means of farm buildings, we are enabled to sell our corn for $2 a bushel by shipping it in pig skins.

Formerly beef cattle were raised on the open range. It required three or four years to produce a beef steer because they were left out in the cold to hustle for themselves all winter. The grass was partly covered with snow and occasionally the water was frozen so the animals could neither eat nor drink for days at a time. Mortality among range cattle often reached such figures as 50 per cent, and the ones to survive the winter were lighter in the spring than they were in the fall.

In a warm stable we can coax a baby beef to weigh a thousand pounds before it is a year old.

A farm with poor buildings is at the mercy and caprice of speculators. Grain must be threshed and marketed, regardless of the season.

Before the time of good farm buildings, grain sold for little money and a great deal of it was wasted between the field and the cash returns. Increase in the value of live stock has changed the whole farming business. When corn is cheap, instead of feeding it into a heating stove, farmers feed it to cattle and hogs. A good live-stock farm is a busy place. It furnishes something of interest every hour of the day. The live-stock population on a well-managed farm increases each year. The increase demands greater accommodation, so that we must repair the old buildings and we must build new ones.

This is just the same as manufacturing in other lines; no man can remain stationary, and prosper. Factories of all kinds must throw out good machinery that is little the worse for wear, because new processes have been invented and the manufacturer is obliged to keep up with the times. The farmer is no exception.

GRAY SUEDE FOOTWEAR.

Gray suede is extensively adopted for street wear. Black patent leather mules or strap slipper styles are worn to some extent, invariably with silk stockings in gray or tan. Bronze shoes with perforations underlaid with bright figures to some extent for street wear.

Two-color effects, also black stitched or trimmed with a color, are prominent. Black and scarlet, black and purple and black and royal blue are among the favored combinations. Many of the black patent leather strap slippers have colored heels.

Evening slippers are in plain-colored metal cloth, metal brocaded silks, or plain black or colored satin. The satin slippers usually have jeweled heels.

STYLE FORECAST FOR FALL.

As to women's styles for fall, it looks to some merchants as though Colonials would be very popular, perhaps, with the fun tan tongue, and these tongues will undoubtedly be ornamented with a buckle. Some say that there will be much black leather sold—in kid and patent, or calf, and the oxford is predicted as a popular seller.

"At the present time," said Mrs. Florence Durney of Hagan's, "many people are calling for the oxford in gun metal and tan, also some patent leather. There is a slight indication that bronze leather will be popular. We have a number of calls for bronze in the fancy strap effects. Bronze Colonials with beaded tongues are quite the smartest thing. The strap fun tan tongues with their inlays of a darker color have had a good call. We have sold more buckles the past week, in bead effects principally, than for some time past. Oxfords with Cuban heels, medium vamp, and plain toe caps in black are popular—also perfectly plain tan calf oxfords. A tony red calf oxford in a woman's shoe with a bell strap, fleur de lis tip and military heel is a new number. It has a round toe. I believe that round toes are coming in to stay."

STEAM PRESSURE COOKERY.

The domestic kitchen has gone to school to the factory and cooking with steam is becoming a general practice in many households. Tough meat may no longer increase the fuel bill in cooking, tax the patience of father in carving or the teeth of the family in eating. Dinner of meat, vegetables and dessert may be placed in a Steam Pressure Cooker at 11:30 a. m. and appear on the dining table thoroughly cooked, nutritious and tasty at 12 o'clock sharp. This justifies the use of the phrase, "An entire meal prepared in 30 minutes."

How does it happen? The explanation is simple enough, because the cooking is done in a steam-tight vessel. Whenever steam is not allowed to escape as it forms, it creates pressure and this pressure raises the temperature. This means that food can be made much hotter in a Steam Pressure Cooker than in an ordinary kettle with a loose-fitting lid. There is no burning nor scorching of food. When the temperature rises the time required for cooking is shortened. For example dry beans which require nearly three hours of boiling in an ordinary pot may be thoroughly cooked in 40 minutes in a Steam Pressure Cooker.

This means not only a great saving of fuel, but a wonderful saving of time as well, since it is not necessary to "watch the pot" and no stirring or replenishing of liquid is necessary as with long cooking in an open kettle. The heat necessary to make steam for cooking is obtained by placing the Cooker over a gas, kerosene or electric burner or on a wood or coal range.

Steam pressure for cooking food was first used by the fish packers about 30 years ago. Later it was adopted by the meat packers for putting up various by-products in their establishments and by commercial fruit and vegetable packers.

In 1907 small Steam Pressure Retorts made of steel began to be sold to farmers and orchardists for home canning and from this small beginning has developed the home usage of Steam Pressure Cookery. A few years ago when aluminum first made its appearance for common dishware, the manufacturers of domestic canning machinery saw their opportunity to place on the market a convenient, light weight and steam-tight kettle which, when adequately protected from explosion and accidents, would be available for use in every home. This in short is a brief history of the development of the Steam Pressure Cooker.

The manufacturers maintain that it has a mission to every home where well cooked vegetables and tender meat are desired. Certain it is, that tough meats are unknown in the households where Steam Pressure Cookery is used.

So popular has this method of Cookery become that it is included in the regular domestic science course at Columbia University, New York City, and in all the domestic science departments of our state universities throughout the country. The popular women's magazines have also taken it up because of its daily availability and because, as it was expressed by one of the readers, "the poorer we are the more we need it." There is little doubt that it will rival in demand other well known household utilities.

Outlining the real service offered to housekeepers in the daily use of the Steam Pressure Cooker, the following comparative cooking time table will prove interesting. The first figure shows the number of minutes required by ordinary methods, while the second gives the time consumed in the same task by the Steam Pressure Cooker:

Potatoes, 30, 10; cabbage, 40, 10; string beans, 50, 15; oatmeal, 90, 30; chicken, 90, 30; pot roast, 120, 50; pork and beans, 180, 40; ham, 240, 50.

Few cooks will believe an open dish of veal stew with onions, another of creamed carrots or cabbage and the third containing a milk pudding can all be cooked in a Steam Pressure Cooker at the same time without the flavors blending in any way. It is true, nevertheless.

For this up-to-the-minute system of cookery there must be national advertising in order to make it known to the housekeepers in America. In these times of shrinking pocket books, while gas bills and taxes have the swelling habit, any system of cookery which will reduce food and fuel bills while making all meat tender and the humble potato a mealy ball of flakiness has certainly earned the right-hand of fellowship.

CREDIT—ITS USE AND ABUSE.

That CREDIT is the MAIN ARTERY of commerce is recognized by the greatest students of mercantile affairs. And the proper use of credit is not only the artery of commerce, but the very heart of everyday business. However, the abuse of credit has the same effect in the business world as the abuse of one's veins and heart in the physical body.

Credit is based on the fact that 95 per cent of the people are honest, they find it convenient to purchase commodities on credit and pay for them at the end of the month, and in some instances where arrangements are made therefore in advance, to cover definite and longer periods of time. But the use of credit is always based on a definite credit arrangement made in advance of the transaction and settlment is agreed. No relationship in the exchange of merchandise can be termed credit that does not carry out these principles. Any other happenstance is fraud on the part of the purchaser on credit.

When making a banking transaction of credit, security is always given, whether it be tangible securities or the reputation of the borrower. So also in merchandise transactions the buyer puts up as security his reputation—and that collateral is the most precious of all, as once it is lost it is the hardest to regain.

The abuses of credit, although practiced by but a few, are many, and 95 per cent of the business failures are caused by the abuse of credit both by the merchant and by the customer. A thorough understanding on the part of both the merchant and the customer of the underlying principles of credit is the clearing up of the greatest difficulty experienced in modern trade.

The problem of retail credit is simple when analyzed. Commencing with the fact that each head of a family is directly responsible for its support and that this duty cannot be shifted to the merchants of a community, the buyer is brought to realize that it is his duty to pay for the goods furnished his home and family and that that burden is never to be shifted to the dealer in the various commodities that sustain human life.

Goods are furnished by the dealers and charged to the purchaser as a matter of convenience to the buyer, in that his needs often precede his income by a period of time, but the settlement should be made by the purchaser with the same degree of promptness as the service rendered by the merchant in serving the commodity to the purchaser.

It is not dishonesty that creates the greatest of credit abuses, but a succession of delays in settlement. These have their effect all down the line, from the individual to the manufacturer, and disrupt modern business, bring hard times to a community and eventually loses to it the value of the proper use of modern credit system.

The Spirit of Co-operation

Life must not be ordered by the competition of individuals in which each seeks his own interest whatever may be the cost to his neighbor.

True competition is that striving which raises the level of life for us all, while the true spirit of life is found in the mutuality of helpful service in which each recognizes the rights and privileges of his brother, friend and neighbor.

Not alone in commercial activity does the law of mutual service obtain. It must be the inspiration of home life, of friendship, of business, and of tolerance toward the stranger.

Once we comprehend this application of the true nature of co-operation we shall thenceforth live and have our being with one another in the spirit of that bond which proclaimed: All for one and one for all. And this is but another way of saying:

LOVE THY NEIGHBOR AS THYSELF.

FARMING, A PROFESSION.

Time was when the brainiest boys were urged to enter the so-called "professions." If Frank and Jim were bright boys in school, and John was rather slow, the smarties were sent to college, and John was assigned to the farm. There has been a change lately, and people generally, have waked up to the fact that a good farmer needs a better education than anyone else.

Farming is a life-long study, and so far farmers have been handicapped because it is difficult to get at the really fundamental principles, or the "why" of doing things.

A doctor or lawyer, to be successful, should confine his efforts to one branch of the medical or law profession; but this will not work in farming. Diversified farming is the only kind of farming that has ever proven successful. Now, it is so arranged that a farmer may specialize in one branch, dairying for instance, but he must know how to treat the soil in order to grow the right kind of crops and in sufficient quantities to make his dairy a paying proposition.

A farmer must be familiar with the types and breeds of domestic animals, sufficient at least to recognize their principal points of merit. He must know how milk is manufactured in the cow's udder in order to mix feeding rations to produce the best results. He must understand silos. He must know how to train a colt. He must be good enough mechanic to keep his buildings in repair and know when he needs new ones. He must be a veterinarian, a civil engineer and a soil expert, so far as his own soil and conditions are concerned. He must know a whole lot of things besides these in order to make a success of his profession. And to be a good citizen he must do everything in his power to better the town and community.

SHOWERS OF RICH SILVER FOR THE CHARMING BRIDE.

Those glorious days of expectancy before the wedding are richly filled with glad anticipations. And all the world smiles upon the bride and endows her with whole-hearted goodwill, because all have either sweet hopes or sacred memories of the bridal day.

As The Day draws near, the prospective bride sees a fascinating picture of "silver pieces piled high"—the riches that she herself shall own and with which she shall adorn the new home.

There are "practical gifts" to be sure; but what bride thinks of the things that future days may bring when her eyes and heart are filled with that picture of the rich pieces of silver on which her high hopes are set?

By all means, silver for the bride, if you would make her supremely happy with the gifts you send.

BATHING SUITS FOR BEACH OR PLUNGE.

"Suit" is an outworn word for beach apparel, for neither miss nor madam wears a suit any more. The habiliments of the bathing hour are now quite as modish and beautiful as many an afternoon frock.

Nowhere is style more marked, or clever attractiveness of line and color more carefully planned than for the garments that are worn to or into the water on vacation days at the shore.

Our merchants have assembled here all the most effective styles in women's bathing dresses and surf suits, and should like to have you see them soon.

When father keeps one umbrella at the office and takes another one when it rains, how can Charlie get to school without leaving mother helpless to go to market?

FIRST MARKET DAY ATTRACTS RECORD CROWDS

Most Successful Sales Event Ever Held in This Section of the State.

Twenty Thousand Pounds of Sugar Sold at Rate of 20 lbs. For One Dollar.

Business Houses Crowded By Shoppers Throughout the Entire Day.

The Market Day sales event conducted by the business men yesterday was a hugh success and the most remarkable undertaking ever staged by the merchants of any city in this section of the state. Thousands of people, eager to take advantage of the many inducements offered, thronged the stores throughout the entire day.

Ten Tons of Sugar Distributed.

The big feature of the day was the selling of twenty pounds of sugar for one dollar. In order to get this it was necessary to secure a card from any one of the nine business houses co-operating in the undertaking and then secure the signatures on the card of the other eight merchants. With the card properly signed the holder took it to the Simonson grocery store where they received the twenty pounds of sugar for one dollar. There was no strings attached to the offer, it not being necessary to make any purchase at any of the nine stores. The idea was to "get acquainted" and as a result of the unusual offer over one thousand people made the rounds of the nine stores and secured their twenty pounds of sugar. The procession started early in the morning and from then until 6:30 a continuous stream of sugar poured out of the Simonson store.

L. W. Knadle Wins $25 Prize.

Every person making a purchase at any of the business houses and requesting it was given a coupon with their name and address written on it. This was deposited in a box at the First and Peoples State bank and at 5:30 a drawing was conducted at the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue. Five coupons were drawn from the box and the person whose name appeared on the fifth one received a cash prize of $25 if present at the time. L. W. Knadle, residing on a farm east of the city, was the lucky man in this event and went home $25 to the good.

Included in the crowds that thronged the stores were hundreds of people who had come many miles to take advantage of the bargains offered and all were enthusiastic in their praise of the local business houses and the manner in which everything was carried out just as advertised. The undertaking was the first of a series of similar events to establish Thief River Falls as the trading center of Northwestern Minnesota. It had been advertised on a very extensive scale in every direction within a radius of one hundred miles of the city. The fourth Wednesday of each month for the next six months has been selected as the day for these events and it is the aim of the business men to make each event a little more attractive than the preceding one. The next date comes on July 27th and plans are already under way to make it a bamer event.

FINE CONCERT BY ST. OLAF SINGERS

Large Audience Here Adds Plaudits to Those Already Received in Other Sections.

Hundreds of people came long distances to hear the famous St. Olaf College choir on Tuesday evening, expecting something out of the ordinary, but it is doubtful if anyone foresaw the really wonderful song performance to which they were to be treated. The singing was so far different from anything ever heard in this city before that there is nothing with which it may be compared.

Without accompaniment of any kind and without a moments hesitation in giving pitch or starting point, the choir bursts into the most intricate music with a spirit that communicates itself to the audience and shows what can be accomplished in the rendition of church music when placed in master hands. Conductor F. Melius Christiansen leads his organization with the utmost assurance into the most involved passages and they never fail him. At times the tones are those of a massive pipe organ, again dwindling in volume to a point scarcely audible, but maintaining at every stage a poise of indescribable symetry and beauty.

Perhaps as a compliment to the composer, the audience gave its most liberal applause to "A Christmas Song," written by Mr. Christiansen, although this was by no means the most important part of the program, which included Bach's "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us," Schreck's "Truth Eternal," and "Motet For Advent Season," Tschesnokoff's "Bless the Lord," "Agnus Dei" by Kalinnikof, "Built on a Rock" by Lindeman, Ebeling's "All My Heart."

The program was composed of religious works entirely and these were [illegible] spirit of reverent conviction [illegible] med in keeping with the nature of the institution from which these young people hail.

Mr. Christiansen and his choir made a distinct impression upon the large audience among whom were many who no doubt felt that an evening devoted entirely to church music might prove somewhat tiresome. That such was not the case is evidenced by the fact that to most of those present the concert was all too short.

Farm Bureau Meetings.

Township Farm bureau unit meetings will be held at the following places this week: Star, District 59 on Thursday at 3 o'clock p. m., to discuss the eradication of grasshoppers in that section which threaten to be a serious pest if not taken care of very soon. The farmers in that locality will be shown how to make and mix the mixtures and how to apply it on the fields so as to give the best results. This work is very important as the "hoppers" have seriously damaged a field in a few days time if not poisoned.

A meeting will be held in Smiley township Saturday evening at 8 o'clock p. m., in the Lewis Nelson school house. It is expected that a large crowd will be present.

The Rocksbury township unit will hold their regular monthly meeting in Valhall hall July 2nd, at 8 o'clock p. m.

HEARING IN MURDER CONTINUED UNTIL TUESDAY, JUNE 28

William Gummer, Under Arrest on Charge of Killing Grygla Girl Has Hearing.

The scheduled preliminary examination in the case of the state against William Gummer, night clerk at the Prescott hotel, charged with the murder of Miss Marie Wick of Grygla, Tuesday, June 7, was on Tuesday continued until 10 a. m., Tuesday, June 28.

The motion for continuance was made by William C. Green, state's attorney, and was not opposed by counsel for defendant, who is represented by Judge W. H. Barnett and Clair F. Brickner. It was also announced in court that Judge H. W. Swanson of Devils Lake would be associated with the defense.

Upon the filing of the stipulation between counsel for prosecution and defense it was announced that the preliminary examination will be held in the Cass county courthouse. The scheduled hearing was to have been in the offices of Justice Bingham, but rather than have the prisoner taken through the streets of the city, and lack of space in the justice's office, it was deemed more convenient to call the hearing in the district court room.

More than 250 spectators jammed the court room, taking possession of the place fully 30 minutes before the prisoner was brought into court by Sheriff Fred Kraemer.

There was craning of necks and general rising in seats as the crowd sought to view the prisoner, it being his first appearance in public since he was arrested by the state authorities at 2 p. m. last Wednesday.

Twice it was necessary for Justice Bingham to announce that the hearing had been continued until next Tuesday before the crowd made any attempt to leave the building.

In front of the court house were more than 25 automobiles. Women predominated in the crowd of spectators. To the rear of the building a crowd gathered to see the sheriff return the prisoner to the jail.

William Gummer, the accused 22-year-old night clerk, appeared very pale, but gave no sign of nervousness when he entered.

His cheeks were sunken in and his face was almost ghostly white. He lacked the brightness of expression which characterized his action about the hotel during the investigation of the murder by the authorities and on the different times when he was called to the sheriff's office and questioned.

Upon entering the court room, the accused met the eyes of his relatives, who occupied seats near the railing. They were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gummer, father and mother, Goodman Gummer, brother of the prisoner, and Mrs. O. J. Hanson, a niece, all of Mayville.

When William Gummer entored the court room, the accused attempted to take the vacant seat beside his father, but the sheriff motioned for him to be seated behind his counsel.

The prisoner maintained a grave appearance during the early part of the formalities. Judge W. H. Barnett stepped over toward him and spoke a few words and the prisoner smiled at his counsel. The smile extended toward the parents and other kin.

Standard Oil Company Plant to Employ 20 or 30 Men—Will Be Completed Soon.

Located on Bridge Street Along Track of Soo Line Railway Company.

City Will Be Distributing Point For This Section of The State.

Work preliminary to the erection of a warehouse and supply tanks by the Standard Oil company in this city was started this week on the site owned by the company on Bridge street along the tracks of the Soo Line. This is a part of the old saw mill site and the accumulation of saw dust on the property several feet deep makes necessary considerable excavating and filling in with dirt. Arrangements have been made to secure some of the dirt which will be removed from the streets of the business district in carrying out the paving program.

Large and Modern Plant.

The plant to be erected will be of the latest design in every particular and sufficiently large to supply the needs of this section of the state from this point. Thief River Falls is to be the distributing point of the company for Northwestern Minnesota. From twenty to thirty men will be employed by the company throughout the year which makes the location of the warehouse here particularly desirable.

Will Install Tanks First.

The first work to be done will be the erection of supply tanks and after these are completed work on the warehouse proper will be started. The task of removing the saw dust from the site and filling in with dirt will be considerable of an undertaking, all of which is necessary before actual construction work can be started. A large crew of men will be employed however, and the project will be rushed through as rapidly as possible. It is the intention of the company to have the entire plant completed this season. Materials will soon be on the ground and everything in readiness for the carrying out of the company's plans.

With the erection of this establishment, the new school building on the East Side, the nurses' home at the santatorium, a number of new residences and the paving program in progress, the city will experience considerable activity this summer, all of which will give needed employment to a large number of men.

BANKS TO CLOSE EARLY ON SATURDAYS

Commencing June 25 the four banks of the city will close at 1 p. m. on Saturdays until Sept. 1. This same plan of closing early on Saturdays was carried out during the summer months last year and proved very satisfactory to all concerned. It gives the employes an opportunity for a little recreation and does not seriously inconvenience anyone when all become accustomed to it.

Horse Falls in Old Well.

A horse belonging to Anton Efteland broke through the covering over an old well to the rear of the Ralston barber shop Monday morning and in being removed was injured to such an extent that it probably will not recover. The well was covered over with boards and dirt and Mr. Efteland drove in over it to remove a load of rubbish and dirt. While he was loading his wagon the horse stood directly over the old well, the animal breaking through when it started to pull the load out. After several hours work the horse was removed from the well by means of a chain block but it was so injured internally that it is not likely that it will recover.

BALL GAME RECORD FOR PAST WEEK IS SOMEWHAT SPOTTED Win One Good Game at Home; Another at Lancaster, Then Fall Down in a Heap.

BASE BALL FRIDAY NIGHT

The strong Fosston team is coming for a game with the locals at the fair grounds Friday evening. The game will be called at 6:30. The Fosston team is reported to be a very fast aggregation. They have been winning practically all of their contests this season and the game here is certain to be a good one. Turn out and help support the local team.

Thief River Falls won two out of three ball games played during the past week, but the credit for being victors in a majority of the contests is somewhat marred by the miserable exhibition put up in the game with Argyle on Market Day. Post mortem examinations fail to reveal the cause of the sudden slump.

Last Sunday's game with Gonvick on the local diamond was a good one. The visitors failed to score until the fourth inning was well under way, when they managed to put one across. A combination of errors and well-placed hits allowed them to chalk up two more in the sixth, after which time their activities ceased.

Thief River Falls started out to put the game on ice as quickly as possible and ran in two in the first frame. One in the third and two in the fifth made up the total.

The Lancaster players were shut out on their own diamond by the Thief River Falls bunch on Tuesday, while the latter garnered a total of seven runs. Fox's men played airtight ball while the performance of their opponents was very ragged.

The easy victory of the day previous must have had a bad effect on the Thief River Falls players, to judge by the outcome of Wednesday's game. Brazel started in the box for the locals but was taken out after one inning, although he was by no means to blame for the slaughter of the innocents which was staged during his short incumbency. Lancaster batters hit his offerings, it is true, but in nearly every case the batter should have been retired. Wild throwing, booting, muffing and every other crime against high-class base ball was committed and it looking at times as if there were a competition on to see which player could pull the biggest boner. Schroeder relieved Brazel at the opening of the second and held the visitors to a few scattered hits, but the damage was already done and the game wound up with a score of 11 to 2, or some such thing.

The Thief River Falls team goes to McIntosh on Saturday and Sunday for two games with the fast bunch representing that town. It is claimed that McIntosh has the best team in the state west of Duluth and that on their own diamond particularly are they putting up a surprising game. There will in all probability be a big delegation go from here to see Sunday's game. The drive in itself is very interesting and it is certain that one of the best games of the season will be staged.

TRIPLE BIRTHDAY PARTY AT HOME OF F. E. JOHNSON

The thirteenth of June is anything but an unlucky day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Johnson of Baudette. Three of the children, Ellen, aged 12, Alvin, aged 9, and Florence June, aged 1, were born on that day, and last Monday the three-fold anniversary was celebrated by a triple birthday party at the Johnson home. There were thirty-five little folks at the party, and there were three birthday cakes. The youngsters had the time of their lives.

LEGION MAKING BIG PLANS FOR OBSERVING 4TH

Elaborate Display of Fireworks to be One of Leading Features of the Day.

Base Ball Game and Other Athletic Events Will Help Make Up Program of the Day.

Rousing Old Time Celebration With Parade, Races, Dances and Other Attractions.

The local post of the American Legion is making splendid progress with their plans for a rousing celebration in Thief River Falls on July 4th. Chairman Oscar Smith has his committees all working hard in carefully looking after every detail that is necessary to insure the unqualified success of the celebration.

Parade Will Be Feature.

Mr. Smith says that the day will be ushered in with a "roar" which will increase in volume throughout the day. A parade will be a feature in the morning and Geo. C. Loken is looking after the details of this event. Races and other sports will then make up the balance of the morning program.

Baseball Game in Afternoon.

In the afternoon a fast base ball game will be staged at the fair grounds, while carnival attractions, dances and other forms of amusement will provide plenty of additional entertainment.

In the evening arrangements are being made for what the Legion boys term will be a "real fireworks display." They intend to make this a decided feature. This will take place along the river and will include a novel battle between boats on the water. A large sum of money is being expended to insure the success of this part of the day's program and it will undoubtedly attract a large crowd here for the evening.

People in this section of the state should now make plans to celebrate the Fourth of July in Thief River Falls.

CROPS REPORTED BEST CONDITION IN MANY YEARS

Grains Two or Three Weeks Nearer Maturity This Season Than Ever Before.

By some strange freak of nature, this country seems to have been moved three weeks nearer the south pole than the position persons had always imagined it occupied.

At all events, and nevertheless, judging from the condition of the crops, that's about the position it occupies on the map at the present time.

The report comes in this morning that wheat has already commenced to head out—not the short, stunted heads that come as the result of drouth, but long, graceful, well formed heads that indicate a bountiful yield.

This is earlier, by two or three weeks, than the usual time for heading, and the earliest so far as can be learned, that the wheat crop, or other crops for that matter, have reached the state of maturity they show this year. Barley is practically as far advanced as wheat, and rye, according to reports, has commenced to turn to that golden hue which presages the harvest.

DR. PAULSON HONOR GUEST AT BANQUET

Associates Express Regret at His Leaving and Hope For His Success.

A farewell banquet given in honor of Dr. A. J. Paulson and attended by about 30 representative business and professional men of the city, was held at the Hotel Brumund last evening. After having disposed of the excellent spring chicken feast provided by Manager Louis Garvey, the company listened to short addresses by a number of those present. E. M. Stanton acted as toastmaster, a position for which he most admirably fitted by experience, inclination and temperament. He stated that while the removal of men like Dr. Paulson was a distinct loss to any community, yet his being called to a larger field of usefulness was to be regarded in the light of a merited promotion, which all former neighbors have a right to feel that they had some share in bringing about. Other speakers called upon were Rev. T. E. Sweger, Dr. O. F. Mellby, Dr. A. W. Swedenberg, Dr. L. F. Fisher, R. M. Sheldon and Thos. A. Way. All spoke in high terms of praise of Dr. Paulson as a man who would be missed by a wide circle in his professional capacity, but particularly did they lay stress upon his worth as a citizen. The hope was expressed by all that he would be even more successful in his new field than he has been to date and predicted still further advances for him.

In replying Dr. Paulson thanked the speakers for their kind references to him. It was no easy matter, said Dr. Paulson, to sever old associations, particularly where these have always been of the most pleasant character, but that sometimes business reasons compelled a sudden alteration of plans. He would always remember Thief River Falls and its people with a high sense of appreciation of what they had done for him, and if the new venture did not turn out as satisfactory as it promised he knew of no place to which he would return with greater pleasure or with more hope of being welcomed. The doctor expressed his thanks for the evidence of esteem and confidence he found on every side, regretting only that it made the leaving that much harder.

Besides those mentioned above, the following were present: C. B. Larson, Stewart J. Aga, H. A. Pratt, C. W. Vorachek, W. E. Baker, L. H. Larson, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Roy Lambert, Dr. J. Biederman, T. J. Anstad, E. P. Brevig, T. L. Melgaard, H. W. Protzeller, Dr. M. Geo. Milan, Robt. McGinn, Dr. C. R. Crandall, E. O. Mogensen, Dr. C. M. Adkins.

Dr. Paulson leaves tomorrow to become one of the surgeons at the Lutheran hospital, Watertown, S. D.

At the end of the forenoon session a committee on temporary organization was appointed as follows: Revs. H. H. Hagen, E. O. Sabo, P. J. Grothe and E. A. Mostue.

In the afternoon a varied program of speeches, songs and music was enjoyed. Rev. K. O. Landberg of St. Paul spoke on "Our Foreign Mission;" Rev. M. B. Ordahl spoke on "The Joy of a Christian Life." Several songs were rendered by the church choirs of Greenbush and Roseau, and instrumental music by the orchestra at Greenbush.

The committee reported that a permanent organization of all the Young People's and Luther League societies of the various congregations be effected and the following temporary organization was formed:

VERDICT OF JURY IS SET ASIDE BY COURT IN LOCAL BANK CASE

The verdict of the jury in the case of Mrs. Bertha Giller versus the First National bank of Thief River Falls has been set aside by Judge Andrew Grindeland of the district court. This is the case which was tried at the February term of court and in which a verdict was returned for Mrs. Giller. The amount involved was about $11,000. Attorneys for Mrs. Giller announce that an appeal will be taken to the supreme court from the decision of Judge Grindeland.

This case attracted a great deal of interest at the last term of court. It was an action brought by Mrs. Giller against the First National bank to recover certain securities. It was claimed by Mrs. Giller that she deposited and pledged certain securities with Mr. C. L. Hansen at the First National bank to protect him as a bondsman for her son, Maurice. The bank claimed that these securities were pledged to protect them on an unsecured indebtedness of Maurice to the bank as well as protection to Mr. Hansen as a bondsman. NATIONAL TRACTOR FARMING DEMONSTRATION

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"Another reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford truck, to take effect immeditely. The list prices, F. O. B. Detroit, are now as follows:

TOURING CAR	$415.00
RUNABOUT	$370.00
COUPE	$695.00
SEDAN	$760.00
CHASSIS	$345.00
TRUCK CHASSIS	$495.00
TRACTOR	$625.00

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact, together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately.

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars and trucks than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited, not by unfilled orders, but by manufacturing facilities.

"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4,000 car daily schedule for June.

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor."

Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

Market Day in Thief River Falls demonstrated the value of merchants pulling together, even if it shall be proved that it served no other good purpose. But it did serve other good purposes, as will be evident before many months have elapsed.

The day was a success from every standpoint. The crowd was larger than the most optimistic dared hope and the amount of business done was so much greater than expected that even those who were most in doubt over the outcome are enthusiastic.

It all goes to show what can be accomplished by pulling together. It was the first attempt of its kind ever made in this city and one of the first in the entire section. It is quite possible that there were mistakes made in arranging the details and perhaps in carrying out the program. If so they have been forgotten in the satisfaction over the general outcome.

One thousand persons took advantage of the bargain offered in sugar alone and it is not likely that this represents more than half the total number in the city on Wednesday. Every merchant experienced a revival of trading such as he has been looking and longing for these many moons past. Business men discovered that the people still have the power and will to buy if goods are offered at what they consider right prices. They came from distant places to take advantage of the unusual bargains and felt themselves amply repaid.

The merchants worked hard to make this venture a success and are entitled to whatever of satisfaction or future increase in business they may secure by reason of their wider acquaintance. They aimed to make Thief River Falls known over a larger trading territory and they succeeded.

Much of the credit for the success of this first market day venture is due to G. Howard Smith, secretary of the Merchants association. The plan was his in the first place and by far the greater part of the work of carrying it out fell upon him.

A STEP BACKWARDS.

There is an impression prevalent that the county commissioners will refuse to make an appropriation for the purpose of assisting in carrying on the work of the farm bureau when that matter comes up for final settlement. The impression is doubtless well founded.

Lacking any justification for an action of this kind in lack of achievement on the part of the bureau, the commissioners last spring resorted to the equivalent of a straw vote in order to find out just how the farmers themselves stood on the subject. The matter was explained by no one except such as were against the farm bureau movement in any event and the vote went against any further appropriation. Later a more systematic canvass was made by the bureau officials and resulted in an overwhelming majority in favor of continuing the work. In certain townships the affirmative vote was unanimous while in others only one or two were found in opposition.

The commissioners will doubtless take this step, giving economy as their reason. No one will quarrel with them for making an attempt to keep taxation at as low a point as possible, but when it is realized that this appropriation of $3,000 would amount to only 25 cents on each quarter section of land in the county, the saving does not appear of such commanding proportions. The cost to the farmer will be even less than this as the city of Thief River Falls pays approximately one-third of the entire county tax levy. This would bring the actual cost of maintaining the bureau down to about 16 cents for each 160 acres of farm land.

There may be those who can figure out that abandoning the farm bureau in order to save this amount is good business, but they are surely few and far between. The institution has proven its worth in so many different directions since its establishment that to anyone who is in the least conversant with the facts it seems incomprehensible that the county board will take the action expected. Only one county in the state has failed in continuing the farm bureau appropriations after having once experienced its benefits and it should certainly not be the aim of the people of Pennington county to emulate communities that show a tendency to move backwards.

The farm bureau will be continued in this county whether or not the commissioners see their way clear to help the cause along. Farmers from every section have come forward with a pledge of personal support and the citizens of Thief River Falls may be depended on to do their full share in this respect should the occasion arise. The latter realize that on the farmer's welfare depends the prosperity of the city as well as the country and will not stand idly by while the one agency established to help him solve his problems is being throttled. But such action should not be necessary. It is to be hoped that the commissioners will view the matter in a different light and make this small appropriation for the purpose of helping farm progress in the county.

Croup
"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.
"Granny" Chamberlain
You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."
Yours for Health — Granny Chamberlain
